This is a logical and perfectly natural result. The majority of people hesitate to act in the face of any uncertainty or disturbed conditions. They drift with the crowd, and put off buying "until after the war." But the minority, the people who think and analyze and take advantage of opportunities, are buying. They are absorbing a large part of the property which has been supplied with improvements, and which will be ready when they wish to build their homes.

Realty operators can develop and improve no more property until after the war. Money and materials cannot be obtained for the purpose. The result will be that when the majority are ready to buy they will find the supply of improved property exhausted; that their more foresighted neighbor owns the lot where they would like to build their home and that in order to obtain a homesite that is improved and ready for the building of a home they must pay him a stiff profit.

The higher prices which improved lots will command will tend to further raise the price of acreage. This, combined with the higher cost of labor and materials, will add to the cost of developing property and force the operator to charge higher prices for improved homesites. An immensely increased demand, a depleted supply and the higher cost of developing new property is certain to result in a sharp advance in land values.

The time to buy your lot is now. THE WILLOUGHBY-EUCLID AVE. SUB-DIVISION is the place for your home. Big lots, 80x200, $640.00 up. Very easy terms.

Salesmen on the property Saturday afternoons and Sundays.

TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR—NO. 28 WILLOUGHBY, O., SEPTEMBER 20, 1918. ONE DOLLAR AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A YEAR IN ADVANCE

TWO HUNDRED CIVILIANS ARRIVE IN WILLOUGHBY

Various Locations Sought for Their Accommodation

J. H. Wood, supervisor of the commissary at Camp Perry, near Port Clinton, arrived in Willoughby Tuesday. His mission was the making of arrangements for the housing and feeding of possibly two hundred civilians, who will engage in the work of erecting barracks and mess quarters at the Ben Hur plant. Two army trucks followed Mr. Wood, carrying kitchen equipment, etc. Mr. Wood made arrangements for the feeding of the men at McCarthy's restaurant. He assumed that it might be possible that tables would have to be set out in the tents, as well as in the restaurant. Various quarters were sought in town for the sleeping quarters. Arrangements were pending for the possible use of quarters in the Bond building, the Telephone building, and possibly a portion of the Town Hall. The men will be in Willoughby for three weeks. They are from Camp Perry and work under the Cleveland Construction Co. Mr. Wood is from Brooklyn, N. Y. At Camp Perry, he states, they feed 1,800 men in 18 minutes, and ordinary potato peelers are receiving as high as $35 to $39 per week. Camp Perry is the largest proving ground in the world, and a large shoot meet is on there this week.

MUCH ACTIVITY IN EVIDENCE WHEN CONSTRUCTION COMPANY TAKES OVER ALL AVAILABLE WILLOUGHBY QUARTERS FOR MEN

Army Trucks with blankets and cots arrived in Willoughby Wednesday, and Mr. Wood, of Camp Perry, was active lining up all available down town quarters for the placing of the cots. The bowling alleys, a ten-room house belonging to E. P. Walsh on Vine street, the room formerly occupied by the Gibson Auto Supply Store, Crawford's second floor room, McCarthy's, and a room over A. K. Carrel's store, have been secured. The rooms over McCarthy's restaurant will be used as offices for the Construction Co. McCarthy's restaurant underwent many changes Wednesday. Two new ranges were installed; kitchen equipment changed, and a long table has been run down the center of the store. The construction company started the serving of meals there Thursday morning. Mr. Wood wired for two French cooks to come on from Camp Perry. Coks and carpenters are very scarce articles nowadays, he states. It is not certain just how long the construction force will remain in Willoughby, but probably about three weeks. About forty-five had arrived Wednesday night.

LAKE COUNTY REGISTRANTS AGED TO 45, FAR EXCEED ADJUTANT'S ESTIMATE.

Lake county registered 3,486 men aged 18 to 45, for service, Thursday last. The adjutant at Columbus had estimated that Lake county would register 2976. S. D. Shankland was the last man to register in Willoughby, arriving at the town hall about 9 o'clock Thursday. W. H. Staring was the first man to register in Precinct "D." In that precinct 150 men registered. In Precinct "A" 172 registered, with 171 in "B." The majority of the men had registered before noon.

Frank Shankland was the first man to register in precinct "D."

Mayor Carmichael was the first to register in the "D" precinct. He registered Wednesday, as he was to be absent from the city Thursday.

ANDREWS BOARD HAS EVENING AND MORNING MEETING

A meeting of the board of trustees of the Andrews School was held Monday evening. As it was necessary for Mr. Hammar to attend a C., P. & E. meeting at the court house, the meeting was adjourned until Tuesday morning. All members were present excepting Emerson and Cox. Mr. St. John's report of the workings of the receivership of the New York Steam Co. was heard. It has been possible, according to R. N. Whitcomb, who, by virtue of his office as county treasurer, is a trustee in the school, to dispose of the receiver's certificates at a higher value than anticipated. S. S. Wilson, general manager, and Harry Hammar, attorney, left for New York Tuesday to go over matters pertaining to the steam company and the school.

America's Coming of Age

By DR. FRANK CRANE

America is coming of age.

The nation's hundred years of democracy have been but the preparation for its manhood.

It is a cheap jibe to say that America was unprepared for this war. It has had the mightiest preparation in the history of nations. For over a century Destiny has been preparing in this New World a spirit of triumphant Democracy. Such a spirit cannot be made. It must be grown, inbred.

On this Western Continent Destiny has been training the young Galahad for the rescue of the world.

Nature has an antidote for every poison.

American Democracy Is the Antidote for German Autocracy

Every one of our wars has been for the same purpose: to liberate the common man.

The Revolution of 1776 was to get the privileged class of England off the backs of the American Colonists who were redeeming this wilderness.

The War of 1812 was to rescue American seamen from oppression.

The Mexican War was to liberate the settlers of Texas from the whimsy cruelty of Mexico.

The Spanish War was to save the people of Cuba from the tyranny of the Spanish Government.

Every time our army and navy have gone forth it has been to clean up some filthy autocracy.

But all of our wars have been but a preparation for our present task. We did not realize it. No man foresees his destiny, no nation foresees its mission. Yet the life of every nation, as of every man, is a plan of God.

God has been piling up riches on this continent until we are the wealthiest nation in the world. He has been sharpening our inventive skill and our business ability. Our training has been intensive.

Now God says, "America you are come of age. All I have done for you is to prepare you for the present conflict, for your real work. Go forth and make the world a decent place to live in."

At this time every son of America is called upon to do his utmost. The slacker is a traitor.

We are sending men across the ocean, men who are physically and mentally the pick of the world, an incomparable army. But the men at home must back them up.

It is as much our solemn duty to put our money into the Fourth Liberty Loan as it is the duty of the soldier to stand firm at his post in battle.

The Fourth Liberty Loan is to be our supreme effort. God helping us, we shall not be found wanting. Let us subscribe all we can, and a little more.

America, Civilization, Democracy, Humanity, expect every man to do his duty

BROOM CORN RECEIVES FIRST AND SECOND PRIZES AT THE FAIR.

Considerable enthusiasm is being evinced over the subject of raising broom corn in Lake county. With the price of brooms going higher daily, there seem to be many arguments in its favor. The corn shown by A. L. Perry, of the Mentor Plains, received first and second premiums. It is hoped that sufficient interest may be aroused to warrant the erection of a plant in the county, where the blind of Cleveland could be employed permanently.

LEROY GRANGE HAS INTERESTING EXHIBIT AT THE FAIR.

One of the most interesting exhibits at the Fair was that of the Leroy Grange. It was in charge of G. L. Ostrander, of Perry. Norman Kellogg is master of the Grange. J. H. Winchell, who was secretary for nine years, was present at the exhibit. The Grange now has 235 members and is one of the most active and enterprising in the county. A most interesting flag from the Civil War draped the background. This flag was presented to the Grange by the last G. A. R. soldier in that section, just previous to his death. Their service flag, which contains four stars, shows one for Homer Fields, of Leroy. A cablegram received Wednesday last stated that he had been saved when the transport, as recorded in the papers, was torpedoed recently.

Sorghum, or sugar cane, and soy beans were to be seen among the exhibits. Gourds used for nest eggs and stocking darners were among the oddities. Splendid potatoes, plums, fruits and vegetables of all sorts, made up a display that the Lake County Fair had occasion to be proud of, in the Leroy Grange section.

THREE CENT FARE GRANTED STREET CAR COMPANY ON C. P. & A. PORTION

Ashtabula Grants Fifty Year Franchise. C. P. & E. Proposition To Have Another Hearing

Several meetings of the County Commissioners and the C., P. & E. representatives have been held recently in the effort to arrive at a decision on the C., P. & A. fare raise. At a meeting Monday night at the court house it was decided that a 3c rate of fare would be allowed over the C., P. & A. lines. Ashtabula county has given the company a fifty-year franchise at the rate of 3c per mile. At a meeting held at the court house a short time ago a resolution was presented by E. F. Blakely and seconded by Homer Harper, recommending the rate of 2½c on the C., P. & A. This amendment, which was to be in effect during the period of the war, was not acceptable to the officials of the street car company.

The matter of the C., P. & E. raise in fare will be taken up at a meeting at the court house next Monday, when the St. Clair bridge proposition and its connection with the C., P. & E. will also be discussed. The county commissioners, Mr. Douglas, Mr. Nolan and Mr. Hammar were in attendance at the Monday night meeting.

Plans for the fourth Liberty Loan campaign in Lake county are rapidly taking form. Lake county's quota is estimated at $1,250,000. Special efforts are to be used to induce buyers to make their purchases through Lake county banks. Many of the large purchases on previous loans have been made, in response to solicitation, in Cleveland. It is hoped that this may not occur in this loan. BOYS IN THE TRENCHES.

posed to reach France about the holidays, and evidently was distributed in August. Last week a lot of thirty-one cards and a letter were received, giving expresion of some of the first lot of boys who received the tobacco, as to how it suited them. The letter, and some of the cards, are reproduced below. They are all brief, but certainly more than expressive:

Somewhere in France.
Aug. 14,1918.

Dear Friend:

Just received your kind gift, for which I want to thank you. I am a Newark, N. J., boy, address 29 Kent st., so if you write there it will be forwarded to me. Sincerely yours,

OK RB. J. H. SCHULTZ, JR.

Somewhere in France,
Aug. 14,1918.

Dear Friends:

Your package of smokes received, and sure do appreciate same. Sure does make the boys glad to think that there are people back home that think of us over here. I guess you have read how good the boys are making for the good old U. S. A. Yours,

H. F. WARREN.

C. J. Ballach.

Aug. 14,1918.

The package of tobacco which contained this card contained more solid comfort than most nineteenth holes and looked better in its red, white and blue package than the steward bearing the golfer's Scotch.

Members of the Willowick Club.

We appreciate the kindness and thank you for the gifts which we received.

I especially appreciate the gift, from the fact that it came from Ohio, as I am also from there. Yours,

PRIVATE PARK R. SPENCE,

Willowick Golf Club—

Gentlemen: Some tobacco containing cards similar to the enclosed blew in to us today, and as there is not room enough on the card to express all the thanks necessary for myself and the company, I am putting it into this letter instead.

This lot of your tabacco came to Co. A. 309th Machine Gun Battalion, on its first trip into the lines, and it certainly put a lot of pep into the men, for not only was it good old U. S. tobacco which they crave, but it brought home to them the fact that the people back home are behind them even when they are undergoing their greatest hardships.

It almost seems as if there were greater joy in a pipeful of that Tuxedo than to see one of those elusive white fly dead to the green. There wasn't a suspicion of a pull or a slice in the action of your club in subscribing to a tobacco fund, for many of the men over here get very little chance to buy any American tobacco, and so it is even better than receiving money from home. Many thanks.

NEWS FROM WAITE HILL

OTIS AND SHERWIN FARMS TAKE PRIZES AT THE FAIR

A number of men around here brought home premius from the Fair. Among them were John Sherwin's ponies, and H. G. Otis' apples and peaches. It was too bad we had such weather for our Fair, when there's been so much pains taken to have it a banner Fair. I think last week's weather was meant for "Burton Fair weather," as it always rains then, but it looks today as though we might have another rainy week. Then Burton won't be disappointed.

Why Not Have a Milk Route?

People in South Kirtland are selling their milk to Mr. Sheffield, of Willoughby, instead of selling the cream to be made into butter, as they'd been doing. What a pity there isn't a regular milk route to Willoughby, as many farmers keep a lot of cows and would rather sell their milk than make butter.

Little Wallace Stokes is over to his grandma's for a few days.

Mr. Chas. Cox and mother, from Philadelphia, were recent guests among their cousins, the Cox families, around here.

Miss Alma Stokes and brother were Mentor visitors Sunday a week ago.

Glidden Parkhurst will remain here at Mr. Duncan's and attend school in this district after his parents returned to the city.

Our letter will be short this week, as no one seems to call up and give us news. Guess everybody went to the Fair last week and are recuperating this week.

Miss Whitcomb attended the telephone Saturday while the regular operator attended the Fair.

We were sorry to learn of the death of Lester Taylor last week. He was born and raised on Waite Hill, where he leaves many friends. It seems particularly sad when one so young, only 27 and just starting in life, as you might say, and leaving a wife and two young children to plod along life's pathway alone, without the husband and father. They have our heartfelt sympathy. Lester was buried here in the family lot in the Waite Hill cemetery.

DEATH OF JOHN CHAMBERS REMOVES OLD RESIDENT.

John Chambers, for many years a resident of Maple Grove, passed away Wednesday night. He was born April 2, 1836, at Port Hope, Canada, coming to the United States at the time of the Civil War. In 1870 he was united in marriage to Irene Dowen. Three children were born to this union, the youngest dying in boyhood. The young couple made their home in Cleveland for a short time, then came to Pleasant Valley, residing on the Sherwin farm; following which they made their home in Maple Grove. The deceased had been ailing for some time, but about one week preceding his death he grew worse, dying September 11th, at the age of 82 years, 5 months and 9 days. Opera House

"TURN TO THE RIGHT" COMING BACK

Exactly as it swayed capacity audiences from tears to laughter last season, "Turn to the Right" returns to the Euclid Avenue Opera House, Cleveland, for another week's engagement, beginning Monday night, September 23rd. The company comes direct from a triumphal engagement in Chicago at the Olympic Theater, and the presentation will lack nothing of the charm and freshness that made the play one of the real delights of last season wherever it was presented. Reduced prices will prevail. The company which comes to Cleveland is headed by Mabel Bart as "Mother Bascom," and Philip Bishop as Sam Martin, the country boy. Miss Bert appeared for 2,000 performances as the mother in "Ben Hur," and Mr. Bishop is well remembered as the country boy in the original production of "The Fortune Hunter."

Standard Theater

Week of September 22nd, the Standard Theater presents Tom Moore in his first great picture, "Just For Tonight." Having made a great many friends and admirers all over the world, being the co-star of Madge Kennedy, Mabel Normand, Mae Marsh and others, this young favorite now is starring in his first picture, and none will be disappointed, for he fairly wins the title of star. The story is well written, he being in love with a girl who chooses to conceal her identity, and so it goes on mysteriously all through the play, with lots of odd happenings, and queer mix-ups, until finally everything is straightened out, and he wins the girl, and they leave for his island home, where mysteries are unknown.

Star Theater

Fred Irwin asserts upon his reputation as an experienced showman that he has found in Florence Bennett, star of the Majestics, "the best woman in burlesque"—the adjective being used to express this blonde beauty's utility in stage entertainment. Miss Bennett, first of all, has been favored by nature with a pretty face, set in blondely beautiful mold, and a figure rarely equaled for grace and contour. Then, too, she knows how to dress and uses the unlimited appropriations Manager Irwin sets aside for costuming with skill and good taste that makes directly for economy in these saving times. And economy in material is of itself a double virtue in burlesque—especially when Miss Bennet is under optical consideration. Talent and art combine in this clever lady's vocal qualifications—for she has made full use of her gifts of voice by study and finishing touches that make her singing the pleasantest of interludes in the Majestic's entertainment. Burlesque finds its best expression in the talent and charm of Miss Bennett's leadership of the Fred Irwin organization, facts readily proven by a visit to the Star theater week starting Monday matinee, September 23d, when the Majestics will present two daily offerings.

Now the horse will again come into his own. During the gasless period he will be Sunday best.

Miles Theater

Col. J. A. Pattee and his company of old soldier fiddlers, in "A Lesson in Patriotism," constitute the most unusual feature at the Miles the coming week. The four veterans of the Civil War, with a panorama setting representing the old battlefield of Gettysburg, offer a unique old-time fiddling and song review.

A spectacular novelty called "The Girl in the Moon." Gilroy Haynes and Montgomery in a comedy travesty, "Road Trouble." Georgie Jessell in original moments of humor and song. Ralph T. Kettering's whimsical comedy, "Sherman Was Wrong," and Loos Brothers in a classy comedy singing act make-up. The vaudeville will be augmented with a war picture and other instructive photo-plays. The vaudeville starts at 2, 4, 7 and 9 o'clock daily. The pictures are presented before and after each performance.

Empire Theater

The Living Art Models will be an added attraction with the Aviator Girls, which will be next week's attraction at the Empire. The Aviator Girls, in addition to the Living Art Models, is presenting some new and startling novelties in conjunction with a new book entitled "Falling Hard for the High Flyer." A new story in every way up-to-date, treating on aviation as it should not be, is the vehicle that affords the comedians and ladies of the cast ample scope to display their versatility, and opportunities for a better than the average chorus, to display costumes that may be the style for aviators in the summer season or tropical zones. The cast includes such well known burlesque performers as Millie Loveridge, Eleanore Revere, Ethel Schutta, Charles Neil, Nic Glynn and George Collignon. The production has been made with elaborate care and every detail is in keeping with the high standard attained by the Aviator Girls.

William Simmerman, residence unknown, will take notice that Florence Simmerman filed a cross petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce, alimony and relief on the ground of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. "The king of France, with twenty thousand men, Marched up a hill and then marched down again."

Does not the old nursery rhyme recur to us when we think of the immense cost and effort of the German drive this year, and the fact that they are now pushed back to their original line?

NEW FORCES IN RUSSIA

Out of the chaos that was Russia the beginnings of a new nation are seen by our editors in recent events which have shaken the power of the Bolshevik government, awakened alarm in Germany, and added to the growing feeling of confidence in the capitals of the allied nations. Russia, they say, is not dead. She has only been sleeping, and if not now awakening, is at last moving restlessly in that almost fatal sleep into which she had been lulled by Prussian promises of peace and alluring prophecies of an economic and political millenium. Siberia is awakening, notes the Philadelphia Inquirer, and "the great northern section is arousing itself." "On the ruins of Bolshevism," the New York Tribune sees a new Russia arising. And this new Russia "which is being born in the northern steppes is," it continues, "a thing of sanity, not of disordered imagination," "a true reliazation of the hopes of the revolution." Likewise, the Boston Transcript now sees "light in Russia." Most rapidly, as the Brooklyn Citizen notes, is the Russian situation developing. As the Allies occupy Vladivostok and the ports of northern Russia, the Germans move their embassy from Moscow to Pskof, 400 miles nearer the Spree. Assassination and agrarian upheavals are becoming the rule where German bayonets hold sway in eastern Russia, and call for more bayonets, which can ill be spared. While, as the Brooklyn paper notes, "in parts of Russia unoccupied by the Germans the Bolshevik party has been overthrown by the Menshevik and Social Revolutionary parties.' The growing scarcity of bread is said to have played a notable part in turning the Russian people against Lenine and Trotzky, who, after frantic appeals to their followers, and after declaring a modified state of war against all the allies except the United States, and after humiliating and driving away allied representatives from Vologda and Moscow, themselves fled from the old Russian capital to the shelter of the guns of Cronstadt.

Both Germany and the Bolshevik government have been taught a lesson, our papers agree, by the arrival of the old Russian game of bomb-throwing. The kaiser and his band of spoilers in Russia have, so the Kansas City Star is confident, "much more to learn about the Russian people and their political methods than they yet know." There is now, the Chicago Evening Post is convinced, "every indication that Russia will prove a bigger liability than an asset to the enemy, provided she can not get peace on the western front." As Lloyd George remarked a few weeks ago Russia has proved a snare to Germany, and the Springfield Republican notes how seriously exercised are the Germans themselves over the unsatisfactory state of affairs in the east The Republican sees considerable significance in the respective recent movements of the German and allied ambassadors. There was nothing particularly "lurid' about the details of the departure of the allied envoys from Vologda "They had a dispute with the Lenine government, which wishes them to come to Moscow, and chose instead to leave by way of Archangel, but the dispute was not a rupture, and Ambassador Francis in his negotiations made it pointedly clear to the Bolsheviki that protection from the Russian people was not sought or needed; in fact, the dispute with the Lenine government seems to have been largely over the successful appeals of the diplomats to the Russian people, which the Bolsheviki tried to suppress by censorship." "How different," the Massachusetts editor comments," are the cause and significance of the removal of the German embassy to Pskof, where it will be under the protection of Prussian bayonets and as remote from the Russian people as from the Chinese." The ambassador and his staff, the German papers are quoted as admitting, went away because the atmosphere of Moscow was "getting very unhealthy for Germans," the Vossische Zeitung even going so far as to say that "this is not only in Moscow, but in a greater part of Russia, if not in the whole Russia empire." For such a state of affairs, comments The Republican, Germany has only herself to blame. As it explains:

"There is every reason to think that by making a magnanimous peace last year it could have won the friendship of the Russian people, who up to that time had considered the war as one between the czar and the kaiser, which the revolution ought logically to close. By such a show of friendliness, even if it masked a predatory future design, Germany would have strengthened itself very greatly and prepared the way for pacific penetration after the war. But the kaiser yielded to the pan-Germans, and everything, east and west, was staked on this year's campaign. . . . . .

"To the unscrupulous directors of German policy Russian resentment must have been counted upon, but they no doubt expected to complete their victory before Russia began to come to its senses. The less sophisticated masses of Germany, on the contrary, are evidently dismayed by the revelation that German generals are being beaten in the west, while hatred for Germany is growing in the east. . . . Rule or ruin is the pan-German watchword, and it must now be apparent to the intelligent German public that it means ruin."

The new turn of affairs in Russia means, according to the San Antonio Light, that Germany may have to send back "many of the fighters she so sorely needs in the west," for—

"In any event, so long as the anti-Germans in Russia rise in force, Germany can not but suffer severely. If she reduced her armies in the west in an attempt to save the Russia situation, the allies would gain an advantage. If she kept her western forces intact, allowing Russia to take care of herself, the anti-German element in the latter country would have an opportunity to develop such strength as to be of material assistance to the allies."

But lest thought of Germany's dilemma should make us too confident of early victory, the New York Times reminds us that Germany still believes she can take the defensive on the western front and "hold the allied armies in France until they weary of the conflict and their governments agree to give Germany a free hand in Russia." Even now, says The Times, the German official mind is "finding consolation for the disastrous failure of the great offensive in the prospect of incalculable wealth and power afforded by the political victory in Russia." The German advance upon Petrograd and the German demand that the Finns take the field against the allies at the north lend weight to the warnings of this newspaper, which concludes:

"The allied economic, reinforcing and rallying expedition to Russia to aid her people to throw off the yoke of Germany. . . is one of the most momentous enterprises of the war. Upon its success will depend complete victory and enduring peace."

While the Kansas City Star hopes to see loyal Russians gather around the allied standard which has been raised in Siberia, "as the Spanish people gathered around the standard of Wellington when England intervened to save Spain from Napoleon," the New York World and other papers warn us not to expect too much from the beginning that has been made at Vladivostok. A Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune thinks that the intervention in northern European Russia will be more important than that in Siberia. Already the consequences of the allied landings at Kola and Archangel in "revealing the real attitude of the Russian people toward the Bolshevik regime, as well as the weakness of the Soviet forces, have inspired fresh hopes of the rehabilitation of Russia finding its principal impetus in European Russia." Other dispatches tell how the new pro-ally government of the "Country of the North," recently established at Archangel, which has been carefully organized, has declared against the Bolsheviki, the Brest-Litovsk treaty, and German encroachments on Russian territory, and has put itself on record in favor of real popular government, Russian reunion and regeneration, and the ideals of the allies. This government has driven Bolshevik forces from the vicinity of Archangel. In a New York Tribune editorial we read:

"The 'Country of the North' is not a political fiction set up to facilitate allied intervention. It is a native growth. It represents an inevitable reaction from the crimes and folly of the Moscow regime. . . . . The northern and eastern provinces of Russia, in which the Bolshevik infection has been virulent, will probably adhere enthusiastically to the new national government. And when its power is extended southeast to the Volga region — already in revolt against Moscow—the Bolsheviki will be isolated from the greater part of what is left of Russia. Their government will either be snuffed out or they will flee within the German lines for safety."

Liberty Loan Primer

Bond Values Will Increase.

Money is the cheapest thing in America today.

It takes more money right now than in the last twenty years to buy most of the things that make for comfort and convenience in life.

Your cost of living has more than doubled in the last four years. Prices of nearly any article you may name have increased anywhere from 50 to 200 per cent. In many instances they have jumped 500 per cent.

Your dollar today is worth correspondingly less than it was at the beginning of the world war.

This is an all important consideration in the purchase of a Liberty Bond.

FOR YOUR BOND, BOUGHT TODAY WITH A DOLLAR WORTH LESS THAN FIFTY CENTS, WILL BE REDEEMABLE IN DOLLARS WORTH APPROXIMATELY THEIR FACE VALUE.

Present conditions will not continue forever. Values will eventually right themselves.

And the bondholder will be the winner.

It is good business to buy a staple article when it is cheap and sell it when the price goes up. Most fortunes have been made in that way.

And, in effect, that is what you are doing when you buy a $100 bond with dollars worth less than fifty cents each.

It has been a long time since the average farmer could buy a government bond for the price of an acre of wheat, or the average workman with his earnings for ten day's work.

But it's possible now.

And the wise fellow will do it.

Only Two Ways.

There are only two ways in which we can end this war.

We can stand together, combine our forces at home and abroad, and lick the Huns to a frazzle.

Or we can surrender.

If we hesitate, weaken our forces by division of sentiment, and dilly-dally along an uncertain policy, we will only prolong the world agony interminably.

And get nowhere save into deeper water.

We want to end the fight only one way. We want to beat Germany decisively. So completely that never again will she be able to plunge the old world into such another nightmare of bloodshed as this has been. We want to end this world agony.

And we can do it only if every fellow does his part.

We cannot afford to have the war end in compromise. A drawn battle really means a victory for Germany. Germany licked, but not thoroughly so, still means Germany triumphant. Any compromise will leave Germany in a position to come back again in another forty years or less and deluge the world with blood once more.

Germany must be whipped to a standstill. She must be beaten to her knees. She must beg for mercy at the feet of her conquerors. In no other way can the German spirit be chastened; the German ambition subdued.

She must never be permitted to come out of the war in a position to say that "the whole world fought, but could not conquer me."

We might as well surrender right off the reel as permit that. For it would only be a matter of years until we should have to fight it all over again.

Right now is the time to finish with Germany. Finish in the way we want to finish. And end it all for all time.

None of us have the least idea of surrendering. It isn't to be considered.

But all of us must stand side by side in the duty line.

Every fellow must buy Liberty Bonds.

It is our only way to win.

LEGAL NOTICE.

To Arthur T. R. Cunningham, Arthur Franklin Cunningham, aged 14 years, and Helen Chandler Cunningham, aged 12 years, said minors being children of said Arthur T. R. Cunningham, and all of said persons residing in the City of Spokane, in the State of Washington:

You and each of you are hereby notified that on the 5th day of September, 1918, William M. Cunningham filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, against you and others, being cause therein numbered 165815, the substance of said petition being as follows: It alleges that the plaintiff purchased for himself certain three parcels of real estate in said Cuyahoga County described as follows:

First Parcel.

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga, and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub-lot No. Sixty-seven (67) in Thomas Beckwith's Re-subdivision of his Sub-division of part of Original One Hundred (100) Acre Lots numbers 423 and 431, as shown by the recorded plat of said Re-subdivision in Volume 13 of Maps, Page 7 of said Cuyahoga County Records, and being 50 feet front on the Westerly side of Beckwith Ave., now known as East 81st St.

Second Parcel.

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and known as Sub-lot No. Three Hundred and Eighty-nine (389) in the Glenhaven Sub-division of part of Original 100 Acre Lot No. 359 in said City. Said Sub-lot No. 389 has a frontage of 40 feet on the Northeasterly side of Ashburton Rd. N. E., and extends back of equal width 120 feet deep.

Third Parcel.

Situated in the Village of Rocky River, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and known as being part of Original Rockport Township, Section No. 7, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning on the center line of Coe Ridge Road at the Northeasterly corner of land conveyed by Louise Walther and husband to George and Mary Oettle by deed dated July 1, 1908, and recorded in Volume 1095, Page 279 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence South 9° 48' East along the Easterly line of land so conveyed 878.44 feet to a point on the Northerly line of land conveyed to Henry G. and Elizabeth Kaufman by deed dated June 19,1906, and recorded in Volume 997, Page 511 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence south 89° 32' East along said Northerly line of land so conveyed to Kaufman and along said line extended Easterly about 146.09 feet to a stone at the corner of land owned by W. J. White; thence North 2° 28' East along the line of said White's land 280.50 feet to a stone; thence North 20° 27' West 654.40 feet to a stone set in the center line of Coe Ridge Rd., thence Southwesterly along the center line of said Coe Ridge Rd. 83 feet to the place of beginning, containing about 3.12 Acres of land, and that he paid for the same out of his own money and means, but, for convenience, caused the title to each of said parcels to be placed in the name of his mother, Margaret A. Cunningham, sometimes called M. A. Cunningham, in trust for him, his heirs and assigns, she not paying or agreeing to pay any part of purchase price for said land and never being in possession of either thereof, and that she re-conveyed said first parcel to him, his heirs and assigns, by deed not yet recorded, but died holding the legal title to said second and third parcels, and leaving her last will and testament, which has been duly probated and recorded, wherein she bequeathed legacies of $1200.00 each to the defendants Arthur Franklin Cunningham and Helen Chandler Cunningham, minor children of her son Arthur T. R. Cunningham of Spokane, Washington, and who with the plaintiff constitute her only children and sole heirs at law, also a legacy of $1200 to Wm. Arthur Cunningham, and of which will said William M. Cunningham is Executor, and that the estate of said Testatrix has been disposed of and its proceeds found insufficient to pay said legacies except to the extent of $739.25 each, which has been paid, and that her estate has been duly settled and her debts and funeral expenses paid, as well as a certain other legacy of $50 provided in said will. That said will is fully set forth in said petition and that the apparent claims which said defendants or any of them might have in either of said parcels or the proceeds thereof by reason of said will or otherwise are invalid but constitute a cloud upon the plaintiff's rights and titles to said parcels of land.

The object and prayer of said petition are that the plaintiff's title to each of said parcels of land be quieted as against said defendants and each of them and that said Arthur T. R. Cunningham be required to quit-claim to the plaintiff, his heirs and assigns all title and interest in each of said parcels, and that in default thereof the decree of the court in said action operate as such conveyance and for such further relief as the premises may warrant. Reference being here made to the said petition for a more full and detailed statement of the facts alleged therein.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition by the 2nd day of November, 1918, or a judgment may be rendered as prayed for.

Situated in the Village of Brook Park, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being a part of original lots Nos. 2 and 3 in original Middleburg Township Section No. 12 now in said Village and bounded and described as follows: 1st Parcel: Beginning at the southeast corner of said lot No. 3; thence north 7 degrees east 26 chains and 39 links to the northeast corner of said lot No. 3; thence north 1½ degrees, east 5 chains and 45 links to the center of the town road; thence westerly along the center of said Town road 4 chains 38 links; thence southerly parallel with the east line and first bound of land herein described to the center of the County Road to the place of beginning, supposed to contain 12 53-100 acres of land.

2nd Parcel: Beginning on the south line of said lot No. 3 at a point 4 chains 38 links west from the southeast corner of said lot No. 3, thence north 89 degrees 26 minutes west; west 3 47-100 chains, thence north 2 degrees, east 31 chains and 94 links to the center of the Town road; thence south 88¾ degrees, east 3 chains and 47 links, thence south parallel with said west line hereby described to the place of beginning, supposed to contain 12 53-100 acres of land.

The petition further alleges that the defendants, Jess Taylor, husband of Esther Taylor, and Carter Mullins, husband of Lottie Mullins, claim an incohate right of dower in the undivided shares of Esther Taylor and Lottie Mullins, respectively; that the defendant, Rebecca Scrivens, claims dower in all of said premises, and that all of the debts of Edwin Scrivens, deceased, the former owner and ancestor of the plaintiff and defendants, have been paid.

The prayer of said petition is that partition of the real property above described may be made, according to the respective rights and interests of said plaintiff and defendants; that plaintiff's interest in said premises may be set off to her in severalty; that commissioners be appointed by the Court for the purpose of making such partition and assigning dower of the said Rebecca Scrivens, or in case partition of said premises cannot be made without manifest injury to the value thereof, then that said premises may be sold by and under direction of the Court, free of the rights of all parties to this suit; that the proceeds of the sale may be distributed to the parties entitled thereto, in lieu of their respective parts and portions of the said estate, and for relief.

Said petition is No. 165354 and the above named defendants are required to answer the same on or before the 5th day of October, 1918.

WHO WANTS TO BE A DRUNKARD?

Every "down and out" in the world was once a moderate drinker. The poorest, old, tottering, slobbering inebriate never imagined that drink would finally "get" him. But that's the way with alcohol. It "gets" the best of them.

There's just one safe thing to do when appetite is demanding more drink. Stop! The way to effectually get rid of the craving desire which is responsible for the drink habit, is to take the Neal Treatment.

It is the poison of alcohol found in the system of every drinker which causes craving for more drink. To get rid of the craving, you must get rid of the poison. This is what the Neal Treatment does. It neutralizes and eliminates all alcoholic poison and in three days changes desire for liquor into intense dislike for everything alcoholic.

The Neal Treatment is a harmless vegetable remedy, taken internally and with no dangerous hypodermic injections. There is no publicity. Address The Neal Institute, 3920 Euclid Ave., Cleveland Ohio. Telephone Rosedale 2490—the old homestead of John D. Rockefeller.

TOO MUCH WAR

The newspaper reader sometimes asks himself, and he sometimes asks the newspaper editor—only less politely—if it isn't possible to print something that isn't all about the war.

The war is to blame; not the editor. In "Alice in Wonderland" runs the verse:

"The time has come, the Walrus said,
"To talk of many things;
Of shoes, and ships, and sealing-wax,
And cabbages, and kings."

This was written a generation or two before the war, and the collected subjects were intended to be miscellaneous, and non-controversial.

Try to pick one of them that isn't a war topic now. Shoes and ships remind us sadly of war prices; sealing wax recalls a certain Hague treaty—now a scrap of paper; while cabbages and kings have dug themselves in on the front page.

Don't blame the poor editor. The mailed fist hits you no harder than it hits him.

JAM

Certain diseases are the peculiar privilege of armies. They attack the digestive organs. Civilians are less vulnerable because it is easy for them to get fresh vegetables. They depend less on canned foodstuffs.

The antidote is jam.

You might as well deprive a soldier of his rifle as cut out his preserves. Read a doughboy's daily ration, and listed with his one, a half ounce of this and his two ounces of that, you will find his steady standby—jam.

You girls get plenty of fun in winter making fudge. You will get just as much this fall preserving blackberries.

The community jam-kitchen is already an institution in some neighborhoods. Don't all speak at once.

Rip Van Winkle would have had to sleep a few more years these days if he'd wanted to sidestep registration.

Armies are always capturing the key to this place and that. They'd have had some fun with Baldpate and its seven keys.

CLEAN HOUSE THE EASY
ELECTRICAL WAY

Cleaning house by electricity is child's play compared to the old-fashioned dustpan and broom method. A few minutes easy cleaning with an Electric Cleaner will accomplish more than hours of tedious dusting and sweeping. When you clean house the electrical way, it is no trouble at all to keep your home spotlessly clean every day of the year.

Why not rid yourself of the drudgery of housecleaning for all time by getting an Electric Cleaner now? It will give you a life-time of service at a very small cost.

Imagine
An Army
Without Reserves

Suppose ALL of the Allied forces had to be concentrated in the front line trenches with no reserve troops to back them up.

You would consider that an extremely serious situation—for even though you had the greatest confidence in the fighting forces you would feel far more secure if there were auxiliary troops in the rear.

So far as anybody knows, next winter will be cold.

Your first line of defense against winter's chills will be Gas Service.

But that is not enough. You should have a reserve in the form of an auxiliary heating appliance.

Gas Service will keep your home safely comfortable during the moderate weather—but on the zero days you should rely on an auxiliary appliance.

Line up your heating reserves NOW. Get an auxiliary appliance today.

Keep Out the Cold and Save Coal

EVERYONE wants to save coal this winter. It's needed to win the war—and it's high in price. The easiest way to save coal, is to keep out the cold and keep in the heat with

Storm Windows and Storm Doors

And this saving in coal means a big "profit" to every householder. Houses protected by storm windows and storm doors require from one-third to one-half less coal.

You can easily figure what that means to you in dollars and cents. The saving in coal will pay for the storm windows and storm doors in one or two seasons.

And in addition they increase the comfort and healthfulness of your house by eliminating cold floor drafts, by permitting perfect ventilation and by making it possible to keep warm in the severest winter weather.

See us now and have a comfortable house all winter.

A WAR GAIN OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

Among many miscalculations made in Germany's lustful striving for world-supremacy in commerce and political power must be recorded her failure to see that the German language was at best a weak rival of English as the universal medium. The Germans have never had much success in the attempt to get their language adopted by other peoples, according to Sir Walter Raleigh, professor of English literature at Oxford, who reminds us that "not all the military laws of Prussia can drive out French from the hearts and homes of the people of Alsace." What is more, in the ports of the near and of the far east you will hear English spoken—pidgin-English, as it is called, which is a selection of English words suited for the business of daily life—but you may roam the world over and you will hear no pidgin-German. The fact that before the war many Germans learned English, while very few English-speaking people learned German may be ascribed in part to British "laziness." But this was not the only cause, we read in Professor Raleigh's address to the Royal Colonial Institute on "Some Gains of the War" (Doran):

"We are not lazy in the tasks which we believe to be worth our while. Rather, we had an instinctive belief that the future does not belong to the German tongue. That belief is not likely to be impaired by the war. Armed ruffians can do some things, but one thing they can not do—they can not endear their language to those who have suffered from their violence. The Germans poisoned the wells in Southwest Africa; in Europe they did all they could to poison the wells of mutual trust and mutual understanding among civilized men. Do they think that these things will make a good advertisement for the explosive, guttural sounds and the huddled deformed syntax of the speech in which they express their arrogance and their hate? Which of the chief European languages will come first, after the war, with the little nations? Will Servia be content to speak German? Will Norway and Denmark feel a new affection for the speech of the men who have degraded the old humanity of the seas? Neighborhood, kinship and the necessities of commerce may retain for the German language a certain measure of custom in Sweden and Switzerland, and in Holland. But for the most part Germans will have to be content to be addressed in their own tongue only by those who fear them, or by those who hope to cheat them.

"This gain, which I make bold to predict for the English language, is a real gain, apart from all patriotic bias. The English language is incomparably richer, more fluid, and more vital than the German language. Where the German has but one way of saying a thing, we have two or three, each with its distinctions and subtleties of usage. Our capital wealth is greater, and so are our powers of borrowing. English sprang from the old Teutonic stock, and we can still coin new words, such as 'food-hoard,' and 'joy-ride,' in the German fashion. But long centuries ago we added thousands of Romance words, words which came into English through the French or Norman French, and brought with them the ideas of Latin civilization and of medieval Christianity. Later on, when the renewed study of Latin and Greek quickened the intellectual life of Europe, we imported thousands of Greek and Latin words direct from the ancient world; learned words, many of them suitable for philosophers, or for writers who pride themselves on shooting a little above the vulgar apprehension. Yet many of these, too, have found their way into daily speech, so that we can say most things in three ways, according as we draw on one or another of the three main sources of our speech. Thus, you can begin, or commence, or initiate an undertaking with boldness or [illegible] to yield, or grant, or concede an increase in the earnings, or wages, or remuneration which fall to the lot of your fellow, or companion, or associate. Your employer is perhaps old, or veteran, or superannuated, which may hinder or delay, or retard the success of your application. But if you foretell, or prophesy, or predict that the war will have an end, or close, or termination that shall not only be speedy, or rapid, or accelerated, but also great, or grand, or magnificent, you may perhaps stir, or move, or actuate him to have ruth, or pity, or compassion on your mate, or colleague, or collaborator.

"The English language is one of much greater wealth than can be illustrated by any brief example, we are told, and our literature is almost as rich as our language. Modern German literature begins in the eighteenth century, while modern English literature began with Chaucer in the fourteenth century and has been full of great names and great books ever since. Nothing has been done in German literature for which we have not a counterpart done as well or better—"except the work of Heine, and Heine was a Jew." His opinion of the Prussians was that they are "a compost of beer, deceit and sand." French literature and English literature can be compared throughout their long course, sometimes to the great advantage of the French, but German literature cannot seriously be compared with either. We read then:

"It may be objected that literature and art are ornamental affairs, which count for little in the deadly strife of nations. But that is not so. Our language can not go anywhere without taking our ideas and our creed with it, not to mention our institutions and our games. If the Germans could understand what Chaucer means when he says of his Knight that he loved chivalry,

Truth, honor, freedom and courtesy,

then indeed we might be near to an understanding. I asked a good German scholar the other day what is the German word for 'fair play.' He replied, as they do in parliament, that he must ask for notice of that question. I fear there is no German word for 'fair play.'

"The little countries, the pawns and victims of German policy, understand our ideas better. The peoples who have suffered from tyranny and oppression look to England for help, and it is a generous weakness in us that we sometimes deceive them by our sympathy, for our power is limited, and we cannot help them all. But it will not count against us at the final reckoning that in most places where humanity has suffered cruelty and indignity the name of England has been invoked—not always in vain.

"And now, for I have kept to the last what I believe to be the greatest gain of all, the entry of America into the war assures the triumph of our common language. America is peopled by many races; only a minority of the inhabitants—an influential and governing minority—are of the English stock. But here, again, the language carries it; and the ideas that inspire America are ideas which had their origin in the long English struggle for freedom. Our sufferings in this war are great; but they are not so great that we cannot recognize virtue in a new recruit to the cause. No nation, in the whole course of human history, has ever made a more splendid decision, or performed a more magnanimous act, than America when she decided to enter this war. She had nothing to gain, for, to say the bare truth, she had little to lose. If Germany were to dominate the world, America, no doubt, would be ruined; but in all human likelihood Germany's impious attempt would have spent itself and been broken long before it reached the coasts of America. America might have stood out of the war in the assurance that her own interests were safe, and that, when the tempest had passed, the center of civilization would be transferred from a broken and exhausted Europe to a peaceful and prosperous America. Some few Americans talked in this strain and favored a decision in this sense. But it was not for nothing that America was founded upon religion. When she saw humanity in anguish, she did not pass by on the other side. Her entry into the war has put an end, I hope forever, to the family quarrel, not very profound or significant, which for a century and a half has been a jarring note in the relations of mother and daughter."

America's entry into the war has put an end to another danger, too, namely, that the English language as it is spoken in this country would set up a life of its own and become separated from the life of the old country. Such a development would be natural enough, says Professor Raleigh, who cites the fact that while the Boers of South Africa speak Dutch it is not the Dutch spoken in Holland, and, again, while the French-Canadians speak French, it is not the French of Moliere. Half a century ago, when America was exploring and settling her country in wild and lone places, her pioneers enriched the English with all kinds of new and vital phrases and—

"The tendency was then for America to go her own way, and to cultivate what is new in language at the expense of what is old. She prided herself on having a spelling of her own, and seemed almost willing to break loose from traditional and to coin a new American English.

"This has not happened; and now, I think, will not happen. For one thing, the American Colonists left us when already we had a great literature. Chaucer, Shakespeare, and Spenser belong to America no less than to us, and America has never forgotten them. The education which has been fostered in American schools and colleges keeps the whole nation in touch with the past. Some of their best authors write in a style that Milton and Burke would understand and approve. There is no more beautiful English prose than Nathaniel Hawthorne's. The best speeches of Abraham Lincoln, and, we may truly add, of President Wilson, are merely classic English. During my own lifetime I am sure I have seen the speech usages of the two peoples draw more closely together. For one thing, we on this side now borrow, and borrow very freely, the more picturesque colloquialisms of America. On informal occasions, I sometimes brighten my own speech with phrases which I think I owe to one of the best living authors, Mr. George Ade, of Indiana, and author of 'Fables in Slang.' The press, the telegraph, the telephone, and the growing habit of travel bind us closer together every year; and the English that we speak, however rich and various it may be, is going to remain one and the same English, our common inheritance."

Saving Money

Saving money is easy or difficult according to whether or not one has a definite aim. Most of us require that we have not only a definite aim, but also a "compulsory savings account." We need just a little "compulsion" in order that we put aside each year, and each month, the amount we should save against the day when Age shall reduce our earnings.

No person, except he be wealthy, is fair to himself, and especially to his family, who does not each month and each year lay aside a fair proportion of his earnings.

It is equally necessary that one place his savings where they shall, first of all, be absolutely safe; also where they will increase while they are accumulating. Millions of dollars are saved each year, but unwisely invested and lost. The effort, the denial, even sacrifice, is made, but the reward is not gained.

Land is the one absolutely safe investment. Properly located and supplied with the necessary improvements to convert it into a desirable homesite, it will increase in value surely and quickly.

The easy payments on which lots are sold in our WILLOUGHBY - EUCLID AVE. SUB - DIVISION place them within the reach of almost every person or family. They afford an absolutely safe, convenient, "compulsory" savings bank" where deposits will grow rapidly.

These big lots 80x200 at $740 up; ideally located and completely improved, offer an exceptional investment opportunity. It will be to your advantage to act quickly. The time to start, to buy, is now.

Salesmen on the property Saturday afternoons and Sundays.

And let it be known, here and now, that young men may feel at perfect liberty to come and go at their pleasure. Our salesmanship has not been advanced to the point that you are, at any time, influenced to buy against your better judgment. The clothes are here for you to see whenever you care to and as long as you like. The purchasing is a matter that we leave entirely to you to decide.

New Fall Clothes

Young fellows and those older men who want to stay young—will find our College Room stocks amazing complete, varied, up-to-date, interesting.

Suits that sparkle with style
Suits that breathe individuality

Such suits are the renowned "Society Brand," the famous "Kirschbaum," the well-known "Fruhauf," and others of equally enviable reputation. The College Room quality is assured, always; fabrics and workmanship are the best that can be procured.

Money Makes the Ships Go!

By CHARLES M. SCHWAB

Despite the fact that we have made real progress in shipbuilding, it must be remembered by every patriotic American that the need for ships increases proportionately with the increase in the size of our fighting forces overseas. Transporting troops to Europe is only one-fourth of the task that our shipping facilities must bear. The other three-fourths is the carrying of supplies and munitions of war.

Ships cannot be built without money. In war time it takes a great deal of money. Undoubtedly after the war is over the ships that we are building now will pay for themselves many times over. But the immediate need is money and the whole-hearted support of the entire nation.

If the American people could visualize what has been done in our shipyards with the money that they invested in the first Liberty Loans, I am sure they would be as proud and as enthusiastic as I am. The ships that we have built and are building should persuade the most cautious investor to put his money into Liberty Bonds of the fourth issue.

How Much Would the KAISER Tax Your Business?

Think this thought twice over: "If we should fail to win this war what would happen to my business?"

What is left of business in the invaded districts of France and Belgium? What will be left of business here, if we fail to crush the sinister power of Prussian militarism? How much would you have left after paying the taxes and levies imposed by a victorious Germany?

Defend Yourself With LIBERTY BONDS

This is not only a war for Democracy and Liberty, but a war of self-defense. Germany menaces our rights, our self-respect, our homes, and our means of livelihood.

Every citizen—every business man—has weapons of defense ready to his hand. These weapons are Liberty Bonds. We cannot all fight with guns and bayonets but we can all fight with Liberty Bonds.

Buy to Your Utmost

Of course you have bought Liberty Bonds. Every one has. But how many more will you buy? The success of the Fourth Loan and of the war itself depends on your answer to that question.

What Becomes of the Money?

It is very important that you should have a clear understanding of what happens to your Liberty Bond money.

First, you pay it in at the bank. Then the bank turns it over to the American Government.

The American Government spends this money RIGHT HERE IN AMERICA for everything that is needed for Victory, to take care of the boys "over there."

It will not take you long to picture in your mind the endless number of things that Uncle Sam has to buy to make certain of Victory, and remember, that practically all of this money is being spent in America so that it comes back to you and the rest of the people of America in the form of wages salaries and in other ways.

THIEVES ACTIVE IN KIRTLAND.

Farmers need to be on the watch for fruit thieves these days. Last week there were two robberies. One was on the Isaac Wright place. Their auto was discovered by Eugene Martin, who notified the neighbors, and the thieves were held up when they returned with their booty and [illegible] but what money they had in their pockets, and then they were allowed to go.

The other robbery was in S. L. Whitmore's vineyard, which is rented by George Martin. Mr. Martin was notified by a neighbor, and he went out with his gun and caught the thieves carrying four baskets of grapes to their auto. When he started to look in the auto to see if they had any more, one of them suddenly struck him and knocked him down and took away his gun and then drove off. The next morning, imagine Mr. Martin's surprise to find the four baskets of grapes at the end of the vineyard with the gun laid on top of them.

The ReceptioN Committee, in Klaw & Erlanger's Glorious Musical Comedy, "Miss Springtime," at the Opera House, Cleveland, Next Week.

Opera House

The presentation of Klaw & Erlanger's widely heralded musical comedy, "Miss Springtime," will be made at the Opera House Monday night, September 30th, for an engagement of one week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. Interpreted by an excellent company of capable artists, there is promise of gay, tuneful music by Emmerich Kalman, composer of "Sari" and "The Rivera Girl," already danced to by the ardent youth all over America, witty lines and intelligent lyrics by Guy Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse, and young, beautiful girls who, from a mere half dozen at the opening, gradually increase in numbers until the entire stage is crowded with them. There is characteristic scenery by Joseph Urban, the color wizard. To the picturesque European village of Pilota, during old home week, comes a famous operatic baritone, visiting his birthplace incognito. The village beauty, herself dreaming of lyric triumphs, becomes infatuated with him. Their romance reaches its climax upon the stage of a continental grand opera house, ablaze with light and color, during the rehearsal of an Egyptian ballet. The cast includes Edith Allan, [illegible], Florence Hope, Charles [illegible], Margaret Duval, [illegible], Carl Nayden, Tom Howe, [illegible] Coy, Frank Martin, Dorothy Blaine, Belle Green, Catherine Mackenzie, Helen Kackson and a chorus of New Amsterdam Theater beauties.

Miles Theater

The Four Meyakos, a versatile and unusual quartette of Japanese, will headline the Miles show week of September 30th. The act consists of contortions and acrobatics, singing and dancing and violin solos. They carry an elaborate silk hand-worked Oriental setting. This, with the novelty of Japanese doing singing, dancing and instrumental music, makes it a pretentious offering.

James Grady & Co., presenting the comedy dramatic sketch, "The Toll Bridge," will be the added attraction. "Motoring With Death," a sensational motorcycle novelty.

Charles B. Lawler, author of the popular song, "Sidewalks of New York," with his two daughters, offers a series of their own character compositions.

Mahoney Bros. in a harmony diversion of wit and jollity, and Mary Dorr in a characteristic song cycle, round out a consistent vaudeville show, which will be embellished with the Universal war pictures, screen magazine and comedy silent dramas.

Don't be a prop for the propaganda.—Savannah News.

Standard Theater

Madge Kennedy, the charming and beautiful actress and comedienne, comes to the Standard Theater for the week beginning September 29th, in her latest screen success, "The Kingdom of Youth." This little queen who has made such a pronounced hit in many of her former plays, portrays even to better advantage her ability in this picture and will be seen as the secret bride of a man with whom an elderly widow is in love. Knowing that he is married, she employs another to make love to the young bride in order to part the young couple. But the young wife gets next to her game and one night starts a fire in the widow's apartments in order that her husband may see her without her false frills, and of course, when he does see her, the young bride is triumphant.

Many interesting little scenes are displayed during the course of this production, and Miss Kennedy herself proclaims this to be one of her best yet.

Star Theater

When the flag dropped on the theatrical world this season, one company forged its way to the front and romped along so easily they intend to be the leaders in the burlesque field. The organization that made such a killing from the start was the "Girls of the U. S. A.," with Lew Hilton and Ina Hayward, two of the biggest favorites in burlesque, assisted by Aurelia Clark, John Bohlmann, Tenny Hilson, Mlle. Babette, Clare Evans, Roy Peck, Charles Figg, and a singing and dancing chorus of prize beauties, an entire new show from start to finish, and its greatness will be admitted after the opening performance at the Star Theater next week. For years the Burlesque Producing Company have strived to give the public the best obtainable, and in this season's production they have outdone themselves. The music is catchy and [illegible] here in that happy [illegible].

[illegible] says: "The Germans seek to weaken the [illegible] by retiring far to the rear." [illegible] knowledge [illegible] attempts to advance only [illegible] the enemy strong.—[illegible] Southern Lumberman.

Two Hundred Hartford-Saxony Rugs
⅓ Less Than Current Retail Prices

The phrase "as good as gold" may always be applied to Hartford-Saxony Rugs. They represent the best domestic product in wool, dye and weave.

We purchased, many months ago, an immense consignment of Hartford-Saxony carpet size rugs, knowing that by so doing we would be in an advantageous position with regard to stock.

There are now on hand over 200 Hartford-Saxony rugs in room-sizes to be offered at retail at one-third less than current prices.

In buying at an opportune time we anticipated several of the most violent price advances in the history of textiles. The benefit of this foresight goes to our customers. These beautiful heavy rugs are tremendous values.

We also offer 300 yards of Saxony Runners, 27 and 36 inches wide, in plain and Persian patterns, at the extremely low prices of $5 to $7 the yard.

We append a list of sizes and prices for your reference before calling at the store.

LEGAL NOTICE.

To Arthur T. R. Cunningham, Arthur Franklin Cunningham, aged 14 years, and Helen Chandler Cunningham, aged 12 years, said minors being children of said Arthur T. R. Cunningham, and all of said persons residing in the City of Spokane, in the State of Washington:

You and each of you are hereby notified that on the 5th day of September, 1918, William M. Cunningham filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, against you and others, being cause therein numbered 165815, the substance of said petition being as follows: It alleges that the plaintiff purchased for himself certain three parcels of real estate in said Cuyahoga County described as follows:

First Parcel.

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga, and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub-lot No. Sixty-seven (67) in Thomas Beckwith's Re-subdivision of his Subdivision of part of Original One Hundred (100) Acre Lots numbers 323 and 331, as shown by the recorded plat of said Re-subdivision in Volume 13 of Maps, Page 7 of said Cuyahoga County Records, and being 50 feet front on the Westerly side of Beckwith Ave., now known as East 81st St.

Second Parcel.

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and known as Sub-lot No. Three Hundred and Eighty-nine (389) in the Glenhaven Sub-division of part of Original 100 Acre Lot No. 359 in said City. Said Sub-lot No. 389 has a frontage of 40 feet on the Northeasterly side of Ashburton Rd. N. E., and extends back of equal width 120 feet deep.

Third Parcel.

Situated in the Village of Rocky River, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and known as being part of Original Rockport Township, Section No. 7, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning on the center line of Coe Ridge Road at the Northeasterly corner of land conveyed by Louise Walther and husband to George and Mary Oettle by deed dated July 1, 1908, and recorded in Volume 1095, Page 279 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence South 9° 48' East along the Easterly line of land so conveyed 878.44 feet to a point on the Northerly line of land conveyed to Henry G. and Elizabeth Kaufman by deed dated June 19,1906, and recorded in Volume 997, Page 511 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence south 89° 32' East along said Northerly line of land so conveyed to Kaufman and along said line extended Easterly about 146.09 feet to a stone at the corner of land owned by W. J. White; thence North 2° 28' East along the line of said White's land 280.50 feet to a stone; thence North 20° 27' West 654.40 feet to a stone set in the center line of Coe Ridge Rd.; thence Southwesterly along the center line of said Coe Ridge Rd. 83 feet to the place of beginning, containing about 3.12 Acres of land, and that he paid for the same out of his own money and means, but, for convenience, caused the title to each of said parcels to be placed in the name of his mother, Margaret A. Cunningham, sometimes called M. A. Cunningham, in trust for him, his heirs and assigns, she not paying or agreeing to pay any part of purchase price for said land and never being in possession of either thereof, and that she re-conveyed said first parcel to him, his heirs and assigns, by deed not yet recorded, but died holding the legal title to said second and third parcels, and leaving her last will and testament, which has been duly probated and recorded, wherein she bequeathed legacies of $1200.00 each to the defendants Arthur Franklin Cunningham and Helen Chandler Cunningham, minor children of her son Arthur T. R. Cunningham of Spokane, Washington, and who with the plaintiff constitute her only children and sole heirs at law, also a legacy of $1200 to Wm. Arthur Cunningham, and of which will said William M. Cunningham is Executor, and that the estate of said Testatrix has been disposed of and its proceeds found insufficient to pay said legacies except to the extent of $739.25 each, which has been paid, and that her estate has been duly settled and her debts and funeral expenses paid, as well as a certain other legacy of $50 provided in said will. That said will is fully set forth in said petition and that the apparent claims which said defendants or any of them might have in either of said parcels or the proceeds thereof by reason of said will or otherwise are invalid but constitute a cloud upon the plaintiff's rights and titles to said parcels of land.

The object and prayer of said petition are that the plaintiff's title to each of said parcels of land be quieted as against said defendants and each of them and that said Arthur T. R. Cunningham be required to quit-claim to the plaintiff, his heirs and assigns all title and interest in each of said parcels, and that in default thereof the decree of the court in said action operate as such conveyance and for such further relief as the premises may warrant. Reference being here made to the said petition for a more full and detailed statement of the facts alleged therein.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition by the 2nd day of November, 1918, or a judgment may be rendered as prayed for.

Quick Heat for Cool Days

For cool mornings and evenings or before the furnace fires are started an Oil Heater will prove most satisfactory. A good-sized room can be comfortably heated in a short time, and the cost of operating is small. Now at the beginning of the season we have a good stock of all of the styles of the NEW PERFECTION OIL HEATER, and this is the best time to prepare. In the past few years when the shortage of fuel was the greatest, we were unable to secure enough oil heaters to supply the demand, so the safe way is to buy now.

Said parts of said sublots Nos. 29 and 30 together form a parcel of land having a frontage of 41 1-3 feet on the easterly side of E. 67th St., and extending back between parallel lines one hundred feet deep.

Saving Money

Saving money is easy or difficult according to whether or not one has a definite aim. Most of us require that we have not only a definite aim, but also a "compulsory savings account." We need just a little "compulsion" in order that we put aside each year, and each month, the amount we should save against the day when Age shall reduce our earnings.

No person, except he be wealthy, is fair to himself, and especially to his family, who does not each month and each year lay aside a fair proportion of his earnings.

It is equally necessary that one place his savings where they shall, first of all, be absolutely safe; also where they will increase while they are accumulating. Millions of dollars are saved each year, but unwisely invested and lost. The effort, the denial, even sacrifice is made, but the reward is not gained.

Land is the one absolutely safe investment. Properly located and supplied with the necessary improvements to convert it into a desirable homesite, it will increase in value surely and quickly.

The easy payments on which lots are sold in our WILLOUGHBY - EUCLID AVE. SUB - DIVISION place them within the reach of almost every person or family. They afford an absolutely safe, convenient, "compulsory" savings bank" where deposits will grow rapidly.

These big lots 80x200 at $740 up, ideally located and completely improved, offer an exceptional investment opportunity. It will be to your advantage to act quickly. The time to start, to buy, is now.

LEWIS SCHUPP, KIRTLAND, MEETS HAROLD NEUMANN IN FRANCE.

In this letter from a Kirtland boy in France there comes to us the thought of the strangeness of the events through which we are all passing. Here are two boys from home—probably neither had ever been far from home—they meet in France, and talk over boyhood games that sometimes came near to boyish battles; now they are in a foreign land, engaged in the fiercest kind of warfare: On Active Service With the American Expeditionary Force,

August 28th, 1918.

UNUSUAL SPEAKER TO ADDRESS LIBERTY LOAN RALLY

Willoughby is fortunate in having a speaker of unusual eloquence and remarkable interest to address the Liberty Loan rally Friday night. The Rev. Dr. William Torrence Stuchell, a splendid speaker, gives a gripping, heart stirring talk that in the best Cleveland clubs has brought the men to their feet with cheers. Dr. Stuchell was a correspondent in Alaska after leaving college, for a number of leading newspapers. His work in connection with the war enables him to tell a story of vital interest now. He is a man of rare oratorical ability, of remarkable versatility, and a thoroughly enjoyable speaker. Dr. Stuchell is the pastor of the East Cleveland Congregational Church. James McMahon will direct the singing. A Cleveland quartette is promised, and 25 Cleveland men have signified their intention of coming out to hear the big talk and to help in the good work. Cleveland folks were told Wednesday they could not afford to miss this war lecture when Dr. Stuchell talked at the Ad Club. It is a certainty that no one will want to miss it when he comes to Willoughby.

LOUIS SCHUPP MEETS HAROLD NEUMANN

larly. I have missed it a great deal the past weeks, for a word from the home community goes a long way over here. Harold Neumann, of Willoughby, is in my battery, and the other night we were talking over times of our schoolhood days. In those days we were opposing each other in games that came near to battle. But now we have a common outlook on events, and he is getting right handy as a gunner. There are also a number of Painesville boys with us, and you can just bet we are working to get in tip top shape. And all anxious for the supreme test, which is so near and yet seems so far. Sand, dust and flies seem to predominate in this part of France, and all [illegible] their efforts to make us as uncomfortable as possible. The only satisfaction we get from finding flies in our soup or coffee is the fact that that one particular fly won't be there again. Still, take the fly, cootie, [illegible] for instance. They are affectionate, clinging little things, and it gives a fellow a heap of satisfaction to know that something is willing to cast its lot with him and stick through thick and thin, not to speak of the muscular exercise derived from dislodging them. So, if you will continue the paper I'll be a thousand times obliged. Very sincerely yours,

"The Army and Navy will dig the Huns' grave, but We must furnish the Spade"

—Billy Sunday

By REV. WILLIAM A. SUNDAY

Uncle Sam's Liberty war chest needs filling again!

We have the cash to fill it as many times as he lifts the lid.

There are only two horns to this dilemma—you are either a patriot or a traitor.

The men on the firing line and on the battleships have turned from business, home, mother, wife, children, and they stand ready to give their lives and shield with their bodies us who remain at home.

We are unworthy to be thus protected, if we do not do our utmost to sustain them.

We must be one in our determination to win this war. We are traitors to the cause for which they are giving their lives, if we do things here that make their efforts harder.

Life is not worth living unless there is something to live for. Life would not be worth living if that bunch of Heinies should win.

That is why they cannot win. That is why we cannot lose.

What a mountain of crime God has on his books against that horde of Hellish Huns. What grave is deep enough for this thousand-armed, thousand-footed, thousand-headed, thousand-horned, thousand-fanged pirate of the air, assassin of the seas, despoiler of the earth and ambassador of Hell!

The army and navy will dig the grave, but we must furnish the spade.

Our boys will soon hang crape on the door of the Potsdam Palace, and the bands will play Yankee-Doodle and Dixie along the Rhine.

Uncle Sam is the cactus in the Keiser's pillow.

Our boys have gone over to clean up on that fool bunch of Huns and it is up to us to supply them with whatever they need to finish the job. It takes money to keep the riveters riveting—the sawyers sawing—the machine guns spitting bullets and the grub wagon always on hand with the eats. There is nothing too good for our brave defenders.

Our vocabulary contains no words adequate to express our approval of the achievements of our government since we threw our hat in the ring. We are rich on top of the ground; we are rich under the ground and our rivers creep like silver serpents to the seas, bearing our products.

The children of England, France, Italy and Belgium are laughing once more because they are being fed from Uncle Sam's bakeshop. One carload of meat every two minutes, one hog out of every four, nine million pounds of meat a day—all going over to feed our boys. We are in this scrap to the last dollar, the last grain of wheat, the last day.

We will never stop until Germany dips her dirty blood-stained rag to the Stars and Stripes.

It's a whale of a job we've tackled, but we can and must put it over.

But you must help.

Don't whine. Don't knock. You can't saw wood with a hammer. Don't turn the hose on the fire; add fuel.

"Y" SECRETARY FROM CHINA SPEAKS AT DISCIPLE CHURCH

The Rev. L. E. McLachlin preached at the Disciple Church Sunday night. Mr. McLachlin was the pastor of the Disciple Church about sixteen years ago. Since that time he has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in China, acting as secretary at Foo Chow. Many of his old friends here greeted him after the service. At the morning service the Rev. Mr. Reynard, secretary of Hiram College, spoke. An impromptu quartette, composed of Messrs. Bright, Birkholz, Reynard and Chapman, sang at the evening service.

CANDIDATE FOR PRESBYTERIAN PULPIT MAY SPEAK HERE NEXT SUNDAY.

The Rev. Swan, of Salem, candidate to fill the vacancy at the Presbyterian Church, did not speak there last Sunday, as anticipated. It is expected that he will occupy the pulpit next Sunday morning. The Rev. Mr. Rockroth filled the pulpit instead, delivering a most able sermon. He dwelt upon the importance of community service as a part of the work of the modern church. He spoke of the applicability of the Golden Rule, stating that it had not yet been equaled as a good working motto. The need of play and recreation for young or old is a feature that must be recognized, he said. "Rheumatism of the mind" was approaching, he added, when a man ceased to take interest in healthful play and recreation.

IN MEMORIAM FOR MRS. JULIA RANDALL

Julia Elizabeth Booth was born in Kirtland, Lake County, Ohio, on the 6th day of December, 1851. She was the second child of Henry and Laura Booth. She was educated at Chester Seminary, after which she taught school for a while. She was married to Spencer S. Randall on the 28th day of December 1871. To this union were born four sons and one daughter. Carl, the oldest, having died on November [illegible], 1908, John, Guy, Sari and Laura, who, with the husband, five grandchildren and three brothers, survive her.

Her last sickness covered a period of about five months during which she was a great sufferer, and was so patient. Her only complaint was, "I am so tired; I want to go to Jesus, my Saviour."

She died at her home in Mentor on the 12th of September, 1918, at the age of 66 years, 9 months and 6 days. She was a member of the Methodist church for many years, and a member of the Woman's Relief Corps of the G. A. R. She was greatly interested in all things that pertained to the welfare of the church and of society, these subjects being constantly in her mind and heart. She was a kind and affectionate daughter, sister and friend; an affectionate and devoted wife and mother, deriving from her home life a large degree of happiness. She was ever ready to the extent of her capacity to minister to the needs of the unfortunate. Naturally kind and generous in her impulses, these she endeavored constantly to improve and perfect by devout study of Christian principles. Her control of her children was very complete and was wholly the result of warm affection and prudent instruction and never by physical force. Her husband, children and acquaintances have sweet memories of her.

Her funeral was held from the home Saturday at 2 p. m., September 14th, 1918, Rev. P. B. Schaffner conducting the services. The wealth of beautiful flowers bore mute testimony to the high esteem in which she was held among her friends and relatives. The remains were laid to rest in Mentor cemetery. A large company paid tribute to the deceased and will long miss the esteemed acquaintance of many years.

Germany is preparing her people for the Fourth Liberty Loan news by pasting our reply to Austria all over the official billboards.

REGULAR COUNCIL MEETING—WOOD STREET EXTENSION TO BE CONSIDERED.

Regular meeting of the council was held Monday night. Solicitor Von Beseler was present. Mayor Carmichael presided. Phillip Neumann was absent. James Smart presented a Wood street extension proposition. This, Mr. Carmichael said, would be favorably acted upon by the council. A resolution was passed allowing the transfer of $2,200 from the River street paving fund to the sinking fund. Mr. Olin referred to the subject of the sidewalk on Euclid avenue at Arthur and Eido streets, stating that Mr. Brodbeck was to have been on hand with a petition signed by the property owners on that street, setting forth their need and desire for such improvement. If the safety of the children and the good of the residents demanded the sidewalk, Mr. Carmichael stated, he believed the work should be done. Adjournment of the meeting was made subject to the call of the chair for the next gathering, when Mr. Smart's proposition will be considered.

"I'd like to be there!"

YOU have said it—as you have looked at some vivid picture or read some stirring account of our boys fighting with American courage and self-sacrifice. If you cannot go out to them, you can fight for them, over here. Smash open the way for them with howitzers and big guns. Send them ammunition, tanks, airplanes, rifles, clothing, food. Help to keep them victorious.

You can lend as fearlessly, as unselfishly, as they fight. That is your job as a part of our war machine.

OF COURSE you would "like to be there." They don't need you yet or you WOULD be there. But they need guns and shells, every hour they remain on the road to Berlin.

Miles Theater

Frank Bush, the eminent comedian and story teller, will headline the bill next week at the Miles. Bush uses seven dialects and has an original method for extracting laughs from the audience.

A playlet called "Ticks and Clicks," written by Will Cressy, will be presented by O'Brien Havel and Miss Valeska, the Celestial Duo offering an oriental vocal and piano classic embellished with an old and beautiful oriental setting.

Taylor and Correlli in a sparkling diversion of melody and clever comicalities.

Long and Short in a study in contrast, and Lockhardt and Laddie, travesty acrobats, in a "Brave Attempt at Suicide," make up a diversified program of six kinds of fun. There will be war pictures and comedy films before and after each vaudeville performance, which starts daily at 2, 4, 7 and 9 o'clock. Children will be admitted to the matinee for 10 cents.

Standard Theater

The first Rex Beach production of the season will be shown at the Standard Theater week of October 6th, "Laughing Bill Hyde." Will Rogers, the celebrated wit and lariat thrower of the Ziegfeld Follies is its featured player. This production is the most wonderful one that Mr Beach ever produced, and starts when Bill Hyde is a convict in a western penitentiary, from which he and a partner escape His partner later falls down a gulch and is mortally wounded and dies. Bill later makes his way to Alaska, and while searching for work rushes to the aid of a girl when a drunken rowdy is attacking her, and beats him off. She is a Ponotah, a half-breed and owns half of a mine, which a gang is trying to cheat her out of. He secures work in this mine and gets the inside workings of all their schemes, and here a lot of thrilling adventures start, until finally he wins out, and the girl gets all her shares, and he, of course, gets the hand and heart of the girl.

Empire Theater

Billy Watson and his Oriental Burlesquers, presenting two new comedies and a deal of variety as well, come to the Empire Monday for the week, Manager Jack McNamara announces.

Watson's Orientals are one of the best known organizations on the circuit, and his edition this year is said to exceed that of previous seasons. The cast includes George W. Milton, Leo Kendal, Vida Sopoto, Jenny Delmar, Marie Baker, J. Lee Allen, George L. Dorsey and others.

The production is written in the form of two comedies. "The Joy Line" is the opening extravaganza, while "Reilly's Reception' closes the entertainment. The former is a nautical comedy, dealing with adventures on a well known steamboat which once plied the waters of Long Island Sound. The latter is a genial number, dealing with the rivalry of two lovers. "Cleopatra," a spectacular novelty, is another big feature.

Kendal has long been featured in vaudeville, while Milton is known as a monologist and burlesquer of unusual popularity. There is a big chorus of singing and dancing girls, and the production is new and up-to-the-minute.

Colonial Theater

After 16 months of solid success at the Playhouse, New York, "The Man Who Came Back" reaches Cleveland for its second presentation here at the Shubert Colonial Theater, week of October 7th. This is the play by Rules Eckert Goodman, founded on the romantic story by John Fleming Wilson It deals with the episodes in the life of a wayward son, told in five tensely interesting episodes; the first in the New York mansion of the elder Potter; the second shows the balcony of The Breakers, a San Francisco resort where young Potter has strayed on his path downward. Next is shown the opium den near Shanghai and the dramatic meeting of Henry and Marcelle. The fourth episode takes place on a pineapple plantation near Honolulu, where the two have begun their fight for the worth-while things of life. The final episode occurs in the Potter residence in New York.

The romantic element of the play has been credited for its universal appeal and extraordinary success. The theme points out how far a woman will go for the man she loves

There has been a big demand for seats, and indications are that the engagement here at the Shubert Colonial will be a duplication of its New York success.

Louis Vogel, residence unknown, but whose last known residence was Ludington, Mich., will take notice that Bernice Vogel filed a petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce, restoration of name and relief on the ground of gross neglect of duty and adultery. Said petition is No. 165999 and will be for hearing on and after November 1st, 1918 S19-O24

Opera House

The Opera House will ring up the curtain next Monday night, with Raymond Hitchcock and his brand new edition of "Hitchy Koo" as the magnetic features. No happier choice could be made for the zealous playgoers here than this highly amusing and spicily varied show with the master fun-maker, Raymond Hitchcock, to animate and guide its program. He will as usual, be surrounded by an interesting group of principals, each of whom is an individual ace in the professional world of entertainment, and the chorus of "forty under twenty" is a meteoric feature "Hitchy" knows how to conjure with. George Moore, Earl Benham, Charles Howard, Jack Donahue, Ray Dooley, Gene Tyne, Ruth Mitchell, Jean Roberts, Eleanor Sinclair and Florence Denishawn are active characters in the radiant 1918 edition of the bright and jovial "Hitchy Koo"

The performance will be the first here of the newest Hitchcock provision for national gayety, for, as his representatives put it, the genial generator of robust laughter, "Hitchy Koo," is a "national necessity," quite as much as the "Follies" are a "national institution." The production has been in the making for several months under the direction of Ned Wayburn. The lines and lyrics are by Glen McDonough and the music by Raymond Hubbell. Some interpolated musical numbers are credited to Harold Orlob. The scenic and property effects, as well as costumes, are of the usual Ziegfeld importance and are promised to be of exceptional charm. But, after all, Raymond Hitchcock is the great attraction. He occupies a singular place in the regard of theater-goers, because he is like no one else and is endowed with a personality that never suggests the mechanics of fun-making. Besides, he is resourceful in ways and means of entertainment and never becomes wearisome or stale. One may always feel that in patronizing a Hitchcock show neither time nor money is lost.

Star Theater

The offering at the Star Theater next week will be a new version of Max Spiegel's famous "Merry Rounders" with Abe Reynolds and Florence Mills cast in the leading roles.

This season Mr. Spiegel had provided one of the most finished musical productions ever staged and engaged an exceptionally strong cast to support Reynolds and Miss Mills.

Abe Leavitt has provided the vehicle for the fun-making, and Charles Kuebler has written the musical score, which has been interpolated with several popular and catchy musical numbers of the whistling variety. Edward Hurdy, a scenic artist of international reputation, has provided the scenic settings, which are said to be a revelation in burlesque.

Twenty-four Spiegel beauties form the chorus.

CLEVELAND SCHOOL OF PHARMACY BECOMES PART OF WESTERN RESERVE

The Cleveland School of Pharmacy has become an integral part of Western Reserve University. It has for ten years held an affiliated relationship. The lifting of the standards of the school, the importance of the subject, the efficiency of the executive office held by Dean Edward Spease, have caused the trustees of the university to adopt this school as one of the professional schools.

If, as Germany claims, its spy system was not adequate, it seems to be a reasonable conjecture that no system of that kind ever could prove adequate.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

CLEVELAND BANK INCREASES CAPITAL

Liberty Loan Head and Gas Company Officials Secure Promotions.

The announcement has been made that the directors of the National City Bank at Monday's meeting have advanced C. A. Paine to the chairmanship of the bank, in which capacity he will continue to act as its chief executive officer, and has named H. V. Shulters as president of the institution. The announcement was also made that the increase of capitalization from one million to two million dollars had been fully subscribed and would become effective November 1st, 1918.

Mr. Paine, who is now directing Cleveland's drive for one hundred and thirteen million dollars of Liberty Bonds, is one of the most experienced and best known bankers of the city. Previous to making his connection with the National City Bank in 1912 he was the vice president of the Superior Savings & Trust Company, and prior to that connection was the cashier of the Central National Bank. In the six years of his presidency the National City Bank, which is now in its seventy-fourth year, has increased its capital stock from two hundred and fifty thousand dollars to two million dollars and will have close to three million dollars of capital and surplus. Its resources have increased from about two and one-half million dollars to over fourteen million dollars.

Last March the bank bought the Garfield building, and plans to occupy the corner at Sixth street and Euclid avenue in about one year. It has been located in the Leader-News building since May, 1913. Mr. Paine stated that the increased business of the bank, as well as its anticipated future growth, especially in connection with its move to the new location on Euclid avenue, had made it necessary to enlarge the organization, and it was with this end in view that Mr. Shulters was added to the bank's staff of officers.

Mr. Shulters since 1887 has been identified with the natural gas interests of the Standard Oil Company and since 1902 has been a director and the secretary and treasurer of the East Ohio Gas Company, the Standard Oil Company's largest natural gas subsidiary, as well as the largest natural gas company in the world. Notwithstanding Mr. Shulters' extensive business interests, he has found time to maintain an interest in scientific agriculture and owns fine herds of Guernsey cattle and Berkshire hogs on his farm in Mentor. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and the Union Club, and is a director of the East Ohio Gas Company, the Connecting Gas Company and the Guardian Savings & Trust Company. The date on which Mr. Shulters is to assume his active duties at the National City Bank has not been definitely announced, but the change will take place in the near future.

LEGAL NOTICE.
To Arthur T. R. Cunningham, Arthur Franklin Cunningham, aged 14 years, and Helen Chandler Cunningham, aged 12 years, said minors being children of said Arthur T. R. Cunningham, and all of said persons residing in the City of Spokane, in the State of Washington:

You and each of you are hereby notified that on the 5th day of September, 1918, William M. Cunningham filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, against you and others, being cause therein numbered 165815, the substance of said petition being as follows: It alleges that the plaintiff purchased for himself certain three parcels of real estate in said Cuyahoga County described as follows:

First Parcel.

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga, and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub-lot No. Sixty-seven (67) in Thomas Beckwith's Re-subdivision of his Sub-division of part of Original One Hundred (100) Acre Lots numbers 423 and 431, as shown by the recorded plat of said Re-subdivision in Volume 13 of Maps, Page 7 of said Cuyahoga County Records, and being 50 feet front on the Westerly side of Beckwith Ave., now known as East 81st St.

Second Parcel.

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and known as Sub-lot No. Three Hundred and Eighty-nine (389) in the Glenhaven Sub-division of part of Original 100 Acre Lot No. 359 in said City. Said Sub-lot No. 389 has a frontage of 40 feet on the Northeasterly side of Ashburton Rd. N. E., and extends back of equal width 120 feet deep.

Third Parcel.

Situated in the Village of Rocky River, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and known as being part of Original Rockport Township, Section No. 7, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning on the center line of Coe Ridge Road at the Northeasterly corner of land conveyed by Louise Walther and husband to George and Mary Oettle by deed dated July 1, 1908, and recorded in Volume 1095, Page 279 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence South 9° 48' East along the Easterly line of land so conveyed 878.44 feet to a point on the Northerly line of land conveyed to Henry G. and Elizabeth Kaufman by deed dated June 19,1906, and recorded in Volume 997, Page 511 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence south 89° 32' East along said Northerly line of land so conveyed to Kaufman and along said line extended Easterly about 146.09 feet to a stone at the corner of land owned by W. J. White; thence North 2° 28' East along the line of said White's land 280.50 feet to a stone; thence North 20° 27' West 654.40 feet to a stone set in the center line of Coe Ridge Rd.; thence Southwesterly along the center line of said Coe Ridge Rd. 83 feet to the place of beginning, containing about 3.12 Acres of land, and that he paid for the same out of his own money and means, but, for convenience, caused the title to each of said parcels to be placed in the name of his mother, Margaret A. Cunningham, sometimes called M. A. Cunningham, in trust for him, his heirs and assigns, she not paying or agreeing to pay any part of purchase price for said land and never being in possession of either thereof, and that she re-conveyed said first parcel to him, his heirs and assigns, by deed not yet recorded, but died holding the legal title to said second and third parcels, and leaving her last will and testament, which has been duly probated and recorded, wherein she bequeathed legacies of $1200.00 each to the defendants Arthur Franklin Cunningham and Helen Chandler Cunningham, minor children of her son Arthur T. R. Cunningham of Spokane, Washington, and who with the plaintiff constitute her only children and sole heirs at law, also a legacy of $1200 to Wm. Arthur Cunningham, and of which will said William M. Cunningham is Executor, and that the estate of said Testatrix has been disposed of and its proceeds found insufficient to pay said legacies except to the extent of $739.25 each, which has been paid, and that her estate has been duly settled and her debts and funeral expenses paid, as well as a certain other legacy of $50 provided in said will. That said will is fully set forth in said petition and that the apparent claims which said defendants or any of them might have in either of said parcels or the proceeds thereof by reason of said will or otherwise are invalid but constitute a cloud upon the plaintiff's rights and titles to said parcels of land.

The object and prayer of said petition are that the plaintiff's title to each of said parcels of land be quieted as against said defendants and each of them and that said Arthur T. R. Cunningham be required to quit-claim to the plaintiff, his heirs and assigns all title and interest in each of said parcels, and that in default thereof the decree of the court in said action operate as such conveyance and for such further relief as the premises may warrant. Reference being here made to the said petition for a more full and detailed statement of the facts alleged therein.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition by the 2nd day of November, 1918, or a judgment may be rendered as prayed for.

SQUIRREL POPULATION OF COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ohio, is the largest city in the world—in squirrel population.

The legislature of Ohio appropriates $74 a year to feed the squirrels in the State House yard.

This is by a special act.

And from the standpoint of pleasure, it gives the children that come into the park-like grounds to play, and the old men who sit on the benches, it is the best money the state spends.

There are hundreds of squirrels in these grounds, and this $74 is for nuts to carry them over for the winter; the tree houses and drinking fountains being provided out of the general funds.

In summer the squirrels are fed by the old men and children—they wax fat while the peanut venders around the square wax rich.

Several years ago, at certain times in the day, a perfect procession of squirrels was discovered crossing High street, the principal business thoroughfare, at the point of greatest traffic, and down a side street in order to get to the river to drink.

Many of them remained in the trees along the bank, until the old men and children complained that the park was being depopulated of its pets. The state then provided fountains of running water.

There is an enforced city ordinance in Columbus against killing squirrels.

For years the State House yard has been the breeding grounds and they have gradually worked their way out into the residential section and nearly every resident has placed a house or two in the shade trees. Today there is hardly a householder without a family or two of squirrels, and that's why Columbus is the largest city in the world—in squirrel population.

Squirrels are a characteristic of Columbus, just as gardens and house flowers are a characteristic of Dayton, Ohio.

Their protection is a tradition of the city—even the dogs let them alone—and they are so tame that their only danger is being stepped on by pedestrians along the residence streets.

MISREPRESENTING A BEE.

English officers and men still experience difficulties with the language at the front. Recently an officer, seeing a swarm of bees settle near his billet, rushed to adjacent cottages to inform the residents. But explain verbally he could not. So, taking paper and pencil, he drew a rough sketch of a hive, then waggled his fingers in what he thought the correct wing-like way. It was a failure, so he sketched a number of bees and buzzed a beesome buzz. Thereupon the cottagers, with one consent, bolted to their dugouts, believing that he meant hostile aircraft overhead.—London Daily Chronicle.

Thrift Stamps fit the purse of all. Buy them every pay day.

It is announced that the Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria is to marry Princess Antoinette of Luxemburg. We think the bride ought to know in advance that even if we do not adhere to our present plan of hanging the prince, he will certainly be out of money and without a job, and she will certainly have to take in washing.—Houston Post.

It begins to look as though that "strategic retreat" were made up of about one part strategy and ninety-nine parts gallop.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

WHY DREAD WASH DAY?

Why continue to put up with the tiresome drudgery of washing by the old-fashioned tub and washboard method when an Electric Washer will relieve you of all the hard work and give you cleaner, longer-lasting clothes?

Electric Washers can be purchased at moderate prices and liberal terms at all Electrical Shops. Get one for your next Wash Day—you will find it will soon pay for itself.

HOW CLEVELAND HAS GROWN IN EIGHT YEARS; HOMESITES ARE NEEDED

Cleveland's growth in population, industry and wealth has forced its boundaries to expand. In 1910 there were approximately fifty-two square miles in the city of Cleveland. Today there are 58.7 square miles within the corporation limits, says the Plain Dealer.

Statistics compiled by the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce indicate that there has been an influx of workmen to this city amounting to about 25 per cent. This increase in population has brought about a scarcity of living quarters and means that when building conditions return to normal much of the vacant land in the city and suburbs will be speedily built up with homes of various kinds.

This also means that new territory further from the Public Square will be in demand. Before the war started Cleveland was nearing a point where rapid transit was soon to be available and with speedier modes of carrying people to and from their homes to their places of business, crowded living conditions will be relieved and a good market opened for vacant land.

Changes in Boundaries.

Several changes have occurred in the boundaries of the various municipalities since 1915. Parts of Brooklyn, East View and Warrensville townships have been annexed to Cleveland, which accounts for its increase from 52 to 58.7 square miles.

Bedford township was clipped from 24.3 to 18.7 square miles, 4.5 square miles being given to Maple Heights village and the rest to Bedford village, increasing Bedford proper from 1.2 to 2.3 square miles.

Warrensville dropped from 15.4 to 10.3. Beechwood village was born on 4.5 square miles taken from Warrensville.

Brecksville township has been enlarged since 1915. Then it contained 27 square miles, while today it has 28.

Brooklyn township changed from 7.4 to 4.6, East View from 2.7 to 2.2.

Euclid township was cut into three parts, 5.8 being given to South Euclid, 2.8 to Euclidville, and 3.5 to Claribel. Euclid Village remains the same size, 11.4 square miles. Newburg Heights was cut from 3.8 to 0.5.

A FATAL WATER ILLUSION

Hundreds of capable swimmers have been drowned by mistaking the movement of waves in the water for the movement of the water itself. Wrongly thinking that they were being carried seaward by some current, they have become frantic and have finally succumbed to what is a mere optical illusion. These somewhat startling statements are made in Science (New York, July 12), by Walter R. Shaw, of the University of the Philippines, Manila. Obviously a thorough understanding of the illusion to which Mr. Shaw calls attention will, if he is right, save many lives, and he urges that publicity be given to it in courses in physics, physiology, and physical culture. Evidently it is particularly dangerous for persons who have learned to swim in tanks, or in still ponds, where there are no waves. When such swimmers see the waves racing ahead of them they at once feel that they are being carried backward, conclude that there is an "undertow," and are actually frightened to death by an illusion. To quote:

"There is an optical illusion that has probably led, within comparatively recent times, to the death by drowning of scores, or even hundreds, of capable but inexperienced swimmers. A person swimming with the wind, and consequently with the waves, which travel in the same direction faster than it is possible to swim, receives the impression of being carried backward by the water. In the absence of knowledge or information covering the case, most persons, so situated, if headed toward the shore, immediately think of 'undertow,' a word which nearly everyone has heard, and believe themselves to be caught in an offshore current. The instincts of an untrained or half-trained swimmer always lead to a nervous haste and overexertion in deep water, even under conditions most favorable for swimming. When these instincts are supplemented by the panic that arises from the belief that the person is caught in an 'undertow,' the resulting increase and acceleration of action reduces efficiency to a degree that must certainly have left many persons fatally exhausted before they reached a footing. My attention has been called to this phenomenon through two cases of able-bodied but indifferent swimmers who, after swimming just beyond their depths in an onshore breeze at Pasay Beach, near Manila, returned to the bathhouse in an excited state and reported having been caught in an 'undertow' with nearly fatal result. In each case I made immediate investigations of the water at the point indicated and found neither 'undertow' nor off-shore current sufficient to embarrass any swimmer. Subsequently on numerous occasions, while initiating beginners into deep-water swimming, being headed for shore with an onshore breeze, I have heard the initiate remark, with deep concern, that there was a current against us. This required to be accounted for. The feeling of being carried backward may be satisfactorily explained to most persons as arising in the same way as the effect commonly produced on a person seated in a stationary railway coach when a train on an adjoining track moves forward. It would be more strictly comparable with the effect produced by two trains, one on each side of the stationary coach, moving forward at the same speed. When this optical illusion receives due publicity in courses in physics, physiology, and physical culture in our colleges, schools, and gymnasia, there will be less danger attendant upon open-water swimming for tank-, pond, and river-trained swimmers who venture beyond their depths in larger bodies of water. It will be obvious to the reader that a swimmer should choose fixed objects by which to gage his progress."

Help the Fuel Administration

THE Fuel Administration is doing all it can to keep you warm next winter. But it needs your co-operation. If everyone does his share there will be no coal shortage—and there will be no discomfort. To get the most out of all coal used, every house should be properly equipped.

The Director of Conservation of the Fuel Administration says: "The National Fuel Administration realizes that a large amount of coal can be saved by the installation of storm doors, storm windows" . . . "and advocates such installation the same as we do proper firing methods and proper attention to boilers."

cut down coal bills from one-third to one-half—a saving that pays for their cost in one or two seasons.

But still more important—they increase the comfort and healthfulness of your house by eliminating cold floor drafts, by making it possible to keep the house warm in the severest winter weather, and by permitting perfect ventilation.

See or phone us now and have your house ready for winter.

Saving Money

Saving money is easy or difficult according to whether or not one has a definite aim. Most of us require that we have not only a definite aim, but also a "compulsory savings account." We need just a little "compulsion" in order that we put aside each year, and each month, the amount we should save against the day when Age shall reduce our earnings.

No person, except he be wealthy, is fair to himself, and especially to his family, who does not each month and each year lay aside a fair proportion of his earnings.

It is equally necessary that one place his savings where they shall, first of all, be absolutely safe; also where they will increase while they are accumulating. Millions of dollars are saved each year, but unwisely invested and lost. The effort, the denial, even sacrifice is made, but the reward is not gained.

Land is the one absolutely safe investment. Properly located and supplied with the necessary improvements to convert it into a desirable homesite, it will increase in value surely and quickly.

The easy payments on which lots are sold in our WILLOUGHBY - EUCLID AVE. SUB - DIVISION place them within the reach of almost every person or family. They afford an absolutely safe, convenient, "compulsory" savings bank" where deposits will grow rapidly.

These big lots 80x200 at $740 up, ideally located and completely improved, offer an exceptional investment opportunity. It will be to your advantage to act quickly. The time to start, to buy, is now.

MANY BONDS SOLD AT LIBERTY LOAN RALLY

James McMahon Sings When Samuel Austin Offers $500.00 For a Song

The Liberty Loan rally given under the auspices of the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce last Friday night resulted in the sale of $20,000.00 worth of Liberty Bonds. The Rev. Wm. Sutchell gave an inspiring address. The hall was crowded. Seven auto loads of men, members of the Kiwanis Club, came out with the speaker. Also a male quartette. The audience sang also, directed by James McMahon. Bonds were sold following the speaking. Much interesting by-play and bidding was indulged in, creating considerable enthusiasm. Samuel Austin offered to purchase $500.00 worth of bonds if James McMahon would sing. Mr. McMahon complied with alacrity, much to the pleasure of everybody. Later the same offer was repeated by another man in the audience. Mayor Carmichael matched several people, buying several hundred dollars' worth of bonds. Numbers of children purchased. James Barnes was a lively buyer. His name was so much in evidence that one of the Cleveland salesmen, walking down the aisle, inquired: "Who is this man Barnes; is he a millionaire?" When L. B. Stockwell finally totaled the results of the evening's work, $20,000.00 showed up upon the blackboard to the credit of Willoughby.

A. H. VAN GORDER RESIGNS AS PRESIDENT OF ANDREWS INSTITUTE

Letter of Resignation States Reasons—New President Is Appointed—S. S. Wilson, Recently Re-Elected Manager, Also Resigns Office

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Andrews School Saturday last, A. H. Van Gorder resigned his position as president of the Board. R. N. Whitcomb, county treasurer, was appointed president, succeeding Mr. Van Gorder. S. S. Wilson, who, in August, was re-elected general manager of the Institute, also tendered his resignation, asking to be released from further service at the school following the date of January 1st, 1919. A motion was passed during the meeting authorizing the giving of an option to R. G. Hanford, of New York, on the holdings of the school in the New York Steam Co. at a price of practically one and a half million with a cash payment of $210,500.00 for the underlying mortgages. This option holds good until January 1st. Mr. Van Gorder's letter of resignation to the Board follows:

"To the Board of Trustees, Andrews Institute:

"Some three years ago I was led to accept the presidency of the Andrews Institute for Girls under circumstances which at that time seemed amply to warrant such action. It happened that Mr. St. John, whom I succeeded as president, was financially interested in the New York Steam Company, one of our principal assets, and which had been acquired by Mr. St. John under the terms of a certain option. Mr. St. John defaulted in his payments, but was able to induce the board to give him an extension of the option under which he was operating. This option Mr. St. John sold to Mr. Hanford, and in the negotiations which followed, the school was constantly embarrassed in dealing with Mr. St. John as owner or interested in the Steam Company, while at the same time he was president of the board [illegible] lents.

It is a question, however, whether any degree of success has attended our efforts, inasmuch as it seems that in turning over to Mr. Hanford the stock of the Steam Company acquired by Mr. St. John from the school for nothing, Mr. St. John has benefited by some two hundred thousand dollars while at the same time he was willing to let the school advance to the Steam Company several hundred thousand dollars in an effort to keep the Steam Company in operation. And this action of the school in putting up money for the Steam Company had the effect of keeping alive a certain contract between Hanford and St. John whereby St. John had a claim for an additional three hundred thousand dollars to be paid him on account of the stock transaction.

It now develops that in spite of the large loans made by the school the Steam Company has been forced into the hands of receivers and against my firm protest a majority of the board nominated Mr. St. John one of the receivers. This action of the board, together with the fact that upon various occasions the board has failed to support me in matters which I am very sure were for the best interests of the school, leads me to believe it my duty to resign from the office of president, and I therefore, hereby tender my resignation as president, to take effect at once.

During all of my connection with this esteemed institution I have labored hard and to the best of my ability for what I believed was for the interest of the school. My withdrawal from this office does not mean that my interest in the school's welfare will cease. On the contrary, I shall at all times be ready to assume the [illegible]

What Do You Mean "AFFORD"?

By GEORGE ADE

We come to another big task. This time we need not call for helpers. The volunteer workers stream in myriad hosts along the main highway leading to victory and vindication.

All patriots, by confession.

The grumblers are awed into silence. If the taint of disloyalty remains anywhere it is hidden as a shameful secret. The heads are wagging and we hear many bold assurances:

"I'll do all I can."

"I'll go as far as the next fellow."

"I'll take all I can afford to take."

We are speaking of course of the Fourth Liberty Loan and the willingness of the war-backers to subscribe.

This time we do not explain a Liberty Loan and how it works, or why we battle with Germany or that a war costs money. It will just about require a search warrant to find a man who does not say that he will take all of the bonds he can "afford" to take.

But, O my countrymen, we need night schools and correspondence schools, private tutors and Chautauquas and special information bureaus to enlighten Mr. A. and Mr. B. and Mr. C. as to the real meaning of the word "afford."

Are you penciling around to find out how much money you can set aside without the slightest inconvenience to any of your pet private projects?

Are you trying to decide how many bonds you will have to take in order to escape the charge of being a slacker?

Are you getting ready to answer in hundreds a country that has endowed you with thousands?

As you squint your eyes and try to decide upon the sum which will fairly represent your individual quota, are you acting as attorney for the United States of America or have you gone in for technicalities in order to protect special interests?

In reasoning with your conscience, are you trying to be generous or trying to play safe?

It is up to you.

The buck cannot be passed.

It is for each man to decide whether he is going to be a thoroughbred or a squeezer of 50-cent pieces.

For the sake of your own self-respect, come through to the limit. If you live to be a thousand years old you never will have another chance to start your iron dollars upon such a noble mission.

Do you wish to deepen the wrinkles upon the brows in Potsdam?

Would you fortify the courage of every soldier in France?

Shall we set in such a stack that the Kaiser can't see over the top of it?

All right! You are appointed a Special Agent.

Don't wait for a committee to hunt you up or run you down.

Hurry to the bank and break through the line and order so many Liberty Bonds that the man inside will be dazed and all of the neighbors surprised and all of your relatives proud.

SPANISH INFLUENZA.

"By the Village Philosopher."

We Orientals do not stand well [illegible] climate. At home we seldom [illegible]

[illegible] much talk now about the Spanish Flu. But I would say that you can observe some simple precautions it will not come your way.

You must avoid moisture as a [illegible] in the air as we of the East [illegible] the Three Signs of [illegible].

At this time of year you have great changes of temperature during the day from sun to sun, the warm air in the middle of the day absorbs much moisture, but as the air cools at night this is thrown out and this moist air if we breathe it, has a most peculiar effect on the throats of many people; it sets up an irritation that permits entrance of poison bacteria, and one is said to have "Spanish Flu," or grippe, or—well, you have a number of names for him.

We know the middle of the day has a pleasant air; the moisture does not show itself; it is the temperature; but to hold it so it is not apparent at night you must have temperature.

With a relative humidity during the day such as we have now you must have a temperature of 65 to 75 degrees, so I say you must heat the air in your sleeping room to about this degree. You may keep the window open or closed, but the moisture should not precipitate.

Things should not feel moist in the room; ordinary salt should stay a powder and not become a wet mass; then your throat will not feel like sending for the doctor in the morning.

Do not eat and eat and eat simply because it is harvest time. Save a little on food and put it in coal and [illegible] clothes.

When it gets cold enough to freeze the moisture out of the air your enemy has departed and you can sleep out in the open with no danger.

You can put the twelve piasters [illegible] worth not in the doctor's hands but in one of your so good LIBERTY BONDS. "ATTRIUM."

CHICKEN THIEVES IN WILLOUGHBY

(Contributed)

Saturday night of this week a gang of Willoughby penitentiary candidates visited Mrs. Wallace's home on Euclid avenue and broke open a coop and stole a flock of laying hens, on which the family were depending for winter eggs. That the robbers were familiar with the location is evidenced by the fact that the padlock was not disturbed, but a narrow board was removed from the side of the house. This would indicate something of the size of the robbers. It is a shame that these good folks, hard-working and generous, should again be visited by these criminals, for last year they were subjected to the same loss. It certainly puts a black eye on the good reputation of our town to have such things happening so often.

Can You Demand THEIR Respect?

Our boys "over there" in France and elsewhere are facing every imaginable danger and difficulty in order that we here at home may be safe.

Some day they will come home and we will have to face them.

And if we here at home, making more money than has ever been made in the history of the world, are not willing to lend every dollar we possibly can to the Government through LIBERTY BONDS to support those boys at the front, then—

Can we demand or expect any respect from them or from any other decent human being?

If we are so steeped in selfishness that we think of nothing but our own petty pleasures and luxuries instead of thinking of the horrors that our boys have to face "over there," then what right have we to expect the honor and privilege of being called Americans?

Even you in years to come will not respect yourself if you do not NOW do your full share and buy all the LIBERTY BONDS you can.

SUPERINTENDENT OF MADISON SCHOOLS FINDS BROTHER FROM SPOKANE ON WAR RELIC TRAIN HERE

Six Thousand Dollars In Bonds Sold

The train of war exhibits arrived in Willoughby on scheduled time Saturday last. Attaches of the train had supper at the Andrews Institute. Entering the train to view the exhibit was therefore delayed until 7 o'clock. Harry J. Hibschman, attorney from Spokane, Wash., was the main speaker. He explained at the outset that he was a German of purest blood. Then he outlined the rule of "kaiserism" and gave as clear and convincing a presentation of the need of backing up our boys with Liberty Bonds as has ever been given in Willoughby. It is likely that the speaker will be invited by the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce to deliver another talk here later, as he has been appointed by the government to cover this district. A rather interesting coincidence in connection with the speaker developed at the gathering. It seems that the speaker has a brother in Lake county, Ralph Hibschman, superintendent of the Madison schools. Boarding the train at Painesville, Mr. Hibschman was entirely unaware that his brother was one of the train speakers until he found him there. Then again at Willoughby, meeting M. J. Rentschler, he found that they were together residents of neighboring towns at Mr. Rentschler's Pennsylvania home.

Bond sales at the train amounted to $6,000.00. L. B. Stockwell, M. J. Rentschler, Frank Shankland, and E. D. Bryant, of the woman's committee, helped the train salesmen to sell the bonds. A. E. Sanborn, of Kirtland, was a $500.00 buyer; also James Smart, of Willoughby; Mrs. H. F. Kennedy took $300.00, and Mayor Carmichael helped along in the train sales by adding another purchase to the ones he had already made Friday night. The train left at 8:45 for Cleveland. It was to go to Alliance Monday morning.

Opera House

Paris boulevards or New York's Fifth Avenue, it is claimed, never saw a more spectacular array of beauty and fashion than that which adorns John Cort's phenomenally successful musical comedy, "Flo-Flo," which comes to the Euclid Avenue Opera House next week. "Flo-Flo" played at the Cort Theater, New York, where it was a magnet for theater-goers for many months.

A notable cast, effective scenery, striking costumes, a comedy chorus—every member is a "perfect 36"—and two comedy teams, either of which is a show in itself, are only a few of the obvious reasons why the Cort Theater was sold out every night during the "Flo-Flo" engagement.

Flo-Flo is the most beautiful corset model in the Bride Shop owned by Moser & Simpson and devoted to the preparation of trousseaux for the daughters of the wealthy. Her employers are giving their attention to the bridal array of Miss Angelina Stokes, whose mother is compelling her to marry a Spanish count against her will. Incidentally, the count is bogus.

Just about this time Billy, Angelina's childhood sweetheart from Oshkosh, arrives in New York, but when Mrs. Stokes finds him with her daughter she separates them sternly and orders Billy away. Billy, his hopes blasted, falls for the wiles of Flo-Flo to drown his sorrow, and as he has sought and found employment with Moser & Simpson, he finds this a convenient but not lasting panacea.

Flo-Flo, realizing that Billy still loves Angelina, relinquishes her claim on him. The theft of Angelina's trousseau by Pinky and Aloysius, two youths with nimble feet, fingers and headgear, aids in the happy denouement.

"I Don't Know What You See in Me," the song hit of "Flo-Flo," which has been popularized by the only chorus with a sense of humor, has been sung and whistled all over the country.

Included in the original New York cast, which will be seen here, are Rena Parker, Andrew Tombes, James B. Carson, Thomas Handers, Arthur Millis, Leon Leonard, Edna Morn, Louise Beaudet, Armond Robi, Marjorie McClintock, Wm. Hugh Mack, Anna Hinkel and the "perfect 36" chorus.

Standard Theater

Mae Marsh in "Hidden Fires" will be the feature attraction at the Standard Theater for the week of Oct. 13. Her thousands of admirers will see her in an entirely new role, and also the first time in her career the brilliant artiste portrays a dual role. She plays the part of Peggy Murray, a hotel news stand girl, who bears resemblance to a missing daughter of a woman of wealth, and in order to restore the health of the grieving mother she is induced to take the place of the daughter. Things go on nicely until she tires of the deception and goes away. But fortunately she finds the real daughter, whom she induces to go home. She returns to her news stand, and the other resumes her proper station without even the mother suspecting the change.

Star Theater

Seemingly excelling all of his previous successes, Joe Hurtig comes forward this season with "The Social Maids," comprising one of the cleverest companies and most magnificent productions that the field of burlesque has yet seen. This spectacularly beautiful offering will be seen at the Star Theater next week, and patrons of that amusement house will freely acknowledge that never before have they been entertained with so many mirthful, clever and artistic features on one burlesque program. In addition, there is a chorus of thirty handsome Broadway favorites, every one of whom is an artistic dancer and trained vocalist.

Miles Theater

One of the most elaborate and finished musical comedies on the Big Time Circuit will be the stellar attraction at the Miles the coming week. The act is known as "Billy King's Revue." The cast contains seven male and seven female operatic stars, who feature classic vocal concerted selections, as well as solos and popular melodies. The Revue is embellished with special scenery and the fun is furnished by Billy King, one of the best musical comedy laugh makers in vaudeville.

Ford and Goodrich, character change artists and novelty dancers.

Howard and Jenkins, comedy travesty duo.

The three Kashner Sisters, offering imitations of great singers and dancers. Mulans and Powers, aerial wonders, and Goodman and Thimins in a comedy playlet called "Ante Quick." War pictures will be shown before and after the vaudeville daily

By this time you will have probably decided that you never did like sugar in your coffee anyhow.

Hats Off To Glenn Martin

The inventive genius of Glenn Martin has been a vital asset to America's war program.

His masterly work in designing and developing new types of airplanes has merited the admiration of the entire world.

And now he comes forth with the only automobile in America equipped to use NATURAL GAS as fuel

A news item quotes Mr. Martin as saying that he can drive a 6,000 pound automobile 90 miles on 900 cubic feet of natural gas—which at the Cleveland rate would cost him only 27 cents.

With a gasoline driven motor, it would cost him $1.33 to go the same distance.

It is significant that the economy which Mr. Martin finds in Natural Gas as a motor fuel is just as apparent when it is used in the grate, range or furnace.

Repeated tests have proved that Natural Gas—at Cleveland rates—is by far the cheapest fuel you can use.

Cleveland has the cheapest and best Gas Service in the world.

Duchess Theatre

The Duchess Theater reappears on the theatrical map of Cleveland, with the return of the Vaughan Glaser company on Monday evening, October 14th, headed by Miss Fay Courtenay. Mr. Glaser is opening the Duchess in an exquisite production of Jane Cowl's war play, "Lilac Time." The company comes direct from Pittsburg, where they have just played "Lilac Time" for several weeks to enormous business, with Miss Courtenay scoring a remarkable hit in the Jane Cowl role.

The Pittsburg run ensures a polished performance in every respect. Moreover, the presence of several old members of the Glaser company again working togther will demonstrate the value of "team work" upon which Mr. Glaser has always placed great emphasis. With the company is Don Burroughs, the talented juvenile man who made a very favorable impression here during the last Glaser engagement two seasons ago. Mr. Burroughs has a very important role in "Lilac Time" and is said to be doing the best work of his young career. He will doubtless be able to play but a few weeks longer, as his call in the draft is imminent. Clevelanders will also welcome Mr. Will D. Corbett, Mr. Wm. Powell, Mr. James Hester, Mr. Edwin Burke and Miss Constance Kenyon.

LILAC TIME
With FAY COURTENAY and an Excellent Company
A War-Time Love Story of Today, "Somewhere in France"

The scenes are laid at the home of a peasant family in Northern France, with whom a group of British officers are billeted just behind the lines. With father and three sons, the youngest only 16, in the French army, the household is reduced to mother, daughter and grandpere. Of the British officers, Lieut. Philip Blythe loves and is loved by Jeannine, the daughter. The military discipline and the atmosphere of brave men resting from bitter fighting in preparation for an unknown fate in days ahead make for the drama as they appear against the background of the French peasant home.

Empire Theater

In "The Razzle Dazzle Girls of 1918," which Harry Hastings is presenting this season, Manager Jack McNamara of the Empire Theater announces one of the most pretentious burlesque offerings of the American circuit.

The Hastings offering in every way is possessed of a higher standard than the ordinary burlesque show. Harry Steppe wrote the book; the score was contributed by Don Bard and M. K. Jerome, and Aurelia Coccia, well known Italian ballet master, directed the ensemble. The result is an exceptionally trained chorus, with intricate numbers, excellent work, and a finesse rarely seen in popular priced offerings.

The production is elaborately staged. A novelty is shown in the exterior and interior of a moving picture studio, and the comedy introduced is a fine bit of satire on this department of the amusement field. "The Isle of Jewels," a transformation act of extreme gorgeousness, serves to end the first half of the performance.

Harry Steppe, comedian, is featured in the cast. Grace Fletcher, the "Dublin Doll," is a dainty soubrette. Bunnie Mack, Percie Judah, Fertig and Bunn, Halperin and Denny, Palmer Hines, and others, make up the cast.

The chorus is the best on the circuit, the management declares, and is second to none in ensembles, both vocal and terpsichorean.

Hippodrome

Youth must come into its own even on the stage. The new show at B. F. Keith's Hippodrome starting Monday will be composed mostly of acts starring young people who have recently become stellar lights on the stage. Herman Timberg, who scored such a big hit here last season with his five beautiful girls in a novelty called "Viol-Inn," will return for a request engagement. The management is trying to bring back a number of the best hits of the past two seasons, and Mr. Timberg was unquestionably one of the most talked about acts of last season. With his five beautiful violin girls Mr. Timberg presents a beautiful act. It is novel and has plenty of the kind of music the public likes so well. Another feature of headline importance will be Janet Adair. This young lady, who is assisted by Miss Adelphi, is one of the season's most popular successes in vaudeville. She just sings and recites, but it is the way she does both that makes hers an act all theaters are trying to book. In addition to these two big feature acts there will be two other big acts to be announced later. Arthur Picken, who has not been seen here for some time, will present a clever comedy sketch entitled "Their Wedding Day." It is full of bright lines and most amusing situations. To talk about one's neighbors is usually considered sinful, but the way Jim and Marion Harkins will talk about their friends next week is not sinful, but very funny. Miller and Capman, two boys making their first appearance here, will sing a little, talk a little and dance a lot. No act in vaudeville creates more favorable attention than Circus Day in Toyland. This is the last word in animal exhibition. There will be several other acts, including the official U. S. War Review. During the week same sensational Liberty Loan features will be given every evening.

LEGAL NOTICE.

To Arthur T. R. Cunningham, Arthur Franklin Cunningham, aged 14 years, and Helen Chandler Cunningham, aged 12 years, said minors being children of said Arthur T. R. Cunningham, and all of said persons residing in the City of Spokane, in the State of Washington:

You and each of you are hereby notified that on the 5th day of September, 1918, William M. Cunningham filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, against you and others, being cause therein numbered 165815, the substance of said petition being as follows: It alleges that the plaintiff purchased for himself certain three parcels of real estate in said Cuyahoga County described as follows:

First Parcel.

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga, and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub-lot No. Sixty-seven (67) in Thomas Beckwith's Re-subdivision of his Sub-division of part of Original One Hundred (100) Acre Lots numbers 423 and 431, as shown by the recorded plat of said Re-subdivision in Volume 13 of Maps, Page 7 of said Cuyahoga County Records, and being 50 feet front on the Westerly side of Beckwith Ave., now known as East 81st St.

Second Parcel.

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and known as Sub-lot No. Three Hundred and Eighty-nine (389) in the Glenhaven Sub-division of part of Original 100 Acre Lot No. 359 in said City. Said Sub-lot No. 389 has a frontage of 40 feet on the Northeasterly side of Ashburton Rd. N. E., and extends back of equal width 120 feet deep.

Third Parcel.

Situated in the Village of Rocky River, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and known as being part of Original Rockport Township, Section No. 7, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning on the center line of Coe Ridge Road at the Northeasterly corner of land conveyed by Louise Walther and husband to George and Mary Oettle by deed dated July 1, 1908, and recorded in Volume 1095, Page 279 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence South 9° 48' East along the Easterly line of land so conveyed 878.44 feet to a point on the Northerly line of land conveyed to Henry G. and Elizabeth Kaufman by deed dated June 19,1906, and recorded in Volume 997, Page 511 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence south 89° 32' East along said Northerly line of land so conveyed to Kaufman and along said line extended Easterly about 146.09 feet to a stone at the corner of land owned by W. J. White; thence North 2° 28' East along the line of said White's land 280.50 feet to a stone; thence North 20° 27' West 654.40 feet to a stone set in the center line of Coe Ridge Rd.; thence Southwesterly along the center line of said Coe Ridge Rd. 83 feet to the place of beginning, containing about 3.12 Acres of land, and that he paid for the same out of his own money and means, but, for convenience, caused the title to each of said parcels to be placed in the name of his mother, Margaret A. Cunningham, sometimes called M. A. Cunningham, in trust for him, his heirs and assigns, she not paying or agreeing to pay any part of purchase price for said land and never being in possession of either thereof, and that she re-conveyed said first parcel to him, his heirs and assigns, by deed not yet recorded, but died holding the legal title to said second and third parcels, and leaving her last will and testament, which has been duly probated and recorded, wherein she bequeathed legacies of $1200.00 each to the defendants Arthur Franklin Cunningham and Helen Chandler Cunningham, minor children of her son Arthur T. R. Cunningham of Spokane, Washington, and who with the plaintiff constitute her only children and sole heirs at law, also a legacy of $1200 to Wm. Arthur Cunningham, and of which will said William M. Cunningham is Executor, and that the estate of said Testatrix has been disposed of and its proceeds found insufficient to pay said legacies except to the extent of $739.25 each, which has been paid, and that her estate has been duly settled and her debts and funeral expenses paid, as well as a certain other legacy of $50 provided in said will. That said will is fully set forth in said petition and that the apparent claims which said defendants or any of them might have in either of said parcels or the proceeds thereof by reason of said will or otherwise are invalid but constitute a cloud upon the plaintiff's rights and titles to said parcels of land.

The object and prayer of said petition are that the plaintiff's title to each of said parcels of land be quieted as against said defendants and each of them and that said Arthur T. R. Cunningham be required to quit-claim to the plaintiff, his heirs and assigns all title and interest in each of said parcels, and that in default thereof the decree of the court in said action operate as such conveyance and for such further relief as the premises may warrant. Reference being here made to the said petition for a more full and detailed statement of the facts alleged therein.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition by the 2nd day of November, 1918, or a judgment may be rendered as prayed for.

Setting the Public Right on the Shoe Question

There have been many misleading statements regarding the regulations of the War Industries Board affecting prices of shoes. The facts are these:

1—No restrictions of any kind have yet been put on the buying or selling of shoes at retail.

2—You may patriotically buy any and all shoes that you find on sale.

3—All regulations begin at the source, which in this case is the tanner, and do not affect the consumer until they pass through the manufacturer and the distributor.

4—This does not mean that shoes now selling for and fully worth $15 or more will be reduced to $12 until June 1st, 1919.

A HOUSE that has seen THREE WARS has DEFINITE IDEAS of DUTY and SERVICE

In peace-times men are sometimes wont to say that "Business is business". With America at war, business-men must realize today as never before that business is service.

Service to the Government first, then service to the trade. Not in the spirit of profit-making, but in holding fast to sound principles and quality-standards.

These times are a great training period for the new conditions, for the higher ideals of service and responsibility, that are coming after the War.

This is a trial-time and a time of great opportunity. The view a business-house takes of that opportunity is the real test of its character and its future.

On the one hand, it is an opportunity for lowering of quality; it is an opportunity for running after attractive temporary business; of neglecting old customers for new ones; of seeking the highest bidder; of using the situation for greater profit, or short-sighted, selfish ends.

On the other hand, it is an opportunity for broadly and fairly doing one's impartial best; standing by one's customers; treating all alike and refusing to add to the difficulties of the merchant or the public by capitalizing in any degree on a situation that is trying enough at its best.

The House of Kuppenheimer has seen three American wars. It has its roots deep in the soil and the traditions of this country. It has stood consistently for the highest standards of quality. It has grown steadily and surely on the merit of its product and the sincerity of its service.

From the very beginning of the present situation it has been concerned solely with "carrying on" in the clear sense of duty and service.

This business is in its third generation: young in spirit but old in experience. It was not built in a day, and it expects to live a long time after the War.

Above all, this House believes in good merchandise: fine clothing in fact—not merely by report or reputation.

With retail clothing merchants throughout the country, as with the public, there are always some who know. It is such we are trying to serve. This carries the obligation to produce the finest that is available. It precludes the possibility, now or ever, of relying on reputation to lower the standard of our work.

Your Kuppenheimer Merchant represents a National clothes-service, both Military and Civilian, of peculiar advantage to you right now while present stocks are intact

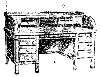
At One-Fourth Off Office Desks, Chairs and Tables



Here is a case where the necessities of war work to your gain. Office furniture manufacturers have discontinued 50 per cent of their patterns until after the war.

Inasmuch as the time when we can duplicate this furniture is indefinite, we intend to clear it from our floors, and we offer for immediate disposal all discontinued designs in office furniture at 25 per cent less than regular prices. This furniture is entirely modern in construction and plan.

At one-fourth less than normal terms, this equipment offers tremendous bargains for business men. Golden oak, imitation mahogany and mahogany are the woods included.

You will never have a better, and we doubt an equal chance, to make your office more inviting and efficient than during this sale

Saving Money

Saving money is easy or difficult according to whether or not one has a definite aim. Most of us require that we have not only a definite aim, but also a "compulsory savings account." We need just a little "compulsion" in order that we put aside each year, and each month, the amount we should save against the day when Age shall reduce our earnings.

No person, except he be wealthy, is fair to himself, and especially to his family, who does not each month and each year lay aside a fair proportion of his earnings.

It is equally necessary that one place his savings where they shall, first of all, be absolutely safe; also where they will increase while they are accumulating. Millions of dollars are saved each year, but unwisely invested and lost. The effort, the denial, even sacrifice is made, but the reward is not gained.

Land is the one absolutely safe investment. Properly located and supplied with the necessary improvements to convert it into a desirable homesite, it will increase in value surely and quickly.

The easy payments on which lots are sold in our WILLOUGHBY - EUCLID AVE. SUB - DIVISION place them within the reach of almost every person or family. They afford an absolutely safe, convenient, "compulsory" savings bank" where deposits will grow rapidly.

These big lots 80x200 at $740 up, ideally located and completely improved, offer an exceptional investment opportunity. It will be to your advantage to act quickly. The time to start, to buy, is now.

Salesmen on the property Saturday afternoons and Sundays.

TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR—NO. 32 WILLOUGHBY, O., OCTOBER 18, 1918. ONE DOLLAR AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A YEAR IN ADVANCE

DR. W. J. BELL RECEIVES ANOTHER PROMOTION.

The rank of Dr. W. J. Bell, commanding officer of Evacuation Hospital No. 49, has recently been raised from major to that of lieutenant colonel. For about a year, or ever since entering the American army, Dr. Bell has acted as instructor at the officers' training camp at Camp Oglethorpe. October 7th, with his company, he had arrived at Camp Merritt, N. J. There they were quarantined, Dr. Bell and all of his men being affected by the influenza. It was the expectation that he would go across after reaching Camp Merritt, but that is not now determined. He had also expected to have a furlough, which would have permitted him to come home for a short stay. Major Bell was much in demand to fill speaking engagements through the South, quite as he was when at home in Willoughby.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS BED ROOM SUIT FINDS ITS WAY BACK TO WINDOW OF SELLER—IS RAFFLED FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE RED CROSS

About thirty years ago Mrs. Clinton Waite, of Second street, purchased a walnut bedroom set of George W. Manville. Neither at that time could have anticipated that some day the same suit in practically the same condition as when it was purchased, would find its way back to Manville's store and again appear in the window, this time to be offered to the local Red Cross during the progress of a great war. Such, however, is the story of the bedroom suit. It has not traveled far from its selling place, and when it was raffled off Tuesday afternoon, nearby business men con-

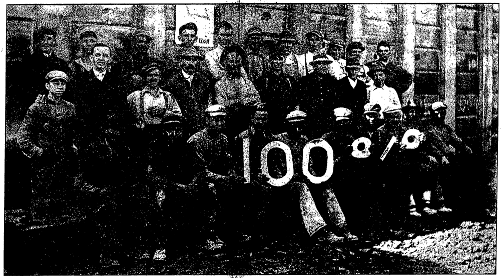
WILLOUGHBY'S NEWEST INDUSTRY RANKS HIGH IN PATRIOTISM, AND IS INTRODUCING "MADE-IN-WILLOUGHBY" PRODUCTS TO MANY PARTS OF THE WORLD.



This picture shows a part of the plant and the employees of Willoughby's newest industry, the J. H. R. Products Company. It has not been a great while since this company appeared in Willoughby and quietly, with little heralding, started to build their plant. The company was incorporated in September of the year 1916 for the manufacture of industrial chemicals from minerals. The products manufactured include principally Barium dioxide, Hydrogen Peroxide, Blanc-fixe, etc. These products are now shipped to many parts of the world including England, Japan, Mexico, Canada, China and Spain. July 27th the plant suffered a disastrous fire. Within thirty days' time the men whose pictures are here shown has effected a complete reconstruction enabling the plant to resume operations in that remarkably short period of time. The bonds purchased for the Fourth Liberty Loan amounted to about $3,000.00. Every man is a bondholder—100 per cent, as shown by the picture.

The management prides itself on the few changes made in the personnel of the employees. The same man who was at the plant the first day is still there, with the additions as gradually made. The aim of the company is to avoid the discharging of men or making changes of employes. They want to keep their men and give them the opportunity to become more and more proficient and thus increase their earning capacity. If a man is not found fitted to the work in one department he is transferred to another, until a place is found where he is most successful. Human labor, a most important factor these days, is thus conserved. The principal manufacturing of the company at this time is the supplying of products to the ordnance department of the United States army. Thus has Willoughby acquired another firm which it may be proud to have within its gates, and whose growing activities continually rebound to the benefit and credit of Willoughby and Lake county.

L. W. PENFIELD MAKES STATEMENT IN REGARD TO STRIKE AT THE PLANT.

Editor Willoughby Republican:

Answering your inquiry of this Wednesday evening, I regret exceedingly that any of our employees should have thought it necessary or justifiable to call a strike and stop production in all departments of our plant, especially at a time when we are known to be engaged in producing emergency fleet work to about 90 per cent of our maximum capacity.

On Monday afternoon, September 30th, a committee of five of our machine shop employees called upon me and stated that inasmuch as we were engaged on war work they felt they ought to be put on the basic eight-hour day and method of computing their wages, but that they were perfectly satisfied with the working hours.

It was the first intimation I had had that any dissatisfaction existed in the organization. The men had responded splendidly to our urgent requests for steady attendance and industrious efforts to speed up production, and we thought they were happy and contented.

I requested time to consider their request and to take it up with the members of our organization, stating that whatever was decided upon would become effective as of October 1st, 1918.

It was agreed that we would have another meeting on Monday, October 7th, unless a definite decision should be reached at an earlier date. On Saturday afternoon, October 5th, I sent for the committee and informed them that we had decided to grant their request, and from October 1st all wages would be computed on the principal of the basic eight-hour day as interpreted by President Wilson in the railroad decision. Bulletins were posted accordingly.

Having granted their requests, I supposed everything was settled to the satisfaction of all concerned.

On Monday afternoon, the 14th, another committee presented an entirely new schedule of demands, some of which it would be impossible to grant and continue in business on the work we are now doing. Without further notice the men left work this morning at 8 o'clock.

Representatives from the conciliation department of the War Labor Board and the U. S. Shipping Board have been invited in, but no acceptable basis for resumption of work has as yet been suggested. About one-half of the employees signed the demands.

L. W. PENFIELD,
Resident Manager.

STATEMENT BY COMMITTEE OF STRIKING AMERICAN CLAY EMPLOYES.

The American Clay Machinery Co. employes went out on a strike at 8 a. m. Wednesday, in an effort to induce the company to grant certain demands: Increase in wages, Eight-hour day, with overtime after 3 p. m., and better general working conditions. The company refused to grant an increase in wages. They would make some changes in conditions. They would grant an eight-hour day with [illegible] after eight hours. They [illegible] overtime on Saturday afternoons [illegible] discontinued [illegible]. The company and [illegible] an agreement [illegible] Labor Commissioner William O. Lilly tried to bring about an amicable settlement. Failing, the men walked out Wednesday. The employees of this company do not believe in strikes, especially in a time like this, but conditions brought this upon them.

The company has no one to blame but themselves.

"Y" CONVENTION AND BANQUET IN WILLOUGHBY.

Secretary From Camp Taylor To Speak.

The county convention to be held in Willoughby on the 28th of October marks the close of the best year in the history of Lake County work. The Young Men's Christian Associations find a tremendous opportunity at this time for work among the boys at home. There never was a time when boys appreciated help and felt the need of it as they do now. Each one of us who has had a part in this work can feel well paid for every effort. At this convention the annual report will be presented, committeemen will be elected for another year, other discussions will take place, but what is most important perhaps is the fact that Philo C. Dix will bring the Rural Life Message to the convention. Mr. Dix is State Secretary of Kentucky and also General Secretary for Camp Taylor, where many of our boys have been sent. He is one of the foremost leaders in rural life in America today. Remember October 28th at 6:30 p. m. the banquet and convention begins.

WILLOUGHBY SHOCKED TO LEARN OF SUDDEN DEATH OF DR. ELLIS CHESBRO AND LITTLE SON.

Seldom has a shock of tragic sorrow fallen more suddenly on a family and a community than in the news received last Saturday afternoon of the death by accident of Dr. Ellis J. Chesbro and his six-year-old son, Ellis Eugene, at [illegible], Va., where they had been staying since July. They were crossing a railroad bridge much used by the people of the district as the nearest way to the little station, when struck by a train and killed instantly. Dr. Sheldon Davis, a brother of Mrs. Chesbro, brought the bodies to Willoughby that they might lie at rest in the home town upon whose streets the two inseparable companions and comrades were a familiar and favorite sight. To those who know how tender and intimate, how mutually helpful was the bond of affection between the two, there is a peculiar comfort in the thought that, if the going was to be, they went, still together, into the new life.

TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR—NO. 32 WILLOUGHBY, O., OCTOBER 18, 1918. ONE DOLLAR AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A YEAR IN ADVANCE

DR. W. J. BELL RECEIVES ANOTHER PROMOTION

The rank of Dr. W. J. Bell, commanding officer of Evacuation Hospital No. 29, has recently been raised from major to that of lieutenant colonel. For about a year, or ever since entering the American army, Dr. Bell has acted as instructor at the officers' training camp at Camp Oglethorpe. October 7th, with his company, he had arrived at Camp Merritt, N. J. There they were quarantined, Dr. Bell and all of his men being affected by the influenza. It was the expectation that he would go across after reaching Camp Merritt, but that is not now determined. He had also expected to have a furlough, which would have permitted him to come home for a short stay. Major Bell was much in demand to fill speaking engagements through the South, quite as he was when at home in Willoughby.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS BED ROOM SUIT FINDS ITS WAY BACK TO WINDOW OF SELLER—IS RAFFLED FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE RED CROSS

About thirty years ago Mrs. Clinton Waite, of Second street, purchased a walnut bedroom set of George W. Manville. Neither at that time could have anticipated that some day the same suit, in practically the same condition as when it was purchased, would find its way back to Manville's store and again appear in the window, this time to be offered to the local Red Cross during the progress of a great war. Such, however, is the story of the bedroom suit. It has not traveled far from its selling place, and when it was raffled off Tuesday afternoon, nearby business men con-

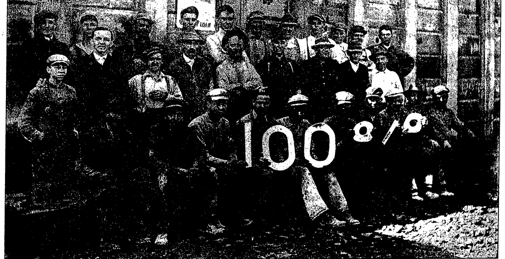
WILLOUGHBY'S NEWEST INDUSTRY RANKS HIGH IN PATRIOTISM, AND IS INTRODUCING "MADE-IN-WILLOUGHBY" PRODUCTS TO MANY PARTS OF THE WORLD.



This picture shows a part of the plant and the employees of Willoughby's newest industry, the J. H. R. Products Company. It has not been a great while since this company appeared in Willoughby and quietly, with little heralding, started to build their plant. The company was incorporated in September of the year 1916 for the manufacture of industrial chemicals from minerals. The products manufactured include principally Barium dioxide, Hydrogen Peroxide, [illegible], etc. These products are now shipped to many parts of the world [illegible] England, Japan, Mexico, Canada, China and Spain. July [illegible] the plant suffered a disastrous fire. [illegible] [illegible] operations in that remarkably short period of time. The bonds purchased for the Fourth Liberty Loan amounted to about $3,000.00. Every man [illegible] a bondholder—100 per cent, as shown in the picture.

The management prides itself on the few changes made in the personnel of the employees. The same man who was at the plant the first day is still there with the addition as gradually made. The aim of the company is to avoid the discharging of men or making changes of employes. They [illegible] want to keep their men and give them the opportunity to become more and more proficient and thus increase their earning capacity. If a man is not found fitted to the work in one department he is transferred to another, until a place is found where he is most successful. Hence loyalty, a most important factor these days, is thus conserved. The principal manufacturing of the company at this time is the supplying of products to the ordnance department of the United States army. Thus has Willoughby acquired another firm which it may be proud to have within its gates, and whose growing activities continually redound to the benefit and credit of Willoughby and Lake county.

L. W. PENFIELD MAKES STATEMENT IN REGARD TO STRIKE AT THE PLANT.

Editor Willoughby Republican:

Answering your inquiry of this Wednesday evening, I regret exceedingly that any of our employees should have thought it necessary or justifiable to call a strike and stop production in all departments of our plant, especially at a time when we are known to be engaged in producing emergency fleet work to about 90 per cent of our maximum capacity.

On Monday afternoon, September 30th, a committee of five of our machine shop employees called upon me and stated that inasmuch as we were engaged on war work they felt they ought to be put on the basic eight-hour day and method of computing their wages, but that they were perfectly satisfied with the working hours.

It was the first intimation I had that any dissatisfaction existed in the organization. The men had responded splendidly to our urgent requests for steady attendance and industrious efforts to speed up production, and we thought they were happy and contented.

I requested time to consider their request and to take it up with the members of our organization, stating that whatever was decided upon would become effective as of October 1st, 1918.

It was agreed that we would have another meeting on Monday, October 7th, unless a definite decision should be reached at an earlier date. On Saturday afternoon, October 5th, I sent for the committee and informed them that we had decided to grant their request, and from October 1st all wages would be computed on the principal of the basic eight-hour day as interpreted by President Wilson in the railroad decision. Bulletins were posted accordingly.

Having granted their requests, I supposed everything was settled to the satisfaction of all concerned.

On Monday afternoon, the 14th, another committee presented an entirely new schedule of demands, some of which it would be impossible to grant and continue in business on the work we are now doing. Without further notice the men left work this morning at 8 o'clock.

Representatives from the conciliation department of the War Labor Board and the U. S. Shipping Board have been invited in, but no acceptable basis for resumption of work has as yet been suggested. About one-half of the employees signed the demands.

L. W. PENFIELD,
Resident Manager.

STATEMENT BY COMMITTEE OF STRIKING AMERICAN CLAY EMPLOYES.

The American Clay Machinery Co. employes went out on a strike at 8 a. m. Wednesday, in an effort to induce the company to grant certain demands, viz: increase in wages. Eight-hour day with overtime after 8 p. m., and better general working conditions. The company refused to grant any increase in wages. They would make some changes in conditions. They would grant an eight-hour day with overtime after eight hours. They would [illegible] overtime on Saturday afternoon [illegible] they discontinued [illegible] The company and [illegible] an agreement. Labor Commissioner William O. Liller tried to bring about an amicable settlement. Failing, the men walked out Wednesday. The employees of this company do not believe in strikes, especially in a time like this, but conditions brought this upon them.

The company has no one to blame but themselves.

"Y" CONVENTION AND BANQUET IN WILLOUGHBY

Secretary From Camp Taylor To Speak.

The county convention to be held in Willoughby on the 28th of October marks the close of the best year in the history of Lake County work. The Young Men's Christian Associations find a tremendous opportunity at this time for work among the boys at home. There never was a time when boys appreciated help and felt the need of it as they do now. Each one of us who has had a part in this work can feel well paid for every effort. At this convention the annual report will be presented, committeemen will be elected for another year, other discussions will take place, but what is most important perhaps is the fact that Philo C. Dix will bring the Rural Life Message to the convention. Mr. Dix is State Secretary of Kentucky and also General Secretary for Camp Taylor, where many of our boys have been sent. He is one of the foremost leaders in rural life in America today. Remember October 28th at 6:30 p. m. the banquet and convention begins.

WILLOUGHBY SHOCKED TO LEARN OF SUDDEN DEATH OF DR. ELLIS CHESBRO AND LITTLE SON

Seldom has a shock of tragic sorrow fallen more suddenly on a family and a community than in the news received last Saturday afternoon of the death by accident of Dr. Ellis J. They were crossing a railroad bridge [illegible] to the people of the district [illegible] to the little station, when struck by a train and killed instantly. Dr. Seldon Davis, a brother of Mrs. Chesbro, brought the bodies to Willoughby that they might lie at rest in the home town upon whose streets the two inseparable companions and comrades were a familiar and favorite sight. To those who knew how tender and intimate, how especially helpful was the bond of affection between the two, there is a peculiar comfort in the thought that, if the going was to be, they went, still together, into the new life.

WILLOUGHBY SHOCKED

Boyce Chesbro, was born in Cleveland December 25, 1868. He was graduated from the Willoughby High School, from Allegheny College, Meadville, and from the University of Pennsylvania in dentistry. The offices of his professional work were in Cleveland, but his home life after his marriage in 1906 to Miss Engenia C. Davis, of Washington, D. C., was in Willoughby. Ill health necessitated giving up his profession in July of last year, to the deep and abiding regret of a large clientele. In early summer this year Mrs. Chesbro, an only daughter, was called to Washington by the illness of both her father and her mother. A few weeks later her husband and son went on to be near her at the bungalow in the beautiful mountain region. She had recently rented an apartment in Washington, of which she and her family were soon to take possession, that for the winter she might remain near her parents. A few days ago she came back here to select furniture for this temporary home and to complete arrangements for renting the home on Spaulding street. She was occupied with this necessary work in eagerness to return to the four devoted to her, so dependent upon her, when, without warning, the great change came to her planning and her life.

Funeral services conducted by Rev. Harry E. Bright and Rev. Herbert MacKenzie, of Cleveland, were held Monday afternoon at the home of Dr. Phrasia Chesbro. Sincerest sympathy from an unusually large circle of friends and acquaintances is expressed for the widow and the other members of the family group, the three sisters, Mrs. Ellen C. Bell, Dr. Phrasia Chesbro, Mrs. Anna C. Crothers, and the brother, Joseph B. Chesbro.

Enviable, indeed, is the man who leaves behind a record so stainless as does Ellis Chesbro, the memory of a life so fragrant for the faithfulness and devotion of its friendships and so great a cloud of witnesses to testify to the unfailing sweetness of his spirit and the quiet generosity of his kindness.

By Harry E. Bright, M. A.

Kultur! Thou fiend of Hades' darkest night;
Thou belching flame of bitter hate and spite,
That sweepest unappalled the battle field,
And lickest up the blood that patriots yield.

Kultur! Thou dire expression of man's sin,
Of hate, of misdirected discipline,
Of lust for gold and land and lordly might,
Based on the hell-born lie that "Might makes Right."

Kultur! Count not among thy sinful brood
The Christian man who shed his precious blood!
We hail him comrade bold, who nobly fought,
And History will call him patriot.

Kultur! Thou canst not claim the patriots true—
Such hearts beat strong before the trumpet blew.
All hail! the men who gladly for their country die,
The lifters of the race to God on high.

Kultur! That stays the progress of the years
And wets a peaceful earth with widows' tears;
How dare you give applause when cynics cry,
"Despair! for Christianity's a lie."

Kultur! Think not thy character to raise,
Since by the wrath of man God doth get praise;
'Tis wrath the same though praise of God ensue,
To neighbor and to God, man must be true.

Kultur! Thy bloody course shall soon be run;
We hail the sovereign Prince of Peace, God's Son;
He brings a love that makes the whole world kin,
And grace to purge the brotherhood from sin.

E'en though by shot and shell and thundering gun
The freedom of the fettered slave was won,
And nations, under lash of tyranny,
Through bloody wars have gained their liberty.

O soldier! on the world's great battle field,
We honor thee, that thou should'st freely yield
Thy life, to help thy brother man arise
To Justice, Freedom and High Enterprise.

And since there is a cause for which men die,
God grant that cause shall worthy be and high;
A motive which shall stir the heart with pride,
That for their fellow men they freely died.

How long, O Lord, shall Justice have recourse
To war, to teach the hearts of men by force
The Truth, which Christ would have us learn by Grace,
That Calvary was meant for ALL the race?

O Church of God! Thou Guardian of the Truth,
Awake, put on thy strength, renew thy youth;
Be done with empty form; the Power seek
Which purgeth hearts and maketh strong the weak.

God speed the day when nations shall obey
Thy Law of Love, and for each other pray;
When Christ, the Mighty Conqueror, shall reign,
And "Peace on Earth" shall be the glad refrain.

INSTRUCTIONS IN REGARD TO SENDING CHRISTMAS PARCELS FROM LAKE COUNTY TO OUR BOYS OVER SEAS.

If You Are Interested Save This Article.

At a recent meeting of the Red Cross executive committee at Painesville, Mrs. H. F. Kennedy was elected chairman of the Christmas Parcel for Overseas Soldiers Committee for Willoughby. Following are a few instructions regarding this matter: No Christmas cartons will be mailed out by the postoffice after November 15th, 1918. The cartons are expected to arrive here about November 1st.

Same can be obtained about that time at the Red Cross rooms on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, from Mrs. Kennedy and her committee, whose names will be published soon.

Red Cross to Help Send Christmas Parcels—The Plan.

Each American soldier overseas has received from his commanding officer one Christmas parcel label, which he will mail home to a person, probably planning to send him a Christmas remembrance. Recipients of these labels will take them to their local Red Cross and ask for a carton, fill the carton with articles not named on the "barred list," keep the total weight under three pounds, and return the filled carton to the Red Cross, to be inspected, wrapped, weighed and left for mailing, with the overseas label and postage, paid by sender, attached. The cartons are 3x4x9 inches. Following is a list of barred articles, as mentioned in the official instructions:

1—All spiritous, vinous, malted, fermented or other intoxicating liquors.

2—All kinds of poison and all articles and compositions containing poison.

3—Explosives of all kinds.

4—Inflammable matrials, including friction matches.

5—Infernal machines and mechanical, chemical or other devices or compositions which may ignite or explode.

Note—Under this classification would come cigarette lighters, etc.

6—Liquids or liquifiable articles, fragile articles and other admissable matter when not packed in accordance with the requiremnts of the postal laws and regulations.

7—All other articles which may kill or in any way hurt or injure another or damage or deface or otherwise injure the mails or other property.

Nothing should go in a Christmas parcel which will not keep fresh from time of sending until Christmas.

No liquids, no soft candies, nothing packed in glass, will be accepted.

Several dainties packed in quarter-pound oblong tin boxes, make a better gift than a large quantity of one kind of confection.

Use a twenty-seven-inch khaki-colored handkerchief to wrap the gifts.

No duplicate label can be issued for one lost.

FOR FURTHER INSTRUCTIONS:

Call Mrs. Kennedy for any further explanations, and remember the receiving station is the Red Cross rooms on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons after November 1st, 1918, until November 15th.

The Red Cross purchases four and one-half tons of chewing gum monthly for the American soldiers in France. The power used in chewing this gum would probably be quite sufficient to run a train of cars. But as there is no way to divert it to such a purpose, our boys may continue to chew.

ducted the raffle, and an Erie street business man won the suit. In May Mrs. Waite expressed a desire to donate the set for the benefit of the War Chest. That fund being practically closed at the time, it was deemed best to give it to the local Red Cross. Tickets were sold at the Wilson store, E. M. Crowthers, by the Red Cross Ladies, Miss Dodd at the postoffice, Mrs. J. C. McCarthy, James McMahon, the Willoughby Republican and others. The last purchase was made by Mrs. Bond at the Red Cross rooms Tuesday, she paying $2.00 for a ticket. Eight tickets were drawn from the receptacle by E. M. Crowther. The eighth, No. 64, was found not to have been sold to anyone. The seventh was then selected. This was No. 351, sold Tuesday afternoon by James McMahon to A. E. Frost. The bedroom set so kindly donated by Mrs. Waite to so splendid a cause has still not yet journeyed far. Many thanks are offered to all who so kindly assisted in the sale of the set, and to all who purchased the tickets. $50.15 was realized from the sale.

A PRAYER.

By Max Ehrman.

Let me do my work each day, and if the darkened hours of despair overcome me, may I not forget the strength that comforted me in the desolation of other times. May I still remember the bright hours that found me walking over the silent hills of my childhood, or dreaming on the margin of the quiet river, when a light glowed within me, and I promised my early God to have courage amid the tempests of the changing years. Spare me from bitterness and from the sharp passions of unguarded moments. May I not forget that poverty and riches are of the spirit. Though the world know me not, may my thoughts and actions be such as shall keep me friendly with myself. Lift my eyes from the earth, and let me not forget the uses of the stars. Forbid that I should judge others, lest I condemn myself. Let me not follow the clamor of the world, but walk calmly in my path. Give me a few friends who will love me for what I am; and keep ever burning before my vagrant steps the kindly light of hope. And though age and infirmity overtake me and I come not within sight of the castle of my dreams, teach me still to be thankful for life and for time's olden memories that are good and sweet; and may the evening's twilight find me gentle still.

W. R. C. Tribute to Mrs. Julia Randall

The W. R. C. Auxiliary to the James A. Garfield Post No. 214:

Whereas, a lamented sister, Julia Randal, has been called from our midst to the higher life, from her home in Mentor, September 12th, 1918.

Sister Randal has been a member of our order for many years, has filled many offices with satisfaction to all. Her ability and willingness to act when called has endeared her to its members, and she is sadly missed. We trust she has received her welcome, "Good and faithful servant," and that we, by imitating her example, may be better for her life spent with us.

Therefore be it resolved that the Corps extend our deep sympathy to her bereaved family at this time of sorrow; that the charter be draped for thirty days in her memory; that a copy of this memorial be furnished the family of the diseased; that the same be inscribed on our records and a copy be furnished a county newspaper for publication.

SCHRAM EVENTS DRAW GUESTS FROM ALL POINTS

Red Cross Receives Large Sum.

Another successful event took place at the school house last Saturday night in the form of a chicken supper, and although the chickens were not cooked there to draw a crowd, the crowd came until over 150 had gathered and partook of the bounteous supper, which we do not mean to say consisted of chicken alone, but there were potatoes, and lots of them, as L. E. Smith will tell you. They also had buns, pickles, apple and pumpkin pie and coffee. The crowd did not consist of just our Schram people, but they came from Cleveland, Chagrin Falls, Madison, Willoughby and Wickliffe. We must give the people of Wickliffe credit for turning out so well. The sum collected for the supper was $61, with no expenses, as all eatables were donated. Eleven dollars was cleared from tickets sold on a camisole donated by Mrs. Kramer and was won by Mr. Knapp, of Wickliffe.

Red Cross Emblem Defaced.

After writing up this article to let people know who were not present, what the Red Cross Society is doing here, we are ashamed to note that some young men met on the school grounds Sunday night and, aside from putting the teeter boards in front of the school house door, etc., so defaced the Red Cross emblem which was on the door that it had to be destroyed. The people are stirred up about it, as they respect the emblem as they do our flag.

Mrs. George Stokes is visiting Cleveland friends for a few days. James Horner and family were out Saturday, and Mrs. S. returned home with them.

Beech Family at Kirtland Have Serious Time.

The Beech family, of East Kirtland are having a serious time, as the mother was ill with the "flu" and died and left seven children. Three of them were taken to Painesville hospital and are being treated for it there. The father is also down with it. Some relatives have taken the young babe until a home can be found for it. Kirtland people have donated aboue $100 to help this family.

Old Kirtland People Buried.

Two more Kirtland people have been laid to rest in the Temple Hill Cemetery, namely, Mrs. Mary L. Bond, who had passed her 92nd milestone, and Mr. Chas. Wilson.

Big Liberty Sales in Kirtland.

P. E. Rice has been hustling around getting subscribers to the Fourth Liberty Loan. He has got $1,650 in his territory. Kirtland will surely go over the top, as she always does in any good work. She's never caught lagging.

Maurice has been discharged from the army on account of his injured arm. It will be remembered an accidental shot hit him in the arm at camp when he first enlisted.

The Tannenbaums are doing a wonderful piece of grading in that 30 acre field, which would be almost impossible without the help of the Fordson tractor.

Miss Bessie Duncan was home from Cleveland Saturday.

The Barnes family at the Flats are down with the flu. Two of them have got over it, and three are just having it.

I think that fashionable disease, the "flu," means to catch everyone. It is no respecter of persons. I wouldn't care if it would slight us.

Mrs. Waters, of Fort Wayne, is a guest at the Criswell home.

Mr. W. A. Criswell and sister, Miss Clara, motored to Avon Monday and were guests of John Erb and family.

Mrs. George Richner's mother, Mrs. McMahon, and brother, Robert McMahon, were Painesville visitors Friday.

One day last week Mr. and Mrs. Capt. James McMahon and son Robert were Cleveland visitors.

Last Monday the Richner and McMahon families went to Collinwood to visit a sick friend.

OUR SOLDIER BOYS

Letter From a Soldier Boy in France.

The following letter is from George F. Chapman, nephew of James Gaugh, of Vine street. George has often visited here and has many friends in this vicinity:

France, August, 1918.

"Dear Uncle: I have been over here some time, but have been so busy that I have not had time to write. I am feeling better than I have for several years. I was lucky enough to get in the Engineers, and am in a large training school now. The work is very interesting, and everybody seems to like it. There is something going on all the time. In the evenings we have singing, basketball, boxing and other sports, which, combined with a fine bunch of men and the best of officers, makes army life agreeable to all. I would like to write about the places I have been in since I have been here, but am not allowed to. Well, I will have to close, as it is time to fall out agaii. Goodbye.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE RED CROSS

Recent contributions to the local Red Cross included $2 derived from the sale of two crocheted mats, made by Mrs. Cliff Merrill. Ladies of the Catholic church pieced a comfort top. This sold for $1.50, and proceeds were given to the Red Cross. A cash donation of $10 from Mrs. Sarah Phillips was also gratefully accepted. Three comfort robes were also donated.

HANDSOME NEW SCHOOL BUILDING IS OPENED IN PAINESVILLE TOWNSHIP

The new building of District No. 8, Painesville Township, known as Hine's District, was occupied for the first time Wednesday morning, October 9.

It is a handsome brick structure, different in architecture from the ordinary school, and contains two large, well-lighted school rooms, an ample library or teachers' room, and a high basement, equal in all respects to a full story, containing domestic science and manual training rooms, furnace and fuel rooms, and inside toilets, to be used as soon as the city connects up the water main. The large playgrounds are provided for baseball and other field sports. The building faces St. Clair street.

No more attractive and serviceable school building can be found anywhere in this vicinity. The Painesville Township Board of Education is to be congratulated for its enterprise. The building and equipment cost about $17,000. F. L. Packard, Columbus, is the architect, and S. J. Isabel the contractor.

"This is the Last of Wars"

Coming in splendor thro' the Golden Gate
Of all the days, swift passing, one by one,
Oh, Silent Planet, thou hast gazed upon
How many harvestings, dispassionate?
Across the many-furrowed fields of fate,
Wrapt in the mantle of oblivion,
The old, gray, wrinkled husbandman has gone
Sowing and reaping, lone and desolate—
The blare of trumpets, rattle of the drum,
Disturb him not at all—he sees,
Between the hedges of the centuries,
A thousand phantom armies go and come,
While Reason whispers as each marches past,
"This is the last of wars—this is the last!"

WOMAN'S COMMITTEE ISSUES LETTER TO WILLOUGHBY CITIZENS.

October 17th, 1918.

To all patriotic citizens of Willoughby: At this time we have many war workers in our midst, creating unprecedented condition in our village.

The presence of uniformed soldiers has proven a source of interest and attraction, and we desire that they shall be counted as an asset to our community.

Attention has been called to the number of girls on the streets at night without a proper chaperon. This subjects them to severe criticism and threatens their morals.

In order to cope with these conditions and protect the soldiers and civilians alike from unfavorable comment, we recommend that girls be not allowed on the street after 8 o'clock unless attended by a responsible chaperon.

As parents and loyal citizens, we urge your hearty co-operation to the end that the young people be safeguarded and a high moral standard for the town be maintained.

Signed: Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

Recent Congresses have stood as follows:

	Rep.	Dem.
63rd	127	290
64th	197	228
65th	212	220

A brief glance at these figures shows that the trend is toward a Republican majority in the next Congress. The country needs the change. Abler management is needed there. Speaker Champ Clark opposed the draft. He should be replaced by a more far-seeing speaker. Kitchin, as chairman of Ways and Means, puts the tax burdens north of Mason and Dixon's line. Dent, chairman of military affairs, had to be replaced by Kahn, Republican, in the draft fight. This leadership can only be displaced by electing a Republican majority in the House

American Red Cross Girls Make Him Homesick

September 10th, 1918.

Dear Mother: I have received all of your letters; the last one was dated August 7th, so you see I'm getting them all, and I thank you folks very much. You don't know how much good a letter from home does us soldiers over here. I am well and feeling fine, and hope this letter finds you all well. I received a letter from Mrs. W. P. Sherman, of Willoughby. You probably know by this time that they are not blowing whistles in the U. S. for nothing. Do your part back there and we will show Germany what the U. S. is good for. You were saying it was so hot at home. Well, it isn't very hot here, as it has rained nearly all the time the past week. You were asking how we live in the houses with the French people. It is not so bad, but kind of dirty, but you see that the Germans had this town at one time, and a lot of the houses are blown to pieces. The house next door is all blown to pieces, and those poor women have to work outside, and mighty hard, too, for there are no men over here, and when the German planes come over you'll see the mothers running to dugouts with littls babies in their arms, crying. When you see that kind of work and a lot worse that I cannot write, you may know why the U. S. is in the war. The French people will do most anything for the American soldier. The soldiers are in very good spirits. I tell you that for all being so far from home and in danger, I would not miss this experience for all the world. Now, don't worry, for the Engineers are just back of the lines. Let me tell you that you folks don't know what war is, as in the daytime and sometimes at night all is quiet just like at home; then all at once it seems as though hell had broke loose; the whole sky is full of fire, and then you see the people run. A few of the 112th have been killed. I sau Jack Wicker yesterday. He is looking fine and also feels fine. The Americans are sure driving the Germans back. This winter may be the end of the war. I hope so. U. S. for me. I cannot talk to these French girls. When I see an American Red [illegible] S. is doing [illegible] France. I see the U. S. flag floating everywhere. They are building railroads, and we have a lot of big engines over here. It sure looks good to see a big engine with U.S.A. on it. For the French use little trains, not much good. If you could see some of these little French children—no father to help them to buy shoes or anything. They come to American soldiers for any old piece of bread; they'd be happy if they could have some of the bread that people in the States throw away. This makes one feel like fighting. I will write again soon. From your loving son,

FLOYD LILLEY,
Co. F, 112th Engineers, "Somewhere" in France.

PRESENT SHOE STYLES ARE PATRIOTIC STYLES

The War Industries Board, into which the Government Economy Board is merged, has established limitations on new styles for spring 1919, which affect tanners and shoe manufacturers, and probably by next Easter, many of these new "economy" lines will be on display in local shoes stores.

As a result of existing limitations, a number of economies in maufacture have already been effected, without which there would doubtless have been a further upward trend in shoe prices this season.

Spring, however, is in the future. The thing of greatest present interest to women is that the shoe styles now offered in reputable stores, and particularly those styles identified by nationally known trade marks, are safe and patriotic styles to buy for fall and winter wear.

Mr. Birkholz, managing partner for the shoe department of The Wilson Co., who specialize on the Queen Quality for women, said this week:

"Pretty shoes are still in vogue for women. No action of the government affects the purchasers of shoes offered for sale this season. The styles now being offered are either established merchandise or new lines made for this season in accordance with the advance recommendations of the Commercial Economy Board."

The army officer puts life and disttinction into his olive drab uniform—yet the distinctive style built into it is [illegible] change [illegible] present style, distinctively American, is the indefinable thing which molds the character and lends distinction to material accessories. It is well said that "Style shall not pass."

Mr. Birkholz said the feature of men's shoes this fall was decidedly military.

LINCOLN'S WAY IN WAR

There are a few things worth mentioning as to the course of Abraham Lincoln during the Civil War, when he was lifting himself above all personal and partisan considerations in the accomplishment of a great task which laid upon him the solemn duty of contributing to unity among all the people of the Union.

Lincoln did not, from the time of his election as President until his death, make a party speech. In no way did he participate in party politics. He never returned to Illinois, as President, to participate in any primary, convention or election. He never wrote a letter in behalf of any candidate for office. At his instance, even the Republican party adopted a hyphenated name in 1864 and was called the Union-Republican party. He appointe a staunch Democrat Secretary of War. He kept his own rivals and critics at his council table. He gave no consideration to any question but that of winning the war and restoring the Union. In other words, he lifted himself to the high level of his great duty and opportunity, and by his own self-forgetfulness gave himself an everlasting place in the memories of men.

I AM THE LIBERTY BOND.

By Henry Leverage.

I AM THE LIBERTY BOND!

I am the emblem of Freedom for all Humanity.

I protect the weaker nations and strengthen the strong.

I was born through the sacred duty of Honor—I represent the noblest purpose that was ever granted to Man.

I am a respecter of sacred treaties. I succor the oppressed and hold out a hand to the downtrodden and ravished.

I have come on this earth to destroy the Barbarian—the Vandal—the Hun. I shall conquer, for my cause is right, and whatever is right is always right.

I am not dismayed by defeat. I increase with adversity. I grow with each blow I strike for Right. I shall prevail—though the way be dark and long. I am Truth, which can never fail.

Kings, Thrones, Emperors and Satraps shall tremble at my power. Little children and weaklings shall creep beneath my cloak and march with me to Victory. I am the vanguard of the things to be. I am the conqueror through Right and Kindness.

Out of the brains of Freemen I have sprung. Out of the loins of pioneers I have been born. I know no creed save Fair Play. I have no favorites save Right Doing. I toil and work and advance for the great cause of Democracy. I hold that the world cannot be half slave and half free. I call on all men to strike for the rights of Man.

I am the final instrument for the Federation of the World. I shall live and grow and rule until my call is answered. I am imperishable and uncorruptable. I am a bludgeon to police this earth. I am the widow's mite which is given to the Just and the Children of God.

A HINT TO ADVERTISE.

A millionaire said recently, in addressing a group of business men, that the money-maker is inevitably the man who spends, not he who saves. He said it takes progressive, incessant trying out of new things and putting over of plans and ideas, to make money.

Isn't this a hint to advertise? There are records in plenty of millionaires today who started out by borrowing money with which to advertise their unknown but promising brain children.

EXPERT MUST DIRECT WATER PURIFICATION

Technical Supervision of Filtration and Disinfection Plants Safest Means of Insuring Pure Supply, Health Department Says.

Columbus, O., Oct. 3rd.—Special.—A city cannot be sure of the purity of a filtered water supply unless the filtration plant is under supervision by a technically trained expert. The State Department of Health made this statement today in announcing an agreement between the water companies of Ashtabula and Conneaut by which they will jointly hire a trained and experienced man to supervise their plants.

These two are the largest filter plants in the state operated without expert supervision. Fourteen smaller plants, the Health Department pointed out, are still without proper supervision, although the department is making efforts to place trained men in chage of each of these plants. Only seven of the sixteen privately owned filter plants in Ohio are under expert control. Of the 32 municipally owned plants only seven are without such control.

What Is the Liberty Loan?
It's forts and it's ships and it's shining guns.
It's squadrons that sweep the sea.
It's all of the circling band of steel
That shall keep all the home shores free.
It's grub and it's warmth for the sailor lad
Far out on the wintry foam.
For the brave Jack Tar, as he fights afar,
It's the good old "Money from home."

What Is the Liberty Loan?
It's rifle and helm and it's bayonet;
It's shovel and shard and shell
For the soldier boy in the olive drab,
Out there on the edge of hell.
It's the soaring wings of the whirring planes
That battle on high alone
For the lad who is daring "Over there"
It's the good old "Money from home."

What Is the Liberty Loan?
It's succor and life for a bleeding world.
It's the glimmer of Peace at dawn
It's the strength of a mighty arm to strike.
It's the gleam of a great sword drawn.
But, more than all, it's the pledge of love
To the lads whome we call "Our own."
To the boys on land, afloat, on high,
It's the good old "Money from home."

And into the sugar bank goes the spoonful or two to which you have been accustomed.

Thus you are qualified to join those patriotic Americans in all parts of the nation who believe that it is the little things that count in winning this war, and are acting on that belief.

If as a war measure you agree to sacrifice that sugar you will have saved a great part of your monthly allowance, and after a few days training you will not miss that little bit of sugar.

A group of five people who resolve to save sugar by the spoonful can save at least 15 spoonfuls a day, four hundred and fifty a month, or approximately four and a half pounds a month.

That's quite a help to the sugar shortage.

RED CROSS CARNIVAL AUCTIONS SHEEP, CHICKENS, RABBITS AND PUPPIES, AND THEN SOME.

The following interesting account of a Red Cross carnival in Michigan is written by Mrs. Ethie Crowl, of Horton, Mich., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Briggs, of the Belle Vernon Farm:

"I will have to tell you about our Red Cross carnival. It was last Friday, not a very nice day; cold, cloudy, and it rained a little toward night. We had a parade at 11 o'clock. Camp Custer's Fortieth Infantry Band of 25 pieces was ahead and then came autos trimmed up, and comical things. We had a large truck trimmed up for our Red Cross car. I was chosen to be the Red Cross nurse, and I had one of the soldiers' band boys for my patient. Our car took first prize. Then came dinner; then the speaking. Capt. Pullinger, who has been at the front for two years with the Canadian army, told of the awful things the Germans are doing, and of the way they live in the trenches. It certainly was a fine speech. Then came the auctioning of the things that were given us—two horses, calves, sheep, chickens, rabbits, puppies, wood, coal, wheat, beans, oats, corn, potatoes, onions, squash, cabbage, canned fruit, turkeys, ducks and a lot of other things. Then it was night, and we had a dance, and we made $1,600.50. Everyone help: the Red Cross. It is a pleasure to be president of the Red Cross when everyone wants to do their bit."

A bureau of service is being organized in the County Agent's office to assist the members of the Lake County Farm Improvement Association in disposing of their farm produce to advantage and securing supplies such as pure seeds, breeding stock, etc. An effort will be made to help exchange breeding stock, seeds and equipment. Farms are to be classified according to their principal crops and live stock. The live stock farms again subdivided according to breeds, and the crop farms according to varieties. Help put this across by assisting with the farm survey that the Farm Improvement Association is making.

SIXTY LOTS ALREADY SOLD IN NEW ALLOTMENT

Sixty lots have been sold in its Willoughby-Euclid Avenue Subdivision, according to The McNutt-McCall Co. Were these lots all on one street the property already sold would equal that on both sides of a single street a half mile in length. Among recent buyers are the following: William Gent and Arthur Gent, of The William Gent Vending Machine Co.; W. F. Young, of The Cleveland Folding Machine Co.; A. W. Cartwright and John Birtwell, of The Cleveland Milling Machine Co.; F. E. Wendorf, of The Federal Reserve Bank, Cleveland, and Thomas E. Westlake, of Willoughby.

Practically all purchasers, the company states, have expressed their intention of erecting homes as soon as conditions will permit. Inquiry for this property, according to the company, is constantly increasing, and is greater at this time than at any time since the property was opened for sale to the public.

It is an entirely safe prediction that the end of the war will witness the greatest home building activity ever known in the history of Willoughby.

AS JAPAN SEES SIBERIA

Sharp criticism of allied military aid to the Czecho-Slovaks in Siberia is directed by some sections of the Japanese press, not so much on account of intervention as because it will prove ineffectual. The prediction of its futility is based on the argument that much greater military forces will be necessary in Siberia than have been agreed on by Japan and the United States. The Tokyo Jiji-shimpo, a conservative financial organ, believes, however, that the adoption of the present American-Japanese plan by no means rules out of consideration the one of larger scope proposed by France and England, which had been seriously considered by the government at Tokyo. Japan may have to reconsider this original plan, we are told, if she is to check German penetration of Siberia and help the Russians establish order in the territory stretching from the Japan Sea to the Urals and beyond. The apathy expressed by the Tokyo Asahi toward the Siberian measure adopted by the Terauchi ministry is sometimes ascribed to this journal's policy of opposition to the cabinet on any score, and attention is called to the plausible argument of this influential journal, which follows:

"To go into Siberia with a few thousand soldiers, as has been suggested by President Wilson, will fail to attain the purpose for which this measure is proposed. And yet, on the other hand, Japan is not prepared to embark upon a military undertaking in Siberia on such a large scale as has apparently been proposed to her by France and England. To meet the expectation of our European allies, we would have to send at least a million soldiers into and across Siberia, which is obviously impossible for us to undertake."

In contrast to this view, the Tokyo Yomiuri, edited by a brother of Viscount Motono, who recently resigned as foreign minister, voices a most optimistic opinion, which may be summarized as follows:

"The Russia people, excepting the Bolsheviki, are not friendly toward Germany. They are anxiously waiting for allied aid for the regeneration of their country. Once Japan, with or without allied assistance, enters Siberia for the obviously sincere purpose of helping them, the Russians will not be slow in joining hands with us. To attain this end, we do not think it necessary to make extraordinary sacrifices. The mere report that we have resolved to come to the rescue of those patriotic Russians will have a tremendous moral influence upon those Russians who are still holding their own in the region from Vladivostok to Lake Baikal in the midst of great pressure brought to bear upon them by the Bolsheviki. If our troops actually reach Lake Baikal the whole territory of Siberia clear up to the Urals will virtually come under the influence of the Russians who are eager to throw off both the Bolsheviki and the German yoke."

Though indorsing in the main the action of the Terauchi cabinet, the Tokyo Kokumin expresses a skeptical and even suspicious feeling about our idea of sending an economic mission to Russia. Also this journal believes that in order to save Russia, the allies must not only reach her through Siberia, but must definitely defeat the Germans on the western front, and to this opinion the Tokyo Hochi assents when it says that "German control of Russia can be effectually frustrated chiefly, if not wholly, through a decisive allied victory on the western front." A Tokyo dispatch to the London Times affords Russian light on the problem in the views of Mr. Boris Lopatin, vice chairman of the Anglo-Russian Society and editor of the Vladivostok Moyagazazeta, who points out that the question of first importance in the Russian Far East is government, because upon it depends the restoration of Russia's power to re-enter the war. If the allies' sole intencion is to fight Germany and to save Russia, he tells us, only two courses are open. First, not to support any separate Siberian government; secondly, to facilitate the organization of a Russian volunteer corps by supplying arms and money. We read then:

"A Russian volunteer army is necessary not only to strengthen the efforts of the allies, but to restore order, re-establish communications, enable the working of the legitimate powers of the zemstvos, municipalities and governments of eastern and western Siberia, from which the government of Great Siberia will arise in the natural course of events. Such a volunteer army could not act without the full support of the allies. Without such an army, I believe, no Siberian bulwark can be created against Germany. England, Japan and America will achieve splendid results if their policy has only one aim, the driving of the Germans from the Far East, but they can do no worse service to Russia, and therefore to themselves, if they support any of the present pretenders to power, for that would only augment political trouble.

"Anyone in Siberia backed by military forces can become a dictator, but such a dictatorship would induce a false atmosphere of peace in a country still liable to be victimized by Bolsheviki and other disintegrating forces. Should we ask the advice of Germany in the present situation, she would reply, 'Give Siberia a dictator.' My opinion is that a sound government can emerge only from al- stitutional processes."

ONLY A PRIVATE.

He was only a private, a simple lad,
Who had answered the big world's call;
Happy, contented with what he had,
Living and loving, and that was all.
But he heard the summons the patriots hear—
The ringing challenge to do or die
Which wrings men's hearts with a craven fear
Or lifts them up to a purpose high!

He was only a private, he did not know
Much of the warfare that mad men make;
But he learned of his country's need, and so
Took the path that the patriots take.
Straight to the heart of the slaughter sent,
Knowing no guide but the word "obey,"
Into the battle a private went—
But the soul of a hero was born that day!

He was only a private, but as he came
Out of the carnage, the blood, the stench,
Somewhere a faint voice called his name
And he turned his back on the Shel-t'ring trench;
Hastening, alone, through the raging hell,
Sought 'mid the dying his wounded friend,
Brought him in!—but a bursting shell
Laid him low at the journey's end.

He was only a private, but where they pen
Deathless records of heroes' deeds
There on the roster of noblemen
The humble name of a private leads!
In a soldier's grave, with the simple cross,
Given "For Valor" pinned on his breast,
Great men mourned for the nation's loss
When "only a private was laid to rest.
—Mrs. Helen Combes in New York Herald.

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings—nor lost the common touch;
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill each unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son! —Kipling.

BEST PATRIOTIC POEM WINS PRIZE OF $200.00

THE ROAD TO FRANCE

(This poem won the prize of $200 offered by the National Arts Club of New York for the best patriotic poem.

Thank God our liberating lance
Goes flaming on the way to France!
To France—the trail the Ghurk found!
To Fance — old England's rallying ground!
To France—the path the Russians strode!
To France—the Anzacs' glory road!
To France—where our Lost Legion ran
To fight and die for God and man!
To France with every race and breed
That hates Oppression's brutal creed!

Ah, France—how could our hearts forget
The path by which came Lafayette?
How could the haze of doubt hang low
Upon the road of Rochambeau?
How was it that we missed the way
Brave Joffre leads us along today?
At last, thank God! At last we see.
There is no tribal Liberty!
No beacon lighting just our shores!
No Freedom guarding but our doors!
The flame she kindled for our sires
Burns now in Europe's battle fires!
The soul that led our fathers west
Turns back to free the world's oppressed!

Allies, you have not called in vain!
We share your conflict and your pain!
"Old Glory," through new stains and rents,
Partakes of Freedom's sacraments!
Into that hell his will creates
We drive the foe, his lusts, his hates!
Last come, we will be last to stay—
Till Right has had her crowning day!
Replenish, comrades, from our veins,
The blood the sword of despot drains,
And make our eager sacrifice
Part of the freely rendered price
You pay to lift humanity—
You pay to make our brothers free!
See, with what proud hearts we advance —To France!

SOLDIERS USE TWELVE THOUSAND "Y" LETTERHEADS WEEKLY.

Free Stationery for the Soldiers

Three hundred million sheets of writing paper, just ordered by the Army "Y" for the free use of soldiers of the United States at home and abroad, assure the letters to mothers from their boys, so eagerly awaited in these serious days. The "Y" has ordered 200,000,000 letterheads for immediate distribution to the camps and cantonments in this country and 100,000,000 letterheads to be sent to the American Expeditionary Forces within the next three or four months. The paper, with envelopes, is provided without cost at all "Y" huts, together with the use of pens or pencils and tables on which to write.

P. F. Jerome, director of the division of equipment and supplies of the National War Council, states in an announcement just received that American soldiers in home camps are using Association letterheads at the rate of 12,000,000 a week. In addition to the 100,000,000 letterheads ordered for the overseas forces, the "Y" is shipping 25,000,000 envelopes and also using big consignments from European paper mills. The "Y" also is sending 1,000,000 to the huts with the Italian army, and 10,000,000 a month to the Foyers du Soldat with the French army.

WATCH OUT FOR YOUR FREIGHT SHIPMENTS

By a recent general order of the Director General of Railroads the carrier under Federal control is instructed to sell unclaimed perishable freight when ever it is deemed necessary by the agent or the carrier. The order provides that the consignee is to be notified when possible.

In the case of non-perishable freight, however, it is to be sold at auction if unclaimed within sixty days, and no provision is made for notifying either the consignee or the shipper. Under the circumstances, we have no means of knowing whether or not our goods are being delivered. Customers are advised, therefore, to make inquiry when they are expecting a shipment, after a reasonable time for delivery has elapsed.

NEW SUGAR ALLOTMENT IS CUT TO FIVE POUNDS

Ban on Jelly and Apple Butter

Distribution of sugar certificates for canning purposes will be continued during the greater part of this month by the Lake County Food Administration Committee in the offices of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, with these restrictions: None to be issued to families which have used 35 or more pounds during the season; none to persons still having canning sugar on hand; none except the persons having fruit on hand ready to be canned, and in no case any more than five-pound lots.

There is no sugar for jellies or apple butter. It is recommended by the Food Administration that jelly juice be sealed in tight jars or bottles and that sugar be added next winter.

In making apple butter, sufficient sweetness will be furnished by boiling down two gallons of cider to one, it is asserted. It is suggested that peaches, pears and plums may be canned without sugar and kept in this form until next winter.

First Notice to Delinquents.

A large number of applications for Liberty Bonds have been turned into the local banks without the first payment of 10 per cent cash. Of course these cannot be counted as sales until the 10 per cent is paid. This is holding down the quotas.

Such people are requested to call and make the first payment at once.

CANDY AT THE FRONT.

A recent cable from France to the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. asks for the immediate shipment of 12,000,000 five and ten-cent bars of chocolate during the month of October and a similar quantity for November.

This indicates that the French supplies are running low. Heretofore 300 tons of chocolate for the Red Triangle Huts have been manufactured monthly over there. In addition to this, there is being shipped every month from this side 200,000 two and four-ounce cartons of candy.

A shipment of ten tons of chocolate and five tons of hard candy goes monthly to England. Italy gets the same amount.

All this requires many pounds of sugar.

That the boys crave this candy and call for more is shown in an excerpt from the letter of a young college boy now serving as a private in France, who writes his mother. "If you have any chance to slip us some sweets, don't fail to do so. The Triangle Huts are fairly mobbed when a candy consignment arrives, and I never yet have gotten there in time to get my share."

And we must remember that this craving is an indication that these lads need the sugar; they are better soldiers if they get it—not only happier, but better fighters.

No man or woman wearing a service pin or displaying a service flag need be told the second time to keep well within his two-pound monthly sugar ration when once the reason for sugar saving is well understood.

THE LITTLE HOME PAPER

By Charles Hanson Towne
in American Magazine.

The little home paper comes to me,
As badly printed as it can be;
It's ungrammatical, cheap, absurd—
Yet how I love each intimate word!
For here am I in the teeming town,
Where the sad, mad people rush up and down,
And it's good to get back tot he old lost place,
And gossip and smile for a little space.

The weather is hot; the corn crop's good;
They've had a picnic in Sheldon's Wood
And Aunt Maria was sick last week;
Ike Morrison's got a swollen cheek,
And the Squire was hurt in a runaway
More shocked than bruised, I'm glad to say.
Bert Wills—I used to play ball with him—
Is working a farm with his uncle Jim.

The Red Cross ladies gave a tea,
And raised quite a bit. Old Sol MacPhee
Has sold his house on Lincoln Road—
He couldn't carry so big a load.
The Methodist minister's had a call
From a wealthy parish near St. Paul.
And old Herb Sweet is married at last—
He was forty-two. How the years rush past!

But here's an item that makes me see
What a puzzling riddle life can be.
"Ed Stokes," it reads, "was killed in France
When the Allies made their last advance."
Ed Stokes! That boy with the laughing eyes
As blue as the early-summer skies!
He wouldn't have killed a fly—and yet,
Without a murmur, without a regret,

He left the peace of our little place,
And went away with a light in his face;
For out in the world was a job to do,
And he wouldn't come home until it was thru!
Four thousand miles from our tiny town
And its hardware store, this boy went down.
Such a quiet lad, such a simple chap—
But he's put East Dunkirk on the map!

Don't.

Motto for the gasoline-savers, to be hung on the garage door that it may be seen Sunday mornings: "Don't keep the home tires turning."—Chicago Evening Post

But a Worm Sometimes Turns.

A "conscientious objector" told the tribunal the other day that he wouldn't kill a worm. As the poet so touchingly puts it, "A fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind."—Passing Show.

The War and Rates

Prices for shows, clothes, food and rents have seen almost unbelieveable advances since the beginning of the war.

There are many contributing reasons for this situation—the most important of which are the shortage of labor and the scarcity of materials.

Labor is at least 40 per cent higher than it was before the war. Many materials cost from three to four hundred per cent more than in 1914.

THAT'S WHY:
Fares have been increased on our government-controlled railroads.
Rates have been raised on the state-controlled telephone service.
Advances in street car fares have been approved by city councils.

BUT—YOU STILL PAY THE SAME RATE FOR GAS SERVICE

And this despite the fact that every branch of our operating expense has experienced abnormal increases

Cleveland has the cheapest and best Gas Service in the world.

Saving Money

Saving money is easy or difficult according to whether or not one has a definite aim. Most of us require that we have not only a definite aim, but also a "compulsory savings account." We must put a little "compulsion" into it and then put aside each year, and each month, the amount we should save against the day when Age shall reduce our earnings.

No person, except he is wealthy, is at liberty to spend, especially not his family, who does not each month and each year lay by a little.

It is equally necessary that one plan his savings where they shall, first of all, be absolutely safe; also where they will increase while they are remaining. Millions of dollars are saved each year, but unwisely invested and lost. The effort, the denial, even sacrifice is made, but the reward is not gained.

Land is the one absolutely safe investment. Property located and supplied with the necessary improvements to convert it into a desirable homesite, it will increase in value surely and quickly.

The easy payments on which lots are sold in our WILLOUGHBY - EUCLID AVE. SUB - DIVISION, place them within the reach of every person or family. They afford an absolutely safe, convenient, "compulsory savings bank" where deposits will grow rapidly.

These big lots 50x200 at $740 up, ideally located and completely improved, offer an exceptional investment opportunity. It will be worth your while to investigate. Now is the time to start, to buy, is now.

Salesmen on the property Saturday afternoons and Sundays.

FIGHTING THE "COOTIE"

Government scientists of the Department of Agriculture, working under the Council of National Defense, are at work trying to find preventives and exterminators practicable for extensive use in Europe for the well-known "cooties" of our war zone. The announcement is made by the United States Department of Agriculture's Weekly News Letter in an article that gives first attention to a former Chicago official who "is cooperating, in a very personal and intimate degree, with entomologists of the department" by serving as a host for "cooties":

"This man formerly served the city of Chicago in a public capacity. He has a son with the American Expeditionary Forces in France, and when he volunteered to be a subject in the experimental work of the entomologists he said he was willing to do anything that would help out the boys over there. Valuable data in regard to the control of the 'cootie' have been obtained from the parasites living on his body, and moving pictures of them have been taken through a microscope. The pictures are to be magnified and shown at army camps before scientists and army officers engaged in delousing work."

But the Chicago man is not the only volunteer entertainer for the pests that annoy, irritate, and spread trench fever and other diseases among American soldiers. As we read:

"One of the scientists of the Bureau of Entomology also is serving as a host for the parasites, but in a more restricted sense. His 'cooties' are confined under the glass top of a wristlet, much like a wrist watch, and they pass their existence from the egg stage to the dead adult, on the skin of his arm, and cannot move to any other spot. Through the glass cover the entomologist can watch the 'cooties' as they merge from their shells and go through all the stages of their life cycle."

It required the war, according to The Weekly News Letter, to get for these pests as much attention "as scientists believe they deserve." The Department of Agriculture entomologists are "testing chemicals to learn their destructive action on lice, their effect on human bodies, and their penetration of clothing. Also, they are cooperating with army officers in testing laundering and delousing processes." True.

"The 'cootie' has not yet appeared in numbers at the camps in this country, but if it should do so military authorities expect to be ready to deal with it." Men serving for long periods in the trenches, or at other places where thorough bathing, hair-clipping and disinfection can be done, have been established in the war-zine."

THE FARMER AND THE JITNEY

An interesting fact brought out by those engaged in framing the revenue bill is that 53.1 per cent of all motor vehicles produced in the United States in 1917 were purchased by farmers. That figure indicates what a large percentage of automobiles are used for utility; in fact, it has been estimated by good roads and touring committees that only one-tenth of all passenger automobiles can be said to be for pleasure riding. The American Automobile Association is busy collecting data on the subject of what they term "taxation of highways transportation" as applied to the proposed levy on automobiles and gasoline. The information secured has been laid before the members of the Finance Committee of the Senate, to which the revenue bill will come after it is through the House.

NATIONAL INTEGRITY.

Our forefathers did a grand work when they started this republic in 1776, for today it appears as the saviour of the world. Civilization would go to smash if it wasn't for the United States. This country is furnishing men and money to keep Germany from owning the earth and establishing their miserable kultur over the inhabitants thereof. If this nation stood apart and did nothing, Germany would take Paris and overrun France and probably bring England to a servile peace. What we are fighting is the Prussian rule, which means autocracy and despotism, and we will win. We are going to make national existence amount to something, which would not be the case if Hohenzollernism got the upper hand. Every dollar we give and every life that is sacrificed by our noble army is given and spent for freedom, humanity, religion and the brotherhood of man. No age ever had a duty as great as the one through which we are passing, and there is no time when the individual is called upon for more sacrifice, courage and hope.—Ohio State Journal.

TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR—NO. 33 WILLOUGHBY, O., OCTOBER 25, 1918. ONE DOLLAR AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A YEAR IN ADVANCE

REV. WM. M. JEFFERS TELLS OF PASSING OF AERO FLEET OVER LOS ANGELES

October 12, 1918.

Mr. E. M. Crowther, Willoughby, O.—

My Dear Friend and Brother: Conference is over and we were returned to this church for another year. We have just received notice that all churches, theaters, schools and colleges and other public gatherings are to be closed indefinitely owing to the "Spanish flu." We were to have had a great Liberty Loan fair today and had made great preparations for it, but it was all called off except one feature, which may be of interest to you. At 11 o'clock the largest aero fleet in the United States passed over our city. There were in all 103 planes. They were in nine divisions and in V-shaped formation of bombing squadrons, and flying at a height of 5,000 feet. At the head of the gigantic squadron flew Maj. Bartholf, and behind him came four formations of ten planes, each arranged in a V shape, one plain forming each point of the V, or rather one plane in front and two back forming the V shape. On the left wing Maj. Ernest Clark led a line of three formations, ten planes in each group. The right wing of the formations was led by Capt. William Alden Smith. Guided by smoke from the leaders, the planes flew in a long procession over the city and passed almost directly over our parsonage and landed at El Segundo, where they replenished their tanks and left for the return trip to the Riverside field at 3 o'clock. The only accident was when the motor of the plane driven by Lieut. Ralph Watson "froze" and he was compelled to volplane into a beet field at Budlong and Sixtieth street, in this city. The descent was made without any damage.

It required 3,000 gallons of gasoline to make the round trip of the 103 planes. It looked as though, if the planes were to drop explosives into the city, as they would had it been a Hun city, there would be nothing left to tell the story.

Ed, it was a wonderful sight, to see these great birds passing over and the reflection of the sun upon their planes and with a humming sound as though a dozen trains were passing by at one time. Untold thousands of people were on housetops, in the streets and front yards, watching the mighty spectacle go by. It had a splendid effect upon our Liberty Loan campaign. There is some talk of peace out here, but no one desires it until the allied armies have had a chance of carrying the battle into Berlin itself, so that the German people may know from experience that "war is hell." Your friend,

WILLIAM M. JEFFERS.

HOW ABOUT YOU AND THE "STAR SPANGLED BANNER"?

"When the Italian children of Tolfa see a Red Cross automobile loaded with supplies coming their way, they sintantaneously sing the "Star Spangled Banner" in their native tongue to relieve their feelings."—News Item.

Well, well! there are some of us, 'tis said, who cannot sing the "Star Spangled Banner" all the way through even in our own tongue. How about you? Everybody stand up. Can you sing the "Star Spangled Banner," last verse and all, without looking at the book?

OPENING LYCEUM COURSE NUMBER POSTPONED

Owing to the general closing order, the first number of the Willoughby Lyceum course, the Cheney Concert Co., has been postponed. This particular number will be given later. The entertainment cannot therefore open until the second number of the series in November.

"Y" CONVENTION POSTPONED

The "Y" convention and banquet planned for Willoughby the 29th, has been indefinitely postponed owing to the flu.

MAPLE GROVE SOLDIER PROMOTED TO CAPTAINCY

All will be pleased to see this picture of a local soldier boy who is doing such splendid service in France. This is Capt. Harold Palmer, who has just been commissioned to that office, having previously been a lieutenant. His bravery has won him two decorations abroad, and his friends and family naturally take great pride in him.

LAKE COUNTY DRY CAMPAIGN OPENS

The Lake county dry campaign opens this week. S. D. Shankland is the county chairman. Due to the unusual conditions, much personal effort will be necessary, due to the fact that no public gatherings will be held. All possible matter will be presented through the newspapers, and particular appeal is made to the man who did not get out and vote last year. His particular attention is called to the ad in this issue which says: "One more vote in each precinct would have made Ohio dry last year."

The committee has opened headquarters over the Interurban station, Painesville, with Rev. N. W. Bates as campaign manager and Mrs. A. E. Hoose in charge of the office. S. S. Wilson is assisting in the advertising campaign.

PUBLIC GATHERINGS POSTPONED FOR ANOTHER WEEK

At a meeting of the Board of Health Tuesday evening it was decided that the churches and schools and the Hiawatha should remain closed for another week with no public gatherings. There was some discussion pro and con at the meeting as to the advisability of the action. However, it was deemed best to not lift the ban on public gatherings, and the closing order will remain in effect it is understood, until one week from this Friday. Local doctors each report some cases which are regarded as the flu, but no increase in cases or epidemic such as reported from some localities.

STRIKE AT AMERICAN CLAY MACHINERY COMPANY SETTLED

Employes To Return To Work

Following several meetings during the week, a meeting of the American Clay Machinery Co. and their employes was held Thursday morning. Labor Commissioner William O. Lider was present, and makes the following statement:

"The men will return to work Monday morning. All terms in question have been agreed upon excepting the wage scale. This matter is held in abeyance until it can be adjusted by the U. S. Labor Commissioner, unless the plant and the men shall arrive at their own agreement in the meantime, in which case Mr. Lider will take no further part. Improved working conditions and the eight hour day stipulation have been agreed to. The management and the men are now in harmony.

EMPLOYES AT AMERICAN CLAY ENTER THE UNION

The employes at the American Clay Machinery Co. organized two weeks ago and have now been accepted as regular members of the union.

DEATH OF MURRAY LOUISE LONG

Little Murray Louise Long, aged 7, daughter of Louie and Minerva Bond Long, died at the home in Deland, Fla., Wednesday, October 16th. The little girl had been at the Bond home in Willoughby all summer, and had been at home only three or four days when she contracted the influenza, which is very prevalent in the South, and died. The child was a great-niece of Mrs. Emma Randall and Mrs. S. S. Wilson. The parents have also been ill with the same disease, but are now recovering. Mrs. Robert Bond and her two children had expected to leave this week, but owing to the epidemic in the South have decided to remain in Willoughby for the present. Bobbie, the other son, went home with his father and is now in Deland.

HONORS PAID TO SOLDIER BOY AT FUNEERAL

Harold Berner Godfrey, Wickliffe soldier boy, whose death occurred at Camp Jackson, S. C. was buried in Willoughby with military honors Tuesday. The funeral was held from the Episcopal Church. James McMahon sang. Soldiers from the Ben Hur post acted as pallbearers and also formed a firing squad of eight, Capt. Moore commanding. Member of the Red Cross and the War Mothers marched. As soon as the quarantine order is lifted, a special memorial service will be given at the Episcopal Church for this soldier boy, to which members of the Red Cross and all others are invited. A gold star will be placed for him upon the Episcopal Service Flag. The young man was from England, and his mother is still living there. While here, he has made his home with James Powell, stop 25½ the main line.

HIAWATHA OFFERS COMPENSATIONS

While the Hiawatha Theater has been closed by order of the Board of Health, the management, Mr. Todd and Mr. McMahon, have thoroughly renovated and fumigated the theater and put in many new improvements.

The lobby has been repainted and re-decorated in a very attractive manner. The front has received a fresh coat of white paint, and in all it presents a neat and attractive appearance. A brand new picture machine, the very best money can buy, has been installed. It is the same model exactly as used in the Stillman Theater in Cleveland.

Somewhat of a novelty and innovation is the new curtain just installed also.

It is made up of myriads of little beads, each about the size of a pin head. Each bead reflects the entire picture, so that you get a composite of thousands of little pictures combined to make the big one. It enhances the value of the picture to a wonderful degree you can almost see the color of the eyes. This is the first theater of this size to install this screen. All that they have put in so far have been in the large city theaters. When the Hiawatha reopens you will see a picture than which there is no better in the world.

STARS ABOUND IN LAKE COUNTY. LIBERTY LOAN PURCHASES TELL THE REASON WHY.

Stars abound in Lake County. Every township and village exceeded its quota for the Liberty Loan. More than $1,565,000 in bonds was purchased. The quota was $780,750. Chairman E. D. Heartwell is an enthusiastic, painstaking leader, and every worker in the county caught the spirit.

MEMBERS OF WICKLIFFE RED CROSS HAVE NEW CONSERVATION PLAN.

The heating of the spacious Red Cross work rooms at Wickliffe requires two furnaces. It has therefore been deemed advisable, as a matter of conservation of coal to close the rooms for six months. The workers will make garments and knit in their homes. Once a month they will meet at the Town Hall, returning the finished and taking out new work. No surgical dressings will be made. Wickliffe doubled its September quota of dressings and then forged ahead and made the quota again. This they are holding in reserve, to be turned in as an October quota. So Wickliffe patriotically went into winter quarters: gives her measure of surgical dressings, heaped up full to overflowing. The first meeting in the Town Hall will be held Friday, November 21st.

FORTY STARS FOR WICKLIFFE'S SERVICE FLAG

Wickliffe has a Service Flag now floating at the Town Hall. The flag was purchased by Mayor Harry Coulby. Members of the Council and the business men purchased the stars. There are forty of them, representing as many boys whom Wickliffe has sent to the service.

STARS INCREASE IN WICKLIFFE'S LIBERTY LOAN FLAG

Wickliffe is now entitled to four stars in its Liberty Loan Flag. They subscribed four times their quota.

GIRLS IN CLEVELAND STORE WEAR MASKS

All the girls employed at the store of Wm. Taylor Son & Co. are wearing "masks." They might be thought to be inmates of a Turkish harem, but it is only on account of the "flu."

GIRLS DO SPLENDID WORK IN RED CROSS EVENING CLASS

Twenty-four girls gathered for the Red Cross evening class Wednesday night. Mrs. Robert Bond has charge of the class. She is delighted with their work, interest and progress. This week the class made 360 2x2 sponges, and they were most beautifully made. There will be another meeting next Wednesday night, when Mrs. Bond will again have the class. She is looking forward to having as large or larger a gathering again at that time.

RED CROSS NOTES

A shower of jellies and jams, "Willoughby made," was sent down to the Ben Hur post by the Red Cross recently. The shower consisted of a quantity sufficient for two meals serving.

All are asked to save all lead and tin, such as collapsible tubes, tinfoil old pewter, etc. Cold cream tubes and like articles should all be kept. Tin cans are not desirable and should not be sent in.

A Red Cross shop will soon be opened in Willoughby. Spinning wheels, hand-made lace, breakfast caps and other desirable articles have already been donated for sale at the shop.

THE SPIRIT OF PROGRESS SAYS: "THESE THINGS MUST GO"

"REVENUE" FROM LIQUOR A GHASTLY JOKE

Talk about camouflage! The saloon crowd originated that when they first put over the old "stall" about the big taxes they pay to Federal, State, County and City governments.

Buy a dollar's worth of drinks and the liquor crowd shells out 3 1-2 cents in taxes. Then it triumphantly shouts: "How on earth would you stay in business if it weren't for us?"

But the thinking man asks: "How have we managed to keep afloat so long under the fearful financial burden that the liquor traffic has laid upon us?"

The saloon costs too much and pays back too little. Experience of taxpayers in Prohibition states shows that it's vastly more economical to cut out the cost of running the liquor business, and pay taxes direct - what few taxes there are to be paid.

What Becomes of Liquor Tax Money?

It vanishes—goes—disappears—swallowed up many, many times over in the operating cost of police courts, in building and keeping up prisons, jails, insane asylums, workhouses and poorhouses—places that would be practically empty but for the grist of crushed, broken bodies and ruined lives that the saloon-mill keeps grinding in.

Taxes go down when liquor goes out.

LEON DARE WRITES OF THE DAILY LIFE OF A STUDENT SOLDIER

The following interesting letter was written by Leon Dare to his mother. We believe this will be of much interest to his former teachers and pupil friends, as well as others who have "soldier students" now at college. Among the latter, in addition to Leon, are Reginald Merrill, John Claire, Alex Phelps, Hugh Bell and Fox, nephew of Dr. Tanner. The boys are attending Case and Reserve. After three months training they are sent to other cantonments. Later we hope to present another letter from Leon, giving further details of the boys' daily life:

October 22nd.

I am now starting on my third week of real living. A fellow does not realize what life is until he joins the army. In the barracks about 500 are college fellows. At the present time, while we are in quarantine, we are having a little easier time, because we have no lessons to prepare. We get up every morning at 6:15, and have a good breakfast; spend the rest of the morning in drilling and setting up exercises.

In the afternoon we go on hikes and practice football. Sometimes we have talks with the Y. M. C. A. man, who is detailed here. But the best thing of all is our picture show. It is the only one running in Cleveland. We sure have got it over on you people in Willoughby in this respect.

In connection with our barracks we have a canteen, where we can buy ice cream, candy, cigars, doughnuts, apples and soft drinks.

We have taken out ten thousand in life insurance.

We had our Liberty Bond drive here and they raised over $46,000 in our barracks. The officers each took out $300. So I have taken out of my pay $10 every month for ten months, and $6.50 every month for insurance. That makes $16.50 out of $30 for every month, leaving me only $13.50 to spend, or only 45 cents a day. Anyway, I will be saving $10 a month until next July, which will be in the form of a $100 Liberty Bond.

Another two weeks of quarantine is the rumor now.

There has only been one death, and seven cases of flu in the barracks—a remarkable record, so the commandant told us yesterday.

Students' Army Training Course.

The S. A. T. C. are expected to furnish the army with 220,000 men by July 1st, 1919. The government is disbursing among the schools $65,000 for instruction and maintenance of the soldier students between October 1st and July 1st, 1919. The average daily cost per student is $1.40. Five hundred colleges now have the S. A. T. C. units. We expect to have war science taught us by Capt. E. W. Minier. He saw service in the Vosges mountains, then came to the U. S., and was instructor at Camp Sheridan, Ala.

We thoroughly enjoy our work. The good fellowship is contagious. There is more uniformity in the college cantonment among the men than in the general cantonments. Our commanding officer has won the heart of all the boys. He is strict in his discipline, but has the good of every fellow at heart.

The Hippodrome outfit is going to entertain us tonight, the entire show and orchestra.

After the quarantine is lifted I can tell you more what our studies will be. Our entire schedule will be changed then. I have seen several Willoughby friends who have called, but it is unsatisfactory talking at a distance, but good to see their familiar faces.

DEATH OF ALBERT M. SLEE

Albert M. Slee died at his home on Third street Sunday morning. Mr. Slee was 53 years old October 6th. He had been connected with the Nickel Plate Railroad since 1886. He had acted as agent up until a few months ago, when his health failed, and he was made telegraph operator at the Willoughby Siding. Mr. Slee was a member of the Masonic and K. of P. orders, and the O. of R. T. The K. of P. lodge conducted the funeral Tuesday, the Rev. H. E. Bright officiating. Interment was in Painesville cemetery, where his father and mother are buried. The immediate family surviving include the sister, Miss Anna E. Slee; a brother, L. W. The Association of American Colleges has undertaken the very interesting task, in co-operation with the United States Bureau of Education and the French Government, of bringing to America French girls to be educated in American colleges and universities. The students, selected on the basis of scholarship, speak English and are ready for college work. The colleges co-operating in this plan are responsible for their college fees, and the French Government pays their traveling expenses to this country.

Two of these girls are now students at Lake Erie College, Germaine Reivere and Lucienne Bis.

Mayenne, France, is the home of Lucienne Bis, and La Ferte Milon was once the home of Germaine Reivere. La-Ferte-Milon, freed finally by the Americans last July, has been twice occupied by German troops, and in 1914 Mademoiselle Reivere and her family had less than half an hour's warning before the entrance of the Huns.

Both girls are normal school graduates, and Mademoiselle Reivere tells with pride of her school of refugee children just back of the lines.

We have installed a brand new picture machine—the best money can buy—the same kind—the Simplex—that the Stillman Theatre in Cleveland uses.

We have also installed a new curtain that is a marvel. It is composed of myriads of small beads, each about the size of a pin head. It makes a picture like an oil painting. When we reopen we will show you a picture that no theatre in the world can beat. That's going some for Willoughby.

LAKE COUNTY MUST SELL $2,000 PER DAY IN WAR SAVINGS STAMPS IF QUOTA IS TO BE REACHED.

Sales Are Far Below Required Amount.

Columbus, O., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—Figured in terms of the amount Lake county must buy War Savings Stamps each day between now and the close of the year, the Ohio War Savings Committee has forwarded to W. J. Carmichael, county chairman, a schedule indicating what is expected of his community if it is to meet its 1918 quota.

This estimate is based on a balance of 110 days remaining in 1918 from September 12th. In this county total cash sales of War Savings Stamps to that date reached $258,479, compared with the county's minimum allotment of $476,700, as fixed by the treasury department.

If Lake county is to secure a place on the state's Victory list of counties that pass the War Savings Stamp quota, sales of these governmental securities from September 12th must average $2,000 for every day. The per capita quota is fixed at $20 by the treasury department. By meeting the daily sales allotment, this county will equal its quota. The per capita sales on September 12th stood at $10.86, compared with the average quota for every person in the county of $14.23.

Apparently the most satisfactory way for this county to meet its quota is through the sale of War Savings Stamps in lots of $1,000, the maximum allowed to an individual by the treasury department. This limit can be taken by individuals, firms or corporations and can apply to every member of a family. During September $1,000 of War Savings Stamps can be purchased for $840.

KEEPING YOUNG

By Dr. Frank Crane.

It is right to be fearful of growing old. Nobody should grow old. We should all be happier if we would remain young.

And the beauty of it is one can be young as long as he pleases. For youth is not a matter of ruddy cheeks and nimble legs, but of the spirit. A grandmother with wrinkled cheeks and white hair can be young as a girl of fifteen.

The things that age the spirit can be fought off by the will.

Fear is ageing. It dries the blood, unstrings the nerves, palsies the thought. Courage keeps the soul young.

Convention makes one old. Constantly looking about us to see what others are doing, and gauging our feelings, opinions and habits by what "they say," gradually takes the sap out of life. A certain amount of conformity is necessary, but we should be careful to keep the reserves of personality free. It is very easy to become smothered and senile under the pressure of fashion.

Want of faith speedily kills the youthfulness in us. The very freshness of the fountain of youth is belief.

Resist the inroads of pessimism. It means the twilight of the soul and the empty night.

Whoever has ceased to wonder has become old. It may be said of him, as of Ephraim, "Gray hairs are here and there upon him, and he knoweth it not." There can be no youthfulness without awe and reverence. The knowing person, the sophisticated person, is simply the prematurely aged. It is mystery and the unknown that constitute the fountain of eternal youth. It is the sky and the stars, the ocean and mountain, and the unplumbed depths of thought that lie around our little island of knowledge; it is this circumambient infinite that feeds youth into the soul."

NEWS FROM WAITE HILL

KIRTLAND GOES OVER THE TOP

Well, again we have reason to be proud of our county, as every town has come forward beautifully in the Fourth Liberty Loan. We've not as yet learned the exact amount that Kirtland went "over the top," but suffice it to say she got there all right. In our last week's letter we stated that P. E. Rice got $1,650 in his territory, but before he finished canvassing he secured subscriptions to the amount of $1,900.

A number of young people from Willoughby were entertained at the Lilly home Sunday evening.

The Silver family were down to Waite Hill Sunday.

Miss Mabel Rice is entertaining her cousin, Miss Doris Warner, from Madison, for a few days.

Mr. M. D. Beall has been feeling quite a little better of late, we're pleased to note.

Mr. and Mrs. John Warner, now of Madison, but formerly of Kirtland road, are surely doing their part to help along the war, as they've furnished three boys for the ranks.

The Pierce children have got the flu, also the Heaths, Barneses, Crawfords and McFarlands.

The nurse that cared for the sick over at Oliver Cox's is now caring for the Barnes family at the Flats.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin and Mrs. Lilley attended the funeral of Mrs. Miner of Mayfield Tuesday.

Clarant Lilley and some friends motored to Niagara Falls Sunday.

Mrs. W. Baldwin visited friends in Perry last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lilley and daughter Sylvia and Mr. Floyd Allen motored to Cleveland Saturday.

I don't believe it was right to lift the ban on gasoline for Sunday motoring or else the good Lord wouldn't have sent the rain and spoiled the roads. We only saw three cars all day Sunday.

I merely said to myself, "I won't call up anyone for news, just put down what comes under my observation," so you'll understand why our letter is short. Now, if people will please call up 157 and give us their news before Monday evening, so that we can write the letter that evening, as we have to send it out Tuesday morning, we'll be much obliged. You see, it's like this: If a number calls up Tuesday morning it makes us kind of rattled, and we're apt to get them all mixed up, besides we're so busy just now, we much rather write evenings.

GOOD CORNBREAD RECIPES

Corn bread continues to be the commanding officer in the battalion devoted to wheat conservation. Wherever you live, one of these good recipes should please you, for the United States Food Administration has picked these from a large collection sent in from north and south.

Cornmeal and flour should be sifted before measuring.

New England Corn Cake.

1 cup cornmeal, 1 cup white flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 egg, 1 1-3 cups milk, 2 tablespoons melted fat, 2 tablespoons syrup. Sift together the dry ingredients. Beat the egg light; add the milk, fat and syrup. Stir into the dry mixture and beat well. Pour into a well-greased, shallow pan and bake 25 to 30 minutes. This corn bread may be made from any kind of cornmeal.

Virginia Pone.

1 cup hot boiled hominy, 2 cups milk, 1-2 cup fat, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup white cornmeal, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 2 eggs, well beaten.

Add the milk and fat to the hominy. Corn and salt, cornmeal and baking powder mixed and sifted together, then the eggs well beaten. Bake in an earthen dish 45 minutes. Serve in the dish cut in triangular pieces.

Any kind of cornmeal may be used for this pone, though white cornmeal made of the whole grain is preferred.

Southern Spoon Bread

1-4 cup fat and cracklings from pork, beef or chicken fat, 3 cups boiling water, 1 cup cornmeal, 2 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon salt.

Add fat and cracklings to water, and when boiling sprinkle in salt and cornmeal, stirring constantly. Cook in a double boiler 1 hour, cool, and add well beaten eggs. Turn into oiled pan and bake in a moderate oven 3-4 of an hour.

When cornmeal made from the whole grain is particularly desirable for this bread. It can be made with northern degerminated cornmeal if it is cooked in a double boiler for an hour.

Southern meal needs only to be scalded.

The family were entertaining callers one afternoon, and while the grown-ups were talking, the baby crept on the floor. Suddenly there was a loud bump and wild wail. It came from the direction of the piano.

The young father had already dashed toward the piano. He dropped on his knees and groped under the piano for his injured offspring. Presently he returned.

FAMILY TROUBLES.

The tramp came to the back door and unfolded a long tale of woe. His wife and six little children had, it appeared, fallen victims to a Gotha bomb, and the shock had so unnerved him, etc.

The woman of the house heard him patiently, but she fixed him all the time with a cold, searching eye.

"My man," she said, when at last she could get an innings, "are you telling me the truth? I have a very good memory for faces, and if I am not mistaken you called here some years ago and told me you had lost your wife and six children in the sinking of the Titanic."

"Yes, marm, that was me," agreed the tramp, unblushingly. "I'm the most unfortunate man ever born. Never could keep a family anyhow."—Tit-Bits.

Thoughts on Nation-Wide Prohibition:

AMERICAN MACHINERY IN RUSSIA

Agricultural tools and machines are needed in Russia to prevent the most terrible famine in history, which she is now facing, according to Sterling H. Bunnell, a New York engineer, who writes on the subject in The American Machinist. To manufacturers of machinery no country offers such opportunities as are now presented by Russia. Besides her need of it for agricultural purposes, she has even now immense quantities of raw material without the equipment to manufacture them. Are we to leave these opportunities for Germany to exploit? She has already begun, and after the war, if the field is left open to her, she will control Russia industrially, whatever treaties may say about political organization and administration. Mr. Bunnell writes:

"Russia is in desperate need of supplies for the civilian population. The necessities begin with clothes and goots and continue with farm and trade tools, mining equipment, railway locomotives and cars, machine tools, and every kind of industrial and factory machinery. The quantities required to refit the population of 170,000,000 will tax our utmost production for several years to come. These things can not be supplied by the Germans until the pressure of war is removed. But if in the interval before our final victory we should refuse to the Russians the supplies which the Germans profess to be ready to furnish, we should find at the close of the war a pro-German sentiment in Russia so strong as to make Russia nothing but a huge extension of Germany, in spite of any power we may then possess to dictate forms of government or annul German-Russian treaties. We might win the war and yet leave the world absolutely powerless to resist German commercial domination supported by Russian coal, oil, metals and agriculture.

"We hear and think much about the importance of export trade and the profit it brings to a nation. The greatest opportunity every offered is now ready for us. Russia possesses even now immense quantities of raw material without the equipment to manufacture them. These materials, comprising hides, flax, bristles, furs, minerals and agricultural products, are at present in the hands of individuals and corporative societies wanting to sell them and buy manufactured goods from abroad. The shortage of these raw materials is acute, and it only needs that working arrangements be made between financial groups in Russia and America in order that these materials may be shipped here and sold for dollars in our markets, and those dollars used to purchase the machinery and supplies needed in Russia. The Russian materials are to be delivered by their owners at seaports, consigned to an American agent. The American machinery and supplies are to be bought with the money received from selling the Russian materials here. The details of the plan are being worked out by those interested, in connection with representatives of machinery and other houses concerned in sales to Russia. Care will, of course, be taken to ship goods only to such parts of Russia as are able to maintain their rights in their purchases and keep them out of German hands and free of military seizure.

"To manufacturers of machinery no country in the world presents such enormous opportunities as the lands of the former Russian Empire. Under the imperial government it was the policy of the ruling class to trade with foreign countries for the major part of the manufactured goods required and pay in grain raised by cheap labor at small cost. The trade was profitable, and the leaders therefore saw no object in improving their own country by education and the introducion of better methods of work. Germany was situated in a position to take full advantage of the opportunity. Most of the machinery bought by Russia came from Germany. Not all, however, was made in Germany; large numbers of American-made machines were bought by German firms and supplied with German trademarks in place of the American names. In many cases when such machines sold well in Russia they were copied in Germany by the German selling agents, who continued to buy a few in America so as to keep the original manufacturers from suspecting that their trade was being stolen. The Russians are, therefore, not unfamiliar with American machine tools and manufacturing equipment, though they suppose much of it to be German.

"While Russian industries are largely undeveloped, and meager and primitive equipment is common, a good deal of the introduction work has already been done, and many proprietors and managers of factories have decided to install modern machinery as soon as they can get it. As these plans are carried out, the newly equipped industries will naturally follow the practises of the nations making machinery. We and our allies must not allow the industries of nearly two hundred million people to be dominated by Germany and directed toward the support of a mighty German-Austrian-Russian empire in that next war which the Prussian leaders openly plan and discuss today."

THE PROMISED LAND

The Anglo-Saxons colonized America for the benefit of the Jews. This, at any rate, has long been the conviction of many an envious anti-Semite.

The Jews colonized the Holy Land for the ultimate benefit of the Anglo-Saxons, but the ultimate beneficiaries, under General Allenby, have arrived rather late. The "vineyards which ye planted not" are yielding only a meagre harvest today.

To many of us in America the Syrian and Mesopotamian campaigns have only a secondary importance. We see their sentimental rather than their strategic significance, and to take shots at the kaiser from Nazareth or the Garden of Eden is long-range marksmanship, the effectiveness of which is not discernible to every eye.

Have we forgotten the boast that came from Berlin when Constantinople became accessible to Germany by alliance with Bulgaria? "An empire extending from the North Sea to the Persian Gulf can never be blockaded," was the pronouncement, but the empire's boundaries are narrower today. If the allies continue their advance in Syria and Mesopotamia they will soon hold a line extending from the Black Sea to the Mediterranean, locking the eastern door of Asia Minor.

Moreover, it has lately been declared by Professor Scott and other grain experts that the Mesopotamian wheat crop can provide abundantly for the allied armies. And since the Garden of Eden is no longer needed to support Adam's immediate family circle, it may as well feed those of his remoter progeny as are worth preserving. It would be a mistake to let any of its produce appease appetites at Potsdam.

Caught Off Guard.

"Did the postman leave any letters, Mary?"

"Nothing but a postcard, ma'am."

"Who is it from, Mary?"

"And do you think I'd read it, ma'am?" asked the girl with an injured air.

"Perhaps not. But anyone who sends me a message on a postcard is either stupid or impertinent."

"You'll excuse me, ma'am," returned the girl, loftily; "but that's a nice way to be talkin' about your own mother."—Boston Transcript.

FIVE HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

Something like five hundred years ago the English parliament actually debated the question:

"Should workingmen be paid wages? If the common people have money of their own to spend, won't they just waste it and become too independent for the good of the empire? Is it not better to house and feed and clothe them? They are but children, and we leaders should take care of them."

A little more than one hundred years ago the American and French people had the audacity to fight for the right to govern themselves, quite regardless of what "leaders of thought" thought about it.

We still discuss "Have not men the right to get drunk and fight on the streets, and scrap in the street cars, and abuse their wives and children?"

We still sort of half believe that to compel a very small majority of men to behave like human beings is interfering with a maxim we call Personal Liberty.

Men are funny animals.

RETRIBUTION AT HOME.

While his mother was away on a visit Johnny didn't say his prayers. Upon his mother's return there was a reckoning.

"Why didn't you say your prayers, John?"

"Well, you see, it was this way, ma: I forgot to say them the first night an nothin' happened. 'N then I didn't say them the next night an' nothin' happened, 'n so I decided I wouldn't ever say 'em again if nothin' never happened."

And then something happened.—Scranton Times.

The COURAGE
to BELIEVE IN the WORTHIEST and BEST

Ideals in life and business are very potent things. We are at war for ideals of liberty and democracy.

Can any man doubt the force of those ideals, or fail to see what they have done for America since she entered the war—in welding our people together; in giving life a loftier meaning and purpose; in wiping out class distinctions, race and religious differences; in teaching us all to live up to the best that is in us?

* * * *

As for American business, there will be a new era after the war. We should all be preparing for it now.

When that stamp "Made in America" goes out over the world, the Government should see that it represents merchandise of honest merit—our worthiest and best. Otherwise it will be traded upon by makers of cheap and inferior goods: it will misrepresent the spirit of American business and of American labor.

America must maintain her quality standards in the eyes of the world. She must proclaim at home and abroad the undoubted economy of buying the best.

More American merchants right now should put behind them the temptation of "seeming cheapness."

In the present difficult conditions, with high costs and shortage of materials, it is plainer than ever that the only true economy is in buying worthy goods.

The House of Kuppenheimer for three generations has held to its belief in quality. As one of the very foremost clothing concerns in the world, it has an organization and buying power surpassed by none; and it places these at the service of all who believe that this is the time to hold high the banner of quality—to maintain standards—and to build for future trade and confidence.

Your Kuppenheimer Merchant represents a National clothes-service, both Military and Civilian, of peculiar advantage to you right now while present stocks are intact

CHICKENS

It isn't only in their amateur truck-gardens that city dwellers are learning to copy us community folks. The imitators naturally lag some distance behind the originals, but it is a fact that in the large towns chicken-raising is now more than an experiment.

Some months ago the Department of Agriculture became alarmed at the speed with which poultry-breeders were killing off their stock. The threatened scarcity of food suggested to the breeders the policy of playing safe while they still had something to sell, but the effect resembled a campaign of extermination.

Accordingly, a number of extension poultry specialists were sent out by the Department, and the crusade which they conducted had the effect of checking the massacre and even encouraging the back-yard chicken-farmer in the big city, who found that his stock could be maintained to a great extent on table scraps.

With the advantages of a community like this it is a positive duty to do better than these city enthusiasts. Recent experiments have gone far toward simplifying chicken-feed problems, and though the majority of us are not farmers, yet there are many in that majority who can find time to do as much as the city-bred bookkeeper—starch, spats, stick-pin and all.

THOROUGH PACKING IS NEEDED IF SILAGE IS TO KEEP WELL.

(Contributed to this paper by Clayton L. Long)

Preservation depends largely upon excluding the air. Cut corn when kernels have passed milk stage and begin to dent. At this period the greatest amount of food material can be obtained and the best quality of silage made. Cutting should produce short lengths.

The cutter should be adjusted to cut the corn in short lengths, with three-fourths of an inch as the maximum length. In general, the finer the fodder is cut the more easily and compactly it can be packed and in consequence the better the quality of the silage.

Thorough Packing Necessary

Too much stress cannot be laid upon the necessity of thoroughly packing the fodder in the silo so as to exclude the air as much as possible. It is upon this one thing that the keeping of the silage largely depends. A device consisting of a jointed pipe, or some variation of it, attached to the top of the blower pipe is at present in use for distributing the cut corn fodder in silo. By the use of this distributor it is possible for one man to scatter the cut corn evenly and at the same time to tramp it. Without the use of this device it is necessary to have at least one extra man in the silo to fork the material over, so that it is evenly packed. Besides the saving of one man's labor, the distributor does away with the man in the silo and also lessens the danger of being struck by some foreign object that may have passed through the blower.

Add Water at Cutting Time

Oftentimes the corn fodder is so dry when it is cut that it is necessary to add water to make up for the deficiency in moisture and provide for the proper packing of the silo. This water is most easily added to the blower, when the corn is being cut, and it is also more thoroughly mixed with the cut material in this way.

For the top layer of the silo it is good practice to use heavy green stalks from which the ears have been removed. This forms a heavy layer that packs well and at the same time contains a smaller amount of food material so that the minimum loss is sustained if it spoils. Various methods and materials have been used for covering the top of the silage to prevent its spoiling. None have given complete satisfaction, but the one mentioned above has given as good results as any, especially when the top layer was thoroughly wet down and packed firmly by tramping. The best practice is to commence feeding as soon as the silo is filled, in which case there will be no loss of silage through decay.

Susan Deibel, who resides at [illegible] Gros Propsdorf, Austria-Hungary, will take notice that Stephen Deibel filed a petition against her in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce, custody of children and relief on the ground of gross neglect of duty and wilful absence for more than three years last past. Said petition is No. [illegible] and will be for hearing on and after November 15, 1918.

Do You Think There is No Competition?

If anyone thinks there is no competition amongst the big packers he ought to go through a day's work with Swift & Company.

Let him begin at the pens when the live stock comes in; let him try to buy a nice bunch of fat steers quietly and at his own price without somebody's bidding against him.

Let him realize the scrupulous care taken at the plant that not one thing is lost or wasted in order that costs may be held to a minimum.

Let him go up into the office where market reports are coming in,—and reports of what other concerns are doing.

Let him watch the director of the Swift Refrigerator fleet, maneuvering it over the face of the country like a fleet of battleships at sea.

Let him take a trip with a Swift & Company salesman and try to sell a few orders of meat.

Let him stay at a branch house for an hour or two and see the retail meat dealers drive their bargains to the last penny as they shop around among the packers' branch houses, the wholesale dealers, and the local packing plants.

And then, when the day is over, let him have half an hour in the accounting department, where he can see for himself on what small profits the business is done. (Less than 4 cents on each dollar of sales.)

If he still thinks there is no competition in the meat business it will be because he wants to think so.

NEW YORK JOURNALIST WRITES INTERESTINGLY OF J. D. ROCKEFELLER

"John D. Rockefeller, Jr., takes after his father in the matter of domesticity," write B. C. Forbes in the course of a recent illumination of the personal sides of some of our "Business Trojans' in the Wall Street Journal. "He is immensely proud of his large family and, like the present J. P. Morgan, finds deeper satisfaction in the tranquil domestic circle than in the seething financial circle," says the Literary Digest.

The writer finds in John D. Rockefeller, Sr., signs of greatness on the domestic side at least equal to his better known genius in oil monopolizing. With rare intimacy and feeling Mr. Forbes presents this picture of the elder Rockefeller as a model husband and father:

"Giving away money is not a thing of today or yesterday with me," John D. Rockefeller once impressed upon me in course of a conversation which brought out how much of a family and home man he has always been. "From the time our children could understand such things we used to discuss regularly at the dinner-table what could be done to help others. All the children were expected to bring suggestions, to tell of opportunities they may have seen or learned of for rendering assistance, or to express any thoughts they might have on the subject. Around our family table we always discussed how best to distribute money for the general good. Very fortunately, the children developed interest in giving away money wisely."

Then he added, very touchingly: 'I count it one of the Lord's greatest blessings to me that my son has become so deeply interested in trying to do good by the means at his command."

Mr Rockafeller at no stage of his career indulged in any of the cantrips the public usually associates with rich men. I do not believe he ever spent an idle evening in a man's club—he was too closely wedded to his home. A glimpse of this phase of Mr. Rockafeller's character can be obtained from the following extremely interesting and self-revealing statement he made to me one day on the golf course:

"People persist in thinking that I was a tremendous worker, always at it early and late, summer and winter. The real truth is that I was what would now be called a 'slacker' after I reached my middle thirties. I used to take long vacations at my Cleveland home every summer and spent my time planting and transplanting trees, building roads, doing landscape gardening, driving hourses, and enjoying myself with my family, keeping in touch with business by private telegraph wire. I never, from the time I first entered an office, let business engross all my time and attention; I always took an active interest in Sunday school and church work, in children, and, if I might say so, in doing little things for friendless and lonely and poor people. I feel sincerely sorry for some of the business men who occasionally come to see me; they have allowed their business affairs to take such complete possession of them that they have no thought for anything else and have no time to really live as rational human beings."

On another occasion I had a unique opportunity to realize the preponderating importance the world's richest man attaches to the domestic side of life. It was at lunch. His grandchildren were there. I was the only outsider present. Mr. Rockefeller began to explain to his grandchildren, ranging from perhaps seven to thirteen years of age (the children of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.), that he had been drawing up his will that morning and the previous day, and he wanted to impress upon them that it all depended upon their conduct whether they would receive anything or not. He did not say one word about any business success they must achieve before being considered fit to entrust with money; he dwelt solely on the imperative necessity for cultivating the plain, homely virtues such as every mother drills into her children. And he explained over and over again that if any of them did not grow up to be exemplary young men, "such as your mother and your father would like to see you," then he had made arrangements to have the money thus forfeited devoted to another purpose which he had expressly named.

The whole incident was impressive and pleasing. It was so free from frills, so unaffected, so thoroughly domestic.

Saving Money

Saving money is easy or difficult according to whether or not one has a definite aim. Most of us require that we have not only a definite aim, but also a "compulsory savings account." We need just a little "compulsion" in order that we put aside each year, and each month, the amount we should save against the day when Age shall reduce our earnings.

No person, except he be wealthy, is fair to himself, and especially to his family, who does not each month and each year lay aside a fair proportion of his earnings.

It is equally necessary that one place his savings where they shall, first of all, be absolutely safe; also where they will increase while they are accumulating. Millions of dollars are saved each year, but unwisely invested and lost. The effort, the denial, even sacrifice is made, but the reward is not gained.

Land is the one absolutely safe investment. Properly located and supplied with the necessary improvements to convert it into a desirable homesite, it will increase in value surely and quickly.

The easy payments on which lots are sold in our WILLOUGHBY - EUCLID AVE. SUB - DIVISION place them within the reach of almost every person or family. They afford an absolutely safe, convenient, "compulsory" savings bank" where deposits will grow rapidly.

These big lots 80x200 at $740 up, ideally located and completely improved, offer an exceptional investment opportunity. It will be to your advantage to act quickly. The time to start, to buy, is now.

Unconditional Surrender For the Kaiser and Booze

LLOYD GEORGE SAID: "WE ARE FIGHTING GERMANY, AUSTRIA AND DRINK. SO FAR AS I CAN SEE THE GREATEST OF THESE IS DRINK."

This Paper is Devoted to the Best Interests of Lake County

The Willoughby Republican

If the saloon could change a man in twenty minutes as it does in twenty years, who would vote for it then?

TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR—NO. 34 WILLOUGHBY, O., NOVEMBER 1, 1918. ONE DOLLAR AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A YEAR IN ADVANCE

NINETY-SIX! THAT'S NO AGE AT ALL

Moses Cleveland Celebrates the Anniversary and Is Younger Than Many at Sixty

Moses Cleveland, Lake county's oldest soldier, was 96 Wednesday. The W. R.C. and the G. A. R. helped him to celebrate the occasion. A splendid dinner and afternoon of general enjoyment was provided at the home of Mrs. Grant Cleveland. Mr. Cleveland is an active figure around Willoughby. He is busy at his woodworking shop every day, and has been engaged lately in making his bread boards, placing the Red Cross emblem in the center. Many of these were sold at the Fair. They are made of wood taken from the old college building. People bring him treasured furniture to be made over, ofttimes into chests.

In spite of his years, Mr. Cleveland's thoughts and activities are of the present. He dwells little upon the past, although his memory is excellent. He is interested in all present-day affairs and has extremely good health.

Like Oliver Wendell Holmes, who wrote of "One of the Boys," he could certainly say, "We're sixty, we're sixty, who says we are more?" "Keep at work and keep pleasant," are two good recipes which Mr. Cleveland recommends as aids to longevity.

CLEVELAND HAS BIRTHDAY

This is what The Press has to say about Moses Cleveland:

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. of Willoughby Wednesday will celebrate the birthday of Moses Cleveland.

That's the Moses Cleveland of Willoughby, not the founder of Cleveland.

The Willoughby Moses Cleveland is 96, one of the oldest men of Lake county, according to the records.

You wouldn't suspect it because Cleveland:

Works daily in his woodturning shop making bread-boards for the Red Cross.

Spends practically all his time outdoors.

Tires out his son when he walks with him.

Reads without glasses.

Cleveland saw the first train run over the New Haven & Hartford Railroad and fought in the Civil War.

He says if the kaiser knows what's good for him he'll abdicate.

BYRON RICHMOND KILLED AT ERIE STREET CROSSING

Byron Richmond, 2109 East 89th street, father of Mrs. Walter Jex, was killed at the Erie street crossing by a passing engine at about 6:30 Tuesday night. He was coming from work at the Barnhisel place, where he had been employed but one day. The body was carried on by the engine to Ashtabula, where it was discovered and placed in the Duroc morgue. Mr. Richmond was 70 years old and had formerly lived on the Plains. He had a son in Nottingham.

John Pelton crossed the tracks at about the time of the accident, waiting for a train going west to pass. He was under the impression that someone was behind him, and after the light engine, which struck Richmond, had passed, went back to see if anyone had been hit. Finding no body, he assumed that a passerby who had turned up the road was the man whom he had thought to be back of him. A foreigner found the hat and overcoat which the man was carrying. A searching party was formed, including Night Officer W. W. Cothrell, who was later informed that the body had been taken off the engine at Ashtabula, where it had been carried. Undertaker Duroc telephoned Marshal Moloney a description, and Moloney then drove around, and learning of Richmond's leaving the David Barnhisel place, completed the identification. Mrs. Jex, whose home is on Cemetery street, in company with Mrs. Richmond, went to Ashtabula Thursday morning to secure the remains.

CAPT. HAROLD PALMER KILLED

Last week the Republican carried the picture and brief writeup of the appointment of Harold Palmer to the office of captain. This week the sad news must be printed of the death of this brave soldier boy. A telegram received by the parents Wednesday stated that Harold had been killed October 3rd. The lad was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Palmer, of Maple Grove, and was a universal favorite.

The news of his death came as a shock and cast a sadness over the entire community. The telegram received reads as follows:

Washington, D. C., 8:13 P. M., Oct. 29.

Mrs. Abbie C. Palmer, Willoughby, Ohio: Deeply regret to inform you that cablegram just recd. states your son, Lieut. Harold T. Palmer, was killed in action October 3rd. Please accept my sincerest and heartfelt sympathy in your bereavement. Body will be interred abroad until termination of hostilities.

Your son nobly gave his life in the service of his country."

C. G. LONG,
Brig. General Marine Corps."

In Memoriam.

Somewhere in France, where duty led,
He fills a patriot grave.
The lark sings high above his head,
Only the lark knows the hallowed bed
Where lies our soldier brave.
Sacred the ground where a soldier sleeps,
Who came at his country's call.
Onward the tide of battle sweeps,
Only the lark o'er his bosom weeps,
Yet he gave to the world his all.

FIRE IN ANDREWS' WOODS COVERS AN ACRE OF BRUSH

Miss Sara Dodd was the means Sunday night of calling attention to a fire in the Andrews woods. She saw the blaze from her window and notified S. D. Shankland, who turned in the alarm. Marshal Moloney, hearing the alarm given by the telephone operator, turned in the general alarm. Excellent and rapid and very commendable work by the firemen prevented any damage to any of the trees. The blaze covered possibly an acre of underbrush. It occurred at about 11:30. A lighted cigar, or remains of a fire built, are supposed to have been the cause.

MANY C., P. & E. EMPLOYES ILL

The service around the C., P. & E. shops at Willoughby has been badly crippled lately, owing to absence of employes, due to illness. H. Barnum, brake inspector, has been home for ten days, as has Mr. Babcock, head car man; Edward Hengst, master mechanic, has been ill for a week, and John Rouchet, general electrician, for two weeks.

WILLOUGHBY MAY HAVE WAR CAMP COMMUNITY SERVICE

Willoughby may soon have the regular War Camp Community Service established here. A representative of the government, Mr. Selekman, of Columbus, was in town Wednesday, taking a survey of the conditions. It is hoped that the service may be established, as it would be a great aid in contributing to the comfort and well-being of the soldiers now stationed in Willoughby, at the Ben Hur post.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS

Correspondence from Wickliffe, East Kirtland, The Plains, and Waite Hill is necessarily omitted from this issue owing to being received too late to be set up. This news will appear in our next issue. The Dry campaign and the Republican campaign, matters in which we know our correspondents and readers are all interested, claimed precedence this week.

LET LAKE COUNTY VOTERS AID IN THE TWO BIG THINGS THAT THE SPIRIT OF PROGRESS SAYS MUST COME

On a page of this issue, appears a ballot. This should be studied by every voter.

If the amendment to the Ohio Constitution, proposed by the Ohio Home Rule Association, passes at the election November 5, and stands, not only the National Prohibition amendment but also the National Suffrage amendment, will be submitted to the voters after ratification by the General Assembly.

We want to abolish the saloons.

They are a menace. Thousands of men do not return to work on a Monday because of them.

They are a disgrace to their neighborhood.

The men who patronize them become a disgrace to their family, their employers and themselves.

Abolish the saloon.

Their best customers, ofttimes the most wretched of individuals, will thank you.

Every employer will thank you.

Every member of every family, who has had the problem to face, will thank you.

WE WANT TO HAVE WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Some say: Some women do not want to vote.

Neither do many men.

Some say: "The women will want to run for office."

If they are capable, efficient, competent, broad minded and well fitted to the office they wish to hold, why not?

If a man had such excellent qualifications, he would undoubtedly be elected.

Every boy and girl should be taught that it is disgraceful not to take an active part in the organization of the ward, city, state and nation. Why should it be the custom for a woman to say:

"I don't know anything about these things."

When the individuals who make the laws, which she has to follow, are being elected; when the same laws are being made, or when they, the women, are paying electric light bills, street car fare, water bills and taxes?

It is because they have had no vital interest in the only thing which would make them familiar with these processes,—Politics.

They hand the business of government over to political parties which in no sense are organizations of the people. Every boy and girl should graduate from the public school as well posted and well drilled in politics as the West Point graduate is equipped for war.

Politics is the unending war of democracy. It requires a citizen soldiery—of men and of women.

Men and women are working hand in hand. Every right-minded man and every right minded woman knows that it is only by this co-operation that any results are accomplished in any work.

Let Lake county voters aid in the two big things that the spirit of progress says must come: Woman Suffrage and the abolishment of the saloon.

Letters from the soldiers, much news and other interesting matter is omitted from this issue. The government prohibits use of extra pages at this time.

Early in the War

Those awful days in Flanders early in the war, when whole British regiments died for want of high-explosive shells, the British saw the wide-open grog-shops full of able-bodied slackers drunkenly deaf to all appeals of patriotism.

England stopped the manufacture of spirits. She took over and closed many saloons, and regulated the hours of others to interfere less with war work.

Drink Blocks Production in Shipyards War-Plants, Shops and Mines

Ohio is a leader in war-production. It turns out ships, shells and munitions; food and clothing; coal and timber; supplies of a thousand kinds. Ask the superintendent of any plant in license territory engaged in war work, what effect liquor is having on his production—get his quick reply—"Booze has my hands tied—I could do 20, 40, 50 per cent more if a lot of my best men weren't away 'sobering up' after paydays, Sundays and holidays.

Get the word of employers in dry Detroit—shipbuilders, motor truck manufacturers, munition plant owners. They will enthuse in the telling of their steady increase in production since May 1st, when Michigan went dry. They will point to a steady decrease in accidents and absence of employes from work—to the wonderful improvement in "shop spirit" and morale, which is just as important as army morale.

WHY THE SALOON SHOULD DIE

By The Rev. H. E. Bright

Because it blights everything it touches.

Because it is death to mental, moral and physical efficiency.

Because it makes the husband a liability rather than an asset; brings a worthy wife to a premature grave through worry and overwork and robs her children of a fair chance in a world full of opportunity.

Because it smothers the laugh of little children; binds heavy burdens on their tender shoulders; denies them the joy of healthy play and hands them over to society withered and wasted wrecks.

Because it converts our food into poison; the poison into blasted manhood; the blasted manhood into the most sinister influence, and diffuses this influence so that society is injured in every part.

Because it stays the progress of our most worthy institutions.

Because it robs the laborer of his wages; destroys his capacity for giving the best that is in him, and grinds his fairest prospects under the juggernaut of distress, degradation, death and damnation.

Because it stifles honest legislation; corrupts and evades our most helpful laws; besmirches our highest patriotism; dishonors our great and glorious flag and in its ravages on an unsuspecting society makes the Beast of Berlin look like a saint in comparison.

Because the kaiser has found in the saloon the best medium for promoting his hell-born propaganda.

Because, like the kaiser, is disregards the truth; ridicules covenants of honor, and is governed only by selfish motives and illicit ambitions.

If you believe this institution should die drive a nail in his coffin by voting dry Nov. 5th, 1918.

THE BIBLE VS. STRONG DRINK

By The Rev. Chas. Hull

"Who hath woe? Who hath sorrow? Who hath contentions? Who hath babblings? Who hath wounds without cause? Who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek mixed wine."

"Wine is a mocker; strong drink is raging, and whoever is deceived thereby is not wise."

If men who lived two thousand years ago knew this much, you ought to know enough to vote dry.

Abraham Lincoln helped the American people free themselves from a slavery which the Bible seems to sanction. Today we all praise his name for our deliverance from a great national evil. Will your children and your children's children be proud of you because you freed the State of Ohio from this evil that is worse than slavery?

Vote dry and make your children proud of you!

Mr. Pearce's mother, of Conneaut, and his sister, who is in government work at Washington, D. C., were at the Pearce home during the illness of the young woman. Burial was at the family lot in Conneaut Sunday. Mr. Pearce has been transferred to Cleveland. He has stored his goods and left for the city.

W. C. T. U. MEETING CALLED OFF

Owing to existing conditions in town there will be no prayer services at the Methodist Church on November 6th, as arranged for by the W. C. T. U. Will every Christian in Willoughby remember this date as a special time of prayer for success to the temperance forces in Ohio and the nation.

Vote It Straight

Democrats would very much like to have the Republicans adjourn politics until after election or indefinitely. A motion to adjourn, by the rules of parliamentary law, is always in order, but such a motion is not now, and never was, in order in the Democratic party. The advice or request, for such an adjournment is the same as would be that of a man who would ask the other fellow to wait until he had secured all the advantage.

The requested "adjournment of politics" is a partisan plan, and suggested by cunning Democrats, instead of being the offspring of any patriotic idea. Just after we first heard of it, we also heard that Secretary Tumulty was getting political "dope" from Chicago, while Governor Cox and his co-workers were laying their plans to carry Ohio, for Cox, and the Democratic Congressional Committee were working like beavers in every district in the country in order to assure a Congress of the same party as the president.

Don't be deceived into believing that the Democratic party will adjourn politics, it will never adjourn while there is a quorum or the donkey has a kick left in him.

Vote it straight, from Willis to the bottom, and adjourn afterwards.

FRUIT PITS OF ALL KINDS AND NUT SHELLS WANTED

Bring Them To Wilson's Store

Government Renews Appeal as Gas Mask Material Fails.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The government needs 1,000,000 pounds of nut shells and fruit stones daily for manufacturing gas mask charcoal, and at present is unable to purchase one-third that amount. This and the failure of the public to co-operate fully by saving and sending in this form of waste from the kitchen, have made it necessary for the chemical warfare headquarters here to renew its appeal.

One million gas masks are waiting in New York for carbon to complete them for shipment overseas. Cleveland should gather between three and four tons of fruit pits and nut shells daily to relieve this emergency. The present average is only 600 pounds a day. Willoughby should be able to send in a large supply. Wilson's store will continue its good work of receiving and taking in the stones and shells.

Loyalty to the War

(Nothing)

Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer

There are dark days ahead for the taxpayer.

Equality in taxation is the only light that will shed a ray of comfort. Equality is the one thing that will make taxpaying a patriotism and a pleasure.

The inequality in taxation under present system is hell. I want to take the hell out of taxation.

The Parrott-Whittemore Law died from a complication of Stupidities. The present law is an economic funeral. Both are remarkable examples of legislative malpractice THAT OUGHT TO BE AN INDICTABLE OFFENSE.

I propose a Taxing system that is as plain and direct as the divine command "Thou shalt not steal." It is 100 per cent honest and 100 per cent efficient. It will be so simple in operation there will be nothing for "experts" to sputter over. It offers no ponderous puzzles for politicians to cackle about. It carries no inflated pretense to hitch a "commission" onto. It cannot be adopted as a political asset. It is simply a crystallization of horse sense, a mobilization of business forces, honesty and efficiency.

I propose a taxing System that will save a million dollars annually in practical operation, will add millions to the duplicate, will lower taxes generally, and WILL SECURE FOR TAXPAYERS A GENUINE ONE PER CENT LIMITATIOIN, instead of the alleged Smith one per cent (15 Mills in reality) limitation.

H. H. TIMBY

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATOR, 24th-26th District
A candidate with a plan and a purpose, one who is always in the first line trenches, battling for economy and efficiency in public affairs and for lower taxes.
Watch your step. Safety first suggests the re-election of Senator Timby.

THE GOVERNOR OF COLORADO SAYS:

Colorado's experience as a dry State has been a most satisfactory one. Those who doubted the wisdom of prohibition are no longer of uncertain conviction, for it was apparent almost from the very day the saloon went out of existence that the general business conditions of the State were bettered. The banks had an increase in deposits, the condition of the laborer and the salaried workman was bettered, suffering in large measure alleviated, and crime lessened.

The facts are there and no longer disputed. Prohibition in Colorado is a success from not only the moral, but likewise the economic governmental viewpoint.

ENQUIRER SAYS WILSON PLEA UNTIMELY

Leading Democratic Newspaper in Ohio Says His Plea Was Also Ill-Advised, if Advice Was Sought.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, the most rabid Democratic newspaper in Ohio, and which has fought every Republican candidate, state and national, says in an editorial in last Sunday's issue:

"Americans On Guard."

"We are strongly, enthusiastically, consistently for the loyal support of the present administration.

"We believe that an honest difference of opinion, represented either by individuals or great political parties, is, has been and always will continue to be the saving grace of this nation.

"We are firmly convinced that when any grave question arises which involves patriotism, selfish partisan feeling will always be swept aside by the American people, as it has been during the war, and a solid front presented to any and every enemy.

"President Wilson's plea for support of the candidates of his party as a pledge of support to himself is ill-timed and ill-advised, if, indeed, advice was asked or received. All America is supporting the administration regardless of politics. We believe that such support will still be accorded the President regardless of the outcome of the election. Whether they are Democrats or Republicans, we believe in placing Americans and Americans only on guard. That is the test that should be applied to every man's candidacy."

We'd like to have your name on our list.

War-Prohibition Good But Not Good ENOUGH

By forbidding the manufacture and sale of liquor during war time, Congress proclaims that drink has slowed down the Nation's war power. The war-prohibition law is not in force yet, but granted that it does go on the books, it still offers no permanent relief. Saloons may reopen the moment the last soldier is mustered out.

We cannot tolerate such a welcome—and such a danger—to our prohibition Army and Navy, whose wonderful manhood is amazing Europe. Nor can any man who admits the value of war-prohibition even think of allowing the saloon to destroy the national efficiency we are building up at home under war conditions.

THE SALOON IS NO FRIEND OF THE SCHOOL

Drink fights education underhandedly—sneakingly, as the submarine attacks great, brave ships.

Take a child with a fair mental "foundation" and the school will create influences that will develop it into a useful citizen. But good minds are handed down from parents who have lived clean and thought clean. The descendants of drinkers tend to slip down—they can't build up so easily.

The school asks for children who have good home care—well fed, properly clothed. The saloon robs children of even those common necessities—sending them out scantily clothed, poorly nourished—handicapped at the start.

Years ago, pupils in the poorer districts of Cleveland couldn't learn well nor remember well. It was found that hundreds of them were coming to school without breakfast.

So the Cleveland Federation of Women's Clubs established kitchens and began serving sustaining food—immediately conditions began to improve.

It was found that, though the fathers were earning good wages, they were in many cases spending so much over the bars that their families were destitute. The abuse did not always end there; some mothers and grandmothers, even, were so addicted to liquor that the children were shamefully neglected.

What do you favor—booze or education?

THE NEEDS OF THE SCHOOLS

By Prof. E. M. Otis.

Within a few weeks the Board of Education will be compelled to borrow upwards of $4,000 to pay existing and binding obligations incurred in financing the schools. For several years it has been necessary to borrow money in this way, and each time a loan is made it is repaid from taxes secured at the next semi-annual apportionment. Each year the amount grows larger until at present more than half of the money levied for the support of the schools the ensuing half year will be used to pay debts incurred in past months. Eventually it will be impossible to borrow in anticipation of our income from taxes, and the school will be forced to shorten its year or dispense with its high school.

The question may be asked, Can the board not secure enough by regular taxation to operate the schools? The statement made in the foregoing paragraph is a partial answer to this question. Obviously they have not, and the reason is that after the state, county, township and sinking funds have received their share of the taxes there is little left for village and schools. At a meeting of the budget commission, held at Painesville, it was found that the Council and Board of Education needed together $40,000 to operate during the next year. The total amount apportioned to them was $28,000, which had to be divided, although the board alone needed nearly that amount.

The board needs approximately the following amounts each year:

Tuition, $14,000.
Maintenance and operation, $7,000.
Bonds and interest, $5,000-$6,000.

Do the schools try to economize? The following statements should indicate that they do:

1. They hire no regular domestic science, drawing, manual training nor physical training teachers. This work is done by regular teachers.
2. They have no athletic coach.
3. The superintendent teaches fully 50 per cent of the time (few schools of the size of Willoughby have this condition).
4. Their average grade salary is not in excess of that in Geneva, Chagrin Falls, Painesville, and other towns of our size, and is less than that found in some of them.
5. The high school salaries are less than those mentioned in 4.

The increased cost of janitor service, fuel and other supplies is more than double what it was when we were housed in the old building, and the tuition is 50 per cent higher. Our increase in taxes has not kept pace with expenses to which we are put in maintaining a new and modern school building.

Lack of space compels us to limit our statement, but we feel that the above reasons are sufficient for a favorable vote at the forthcoming election.

THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

The mission of the country weekly newspaper is many fold. There are country papers good, bad and indifferent. It is generally considered, however, that each one represents its town and community; but it is doubtful if this is always so. The Record believes that most towns take a pride in their newspapers, as well as in other public enterprises.

The country newspaper that confines its news to personal items only is not giving its supporters all they are entitled to, and is but partly performing its mission.

First of all, it should be alert to foster any movement that will be a benefit to the town and community at large, and to merit the patronage of its citizens; it must work hand in hand with the leaders in all improvements, whether they be in the town or the surrounding territory.

The interests of the publisher must be identical with those of every one of the readers of his newspaper.

The village newspaper should be one of the institutions of the community, as is the church or the school, and command the respect of the citizens as the doctor, the minister, or the leading business man should.

We may all fall short, but every country publisher should strive to make his paper come, at least, up to the demands of his constituency.—Tri-County Record, Rushford, Minn.

Here They Are Again

During every wet-and-dry campaign it becomes necessary to take notice of certain wet propaganda and give public answer, much as the U. S. Committee on Public Information publishes its book, "One Hundred German Lies." One advertisement could not possibly answer all the wet "arguments" that steal like "flu" germs from bar to bar. Those given below are merely samples that show the stuff of which a booze campaign is made.

THE SACRAMENT

"What do you say to the proposition that to use wine in the Holy Sacrament or any other religious ceremony is a violation of criminal law? The courts of bone-dry Oklahoma have so held?"—Ohio Home Rule Association letter, Oct. 21.

Last May the Oklahoma Supreme Court reversed the decision of the lower Court. A railroad may carry into the state, and a priest receive, altar wine for purposes of Divine Worship, even though it may be suitable for beverage purposes and intoxicating in its effect. Case 9694, DeHasque vs. A. T. & S. F. Ry:

The proposed amendment to the Ohio constitution specifically permits manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquor for sacramental, medicinal, industrial, scientific or other non-beverage purposes.

SOLDIER VOTE

"Do you regard it as a square deal to vote to change the conditions under which more than 150,000 Ohio citizens absent in the armies in Europe must live when they come back home?" Home Rule letter, Oct. 21.

It is an insult to the Yankee soldier and sailor to insinuate that he is necessarily a boozer who would vote wet if he had the chance. Dry leaders are not afraid of the soldier vote. Last year they aided election authorities in every possible way to secure a complete soldier vote.

On July 2, 1918, the Ohio Dry Federation resolved, "That we declare ourselves in favor of exercising every means to secure to our soldiers in camps the right to vote.

Military authorities held this to be impracticable for soldiers in Europe, but the Cuyahoga County Dry Committee has since reached thousands of Cleveland soldiers with instructions as to registering and voting under the Absent Voters' Law.

TAXES

"If Ohio adopts state-wide prohibition on November 5th, you will have to pay at least twenty-five per cent additional taxes to make up the difference." Tax-Payers' Protective Association letter, Oct. 22.

Kansas reduced its tax rate steadily from 6.5 mills in 1880, the last wet year, to 1.45 mills in 1917, has no public debt, owns $10,000,000 in securities and has current public deposits earning $43,000 a year interest.

West Virginia has reduced its tax 30% in three years of prohibition. Virginia, one year dry, has added $100,000 to the state treasury.

Cuyahoga spends 67% of its tax money, both liquor and direct taxes, keeping up its courts and institutions for correction. At Warrensville, 95% of the inmates were there through drink. At this rate 64% of the county revenue is spent in offsetting the effect of booze. Wiping out the saloon cuts out all the liquor tax and part of your direct tax besides.

"FLU"

Our government is buying large quantities of whiskey and sending it to our bone-dry camps, physicians are prescribing it as never before and the people are using it as a preventative and a cure."—Liberal Advocate, liquor organ.

"There is not a word of truth in the statement that carloads of whiskey are being shipped and used to counteract the epidemic at Camp Sherman. An offer was made to furnish whiskey and was emphatically refused." Major James F. Duvall, Camp Adjutant, Camp Sherman, O.

Maj. Gen. Scott, at Camp Dix, N. J., says whiskey was not used in the camp during the flu epidemic and brands the report as German propaganda.

Capt. W. A. Moffett, Commandant at Great Lakes, said absolutely no whiskey had been used, calling the story an "enemy conceived yarn."

TOBACCO

"When the Ohio voter further considers that there is a militant anti-tobacco organization that would destroy his right to smoke." Wet advertisement, Oct. 28.

Rest easy. The writer of this ad. (a member of the Dry Committee) has his ten-year-old pipe going as he writes these words.

DETROIT 45,000 MEN SHORT

"Detroit is short 45,000 men. Prohibition drove them out."—Wet Bill Board.

Cleveland is short 50,000 men, but the army, not prohibition, has taken them.

REPUBLICAN TICKET

Democratic voters have been told that to vote dry they must vote the straight Republican ticket.

The dry organization is non-partisan. It includes both Democratic and Republican leaders, who will vote their own party ticket. The dry amendment is on a separate ballot which, under the law, must be placed in a separate ballot box. There is no connection between a dry vote and a party vote.

There is no argument for liquor and the saloon that has not again and again been proved false, selfish or actually vicious in time of peace. In time of war every plea for booze is doubly unsound. Meet the issue squarely—go to the polls next Tuesday and vote dry—for truth and victory.

VOTE OHIO DRY

Vote YES on PROHIBITION Nov. 5

CUYAHOGA COUNTY DRY COMMITTEE F. W. RAMSEY, Chairman

THE NATIONAL AMENDMENT WILL BE RATIFIED

Fourteen States have ratified the national prohibition amendment—six of these are wet States, twenty-two other states are required before the amendment can bcome a part of the great national pact.

Nineteen dry States have not yet acted. If all of these accept the amendment it will require favorable action by but three additional wet States.

Seven wet States are to vote on amendments November 5th—California, Florida, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, Ohio and Wyoming. If these State amendments are carried by popular vote, the legislatures being elected at the same time, by the same electors, will be morally certain to accept the popular verdict as an instruction to ratify the national amendment.

THE SIMPLE TRUTH

Country newspapers are urged to save paper by cutting down their exchange list, but the daily papers use more paper telling about a New York millionaire having a fuss with his wife than two or three country papers would use for a whole edition. If all the foolish stuff was cut out of the daily papers there would be no shortage of paper.—Harvard, Neb., Courier.

POSTPONEMENT OF BIG WAR EXHIBIT IN CLEVELAND BRINGS MORE ATTRACTIONS.

The postponement of the opening of the big allied government War Exposition at Cleveland will enable the government to present a show much larger than was originally contemplated. The new dates of the exposition are from November 16 to 24, inclusive.

Because of the change of dates, several car loads of trophies displayed on the Pacific coast will be available for the expo, together with a large display used by the Canadian government in promoting its recent Victory Loan.

It is also probable that other trophise now on their way from France on transports will be added for display in Cleveland. Nearly 2,000,000 persons attended the exposition in Chicago, and it is believed Cleveland and Northern Ohio will be able to surpass this record crowd, as it is aimed to sell 1,500,000 tickets in advance.

Mayor Carmicheal, county chairman War Savings Committee, has the distribution of tickets, etc., in charge locally.

DEATH OF ANTHONY FLYER

A private funeral was held Monday, the Rev. P. B. Schaffner, of Mentor, officiating. Mr Schaffner also officiated at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Flyer, which occurred but a year and four months ago, he having married Miss Jessie Henish, a teacher in the Willoughby schools. Mr. Flyer was in the carpenter business, in partnership with Chas. Cattell. He was well known, well liked, and had numbers of friends all over the village. He was a member of the K. of P. lodge and of the Carpenters' Union. Besides the wife and baby, his immediate family surviving include his mother, Mrs. Jacob Flyer, and a sister and brother, Mrs. Herbert Smith, and Edward Flyer.

WOUNDED WILLOUGHBY BOY, TAKEN TO A HOSPITAL IN FRANCE, IS CARED FOR BY WILLOUGHBY NURSE.

What must have been a most happy and affecting meeting recently occurred in a French hospital, when Llewellyn Barber was injured. A ball passed through his hand while he was in battle, and a piece of shrapnel shell entered his shoulder. He was taken to the hospital, and when his nurse was assigned he found that she was Miss Georgia Morse, a former Willoughby girl.

It would be hard to say which was probably the most pleased, the nurse or the patient. Needless to say Llewellyn expects, as he states in a letter to his home, to get well very quickly.

WINTER COMING? HOW IS THIS? WILLOUGHBY MAN SERVES PEAS FROM GARDEN — ANOTHER PICKS RASPBERRIES.

A TRIBUTE TO THE NOVEMBER FLOWERS

By an Appreciative and Appreciated Local Flower Lover.

Starry flowers of red-rose hue
Bring summer charm to me;
And though November dims the blue
Which flowers look up to see,
A friendly garden sends the bloom
That keeps November from my room.

THE HONORED DEAD

In Memory of Capt Harold Palmer.*
* Killed in action October 3rd, 1918.

Written by Edna Kleinmeyer, Wickliffe, O.

Somewhere in bleeding France he fell.
In No Man's Land 'mid shot and shell.
Somewhere in France he gave his life;
For America's cause he fell in the strife.
Around his grave the cannons boom;
The rocket's glare lights up the gloom.

Over the top his comrades go;
Someone will fall—ah, that they know.
Many, like him, must fall before
The world is free of this great war.
He gave his life, but not in vain;
For the blood he shed helps erase the stain
Of guilt that autocracy spread o'er the world
When the flag of war with joy she unfurled.
He gave his youth and his life's success
That we might live in happiness
He cannot know when the victory is won,
But America honors him, her heroic son.

THE SOLDIERS' LETTERS

The Republican is very glad to have the privilege of presenting in this issue, and a later one, letters from Llewellyn Barber, Maynard Page and John Marble. These letters are so readable and so splendid, they bring the war so vividly before one: they are so brave in spirit, that they cannot fail to arouse in every reader a thrill of pride in the part our local boys are taking in the great war. We also have letters from Meta Cottrell and Georgia Morse. These letters from the "soldier girls" from Willoughby, who are now acting as nurses on the other side, give much information about their part of the work, and are of great interest. Miss Morse is the nurse to whose care Llewellyn Barber fell when injured. He says he is going to get well quickly, and who could doubt it, when he has to aid in that process a "Willoughby nurse"?

Hiawatha Theatre
Telephone 2R

Hurrah! We've voted Ohio dry;
We've almost caught that German guy,
And the darned old Flu's beginning to fly.
Keep your eye on the Hiawatha.

WE'LL OPEN SOON
Watch for announcement of big opening jollification night.

We're all cleaned, painted and fumigated; a new machine and screen. You'll be telling your out-of-town friends what a wonderful theater we have in Willoughby.

And even since this poem was writ,
They say that the kaiser, thank the Lord, has quit.

JOHN MARBLE, TWICE UNDER FIRE, SAYS HE HAS SEEN MOTION PICTURES OF WAR, BUT THEY DO NOT COMPARE WITH THE BATTLES THE BOYS HAVE BEEN IN.

This Is a Great Letter. It Just Makes Us Want to Say: "Hurrah For John" and All the Other Boys Who Are "Over There"

On Active Service, A. E. F.
France, Oct. 10, 1918.

Dear Mother: You do not know how relieved I am to again be able to sit down and write to you again. This letter will be short, for I have not time to write much, but thought I would just have to. When I cannot write, mother, it worries me as much as it does you. It has been a long time since you have heard from me, but we are on the jump. We left the place where we were in the third line trench; it was one day when I was on guard duty when the order came in and in a few hours we went to join the rest of the company, then we took a little hike and spent the night; then we went for the long hike, and it was a hard one, too. Heavy marching order, of course, and it was a forced hike. We stayed at our next place for a couple of days, but while we were there I was so busy again I could not write. Well, we were here until one sunny day the order came to move—did not know where to, but just to go. Over here we never know where we are going to eat our next meal or lay our heads at night. It may be on a plank, the ground, hay straw, or under a wagon, but that don't worry us any, for we are all used to that. This day we went by train, wagons and trucks. We found ourselves at the front ready to take our place in one of the biggest and hardest drives in this war. There are a lot of exciting things that took place before this that I would like to tell you about, but it is impossible; but I am remembering everything, so I can tell you when I get home. One night we were all sleeping peacefully when we were woke up by the roar of guns. Then the top sargeant blew his whistle and gave orders for everyone to get their packs on. That was the start of the big drive. All around us was the roar of the big and small CLEVELAND STREETS CROWDED AS GREAT WAR NEWS IS ANNOUNCED.

The downtown streets of Cleveland were almost impassible Thursday night as the great war victory news became known. Wagons loaded with workers of all kinds, carrying flags and horns, paraded the streets. A holiday spirit and general half-holiday was observed. The greatest news of all times was greted in Willoughby also, by the blowing of whistles and the ringing of bells.

WHY NOT HAVE A MEMORIAL TABLET FOR LOCAL SOLDIER BOYS WHO DIE IN SERVICE?

Why not have a bronze tablet, a tablet of suitable material, made up for the Willoughby and nearby soldiers who have lost their lives in service? It could be erected in the park or placed on the Town Hall. Many towns are not waiting for the close of hostilities before erecting a suitable memorial, but are arranging the tablet with the names of the boys who have already made the supreme sacrifice. If there should be other names later they could be added.

Some solace and comfort also might thus be offered to the parents or relatives of these boys whom Willoughby would in this manner, and without delay, honor.

JOHN MARBLE, TWICE UNDER FIRE, WRITES LETTER HOME

guns. The sky was lit up from the flash of the guns, and off Co. F went with the infantry for the first time over the top. Mother, you cannot picture what a time that was. I have seen motion pictures of war, but they did not compare with this. Our company was the first of the regiment of Engineers to go over the top, and not a man showed any streak of yellow. I have been under fire twice and have come out safe, and, mother, I know it is your prayers that is bringing me through. Where we are going from here I do not know, but the first chance I get I will answer your letters. I have a pocket full to answer. One fellow is all I saw while at the front from home, and that one was Harry Carrol. I did not get a chance to speak to him when he passed me, as I was busy at that moment dodging one of Fritz's shells that I heard coming, and he was hurrying to take his place on the firing line, and mother, the boys chased the Huns ragged; they ran so fast our boys could not catch them. The casualties in our company were very few. I got through safely, and, mother, I never forgot you all during the time we were there.

Will close now. Give my best to my grandmother and all the rest of the family and friends. Tell brother I received his letter at the front, and it did certainly have things in it that cheered me up. Tell him to study hard and I will answer his letter.

Your loving son, JOHN.

WEEKLY CHURCH CALENDAR

HOW TO BUILD A HOUSE.

Your home is not where you lay off your clothes, but where you lay off your cares.

By Dr. Frank Crane.

The walls of a house are not built of wood, brick or stone, but of truth and loyalty.

Unpleasant sounds, the friction of living, the clash of personalities, are not deadened by Persian rugs or polished floors, but by conciliation and self-control.

The curtains that screen the household gods from the eyes of the vulgar and curious are not woven of lace, but of discretion.

The food of the home is not meat and bread, but thoughtfulness and unselfishness, for these keep joy alive.

The real drink is not wine nor water, but love itself, which is the only thing known which is at once a food and an intoxicant.

The bed is not to be of down and white linen, but of a conscience void of offense towards God and towards man.

The lighting is to be not of the sun by day, or by electric bulbs by night, but by loyal affection, shining always in dear eyes, burning always in true hearts.

Your home is not where you lay off your clothes, but where you lay off your cares.

The cellar of your house is not to be filled with apples and rare vintage, but with the memory of sacred intimacies, of little heroisms unknown to the world, of sufferings borne nobly.

In the attic you do not store old trunks and letters and gowns, but you keep there the kisses, sayings and glances that cheered you when you gathered them fresh and are now a sweet sorrow when dried by time.

Your house is your fortress in a warring world, where a woman's hand buckles on your armor at morning, and soothes your fatigue and wounds at night.

The beauty of a house is harmony.
The security of a house is loyalty.
The joy of a house is love.
The plenty of a house is in children.
The rule of a house is service.
The comfort of a house is in contented spirits.
The rats and mice in a house are envy and suspicion.
The maker of a house, of a real human house, is God himself, the same who made the stars and built the world.

LAKE COUNTY LEADS IN FOURTH FEDERAL DISTRICT.—E. D. HEARTWELL, CHAIRMAN, ISSUES PUBLIC APPRECIATION.

October 22nd.

Miss E. D. Bryant, Editor Willoughby Republican, Willoughby, O.

Dear Madam:

May we use your valuable paper as a medium for expressing our thanks to those responsible for the magnificent success of the recent Liberty Loan campaign in Lake County. The campaign closed in a burst of glory, with Lake County showing total subscriptions of $1,600,000 as against an allotted quota of $780,750.

We would be lacking in our sense of duty if we failed to thank especially the district chairmen and their efficient and enthusiastic workers. Every township and sub-district in the county placed subscriptions in the excess of the quota allotted. This was in a very large measure due to these gentlemen.

The clergy also helped to a great extent in urging their parishioners to subscribe for bonds to the full limit of their ability.

Managers of motion picture theaters placed their establishments at the disposal of the executive committee, and splendid results were obtained from the efforts of the four-minute speakers in the theaters.

Too much credit cannot be given the newspapers for their magnificent co-operation with the publicity department of the county committee.

The Boy Scouts, with their usual enthusiasm, turned in hundreds of subscriptions during the last week of the campaign and they fully lived up to the principals of their organization.

From returns at hand it would seem that Lake County again will lead all the 169 counties in the Fourth Federal Reserve District in proportion of over-subscriptions to quota.

This splendid result was only possible through the combined efforts of the people and workers and we ask all to accept the thanks of the undersigned. Very truly yours,

Lake County Liberty Loan Committee.
E. D. HEARTWELL, Chairman.

Dr. Rose Jackson's sister, who visited in Willoughby this summer, passed away at her home in Springfeld. Dr. Jackson has been with her during her illness.

Plumbers' Supplies
and FIXTURES of all kinds are daily becoming more difficult to secure. We call this to your attention, so that any repairs you may need, or new equipment, may be ordered promptly. When necessary to substitute, as often happens now, it is important that you have a good workman, who can be sure that all fixtures and plumbing will work satisfactorily.
We do the work RIGHT, and advise prompt ordering, because, account of the government taking all available stocks for cantonment work, we may soon be unable to secure some plumbing suppliess at all.

NEWS FROM WAITE HILL

Waite Hill, Oct. 28.

This beautiful October weather will soon be a thing of the past.

Ernest [illegible] and family will soon move from the Francis farm to Mentor, stop 48.

A new family has moved into the Lilley house, which was recently sold.

A number of Waite Hill folks recently spent an evening at Mr. Fenton's on the Plains. They were former Waite Hill residents.

Arthur House and family, from the Plains, motored to Waite Hill Sunday and spent the day at his father's.

Mrs. Marian Crary Barber is ill with the flu at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Craig.

F. J. Lilley and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Lilley's brother, Ed Hagar, in Cleveland.

We note by the Republican that Mr. E. D. Billings has purchased a home on Prospect street, Willoughby, and will move the first of November.

The son of Mrs. Maier is very ill with pneumonia as a result of the flu. His two sisters are both ill with it. This terrible epidemic seems to be creeping into almost every home and is playing havoc.

Ernest John and family, of Cleveland were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baldwin.

George Richner and family and Mr. and Mrs. Lamont motored to Wickliffe and spent Tuesday evening at John Pager's, and the same party spent Thursday evening at Mr. Norris' in Mentor.

Mrs. J. J. Lilley was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Garnett, of Schram District, last Tuesday.

Mr. Shank, of Cleveland, has been a visitor at the Baldwin home.

Capt. James McMahon and family were in Painesville one day last week.

The Stoker family entertained a party of friends from Cleveland Sunday, by the name of Barnes. There were three generations of them in the party.

Death of Harold Woodard.

We were saddened to learn through the Cleveland papers of the death of Harold Woodard, son of Bert and Ruby Damon Woodard, former Kirtland people, but now in the West. The paper states he died suddenly but doesn't give particulars. The family has our sympathy.

Miss Parker, sister of Mrs. Hunkins, leaves for California this week. She spent the summer with her sister and family here in Kirtland.

Little Anna Parkherst has been ill and her mother left her duties at Camp Sherman to go and care for her at Pittsburgh, where she is attending boarding school. Mr. Parkherst was down from the city to his farm Sunday.

Miss Berrie Duncan was a guest of her parents Tuesday.

Mrs. Duncan receives letters from her son that is overseas, every 3 or 4 weeks and answers all his letters, but he never gets them at all. He says he is in the best of health and spirits.

Mrs. Stokes received a letter today from her son George, who is in California, telling of the son of Frank Briggs being in France. The Briggs family formerly lived in this neighborhood. Time flies so fast one can hardly believe he had a son old enough to enter the service. It will be remembered that George Stokes went with their family to California.

Mrs. Edna Burt and two children, from Chesterland, spent Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. D. Rockafellow. Mrs. Rockafellow received a card Saturday from her son Howell, who is overseas, saying he was all O. K.

Dave Waite and family have moved into the Gilbert Smith house.

The Kile, Van Lake and Reinhart families have moved from the John Sherwin farm to Willoughby.

Mr. Barber, wife and baby are all ill with the flu. Mr. W. P. Crawford is also down with it over a week, but is on the mend. His two children have also had it, but are up and around again.

Sunday that big balloon passed over here, going in the direction of Painesville, and Saturday week ago that big army aeroplane went over here and seemed quite near and made a thundering noise. Oh, yes, we see some things here if we are in the country.

Yes, Willoughby Is the Place.

The Hobart family were in Painesville Saturday. In fact, we've been out there five consecutive Saturdays. One might think there must be some great attraction there, but you know, "it's the prettiest little city," but really it might be made prettier if they'd clean the streets as our Willoughby folks do. Now, from the looks last Saturday, I don't believe there had been a "broom or mop" near them in several months, as they look the same every time we've been there. Now, that's the only fault I have to find with the "prettiest little city." But then, don't take any pride in what I say.

Waite Hill, Nov. 4th.

Republican All the Way Through

Well, election comes off tomorrow. We hope everybody will vote dry and vote the Republican ticket, as no other will do for us. I am Republican to the backbone, and why shouldn't I be, as my parents and grandparents on both sides of the house, and all my ancestors as far back as I can learn were staunch Republicans. And of course I want our party to win. And I also hope we'll have a Republican president in the chair next time. We imagine we can see the end of the war very soon, at least we hope so. I think if the Kaiser is wise he'll abdicate, and that very soon, too.

Death of Anthony Flyer

This community was saddened to hear of the death of Anthony Flyer, which occurred Saturday night at his home on Second street, Willoughby, he only having been ill three days with the flu. Anthony had many warm friends here on Waite Hill and vicinity who will deeply regret his untimely death. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and young son, a widowed mother, and sister and brother, besides many other relatives and a host of friends. They have our heartfelt sympathy. Anthony was a carpenter by trade and was a fine workman, and had spent a great deal of his time building here on Waite Hill for several years past.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Palmer have received a letter from their son, Leon, who is in France in the motor transportation department.

Mrs. J. J. Lilley spent Thursday with Mrs. Raymond Francis, of Willoughby.

Friday Mrs. Francis went to Cleveland to consult Drs. Tanner and Hammond in regard to another operation, but found it necessary to wait a few days longer.

Mrs. Benes and son were out to their country home several days the past week.

Miss Bessie Duncan was a guest of her parents Wednesday.

Parkhurst Has Government Position

Mr. F. A. Parkherst has a government position in Washington for the period of the war.

The change in the weather is making people hustle in digging their "murphys."

J. J. Lilley was making daily trips to Cleveland last week to have Dr. Tanner dress a carbuncle on his arm.

Mrs. W. R. Crancy and daughter are ill with the flu and were taken to the Painesville Hospital last week. Dr. Chesbro took the baby home with her while the mother is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Parkhurst were out to their country home Tuesday.

Talk about the high price of butter when cows sell for such fabulous prices. Why, at the Otis cattle sale the Shorthorns sold all the way from $500 to $5,000, and with feed 'way up to "G," butter necessarily would have to bring a fancy price or else people would have to quit making it.

Wedding of Miss Gill

Miss Luella Gill, of the Matthew Smith store, Willoughby, sister of Mrs. Wm. Rayser, was married November 2nd to Mr. John M. Thomas, of New Philadelphia at the home of Mrs. Lipton, an aunt, at the Moore farm, in Mentor. There were six attendants. Little Chas. Rayser was one of them.

News of the Week in Mentor

Mrs. Markell, who is carrying mail on Route No. 1, had the misfortune to run off the bridge at the curve where there have been so many accidents. If the machine had not been stopped by the wire fence it would have turned turtle and injured or killed Mrs. Markell. The road was muddy and no guard rails. Mrs. Markell certainly is plucky. After borrowing some dry clothing and a machine she finished the route and has been on the job every day since then Mr. Markell was drafted for government work in Willoughby, so Mrs. Markell has taken his place.

Mr. Frank Stockwell is sick. Reported that he has the flu.

The Mentor Plains C. W. B. M. was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Hayes the first of November. Everyone had a very pleasant time. Next meeting at the home of Mrs. Jennie French. Hope all of the ladies will be present, as the fall work will be pretty well over by then.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunnell, of the Whitney place, are moving to Willoughby this week. We will surely miss them from our neighborhood.

Charlie Scott and family have moved into the old Proudfoot house.

Oscar Parker's wife died from flu in Cleveland last week.

Little Homer Tyler had his broken arm set last Friday and is having very little pain. Mrs. Tyler and baby are both doing fine.

Now that Salida Beach road is well graveled, maybe we will get some of the main roads we use this winter. Unless we do, we will not be able to get even a horse to Mentor if we have an open winter, or next spring if it freezes up like last winter, and then when the thaw comes— — —. From Perry's to Eleazer Parke's the roads have not had a thing done to them but scarped once or twice when they were hard and dry. The big truck hauling logs every day does not improve them either. Give us some good gravel, not a half bushel in each rut hole, but some good graveled roads. There is plenty of money yet, so why not?

Walter Keary, who enlisted in the motor transport, is expecting a call to training camp any day now.

HOME MADE DOUGHNUTS AND PIE TASTE BETTER THAN ALL THE FANCY COOKIES IN FRANCE, SAYS LLEWELLYN BARBOUR IN LETTER TO HIS HOME

September 28th.

Dear Mother:

Well, I received your letter of the 22nd of last month. I can easily imagine that there would be many rumors as to our whereabouts, none of which are very near the truth. All I can say is that we have been up to the front, in a quiet sector, once. Believe me, I will have many a story to tell of instances that have happened which I can't mention while I am over here.

Perhaps you would like to know what I have met with in the line of "Y's" and so forth. It isn't very hard to get enough tobacco to keep going along, because "Y's," Red Cross stations, Salvation Army stations and government commissaries are within easy reach wherever a large number of troops have been billeted. Candy is almost impossible to obtain, excepting when the commissiary happens to occasionally have a small supply. Tobacco is a regular issue in the army, so that we manage to get along fairly well. Above all, the Salvation Army huts are not to be despised. They bake pies and fry doughnuts, just exactly like mother used to make them, and sell them at a low price. I think I paid something like 2 francs ((38 cents) a dozen for doughnuts, and 1 franc for a half of an apple pie. Not very much to eat, but they were homemade and tasted better than all the fancy cookies and candies there are in France. That is what the Salvation Army does for us; it keeps the boys cheerful by giving them a little taste of home cooking whenever they want it.

Eggs are awfully high priced in France. They cost 90 cents a dozen at present. When pay day came I decided to buy a good feed, but after I French fried potatoes and a good-sized beefsteak my pay was mighty near finished, too. Rather expensive to buy a feed in France, but a fellow has to occasionally break away from army hash.

Just tell me the news, and that is all you have to do. I'll be satisfied.

Well, time for noon mess, so I will have to close. With love,

META COTTRELL WRITES FROM "SOMEWHERE ON THE OCEAN"

Somewhere On the Ocean.

Dear Everybody:

Haven't felt that I could spare the time before to write letters, but we are nearing the end of our wonderful journey and feel as if I had to say a few words. We are all wondering now how we can all separate when we land, for we sure have had a great trip; nice weather; nice people; a good band; a good orchestra and plenty of singing. Would love to tell you all about it, but it can't be done. All that I can say is that we were very comfortable, with good food and lots of it. I had a fine companion. She had been married; is a widow; was educated in music, etc., in France; speaks all the languages very well; has traveled all her life, and she has been fine to me.

Of course, you said you wouldn't believe me, but I really haven't had time to be sick; the first day I felt a little shaky, but since then I haven't been bothered. It has been pretty rough, and the last few days very cold and damp; but we were very thankful, for when we were in the gulf stream it was hard to get any sleep, with all the port holes and windows barred shut; too much light for the submarines if they were open, but we had a good moon for a few nights.

We have a boat drill every day, and everybody knows exactly what he is to do if anything does happen; and we have a good party of Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. folks, about sixty in number, but we don't all go together. we never have our life belts more than an inch away from us all the time. It certainly is funny, but we are so used to it now that if we see anyone without his we send him right back for it, no matter who it is.

We have had very few sick, and none for any length of time.

Have found two from Ohio, and a boy from Indiana, who went to Perdue College; knows Waldo Sexton and Ed Ronntag very well.

Just finished my second sock this p. m. Give my love to verybody, and tell them they hadn't better miss it.

JIMMIE.

LEAVES ARE VALUABLE FOR FERTILIZING

Because of their value as a fertilizer the county agent recommends that leaves be placed on garden and truck soil rather than allowed to be washed away or burned. Based on the prices now demanded for fertilizers, 100 pounds of leaves contain fertilizing elements which would cost 56 cents if purchased in chemical fertilizers.

While leaf ash is also valuable as a fertilizer, the nitrogen in the leaves is lost when they are burned; more than one-half of their fertilizing value is represented by this element, which in the form of nitrate of soda sells for 35 cents a pound. Practically all the fertilizing compounds are quickly leached into the soil when the leaves are spread over the garden, thus reducing the chance for plant food lost as compared with burning and spreading the ash over the ground.

Gardeners who may be able to purchase or secure leaves by the wagon load from city streets are recommended to reinforce the leaves with further addition of acid phosphate, as the nitrogen and potash are never fully utilized by the crop unless used in connection with a still larger proportion of phosphorus than found in ashes or decaying matter of any kind.

CLAYTON L. LONG,
County Agent.

GENERAL "JACK" PERSHING FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

Without the consent of any political party, this newspaper now nominates Gen. "Jack" Pershing for the Presidency of the United States of America, in token of his military leadership which resulted in whipping to a standstill the unspeakable Kaiser of Germany.

WHERE IT HELPS

Do you think early rising is good for your health?" asked the languid city visitor.

"I don't know about my health," replied Farmer Cobbles, "but next to sun, rain, and fertilizer, it's the best thing there is for crops."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Don Marquis, the sweet singer of the New York Sun, declares that he has printed so many contributions in his column sending the Kaiser to hell during the last four years that he feels almost like apologizing to hell.

How long ago—rather, how short a time ago—was it that the kaiser boasted, "Considering myself the instrument of the Lord, without heeding the views and the opinions of the day, I go my way."

RECIPE FOR SUCCESS

To each pound of your invested capital, add several ounces of good bookkeeping, a generous quantity of service, a goodly portion of advertising, and a great big dash of enthusiasm. Then stir.

Don't leave any of these ingredients out and be sure not to forget the enthusiasm. Enthusiasm is the high flavor that makes the business tasty. It is the music and laughter at the banquet. Without it nothing in the world would seem worth while.—The Popular Storekeeper.

HAVE PATIENCE

The general tone of President Wilson's replies to the German overtures have caused a slight disappointment in certain circles both here and abroad. The subject of reparation seems to have been carefully left out, and its absence invests the messages with a mildness which has exposed our attitude as a nation to the criticism of the over-zealous.

These critics have overlooked the real nature of the German proposals. They were a carefully prepared but fairly obvious snare.

The Prussan diplomat hoped for one of two alternatives; the President would either demand reparation to the last penny, or he would agree to an armistice. If he did the former the German government could easily interpret the reply to the masses as a proof of allied rapacity; they could quote the stupendous figures tabulating the Belgian and Serbian indemnities, and with a very little verbal jugglery convince their following that their only hope lay in fighting to the last cartriddge. Such an answer would solidify the half disintegrated elements in German politics.

If the president agreed to an armistice it would not only estrange France and England from us but it would give Germany the respite she needed to establish new lines of defence. Deported French and Belgian captives digging her trenches and making her munitions could be sweated for many weeks while plenipotentaries asked freak riddles across a table.

Instead the President has aimed at discrediting the German high command and the oligarchy of Potsdam. The populace are invited to forsake the guidance which gives them military power while it keeps them in quasi-servitude. They are not threatened with indemnities—just yet.

But we need not concern ourselves with the question of reparation. Though it is not raised just now there is no doubt about its introduction at the conference. Belgian plenipotentiaries will be there. French representatives—with long memories—will present a few exercises in scientific bookkeeping. Your Uncle Sam will also find time to rake up a few bygones, and the passenger list of the Lusitania will not be the only document in his portfolio.

Germany may have a place at the conference table—or under—but she will do most of the listening.

FILES ARE HISTORICAL RECORDS

"Bound files of the local weekly papers should be preserved in every public library as invaluable records of local history," said Prof. Willard G Bleyer of the Department of Journalism of the University of Wisconsin in addressing the Wisconsin Library school recently.

"Unless bound files of local papers are kept in the public library these important records are not likely to be preserved, as thru changes in ownership and by fires in newspaper plants the files kept by the newspapers are often lost to the community.

"Altho most newspaper publishers are willing to donate copies of their papers to public libraries, there is no good reason why a library should not subscribe and pay for these copies just as it does for books and magazines. A librarian has no more right to ask a newspaper publisher to give his paper free of charge than she has to ask book publishers to contribute their books to the library.—National Printer-Journalist.

The secret of good store service is to make the store so useful that the people feel that they cannot get along without it. The merchant who has the right idea of service will be highly elated when a customer calls him on the phone and asks to have some little service rendered.

Those who are idle, selfish or even indifferent are aliens—alien to American interest.

SWIFT & COMPANY U.S.A.

No Mystery in Meat

Some things are so simple that they have to be explained again and again. When things are obvious, people keep looking for mysteries behind them.

So it is with the packing business. The mere size of Swift & Company confuses many. Because their imaginations are not geared up to scale, they believe there must be magic in it somewhere—some weird power.

Swift & Company is just like any other manufacturing business run by human beings like yourself; it takes in raw material on the one hand and turns out a finished product on the other.

Swift & Company keeps down the "spread," or the expense absorbed between raw and finished material, to as low a figure as possible. (If it didn't it would be put out of business by others who do.)

How much Swift & Company pays for the raw material, and how much it gets for the finished product, depends upon conditions which Swift & Company does not control.

It depends entirely upon how much people want the finished product, and how much raw material there is available to make it from.

The profits of Swift & Company amount to less than one cent per pound on all meats and by-products—less than one-fourth of a cent on beef.

Cold, Damp Houses Bring Sickness

Lowered vitality is an invitation to sickness. When your power of resistence is low, you are an easy victim to any disease germ that may be near.

Raw, chilly autumn days lower vitality and breed colds that often develop into serious illness.

See that your home is well ventilated Make sure that the air is warm, dry and at an even temperature in all rooms.

Keep a small gas fire going—it's good health insurance on these raw days.

Also be sure to have an auxiliary heating appliance and a supply of coal, so that you can keep your home comfortable when the blizzard days of winter come.

COMPARE the PRICE of GOOD CLOTHES with the HIGH COST of CHEAP CLOTHING

It costs a merchant just as much to sell you a poor suit of clothes as a good one.

The transportation cost is just as high from the mill to the maker, and from the maker to the merchant's store. The mill overhead and labor cost of weaving poor material may very well be as great as with better goods.

When it comes to cutting and making a cheap suit of clothes the price of the work is out of all proportion to the material.

You may pay less for a poor suit—but you do not get anything like the same value for what you pay.

These are some of the things that create the notoriously high cost of cheap clothing.

* * * *

If the motto that "The Best is the Cheapest" holds good in ordinary times it is doubly true today. Poor clothing is relatively so much higher in price than good clothing that it pays an economical man to buy the best and less of it.

That is why a timid clothing dealer, afraid to meet his customer with the facts, is rendering a poor service. Knowing that costs everywhere are high he turns to a lower standard of merchandise; he eases over the moment of sale, but fails to consider the day of reckoning with his customer.

A man forgets the price he paid, but the clothes are in evidence: clear testimony to quality—or the lack of it.

The House of Kuppenheimer has always maintained its standards. Its chief effort in these times is to produce the best merchandise available and to render service and support to those retail clothing merchants throughout America who share its faith in quality.

Your Kuppenheimer Merchant represents a National clothes-service, both Military and Civilian, of peculiar advantage to you right now while present stocks are intact

Let Your Dollars Be Patriots!

THIS war is a test of a democratic Government. It is also a trial of democracy as to its fitness to survive. A small group of autocrats within whose hands are the resources of Central Europe are attacking the principle of the right of people to govern themselves. Should the United States and its allies fail in this war there will not remain on earth a people absolutely independent of the dictation of the Teutonic empires, organized for military efficiency and bent on using that efficiency for the purpose of forcing their will upon the world. Let the Teutons triumph and the world will not be a safe place for democracy, and to make it such a safe place, is not only the expressed purpose of the United States in taking up the challenge of the Huns, but also the purpose of the other powers who took up the challenge when Germany sent it forth three years and a half ago, and who for three years and a half have borne the burden of the conflict.

For this reason the PRESENT BUSINESS OF THE UNITED STATES IS WAR—war to exterminate organized unrighteousness and to establish peace among the nations of the world.

The Government has perfected a plan which will enable all of our people without exception, to take a definite part in winning the war.

One of the first great steps called for by the Government is—SAVING. The American people must cease to require all of the pleasant and comfortable luxuries which they consumed before the war, the production of which calls for the energy of millions of men and women. These men and women must devote themselves to the production of the things which are needed to win the war. This is the key to the present situation; it rests in the hands of the average man, woman and child in every state in the Union, by refraining from everything not absolutely necessary to health, and efficiency, to release strong arms for the production of materials of war to support our army and navy.

Idle dollars are SLACKER dollars, but dollars spent for unnecessary articles, the production of which require labor and materials which the government needs to save the lives of our fighting men, are TRAITOR dollars.

MAYNARD PAGE, IN BIG OFFENSIVE, SAYS THE EXPERIENCE IS GREATEST OF HIS LIFE

Finds Germans in Concrete Dugouts, Fitted Up With Stores and Electric Lights.—Meets Willoughby Boys

On Active Service with the American Expeditionary Force, Oct. 7, 1918.

Dear Mother and Home Folks:

I haven't written for about two or three weeks, but this is the first time I have had a chance in that time. This is the first rest I have had in a long time. We just returned from a big drive. It was the least of our thoughts that we would be ordered in so soon. All of a sudden we were moved out and head of a big offensive. It was the greatest experience of my life. I wouldn't have missed it for the world, even though it was hard. You can get a good idea how we were rushed when our faces were not washed for the first four or five days after we started. We followed the infantry "over the top" early in the morning after the barrage had moved forward. As we went we repaired roads, in some places made one. Over No Man's Land there were no roads at all. After going back farther, though, the roads were better but needed continual repairing. This was our work, keeping up the roads, and it was some job. The whole success of a drive hinges back on the roads for the artillery, and supplies have to be brought up. We went far enough into enemy territory to make a good hike when we came back. I don't know how many miles it was, I am sure.

I could have picked up many German souvnirs, such as helmets, belts, etc., but decided I had enough to carry. I brought back enough remembrances to last me the rest of my life without a lot of junk. The Germans had everything fixed up back of the lines as if they thought they would always stay there. They lived in fine dugouts, built for the most part out of concrete, reinforced with iron, fitted out with stoves and electric lights.

All the country we took is worthless. It is just as it was when first taken back in 1915. Can you imagine mile after mile of gently rolling country, just one network of trenches, shell-holes, dugouts, overgrown with weeds, with here and there an old stub of a tree standing up as a landmark? I never imagined there could be such a place in the world. The villages are just piles of stones and not even that in some places, for the stones have been used on the roads.

Clarence Tyte has gone to the dentist and I told him to make a date with the dentist for me. I need a lot of work done, as eating hardtack is very hard on the teeth. I have seen all the boys I know in the 145th, Carl Roberts, Harry Ohm and the rest.

We have heard rumors of peace with the central powers, but I do not think it will come this fall.

Will close sending love to all.

CORP. MAYNARD PAGE,
Co. F, 112th Regiment.

A GRENADE TESTER

An exhaustive test of grenades, says Rudolf C. Lang, in The American Machinist (New York), must be made before adopting any specific type, and even after one has been passed on it is tried from time to time to insure a uniform product. He goes on:

"The usual procedure in testing these grenades is first for penetration; secondly for distribution of fragments and last, if both the former warrant further investigation, the jolt test.

"A steel chamber, approximately 10 feet square, 15 feet high, with wall 12 inches thick and a square opening on top used as a vent for the gases that have been developed, is employed. A narrow door opening from a short passage way leading from the chamber completes the entire structure which is anchored on a heavy reinforced concrete foundation; covering the entire interior is a layer of heavy coarse wood, over which are placed large sheets of paper. These sheets are renewed after each test as the following will explain. The reason for all these is to ascertain the true fraction, both as to the number of pieces or slugs, as well as their scattering effect. The penetration is then clearly seen in the wooden lining which also prevents the pieces or slugs from rebounding through the paper on which the scattering effect is clearly shown. When the grenades have thus far proved satisfactory they are submitted to a jolt test, which is nothing more than putting a few of them in a box to which is fastened at one end a long pole. The examiner then places himself behind a barricade and grasps the other end of the pole, which passes through a small aperture in the barricade. He then shakes the box vigorously, subjecting the grenades to a severe jolting not only against the wood, but also against one another. When he has shaken them in this manner about a dozen times they are then passed as safe for delivery

YANKEE TRUCK DRIVER "BUSTS" A PRUSSIAN OFFICER

A Yankee truck-driver and a Prussian officer clashed back of the Chateau-Thierry front, as runs the authentic report of a returned American officer, and when the clash was over the Yankee truck-driver had found a way to remove from the Prussian officer the arrogance for which all Prussian officers are justly famous.

The tale was relayed from the front to Camp Dix, N. J., and thence to the New York Sun, which repeats it thus:

After depositing supplies and ammunition at the front, the big army trucks were filled with German prisoners who were to be taken to the rear. A German captain, member of a famous Prussian regiment, was among the detail of prisoners assigned to ride in the truck of which this particular driver had charge. The Boches had filled the body of the car when the driver noticed that the captain had not joined them.

"Climb in there!" he ordered.

"Look at my uniform! Don't you recognize that I'm a captain? You don't expect me to ride with them?" he said in perfect English, indicating his erstwhile soldiers, as if they were so many caged dogs. Then he demanded a place on the driver's seat where there were already two slightly wounded American soldiers waiting to get back to dressing-stations.

"Nothing doing! I'm particular about my company! Get in with your gang and be quick about it!" said the Yankee.

"Throw off those American swine and make room for me on that front seat!" ordered the Prussian. "I'm a captain and——"

He got no further. The driver slid a grimy fist into his pocket and whipt out a big penknife, while the other hand shot out, gript the Prussian by the collar, and a powerful arm jerked him from the ground as if he had been a child.

"Captain, eh? Well, we won't let that worry you long! See here!" And as he spoke the hand with the knife deftly clipped the insignia from the officer's shoulders.

"You're busted!" he said. "You're a private now! Get back in the ranks with the rest of them!" And he dropt the sputtering Prussian into the back of the truck among the other prisoners.

And now suffragists are picketing the Senate. President Wilson doubtless offers the Senators his heartfelt condolences.

WHAT ABOUT THE FUTURE?

The greatest minds of the business world are positively agreed on certain things. We are now contending with conditions which are without precedent and the future will be different. There is no avoiding this, many standards that have been in vogue for centuries will be no more. The business man must prepare to meet new conditions.

The thing about which now to decide is, what is likely to be his conditions when this war terminates. It will terminate and victoriously for America. You can't simply hold on, you must either go ahead, or sink into oblivion. This country will be here when the war is over, doing business on a bigger scale, hundreds of opportunities will be at hand for those who are in position to take advantage of them.

The man who sits back and rests upon his laurels at the present time will not be in a favorable position. The man who thinks he can let his business go for the period of the war will realize that he has a corpse on his hands when the war ends.

The man who thinks he can hold the good-will of his trade without keeping up the fire of his advertising all thru the contest will learn what a mistake he has made, because people have other things to remember, and new ideas are being thrust upon them every day.

Look about you, watch what is being done, and you will see it is very evident that the greatest business minds have come to the conclusion that this is the time to push their business, and they are pushing their business structure to completion by means of publicity.

To him who advertises now, with a legitimate proposition, the future is assured.—Business Chat.

LITTLE INCIDENTS THAT SHOWED THE SPIRIT OF THE BIG DAY IN WILLOUGHBY

One of the most enthusiastic marchers in the parade was Mrs. T. H. Burr. Mrs. Burr's father served as a surgeon in the 103rd regiment, in the Civil War, and she has a portion of the silk flag which they carried all through the war. Mrs. Burr was an enthusiastic worker when the boys went out in '61. They didn't have any surgical dressings or absorbent cotton in those days. They had no organized Red Cross. But the girls worked just the same. They scraped lint, for one thing, using old table linen or old sheeting to get the lint. They rolled bandages, too. Victory Day recalled many of these reminiscences to Mrs. Burr's mind.

George Gilmore hod his truck loaded with "kaiser hunters." They had caught the kaiser, too, and had him suspended from a gallows.

Another auto truck dashed through town with the kaiser dragging behind.

Mrs. A. K. Carrel had made a German flag—she said she couldn't buy one—and dragged it through the dust the entire distance of the parade.

George F. Manville had the kaiser in his hearse and rode him all through the parade. He said it was the first funeral he had ever conducted where they laughed at the corpse.

A. B. Frost had a German flag in his drug store. Everybody wiped their feet on it.

The Victory Bell hung up in front of the Hiawatha Theater by Jas. A. McMahon, was rung so long and vigorously that the girl in 'Central sent word over to stop the bell—they could not hear the calls. Word was sent back to close the exchange up—and the bell continued to be rung until it was finally cracked by some enthusiastic ringer. We think it was L. R. Adams.

Little "Billy" Morgan was on hand early with his drum, waiting, he said, for the rest of the band.

Jas. Moloney was everywhere, it seemed, doing just the little things that were so needed.

* * *

Geo. Rockafellow started thing rolling early in the morning for a bonfire at night. E. P. Walsh soon had his team and men hauling boxes and wood and a mammoth pile soon appeared for the fire.

* * *

One old gray-haired woman came along astride the hood of an auto, beating for all she was worth on an old wash boiler.

* * *

No one alive now will ever see such an historic day again. It was the DAY OF DAYS.

FIRST NUMBER OF LYCEUM COURSE HIGHLY PRAISED

The Willoughby Lyceum course opened Wednesday night. The Cheney Concert Company, the opening attraction, were an unqualified success. Everyone praised the entertainers and felt that the prospect of hearing such splendid offerings for the balance of the course, at the very nominal price paid for tickets, was an unprecedented bargain. Mr. Cheney, his two sisters and Miss Shinn comprised the company appearing Wednesday night. Miss Shinn gave the recitations, whistled and was greatly enjoyed... Violins, bass viol, mandolins, ukuleles and White House chimes were all brought into play by the company. The next concert will be given by the Fisher-Shipp Company Friday, November 22nd. All excess proceeds go to the benefit of the Red Cross. Every one of these splendid entertainers should be greeted by a full house.

WILLOUGHBY CELEBRATES THE VICTORY OF RIGHT OVER MIGHT IN COMMON WITH ALL OTHER AMERICAN CITIZENS, PEACE DAY

Willoughby started the Victory Peace Day celebration at 6:30 Monday. Whistles blew and bells rang and everybody knew that the great day had come. We had licked the kaiser, and we had also licked:

Deutschland Uber Alles.
My invincible armies.
I shall stand no nonsense from the United States.
Our place in the sun.
The work laid out by my illustrious ancestors.
A strong German peace.
My mailed fist.

And a few other things, so Willoughby celebrated. The Standard Tire & Rubber Co., American Clay the firemen and everyone else who could get started were in the early parade. Every time they went 'round the parade grew in numbers and length. Breakfasts were delayed, as everyone rushed to put out flags and greet the marchers and trucks and automobiles each time around. On Erie street signs "Store Closed, We've Got to Bury the Kaiser," greeted all comers.

VICTORY PARADE, ORGANIZED ON TWO HOURS' NOTICE, LARGEST EVER GIVEN IN WILLOUGHBY

The Victory parade in Willoughby occurred at 1:30 Monday. Only two hours notice was given, but the demonstration was one of the best ever given here. The Red Cross and the War Mothers made a splendid showing, possibly forty of each being in line. The fraternal orders, the plants, the bands, the Willoughby Drum Corps, the G. A. R., W. R. C. and every organization and individual who could possibly participate, helped to make the affair the splendid success it was.

CAPT. J. S. ELLEN ADDRESSES GATHERING

At the conclusion of the parade all marched into the park, the band in the grand-stand, and patriotic and popular songs were sung. James McMahon, who acted as marshal of the day, conducted the singing. "Sing as you never sang before," he said. And they did. And they waved flags and hurrahed, and then sang and hurrahed some more. Mr. McMahon presented Capt. J. S. Ellen, of the G. A. R., to say a few words. He was greeted with rousing cheers and more flag waving. "We have passed through six wars," he said, "and we are always victorious because they have been wars waged for the rights of humanity." He did not forget to refer also to the boys who have given their lives in the great cause and to their relatives and friends who have their loss to bear.

The Ben Hur Soldiers.

The boys at the Ben Hur post, in whom Willoughby takes much pride and interest, were not permitted to participate in any public demonstration.

Uncle Sam was much in evidence in Willoughby's parade, this part being ably taken by Samuel Bain.

G. A. R. MEN, VETERANS OF THE CIVIL WAR, HONORED AT GATHERING

There are no more fiery patriots to be found anywhere than the old soldiers who fought through the Civil War.

Willoughby is fortunate in having several of these. They participated in the parade Monday. A truck was provided for those who wished to ride, and this accommodated Thos. Frissell, D. Burnett, A. Huff, M. Dickey, H. Gray and Smith Eddy.

Moses Cleveland, who recently celebrated his 96th birthday; Ezra Beebe, Chas. Baldwin, who carried the flag, and Oscar F. Bryant walked, following the K. of P. Ezra Beebe had charge of the G. A. R. portion. Oscar Bryant is a member of Memorial Post 141, Cleveland, of which the Rev. C. H. Martindale is commander. Capt. Ellen marched with the K. of P. James McMahon had three rousing cheers given for the old soldiers at the opening of the ceremonies in the park.

HOW NEW YORK CELEBRATED THE FIRST UNOFFICIAL NEWS OF PEACE

By Donald Bell

The Phi Gamma Delta Club,
34 West Forty-Fourth Street,
New York, Nov. 7, 1918.

Dear Mother:

This has been some frivolous day in N. Y. At one o'clock the United Press papers came out saying that peace had been declared. That was enough. Everyone went crazy, and in spite of numerous reports from Washington and Paris to the contrary, the United Press sticks to its peace, and the public to the United Press.

A 1 o'clock every window in town was thrown open and waste paper baskets, boxes of labels, old letters, newspapers, night shirts, etc., began to descend on the heads of passing pedestrians. Fifth avenue, Madison and Fourth avenue were clouds of paper for hours, and the streets tonight are covered.

I had classes all afternoon and heard lectures by famous British, French and Italian soldiers, who are visiting here.

At 7 o'clock I crawled into my room to get away from the noise, but was driven out by 11.

The streets tonight are a sight. The demon of alcohol has materially strengthened the delirium of joy and anything goes.

French and Italian sailors are marching in herds up and down the streets with women and children hanging on their necks and coattails, the women confining their activities to the necks, as a rule, and the children to the remaining protuberances.

On one corner a drunken sailor mounted on a box harangued the no less drunken multitude, to the great delight of all concerned. An old beggar woman with a hurdy-gurdy or whatever they are, was grinding away at 40th street. When three gray haired men in evening clothes appeared from no place in particular one grabbed the machine and started bowling it down the street, with a second walking beside it grinding out "Over There, Over There," and the third brought up the rear with the old lady on his arm. All very calmly done and all three bowing and tipping their hats as the public cheered.

Traffic is blocked at important corners, and self-appointed policemen try to keep the wheels turning. When one crowd gives up another takes its place and traffic stands still, as usual.

Earlier in the evening the East Side was demonstrating wonderfully with improvised bands, marching in and out of saloons, led by a wild-eyed patriot, carrying innumerable flags. But tonight was a delusion. The lower element of society has either gone to bed or is peacefully reclining on the curb emitting fumes of bad wine and worse whiskey.

Enormous war maps, which have been carefully changed from day to day have been revised to suit the multitude. The allied lines is now somewhere in Sweden. Berlin is labeled the Bronx, and Boston, Chicago, Washington, Brooklyn, etc., are scattered throughout Germany.

One drunk was stopping everyone in uniform with "I want to shake your hand," and another who had long since lost his partner was walking down the sidewalk, telling of the great joke on the kaiser to the thin air next to him, entirely oblivious of his own loss.

One of the favorite pastimes seems to be for a real drunk to get between two semi-drunks, stiffen out his legs and be skidded down the sidewalk, howling and shrieking.

Little insignificant pups eagerly solicit a fight and it is stoutly maintained on all sides that the old United States can lick the whole —— world, and if you don't believe it, demonstrations are offered forthwith.

What a world! What a world! I suppose peace is close, very close, even if not an actuality, but if it isn't it has been and still is being celebrated in a style never to be forgotten.

Well, I must get to my little straw pile. I have several things I want to take up with you, but I'll write later.

My love to all. DON.

SOLDIER IN FRANCE WRITES INTERESTING LETTER TO THE WILLOUGHBY WAR MOTHERS

Somewhere in France, Sept., 1918.

To the War Mothers:

I certainly was glad tonight when on looking over my mail to get one letter from the War Mothers of Willoughby. I shall never forget the time we had down to the church the night that we had the feast for the boys of Co. M. I am in the best of health and hope this letter finds all of the members of the War Mothers the same. A soldier over here would rather get mail than to eat. The people back home cannot imagine how much good it does a fellow over here to receive mail. All the mail I get over here I read it over and over. I am writing this letter by a candle light, so you will have to excuse the writing. The boys in our company from Lake county are all in the best of health and they are all looking good. Our company has been in the front line trenches and we all arrived back safely. The colonel gave our company a good word as being the best company up in the sector that we covered. The weather has certainly been awful out here the past week. It has been raining all week long, and it is raining right now. I suppose Willoughby longs for our return back, but I guess we will not see the States this year, but hope to return back in the year of 1919 with Old Glory floating over Germany before we do get back, because there is not a damn German alive that can stand what a U. S. soldier can. Will close, hoping to hear from you soon. I remain

RESIDENTS ARE DELIGHTED TO SEE OUR BOYS COME INTO THE RUINED VILLAGES, SAYS PHILIP WELLS IN LETTER HOME

On ActiveService, A. E. F., Oct. 6.

At last it looks as though we were settled in one place for a few days. We are living in a ruined village. We have built places to live in among the ruins. Our squad put up a pretty nice shack, with a good fireplace, so we keep nice and warm nights. Well, things look pretty good now for early peace. I wish I could see what the papers at home say about it. A week ago this village was "No Man's Land" and now you can scarcely hear the sound of the guns, the Huns have retreated so far and so fast. I saw some refugees who had lived in a village held by the Germans since 1914 and were just freed the other day. They sure looked happy, and I can imagine that they felt pretty good at being out of the Huns' hands.

Oct. 12—Well, here it is Columbus day and we have celebrated it by hiking most of the day and part of this evening. This town where we are now was only taken from the Germans two days ago. It has been in German hands since the beginning of the war, but it is in fine condition, hardly a single building damaged.

There are quite a number of civilians here, and they were tickled to see our boys come in when the Huns left. I don't imagine they had a very pleasant time for the past four years, but their troubles are all over now. We are having regular fall weather now, with some rain nearly every day, but rain or shine, we always manage to keep comfortable. Our squad is quartered in the cellar of a rather large house; it is dry and very comfortable and stays warm all the time. We have only six fellows in our squad now, as one is working in the corral, and the other is in the hospital, slightly gassed, but we are expecting him back any day now. I am enclosing a souvenir I got the other day; it is a German soldier's strap from his blouse; the number on it is that of his regiment.

PURCHASES AT THE RED CROSS SHOP

The articles at the Red Cross Shop, contributed by Mrs. S. S. Thomas, of the Kirtland road, and displayed in a window of the Republican office on West Spaulding street, have attracted considerable interest. Mrs. Marvin, manager of the Broadlawn Inn, noticed the spinning wheels, and phoned from Painesville later, asking that both be reserved for her. C. W. Shipman, of Willoughby, signified his intention of taking all the Indian relics. There are numerous old books in the articles sent by Mrs. Thomas, but these are only for exhibition purposes. Some hand-made lace suitable for pillow slips, and some insertion, is still available. All proceeds go to the local Red Cross.

FLAG RECEIVES GIFT FOR RED CROSS DURING VICTORY PARADE

The Knight Templars carried a big outspread flag during the Victory parade Monday. Coins were tossed upon it, amounting to the sum of $2.08. This was later given to the Red Cross.

Mrs. N. C. Smith is a contributor to the sum of $5 also. An interesting contribution has also been made by Mrs. Abbie Mayhew. This consists of two pairs of knit baby shoes, one pair of mittens and a quilt for the Belgian children. All are of the prettiest design and extremely attractive and well made.

WANT SOME MINT JELLY MADE OF APPLES? HERE'S A RECIPE

One pound of raw apples has the food value of 290 calories.

In plain terms this means that apples have about three-fourths of the nutritive value of potatoes, which is a solid and dependable food.

America is now the leading apple growing nation of the world.

This means almost a sacred trust not to let any of our apple crop go to waste.

In every home which has storing facilities as many barrels of apples as can be used should be stored.

The windfall apples should be saved by drying. Cut out the bruised parts, pare, core and slice. Then drop into cold water containing eight teaspoonfuls of salt to the gallon. This will prevent discoloration.

Remove surface moisture, dry in sun or over stove until leathery and pliable.

Mint Jelly.

The best mint jelly is made with the juice of slightly unripe apples as a basis. Wash fresh mint leaves thoroughly. To 1 cupful of mint leaves (packed solid) add 1 cupful of boiling water; set the mixture on the back of the stove and steep it for one hour. Lay a piece of cheesecloth over a bowl, pour the steeped mint leaves into it, twist the ends of the cheesecloth and press out all the moisture.

To 1 cupful of apple juice add 1 to 2 tablespoonfuls of mint juice. If the mint flavor is not sufficiently pronounced, add a drop of two of mint extract. Use 3-4 cupful of sugar to each cupful of apple juice and boil the mixture rapidly until the jelly test is obtained. Just before it is poured into the scalded glasses, color it green with vegetable coloring matter.

Early apples make the best apple sauce. Here is a new way to sweeten and flavor the apple sauce and add more food value to the dish at the same time.

TOOT YOUR HORN

In 1907 two Detroit automobile companies filed articles of association and designed medium-priced models. When they were put on sale there was very little difference in the details of construction, and their appearance was about the same.

They had really been designed by the same engineer. He was originally employed by one of the concerns, but went to work for the other after completing most of the layouts, and on joining the second company he found positions for some of the technical staff who had worked for him on his former job.

Result: Two cars at about the same price, equally good-looking and equally well constructed.

One of the companies is going strong yet, and the other failed in a year and a half. The second company's car never caught on with the public.

The president of the first concern was an advertising expert of national reputation, who had got into the automobile game because he saw money in it. He hardly knew a jackshaft from a fishing pole, and had made his name by pushing the sale of labor-saving office appliances. But the nature of the product didn't matter. He understood publicity.

We are all salesmen in a sense. An office boy applying for a job is marketing his services, and the one who makes the best impression gets the job. It isn't enough to have a good commodity for sale; you must let your customer know it, and it is nothing to his detriment if you describe your product convincingly. He is not forced to buy; but it is to his disadvantage if he never learns all the merits of what you have to sell.

All enjoyment is work of some kind, and all work can be enjoyable in some way. Work in such a way that you get enjoyment.

LAKE COUNTY FARM SUURVEY COMPLETED

The Lake county farmers have already given their farms for classification in County Agent Long's office for future service in the new Service Department which is just being organized for the benefit of the members of the Lake County Farm Improvement Association. This department will keep posted upon its bulletin board any farm produce or equipment for sale or exchange, any farm seeds, breeding stock or equipment wanted by the members of the Improvement Association. Their labor needs well also be taken care of as far as possible.

The Farm Survey which the directors of the Improvement Association are just completing for the draft boards is giving this new department complete lists of breeders of live stock and growers of crops classified according to the kind and breed of stock and kind and variety of crops. This will make it a comparatively simple matter to locate breeding stock of any kind or breed or home-grown seed corn or potatoes of any variety, or any other farm seed for sale in the county.

If your farm has not already been included in this survey or you are not already a member of the Farm Improvement Association, get in touch with your township director at once. The names of the directors are as follows: President, H. J. Wright, Perry; vice-president, N. C. Frost, Mentor; secretary, E. L. Johnson; treasurer, F. H. Murray, Concord; directors, R. P. NEWS FROM WAITE HILL

THE GREAT PEACE CELEBRATION IN WILLOUGHBY

On this 11th day of November, 1918, with peace declared, the world war ended and Ohio gone dry, people have great cause for rejoicing. And Willoughby did herself honor in celebrating the victory in a grand parade in the afternoon. The soldiers paraded the streets in the morning and made an interesting spectacle, although we weren't fortunate enough to witness it. It seemed as though everybody was there and "then some." It surely was some doings, with the band playing patriotic music and the drum corps fairly beating the heads out of their drums, guns firing, bells ringing, even cow bells, the firebells kept up a continuous ringing; whistles blowing from the various factories and railroads, there was such a din at times one could hardly "hear oneself think."

Flags were floating everywhere, and the parade was "too grand for anything," with every order in line, the Knight Templars, the Knights of Pythias with their grand uniforms on, the Red Cross brigade, the Mothers' brigade, and citizens generally, with little children bringing up the rear, and all carrying flags, and floats of every description, and best of all, the kaiser in the hearse with the placard on it, "We got the kaiser."

After the parade all went up to the campus and heard more fine music by the Wickliffe band and heard "Jimmy" McMahon sing several numbers in his usually fine style. Take it all in all, it was an interesting celebration, not soon to be forgotten. Everybody seemed happy and went home, thinking the day had been well spent. In the evening they were to have more sport, a huge bonfire was to be arranged, so they could cremate the kaiser.

MOSES CLEVELAND MARCHES WITH THE REST OF THE BOYS

Moses Cleveland, 96, was marching in the ranks with the "other youngsters." There was a big car on purpose to carry the elderly men in the parade, but Moses wanted to walk with the rest of the "boys." He is a great sprinter.

The Maier boy, who has been ill with pnuemonia so long and was thought to be gaining, is not so well at time of writing.

Miss Alma Stokes and brother were guests on Sunday of their brother Ed and family. It also was the birthday anniversary of little Betty S.

Mrs. Julia Fritz has gone to Bellevue to live, and a family by the name of Morris are living in her house.

Stephen Johnson and family, from Chardon, have moved to the Payson Clapp farm.

We understand the schools are to reopen next week. Isn't it a little too soon? Better wait another week. The Waite Hill school hasn't been closed, as there hasn't been a single case of the flu around, which is extremely fortunate.

The remains of Mrs. Anna Skedd Phillips, who passed away Thursday at her home in Cleveland, was brought to Kirtland for burial Saturday. We understand she died of pneumonia as result of flu, but as yet we've not got full particulars.

"Billy" Pike has been ill several days, although today, Monday, we hear he's some better.

THE LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS AND GIRLS

Several interesting soldier letters were published in The Republican last week. Everybody reads with much interest the letters from our boys and girls over there. Also a beautiful poem in memory of Capt. Harold Palmer, who was killed in action, was published in The Republican.

Walter Metcalf and Lemmuel Curry have been in Pittsburg several weeks and had sold and put in eight furnaces in the first two weeks, making sixteen they've put up recently.

Mrs. Olixer Cox was a guest of her parents, Mr and Mrs. D. M. Covert, of Ashtabula, two weeks recently, returning home Monday last week.

Miss Lura Rockafellow spent Thursday with her cousin, Miss Laverne Goodrich, of Willoughby.

Mrs. Chas. Burt, of Chesterland, was a guest of her sister, Mrs. Hadlock and family, Thursday last week.

The Billings family moved to Willoughby last week from the old Billings home, Kirtland, which had been in possession of the family for eighty years or more, so we've been informed.

Miss Sylvia Lilley was presented with a wrist watch by her father, which she is very proud of.

Miss Gladys Wilcer, of Willoughby, was calling on Miss Mabel Rice Wednesday.

Our mail carrier, Sammy Randall, has been bringing our mail for several days past in a spick and span new mail buggy.

BIG BOOM FOR WILLOUGHBY?

We've been hearing of some big boom for Willoughby, but don't just understand what it is, but we'll know when it gets there.

Mrs. Minnie Whitright Yaxley is very ill with pneumonia, as result of the flu, so it is reported. We sincerely hope she will recover. Mrs. Y. was a former Waite Hill girl.

Mrs. George Brichford and son Clarence, of Chesterland, were calling on old neighbors, the Rockafellows and others, Friday. Mrs. B. has been ill with the flu for two weeks and is just getting out again.

Claurant Lilley and sister, Miss Sylvia, and lady friend, were Cleveland visitorsSaturday week ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben Curry have both been quite ill with the flu, and Mrs. Curry got better, then had a relapse.

WE HOPE TO RECEIVE IT

Mrs. D. Rockafellow received two letters last week from her son Howell, who is overseas. Said letters were promised me for publication in this week's paper. She also received one from her son Edwin, the only one she has received from him since he enlisted.

Although the woman had suffered the misery of the unloved for years, in fact from the very day of her wedding, she had the courage to fight on, She even brought cheer and comfort to a poverty-stricken family in the slums and by so doing unearthed a diary that told her the history of her husband's past life. This discovery led to a most unheard-of change in her daily life; it eventually brought her happiness. But how and why? By seeing "Wives of Men" you'll learn the story of this woman's life and the story is of absorbing interest. Florence Reed is the star. See her at the Miles Theater, week starting Sunday, November 17th.

Marshal Foch celebrated his sixty-seventh birthday on October 2nd. According to Dr. Osler he should have been in the scrap heap some time ago. But do any of us think we could spare Marshal Foch to the scrap heap?

Colonial Theater

The Shubert-Colonial Theater will have a red-letter event next Monday night, November 18th, in the first metropolitan presentation of a new musical comedy, "The Victory Girl," produced by the Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert; written by Philip Bartholomae; composed by Frank Tours with Augustus Parrett, and played by a big company of Broadway celebrities with Justine Johnstone, the famous beauty; Frank Fay, the latest comedy sensation of New York; Violet Dale, the amazing impersonator of world's celebrities, and dear old Harry Conor of many happy memories, as the featured stars of a big organization.

The story of "The Victory Girl" is not only timely, but screamingly funny. It is easily good enough to run as a straight comedy without the aid of music whatsoever. It has four love stories running through the action. Dsepite this the music is a paramount feature and said to be wondrously lovely. As for the dancers, "The Victory Girl" might be described as a veritable dance festival. There are great roles for Frank Fay and Harry Conor, those excruciating comedians, as well as ideal parts for Violet Dale, the cleverest and Justine Johnstone, the fairest woman on the stage today. Seats now on sale.

Empire Theater

Headed by Harry LeVan, "The Big Review" is the attraction at the Empire this week. Mr. LeVan, known as the diminutive comedian, is supported by an unusually strong cast this year. He is assisted by Clare DeVine, the pretty comedienne, Helen Delaney, Florence Brooks, Charles Saxon, Frances Brandon, Sam Saxon, Gret Skelley and a chorus of twenty. Do you wanto rassle?

Star Theater

"The Bowery Burlesquers," with those celebrated creators of laughter, Billy Foster and Frank Harcourt, in the leading roles, will be at the Star Theater all next week.

This production is of the lively order, full of amusing incidents of humor and life, supplemented here and there with touches of the latest music of the catchy quality. The vehicle used is a two-act comedy entitled "The Health Hunters." Assisting in the cast are Marty Seamon, Grace Anderson, Joe Fern, Libby Hart, Pam Lawrence and Sylvia Webb. Beauty and charm, it is said, are tame words when it comes to describing the winning points of the contingent of girls that will be brought to the Star with The Bowery Burlesquers.

The young man and the two-pound box of chocolates are for the present only fond memories in a girl's life.

LIFE OF A NURSE OVERSEAS INTERESTINGLY SET FORTH BY FORMER WILLOUGHBY GIRL

By Georgia Morse

Somewhere in France, Sept. 3, '18.
My Dear Mrs. Carrell:

Your letter written in June at the Hollenden in Cleveland has had some trip. My sister sent it to me to read, and I know how interested you are in all the big issues of life, as well as some of the little individual things, so I thought I would write you a little of this life. As for our location, our work or place visited, or any military information, we are unable to write about. We have taken our oath, and it would be censored if we did.

We received our orders in Portland on Friday. We arrived at Camp Dix, N. J., on Friday. We left camp on Friday and arrived in New York. We sailed on Friday and arrived on Friday.

Camp Dix was a wonderful camp and while there were near enough to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Camden, Trenton and Princeton so we could make the trip on our half days. We were in New York six weeks, had splendid opportunity between fittings, drilling and French lessons to see all the sights.

We had a very uneventful trip over, but very strenuous. Anyone crossing these times is not having a pleasure trip in any sense of the word. Everything is in total darkness after 8 p. m. No one undresses. Everyone sleeps in a life preserver, under the strictest military orders. We landed somewhere in England, came across that province and clear across this one, which gave us a fair idea of conditions and I can appreciate that part of your letter about your brother, maybe better than Elizabeth. It was in England and so in France, almost impossible to obtain food unless you have orders and food cards. No sugar. No tea. No pastry. We traveled very rapidly, and you must remember all government supplies, and we consider ourselves and troops' supplies, have right of way. No troops, no sleepers, no buffet cars, no water on trains. So when we got into the train at a seaport town, and were issued rations for ten days and nights we knew that was all there was to it, and to have seen us you would have thought us emigrants traveling steerage. We had our little alcohol stoves and made tea on a moving train and ate vegetables out of a tin can with hardtack. You know something of traveling facilities over here anyway. In a crisis like this and the large number in our crowd we no doubt had the best there was, eight to a coach. Consequently we sat up all the way. We arrived in camp one night at 9 p. m. and were met by our own men, who had come on ahead, two hundred corps men and thirty doctors, and I dont' know who was the gladdest, us to see our men, or they to see us. We were treated to a good steak dinner, a shower bath and a good, comfortable bed, and we were allowed to sleep as late as we wanted to next day.

Our camp is in one of the pretty little valleys, surrounded by roads, and several other units all around us. The fields are covered with all kinds of bright, pretty flowers, many of them such as we have at home. The weather is not an awful lot unlike Portland in the winter, a great deal of rain and cloudy weather, and the nights very cold. Am now sleeping in heavy pajamas, heavy bathrobe and three blankets. Our quarters are boarded up barracks. No water and so far no heat. There is a great deal of sickness among the girls. Can't help but be, and there will be more before winter is over with water so scarce and very bad. Food is only fair at times. All has to be sent from U. S. and all of you people who have Hooverized and saved have done your bit towards helping to win the war, for we are having plenty of white bread, flour, sugar, tea and coffee. We certainly need it all, so do the boys. All of our fruit and vegetables are canned, and little fresh meat. You people in the states can manage very nicely with all the other luxuries. Eggs are $1.25 or 6 france a doz. and not fresh.

We are very near the line of activity, on one of the principal little railroads carrying all kinds of supplies and troops to the front, and it is quite interesting. We are very carefully guarded on ground and in the air. Near to us is a big airdrome and we have visited it many times.

All through the country are little French villages where we can buy many of the missing little things. For instance, we all brought over with us quantities of soap, toilet articles, shoe laces, and we find we can buy cheaper here than in New York. No American candies or sweets of any kind. We are also located in a sector famous for its embroideries and laces and have been able to pick up quite a few pretty little things. You have read the story of the woman who led the army in battle and afterwards was burned at the stake by her own people. We have visited her birthplace, and the church with its wonderful paintings. It is only a few kilometers away. And these villages are so interesting, and in no other way could we learn more of the habits and customs than by living with them and studying them.

In many ways it does not seem as though we were in a foreign land. Of course, we are in the American sector. Everywhere we go and as we came along we saw all Americans. Many of these men had not seen an American woman since they have been over here, and many had not seen any woman for months. So when they would see us they would cheer, come up to the train to find out where we were from, how long we had been over and the latest news from the States, and we were just as glad to see them and be able to talk American and be understood. You would be surprised to know how many there are over here, and most of them are passing through this sector, and we see them. We are so close we are always on our guard day and night. Some of our girls have gone on farther, and we hope to be able to.

We are glad to be able to be here, and the boys certainly appreciate it.

I am feeling fine and gaining a little in weight. Many of the girls do at first, on account of the starch diet.

You spoke of Bessie Storm taking the emergency course and might come over. It is so hard to get the necessary passports that if she is not successful I believe she could enter any of the large camps, and the experience is fine, and plenty of hard work. There are many girls in our own unit which should never have been allowed to come and I would hate to get very ill here. It is so hard to take care of them with no heat or hot water.

Wish you would insert a small article in the paper. There are so many from Willoughby who have boys in the service, and I think it is something of a comfort to them to know we have American hospitals where they are taken care of and everything done for them that can be done—plenty of food, tobacco (which they are given and told they may smoke in bed), candy, clean beds, plenty of blankets. Some, of course, do not recover, and they are so well taken care of, always a minister, a regular funeral at the chapel, also at the grave, and the cemetery is so well cared for, all the graves are marked with a cross and the identification on the cross. The nurses are also buried with them in case they die. War is war, and we did not expect to be on a picnic, and everyone is doing their bit.

Most sincerely,
GEORGIA B. MORSE,

Duchess Theatre

Popular demand for seats for "Lilac Time," the bill with which the Vaughan Glaser players opened the Duchess, has resulted in the holding over of this love story "Somewhere in France" for another week.

"Lilac Time," from the pens of Jane Cowl and Jane Murfin, is one of the very few "war plays" which do not carry the audiences into the din of battle. It presents, instead, the story of France as it was while Germany was making her strongest efforts to reach Paris and to help the kaiser's shattered dream of world domination—the story of the plucky women of France who, while their men were dying for freedom smiled through the smoke of battle, always looking forward to the day of peace.

In the Glaser company are all the old favorites, Miss Fay Courtenay, Will D. Corbett, Miss Constance Kenyon, William F. Powell and Don Burroughs, who, in "Lilac Time," gives his Cleveland admirers their first chance to see him play opposite Miss Courteney. New additions to the Glaser company are James Hester, Julien Kertz, Stewart Irvin, Edwin Burke, Harry Prew, Don Frazer and Richard D. Marsden.

Proud of Them All

ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY-THREE East Ohio employees answered the call of their country and entered the Service. We are immensely proud of them. They have all made a direct and vital contribution to the cause of humanity and justice.

Nor are we less mindful of the members of our organization who stayed by the guns at home. By their most generous contributions to the Victory Chest, their 100% support of the Liberty Loans and their whole-hearted devotion to the work in hand they have proved themselves patriots of the highest rank.

They will continue to carry on—always looking forward to the fast-approaching day when they can welcome back to the ranks of the East Ohio the men who compose

LAKEWOOD'S NEWEST BANK DECLARES A DIVIDEND

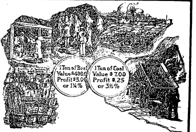
The directors of the Depositors' Savings & Loan Company, Lakewood's one-year-old financial institution, at their meeting recently declared a dividend of 7 per cent to be credited to stockholders on December 1st.

Because of the unexampled growth of the institution it was an open secret for many months with the directors that a substantial dividend would be paid, but it was not until the last few days that it became apparent that so large a dividend as 7 per cent was possible.

That the directors were elated over the first year's growth goes without saying, and they are predicting now a far brighter future for their institution than they had heretofore dared to dream of.

The directors also voted to increase the stock premium, the increase to take effect January 15th next.

The Depositors' Savings & Loan Company was organized through the joint efforts of Messrs. Wm. Marple, T. M. Robins, Wm. J. Rowe and George Palda, and its doors were thrown open on January 12th of this year. Plans have been laid for making the next two months, the last of the bank's first year of existence, the banner months. A campaign for new stockholders and savings depositors is to be started immediately and waged vigorously. Mr. Jas. W. Chrisford will be in charge of the campaign and he will be assisted by Mr. Wm. V. Bishop, traffic manager of the Upson Nut Company, who will demand right of way for the campaign, and Mr. L. C. Reidy, of the firm of Reidy Brothers & Flannigan. These men, all of Lakewood, promise to make the campaign not only a complete success, but highly interesting as well.



1 Ton of Beef Value $400.00 Profit $5.00 or 1¼%
1 Ton of Coal Value $7.00 Profit $.25 or 3½%

Why Compare Beef and Coal Profits?

Swift & Company has frequently stated that its profit on beef averages only one-fourth of a cent a pound, and hence has practically no effect on the price.

Comparison has been made by the Federal Trade Commission of this profit with the profit on coal, and it has pointed out that anthracite coal operators are content with a profit of 25 cents a ton, whereas the beef profit of one-fourth of a cent a pound means a profit of $5.00 a ton.

The comparison does not point out that anthracite coal at the seaboard is worth at wholesale about $7.00 a ton, whereas a ton of beef of fair quality is worth about $400.00 wholesale.

To carry the comparison further, the 25 cent profit on coal is 3½ per cent of the $7.00 value.

The $5.00 profit on beef is only 1¼ per cent of the $400.00 value.

The profit has little effect on price in either case, but has less effect on the price of beef than on the price of coal.

Coal may be stored in the open air indefinitely; beef must be kept in expensive coolers because it is highly perishable and must be refrigerated.

Coal is handled by the carload or ton; beef is delivered to retailers by the pound or hundred weight.

Methods of handling are vastly different. Coal is handled in open cars; beef must be shipped in refrigerator cars at an even temperature.

Fairness to the public, fairness to Swift & Company, fairness to the packing industry, demands that these indisputable facts be considered. It is impossible to disprove Swift & Company's statement, that its profits on beef are so small as to have practically no effect on prices.

Get Ready to Join the Guardian Thrift Club Which Opens for Membership Nov. 18th

It is unnecessary to explain the importance of saving money these days, for Liberty Bonds, Thrift Stamps—the many war needs have demonstrated this fact to the American people. But "How To Save" is the question which thousands are asking and our answer is "Learn to Save by Saving."

We can suggest no better way than becoming a member of The Guardian Thrift Club and make your payments regularly each week for a period of fifty weeks.

By such a method you will become permanently interested in the results of Systematic Saving which eventually will become a fixed habit.

Everybody is welcome—talk to your friends about it.

A VERITABLE TREASURE TROVE OF BEAUTY: ITS INSPECTION A LIBERAL EDUCATION

Wonderfully Beautiful Environment of Sterling & Welch Store Is Inspiration to Poetic Fancy of Advertising Writer

"Peace, spreading her gentle wings over the world will free thousands of mills and factories from war restrictions." From this poetic start the logical argument is presented that manufacturers will in due time bring out many new patterns in place of the designs dropped in response to the order of the government. To purchase a full quota of the new patterns it will be advisable to dispose of the designs in furniture, rugs, lamps, lace curtains and drapery materials, which are not likely to be replaced.

The foregoing is the striking announcement by the Sterling & Welch Company, introducing a page advertisement of its "Off-the-Market" patterns sale, with reductions averaging a third to a fifth. It is not surprising that under the inspiration of "Victory Day" even the advertising writer drops into poetry to start an advertisement of a sale of this importance and magnitude.

The environments of the magnificent store on Euclid avenue are conducive to poetic fancy. In it there is ever an inspiration to the imagination. Its five floors, filled to capacity with the most beautiful products of the Orient, side by side with the most modern ideas of the makers of beautiful things in rugs, lamps and furniture to be found in the entire country, make a visit thereto like a trip into fairyland. An inspection is in itself a liberal education in good taste; a revelation and an inspiration to every home maker.

Standing on the upper floors of the mammoth store, looking down over the balustrades to the center court formed by the main floor, gazing through the mass of flags and patriotic decorations, the downward [illegible] discloses an entrancing vista.

The huge floor space on the main floor is devoted mainly to rugs, a display that covers all grades and sizes and at all prices. The ordinary home maker loves rugs. One need not be an expert to enjoy the wonderful collections that stretch out over several hundred feet from front to rear.

So each floor, one tier above another, is a veritable treasure trove of beauty. In one tier are bedroom suites, fitted up with the daintiness of a bridal boudoir. Adjacent is the massive reproduction of a famous period in furniture fashions. In another tier are rows of dining room sets, all equipped and ready for the service of a meal. The variety seems infinite and the choice bewildering. On another floor are elaborate furnishings for living rooms, reception rooms and stately parlors; adjacent are the allurements of the furnishings for the den and the room with the old fashioned fireplace.

There are scores and scores of lamps, some so novel and so uniquely beautiful as to make an irresistible appeal to the shopper. There is an individuality about the entire place, in every department, that makes it distinctive. It is one of the great show places of the country. The variety is so great, the display is so satisfying, the ideas are so suggestive, that on inspection is to repeat the expressively descriptive phrase, a "liberal education."

MRS. WEBB C. HAYES, DAUGHTER-IN-LAW OF THE FORMER PRESIDENT, AIDS IN FURNISHING MUCH PLEASURE TO SOLDIERS ON REST FURLOUGHS ABROAD

The following letter from Private Carlos B. Wilbur, cousin of Mrs. T. H. Burr, of Willoughby, describes with much interest the recreation period of a soldier, and the activities of Mrs. Webb C. Hayes, daughter-in-law of the former president, therewith. The letter is written to Mrs. Wilbur. Mrs. Hayes is related to Mrs. Burr's family:

Rest furloughs at Aix la Baines for several of the Fremont soldiers fighting in France have been made unusually pleasant by the courtesies extended them by the noble Fremont woman, Mrs. Webb C. Hayes, who is ministering to American lads at the big French rest camp. Private Carlos B. Wilbur, of Company E, Sixth Engineers, A. E. F., was one of those privileged and he writes to his wife, Mrs. Carlos Wilbur most enthusiastically and interestingly of his vacation at Aix la Baines and of the things which he and a comrade experienced while on furlough from active duty. In his letter he says:

"This is Saturday morning and the last day of our stay in Aix and it has surely been a wonderful vacation. Last Sunday evening Mrs. Hayes and I had dinner together and such a good visit. In the afternoon my comrade and I had gone up Mont Revard. It surely was a wonderful trip. One goes up a little railroad. There is an engine for each car and the engine gets its traction by means of a cog track, which is set between the two rails. I think the top of the mountain is about a mile above the level of the nestle, while on the other one can obtain the most wonderful views. On one side one looks down upon the valley in which the lake and the village nestle, while on the other one can see Mount Blanc and the Italian Alps. It is surely a wonderful sight, and we were surely fortunate in having such a nice day. Generally at this time of the year there is a great deal of rain. I am quite sure that it is the first time that I have ever seen mountain peaks, which are covered with snow the year 'round, and the view from the top was gorgeous. There is a very fine telescope in a sort of observatory at the top and through it one can see distinctly.

Monday afternoon we got some bicycles and rode to Chambrey. It is a trip of about twenty miles. Going over we took a good level road along the lake, but coming back we took another which was very hilly, and I was about dead when I got home. Tuesday morning we played billiards most of the morning, but in the after- [illegible] we went to a sort of tennis and [illegible] party at the home of a very wealthy Englishwoman, who lives just [illegible] here. There were about [illegible] soldiers, several of the ladies [illegible] the Y. W. C. A. here, several American officers, two English officers, and an Italian officer. I played [illegible] most of the time, but I am quite sure that everyone had a fine time. There were games of bridge, five hundred and hearts, but the success of the afternoon came when four or five soldiers got the English officer and the Italian officer interested in a game with a tennis ball, passing it around, you know, with the one who is "it" trying to touch it. They just went crazy over the game, particularly the ladies, and the Italian officer just had the time of his young life chasing around. But I was afraid he would hurt someone throwing his spurs around so recklessly. The attitude of the French toward our games is very curious. Every night after the evening entertainment here at the Casino we have games of some kind or another. They stand around with the most peculiar expressions on their faces. I can't decide as to whether they think we are crazy or whether they would really like to get in and mix it up with us. I think the latter would be more in accordance with their nature.

"Well, anyway, we surely had some time at the party, to which Mrs. Hayes obtained our invitations. She has surely done all in her power to make our stay a pleasant one. Tuesday night there was a dance. I forgot to say that Sunday evening after we had taken dinner with Mrs. Hayes, she got a box for an entertainment here for the benefit of some Belgian orphans of the war. It was really fine, particularly the musical part. Wednesday we went out to the tennis courts early and played tennis all morning long and surely had some time. But we were so tired that we didn't do anything else all day, and had to go to bed early that night.

"Then came the most wonderful trip of all. Mrs. Hayes got us tickets for an automobile ride through the mountains. We left at ten in the morning and didn't get back till after six-thirty at night. It surely was a perfect day. On our side of the lake the mountain comes almost straight down to the lake, leaving only room for a road and part of that is built up from the lake itself. Here the railroad goes through a tunnel. But we went for about six miles along the lake, then off up through the mountains to the little town where we had dinner. It was absolutely the best meal I have ever eaten in a hotel. They say that Morgan offered the chef $20,000 a year to come to America. I only wish that I could describe the trip to you, for it is by far the most wonderful scenery that I have ever seen. Through passages and under overhanging masses of rocks, and then to look back and down upon the country below. My comrade said it looked like a crazy quilt with its blocks of farms and vineyards. It was surely wonderful. When we got to the very top of the mountain we stopped and had tea up in a big hotel. There were six of us—two soldiers and two American nurses. They had gotten a real cake and we sat out on the porch overlooking our lake and all this wonderful scenery and had a real tea party. We enjoyed the nurses' company, for it seemed good to hear a real giggle again. Yesterday it rained all day, so we didn't do anything. Played five hundred with one of the Y. W. C. A. girls in the afternoon and went to a vaudeville at night, but like all French vaudeville it was mostly acrobatics. Today we leave for Blois.

JUST AS YOU MAKE IT.

Life is just one constant grind,
If you wish to make it so;
All the breezes are unkind,
If you grumble while they blow.
Every hill is bleak and drear,
Not a song-bird that you hear
Ever sounds a note of cheer
If you wear a mask of woe.

Life is triumph, life is joy,
If you wish to make it so.
Why let little ills annoy?
Toss them off and let them go.
All the woods with glee will ring;
Every season may be spring,
If you have the heart to fling
Laughter in the teeth of Woe.

East Ohio Celebrates "Victory Day" By Issuing Quarter Page Ad., Printing Its Honor Roll of 143 Employes in Service

The East Ohio Gas Company always seems a cheerless sort of a corporation. At least one gains that impression from the fact that the company is compelled so often to issue "warnings." It is always telling people they must save gas, because there will not be enough gas to go around when the next blizzard comes. Even in the hottest weather it is predicting gas shortages in January. It starts in July to fram up alibis for February.

The company has devoted many columns of paid advertising in the past six months, telling the public how many thousand feet less of natural gas there will be next year than this year and how many thousand feet greater is the demand this year than last year. In other words, the East Ohio Gas Company is obliged to play rather persistently the role of a prophet of evil. It is a harbinger of disaster in the public mind. Undoubtedly many of its predictions will come true, too. That is the worst of it. But the ordinary householder dislikes none the less to be reminded on the Fourth of July that he is quite likely to be without gas on New Year's day, unless he supplements his furnace by coal connections.

But the East Ohio has a different kind of an ad this week. It radiates joy, optimism, patriotism and victory for a quarter page. It prints its honor roll, a list of 143 names of employes who have entered the service and made their direct contribution to the cause of humanity and liberty. "Proud of them all," is the heading of this quarter page ad of this big gas corporation. It sounds rather "human," after all. And the list itself looks "human." It starts with "W. M. Acosta" and ends with "A. H. Zell." Toward the bottom of the first column of the list is the name of Thos. O. Daly, son of M. B. Daly, the president of the company.

It is a list of which any corporation has a right to be proud, and its publication in the week of "Victory Day" is a timely remembrance of the boys who have gone forth from its offices to fight. Everyone is forgetting for a day or two the prospective troubles of gas shortage and blizzard weather. The public is glad to pay its tribute to the employes of the gas corporation who have gone to the front.

And the company adds that it is no less mindful of the members of its organization who stayed by the guns at home. By their generous contributions to the Victory Chest, their 100 per cent support of the Liberty Loans and their whole-hearted devotion to the work at hand, the corporation certifies they have proved themselves patriots of the highest rank.

The East Ohio Gas may be forced again to send forth a few more warnings, but it is radiating this week in its advertising the same joy spirit that animated all the rest of Cleveland on Monday when the great and glorious news came.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND COUNCIL AGAIN DISCUSS C. P. & E. FARE RAISE

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce and the council, conferred on the subject of the requested C., P. & E. fare raise Tuesday night. Harry Hammar, legal counsel for the C., P. & E., and W. H. Douglas, manager, were present. Directors of the Chamber of Commerce present included E. J. Dickey, W. C. Collister, L. B. Stockwell, J. J. Jordan, E. F. Birkholz, James McMahon, E. S. Fairley, H. F. Kennedy and L. R. Adams. E. J. Dickey proposed that all demands of the C., P. & E. be met, with the provision that the car company arrange for double headers out of Cleveland at 3, 4 and 5 p. m. After heated discussion pro and con a vote was taken to the effect that the company be permitted to raise its rate to 3c per mile. Messrs. Dickey, Collister, Kennedy, Adams and Jordan voted in favor of this raise.

Messrs. Birkholz, McMahon, Stockwell and Fairley voted "no" on a raise to 3c.

The recommendation was then presented by the Chamber to the council. The council then offered a proposition to the car company which would make the rate to Cleveland 30c, with a minimum rate of 5c instead of 10c, as asked for.

The officials of the C., P. & E. declined to consider this proposition. The meeting was adjourned until Friday night, when the proposition will again be taken up by the council.

The original raise asked by the C., P. & E. called for a 2½c rate, which would make the rate to Cleveland from Willoughby 30c. It was suggested that the contemplated raise be in effect during the period of the war or until such time thereafter as would be deemed adequate. It was generally conceded at the time that such a raise would have been equitable and just. The matter was laid on the table by the Willoughby council; and later, following the raise by the steam companies to 3c per mile, which rate was to be in effect during the war and 21 months thereafter, the C., P. & E. again presented a petition for a raise to the 3c rate.

Subsequent meetings were held by the county commissioners, when the C., P. & A. raise was granted, and recommendations made that the C., P. & E. proposition be settled by the municipalities holding franchises.

DRY VICTORY JOLLIFICATION MEETING DRAWS LARGE CROWD

S. D. Shankland and J. S. Rutledge Recall "Good Old Days" When John Barleycorn Held Sway in Willoughby and Glenville

An audience that completely filled the auditorium gathered Sunday night and sang gay and patriotic songs, and listened to talks, at a jollification meeting over the overthrow of those two great enemies of human progress, the kaiser and John Barleycorn. The latter, according to S. D. Shankland, who opened the speaking, was one of the former's strongest allies, a pro-German indeed. Older residents, Mr. Shankland said, were prone to talk of the "good old days." But these new days, he added, are the good days and the greatest. The one unforgettable date will be 1918." Mr Shankland recalled some of the good old days in Willoughby, when as a boy he joyfully and gleefully saw the town marshal batter up some of the citizens who had too freely patronized Willoughby's saloons and were in consequence being conducted to the town "cooler." J. Edw. Weit introduced J. S. Rutledge, who went into much interesting detail in regard to the processes leading up to the dethroning of John Barleycorn in Ohio, and of the funeral. He, too, mentioned some of the good old days in Glenville, when he assisted the town marshal in loading the Sunday quota of drunks into the wheelbarrow, and they would then take part in a parade of much interest to the public as they wended their way to the town lockup. The gradual improvement and the standards that have been reached seem like a dream, he said. Dr. Swan of Salem, candidate for the Presbyterian Church pulpit, rendered a prayer, and the Rev. H. E. Bright led in the singing. The orchestra played. J. Edw. Weit, who was the prime mover in the affair, was chairman of the occasion. Pledge cards were passed in an effort to obtain funds to pay up expenses incurred. The flu ban made it impossible to hold public meetings previous to the campaign when funds are usually obtained.

The local Red Cross is arranging to supply the Thanksgiving or holiday touch to the dinner for the boys at the Ben Hur post Thursday next, by supplying pies and jelly. Otherwise the dinner would only be the regular everyday sort. If you will contribute a pie or a glass of jelly, please telephone any Red Cross member, so that your name may be listed. Any kind of pie may be given. Pies and jelly should be delivered at the Red Cross rooms Wednesday, not later than 1 p. m. This is an opportunity to give a festive touch to a soldier boy's Thanksgiving here at home. You know how awkward it would be if there wasn't enough pie to go round at your dinner party. Let's be sure, therefore, that every boy at the post has a piece of home-made pie for his Willoughby Thanksgiving dinner.

TUESEDAY TO BE REGULAR RED CROSS WORK DAY

Work at the Red Cross rooms has lightened, so that Tuesday will now be the regular work day. Workers are requested to hold themselves in readiness for emergency calls at any time.

WANT AN OLD NEWSPAPER OF 1851, OR AN OLD BOOK OF FAIRY TALES? CALL AT THE RED CROSS SHOP.

Articles displayed at the Red Cross shop in the Willoughby Republican window, donated by Mrs. S. S. Thomas, of the Kirtland road, are being rapidly sold. Charlotte L. Oldrieve, of the Lake road, has purchased one of the spinning wheels. C. M. Shipman took an indian relic. Eugene Vohlers selected two Indian relics and the snuff box. Mrs. Carmichael purchased the candlestick, and Miss Ethel Bryant retained the old fireplace crane. All articles are sold for the benefit of the Red Cross. Old books, newspapers, almanac and like articles are still on sale. Also some hand-made lace.

WILLOUGHBY KNITTER HAS COMPETITION IN MENTOR—IF ANYONE CAN BEAT THIS RECORD, PLEASE COME FORTH.

A short time ago, the Republican published an item in regard to Mrs. Jacob Flyer, who had knitted 68 pairs of socks for the Red Cross. It is now reported that Mrs. George Dow, of Mentor, has knitted 97 pairs. If there is any knitter in Wickliffe, or elsewhere, who can equal this record, we would be glad to have the report.

News of any knitters who have come near to these records would also be of interest.

A PRAYER FOR OUR COUNTRY

By Edna Kleinmeyer, Wickliffe.

Father, Thou hast saved this nation
Many, many times before
Thou first given us our station
Through victory in each war

Thou hast freed the slaves and made us
United, great and strong.
Thine own righteous hand has staid us
When tempted to do wrong.

Help us now as thou didst then;
Lead us in the paths of Right.
Be Thou ever near us when
We're lost in war's dark night.

Bless our leader; congress, too—
Give them wisdom, one and all.
Keep Liberty's bright torch in view
Held it higher lest we fall.

Bless the cause for which we fight,
The freedom of the world.
Guide us onward by Thy might
Till each flag of war is furled.

FRENCH GIRLS OR SOUTHERN GIRLS? NEITHER APPEAL TO THIS SOLDIER IN FRANCE. OHIO GIRLS FOR HIM, SAYS BOY FROM WAITE HILL

Somewhere in France,
Sat., Oct. 5, 1918.

Dear Ones At Home:

Just a few lines to let you know that I am well and hope this finds you all the same.

We have been good and busy since the 26th of last month, but I suppose you folks have heard of the big drive before this. It sure was a great drive and they have the Germans on the run yet, and I believe they will keep on running, for they are afraid of our boys.

Monday, Oct. 7, 1918.

I did not get a chance to finish this letter the other day, as we moved back for a rest, and we were all glad to get a good night's sleep. We rode all day yesterday in trucks, and while we were on our way we heard that the end is near, and you should hear the French people cheer as we went by. I heard this morning that it was up to Wilson whether we get peace or not.

I have not received the papers that Mary said she had sent me, but I should get them, for I see other boys in some of the other regiments are getting papers from home.

I hear that you folks can send us a three-pound package for Christmas, so if it is so, I wish you would send me some hard chocolate, some that will not melt very easy.

I saw Gordon yesterday. He is well and looking just the same as usual.

I think we will be starting for another drive pretty soon if it keeps on and peace is not declared.

I just received two more letters from you and I am glad that Edwin has arrived over here safe, but I really think he has arrived most too late to see much action, for I think he will get more training over here.

I guess some people thought that our boys in our division were babies, but they sure have made a name for themselves, for they are sure fighters. The Germans are glad to be captured after they find out that they are not going to be shot, although some of them are tricky and have to be watched pretty close.

Say, while I was trying to finish this letter the sergeant called me and gave me two letters and a roll of papers, those that Mary was sending me. I have not opened them yet, but will in a little while, and then I'll try and let Gordon see them.

I received a letter from Carrie yesterday and was glad to hear they are all well, and if I get a chance I'll try to look up the lad Carrie asked me to, but we are kept pretty busy, and when we are in a rest camp generally our whole division or regiment is all that is in the town, unless it is a large town.

Carrie asked me how I liked the French girls and if they were pretty. Well, there are some pretty girls over here, but I am like most of the boys. I have been in the south and now in France and have seen a lot of girls, but give us our good old northern girls.

I have been well, with the exception of a few days since we arrived over here, and really never felt any better in the States than I do right now.

It is getting a little warmer today, so perhaps we are not going to have winter for a while.

Believe me, it seems kind of good to be back where we do not have to carry our gas mask or helmet with us every time we go out of the billet. Us boys have not been in real gas yet, and I am in hopes will not see any of it. We are drilling a little this morning and I guess we will drill some again this afternoon.

Well, it is dinner time, so I will say goodbye. Love to all.

Your loving son and brother,

All Bible Classes Asked to Send Delegates to Convention

Our boys are true soldiers, measuring up to every responsibility, verifying the confidence and trust of the nation in them. They are true in all that the word implies. They expect the home defense to be as faithful as they are. They soon will be home. We must do our duty now and be prepared to meet them when they return, so they can say of us as we can say of them, "Well done." We must not delay in any of our work of preparation.

For the inspiration of the present and for plans for the future, every Bible class should send a delegation to the fourth annual convention of adult Bible classes of the State of Ohio, to be conducted under the auspices of the Ohio Sunday School Association at Bellefontaine on December 3rd and 4th. The postponement was necessary on account of the "flu" epidemic. Every phase of modern Sunday school life will be discussed by specialists.

Write Mr. A. T. Arnold, general secretary, Columbus, or Miss Minnie E. Bates, secretary of Lake County Sunday School Association, for registration blanks and program, and elect your delegation at once.

WEEKLY FARM BUREAU NEWS

Conducted by Clayton L. Long, Lake County Farm Agent

WITH WAR ENDED MORE FOOD THAN EVER WILL BE NEEDED

Farmers Are Therefore Engage in Farm Bureau Drive.

A state-wide campaign to increase the membership in county farm bureaus will be one of the feature of the food production campaign to be conducted over the country during Thanksgiving week. Every county farm bureau of Ohio is thoroughly organized for the drive and has set a goal for its membership.

Each person who joins his farm bureau will be presented with a membership button and a card 11 inches square suitable for fastening on his front gate.

The purpose of the campaign at the present time is in large part a big attempt to rally all agricultural forces of the country to united support of an efficient food production program.

Farmers, it is declared, have more reason than ever to expect a good market for all that they can possibly produce. They can bring this about most efficiently by collective effort and working through the one organization with which the United States Department of Agriculture and the College of Agriculture regularly cooperate.

To formulate more detailed plans for the campaign, a conference was held at which most of the farm bureau officers and county agricultural agents in this farm bureau district were present, at Alliance, O., November 13th.

NEGLECTED CLOVER CROP VALUABLEF OR FARMERS

That Lake county farmers have not reaped the possible benefits from growing clover in the crop rotation is shown by the fact that only one acre of this legume is being grown to every twenty acres of corn, oats, wheat and timothy and other non-legumes, according to the crop statistics from 1907 to 1916. Nitrogen is added to the soil more easily and more cheaply by growing clover than by any other method of fertilization.

The value of clover alone to add nitrogen to the soil would justify its use in the crop rotation, as found by tests at the Ohio Experiment Station, In addition, clover is a protein feed, which makes it valuable for feeding live stock. Fields of crops have been maintained at the Ohio station for 25 years by growing clover in the rotation, and adding only acid phosphate and muriate of potash as the other fertilizing compounds. The nitrogen content of the crops removed during the 25-year period is estimated to be 1,100 pounds. This amount, together with the nitrogen lost in the drainage water, can only be accounted for by the nitrogen-fixation process going on in the soil when clover is grown.

GARMENT MAKERS WANTED BY THE RED CROSS

To all Red Cross chapters:

Instructions today received from Washington prescribe:

First—That the making of surgical dressings must be stopped immediately.

Second—That chapters are to hold until further notice their unfinished supplies of surgical dressings.

Chapters are assured that there are in the Red Cross storehouses in America and France ample supplies of surgical dressings to meet all contingencies that may arise.

All other forms of chapter production activity must be continued. Calls from Red Cross commissions in many parts of the world make known the unlimited need for civilian relief. The chapters, therefore, should finish at once uncompleted orders of garments for refugees, so as to be prepared to take care of additional orders. Work on refugee garments at this time is all emergency work and should be stimulated to the utmost. The need for civilian relief for the winter is pressing and one garment now will be of infinitely greater service in saving a life than many garments in three or four months from now. SURGICAL DRESSINGS WORKERS ARE URGED TO ENLIST IN THE WORK OF GARMENT MAKING.

NEWS FROM WAITE HILL

Too Good NOT To Be True

Just think of it, the war has ended. Why, when I get to thinking of it, it almost seems too good to be true. If six months ago someone had said the war would end as early as this, I would have said the world would come to an end first. We were looking for it about next spring, but not quite yet, but when so many wise heads get together something is going to be done, and that quick too. Everybody is overjoyed by the speedy termination of the war. And to think that when we were watching the parade at Willoughby on Victory Day, that all over the whole world they were celebrating for the same cause only on a bigger scale of course in the Allied nations.

Mrs. Pitcher Visits Old Home

Mrs. Charles Pitcher, nee Mary Carpenter, from Los Angeles, is here at her brother's, J. C. Carpenter, for a lengthy visit. Her daughter, Mrs. Eva Nell, and daughter Georgia, came as ar as Nevada with her for a visit of 10 days. It has been several years since Mrs. Pitcher visited her old home.

Miss Ruth Maier was a Cleveland visitor Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stillwell and daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Emerich, were Sunday guests at the Maier home. Mrs. Stillwell is a sister of Mrs. Maier. Her son, who has been ill for four weeks, seems to be a very little improved. Drs. Chesbro and Tanner are treating him. His sickness is the result of the flu, terminating in pneumonia.

Miss Florence Yaxley was a Cleveland visitor Saturday.

Andrew Hill has a new horse.

Mrs. Rockafellow received another card and letter last week from her son that is overseas.

We hope the papers I sent the soldier letters to last week will be published this week sure.

We are having lovely weather here now and have been for several weeks, which is giving we farmers a chance to get our fall work done. Thanks to the weatherman. If people don't get their fall work done it's because they've too much to do, not because they've not tried, so please don't call us lazy. Anything but that.

Death of Frank Cottrell

We've just learned of the death of Mr. Frank Cottrell of Willoughby, but formerly of Chesterland, where Geo. Brichford now lives. He passed away Saturday evening after an illness of only two days, although he had been in poor health for some time.

Mrs. Raymond Francis was taken to the hospital Saturday to have some cancers removed by Drs. Tanner and Hammond. She returned home the same day. Mrs. Walter Baldwin went up with her and stayed through the operation. Mrs. Francis is entitled to much sympathy as this is the 4th time she has been operated on for cancer. Mrs. Gardner, a sister, is caring for her.

Willoughby Soldier Makes Blackberry Pies in France

In the list of names of Willoughby and nearby boys who have served in the great war, as published in last week's Republican, the name of one soldier was omitted and that was Charles Roberts, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts of the Lake road, Willoughby. He is a brother of Mrs. George Yaxley. He is cook in the Tanks overseas and writes they're having good times and that he was making blackberry pies. Yum, yum.

The Willoughby schools reopened Monday, after having been closed for several weeks on account of the flu, but we note there are many new cases in that vicinity and in Kirtland.

Miss Mattie Pratt, teacher in the chapel, is ill with the flu and her school is closed. The Whitcomb, the Page, the Young and Gill boys all have it.

Walter Metcalf and family attended the War Expo at Cleveland Monday and report it very interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Perry motored to Columbus Sunday and from there they will go to Pittsburg.

Mr. French Roberts and family will move from Harmondale farm to the Julia Fritz farm in the spring.

The Hobart family were Painesville visitors Saturday. We'd missed two days and thought they'd be looking for us.

Mrs. Lake's sister, a trained nurse, has come to spend the winter with her.

W. C. Metcalf is combining business with pleasure as on his way to the Expo Monday he sold another furnace.

Well, this Tuesday A. M. it looks as if our good weather is a thing of the past. The weatherman really ought to give us good weather for the Expo this week at Cleveland, as everybody wants to go.

We've just learned of the sad news of the death of Henry Wells, who passed away at 6 a. m., very suddenly this Tuesday, probably with heart failure, although we've not learned the particulars.

KIRTLAND TO BAKE PIES FOR SOLDIER BOYS

The Kirtland Red Cross society are soliciting for pies and jellies for the soldiers of the Ben Hur plant for Thanksgiving. They can be left with Mrs. N. P. Crawford, Temple Hill, or with Mrs. J. W. TAXATION AMENDMENT RECEIVES OVER 600,000 VOTES

Columbus, O., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—The old uniform rule of taxation in Ohio will become obsolete on December 5th, when the constitutional amendment to classify property for purposes of taxation becomes effective. The classification amendment is carried by about 30,000 and more than one-third of the counties gave it a majority.

The amendment received more than 650,000 votes. The large vote was a surprise to students of elections, and it is the biggest total vote ever cast on a proposal to amend the constitution of Ohio, excepting only the wet and dry question. The adoption of the amendment will give the coming general assembly a real job. It will be up to the legislature to classify property and fix rates. It is not expected that the legislature will revolutionize taxation in Ohio, but that it will make classifications along lines that have proven successful in other states.

THE TRIUMPH OF ABNEGATION

Many of us are at a disadvantage through our lack of visual imagination.

We can read of the Otranto disaster without seeing a mental picture of the storm. We cannot see the waves mounting seventy feet high, and the American soldiers lining the rails with the discipline of the parade ground till receiving the order to jump. The printed page cannot give us the same thrill as the celluloid film, and on these occasions the camera is not in action.

Those who lost relatives in the disaster will see the picture more vividly, and among the khaki-clad figures that people it there will be one outlined more distinctly than any of the others. But even in its bitterest poignancy their grief will find some consolation in the victorious progress of the undertaking to which their kinsmen contributed by the example of death heroically faced. They were as much a part of it as those whose graves have consecrated Chateau Thierry and St. Mihiel.

Over 322,333 American soldiers were landed in France during the month of August. One thousand locomotives are operating there, and over 10,000 freight cars—all used in transporting men and supplies to the front. More than 1,800,000 American soldiers were in France by October.

The unselfish patriotism that gladly yields its kinsmen to the furtherance of a sublime cause finds consolation even in cold arithmetic such as this. Every wooden cross in French and Flemish soil, every unmarked grave in the Atlantic is sacred as a part of the price which we pay as a nation for the accomplishment of our stedfast resolve.

LINCOLN NEVER PHONED

Quite a Lesson in What Great Men Did Not Have.

Girard, in the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph, says that Shakespeare never drank a cup of tea, never tasted coffee, never sipped cocoa, never ate a potato and never smoked a cigar.

Napoleon never saw a steamboat nor a railroad train.

Lincoln never saw an electric light nor talked through a telephone.

St. Peter's Cathedral was the product of Michael Angelo's brain, but he never read a book that came from a printing press.

Raphael painted his immortal Madonna, but he never ate a corn muffin.

Cleopatra never owned a velvet gown, and Helen of Troy never owned a pair of leather shoes. George Eliot never saw a "movie."

Fine.

But what has given to the common people more palatable food and drink than Shakespeare? What enables the people to travel in greater ease on land and sea than did Napoleon? What gives the people the personal touch with their fellows that Lincoln never had? Why are the books denied to Michael Angelo the common property of a hundred millions of Americans? What has brought the velvet gown to grace our womankind, the shoe of kid to make her feet look pretty and feel comfortable? Why can all the world go to the "movies"? What has brought all this about? ENGLISH EDITOR'S TRIBUTE TO HIS OFFICE BOY

A newspaper editor in London, Eng., has written a tribute to his office boy, killed in action in France, that is a bit different from the usual English style of writing. It tells a story right from the heart of the chief's affection for his young coworker, as follows:

"Humphreys is asleep in France. Most people do not know Humphreys. He was only a boy—the merry boy of the staff. He grew up with it. He was a member of the League of the Helping Hand. He made the world seem bright on its darkest day, for Humphreys knew the joy of life. He enlisted one day on his way to the office, quietly and without a word to any human being. It was work for a boy, he thought, and he did it. He was in the trenches for years. He hardly ever had a rest.

"And now he is gone—one more on the long, long roll of England's heroes, one more on the long, long road that leads to everlasting life. The [illegible]

Hippodrome

Any vaudeville bill with three headliners on it like Eddie Foy and family, Jack Norworth and Lillian Shaw should prove attractive enough for all theater-goers. The entire show gives promise of being the best of the present season. Mr. Foy needs no introduction in this city. This year he is offering a new act entitled "Slummers in New York." One of Mr. Foy's boysi s serving in the army and the family now have a Service Flag. Mr. Foy and his young army of family soldiers were never so well supplied in their stage material. Their new act has been breaking attendance records all over the circuit. Jack Norworth has always been a popular star in Cleveland. He is without a peer as a singer of popular songs. Norworth went to England and, billed as "The American Boy," was the advance guard of the American army and did a lot to cement friendly relations. For his present vaudeville tour Mr. Norworth is singing some original songs as only he can sing them. Last season Lillian Shaw was such a huge success here that the local management of the Hippodrome arronged to have her return for an early date this year. Miss Shaw is one of the most talented dialect comediennes on the stage, and her famous song "Married" is a classic of comic character studies. Another entertaining feature will be Julia Nash and C. H. O'Donnell, who will present the charming comedy sketch, "Three G. M." This new act has a lot of bright and clever lines and amusing situations. From overture to exit march this new show is one long to be remembered. Caits Brothers, who have just returned from working among our boys in the trenches, will make their first Cleveland appearance. They are called the "Tailor made Boys" and have a classy act. Other hits will be Gerard's Comic Monkeys, Stanley Gallini and his novelty shadographs and a big surprise feature act. The first of a series of photo reels issued by the American Red Cross will be shown.

Duchess Theatre

Mr. Vaughan Glaser will make his first personal appearance on the stage of the Duchess Monday night in "A Pair of Silk Stockings," a comedy which has its scenes in the country house of an English gentleman and which is guaranteed to produce enough of the spice and joy of life to keep the audience laughing from curtain to curtain. The action in the piece is provided by the mysterious midnight visit of Sam Thornhill (Mr. Glaser) to the apartment of Molly Thornhill (Miss Courtency), his recently divorced wife, his being caught there, mistaken for a burglar, bound with "a pair of silk stockings" and finally escaping. It's what happens in the bedroom, the explanations that follow and the situations that arise from this midnight visit that furnish the fun.

Ably supporting Mr. Glaser and Miss Courteney are all the company favorites.

Opera House

The coveted place in the Belasco limelight has fallen to another new actress. Ina Claire is the fortunate young woman whose destiny hereafter is to be linked with that of the famous producing manager. She will make her first Cleveland appearance in a straight dramatic role next Monday evening, November 25th, when for a week's engagement David Belasco will present at the Euclid Avenue Opera House, the Belasco Theater. New York comedy hit, "Polly With a Past."

In "Polly With a Past" Miss Claire is an intelligent young woman, the daughter of an Ohio clergyman, who waits on two young bachelors, irked as they are by nothing in life except the ravings of a love-sick chum. Polly knows her French and is working to continue her musical education in Paris. She is persuaded, because of her accomplishments, to impersonate a bewitching French siren, fill with envy the indifferent young woman and bring her to terms. From here on the demure and modest Polly Shannon becomes Paulette Bady, the French enchantress, a transition that affords Miss Claire full scope for the display of those talents which rightly entitle her to the conspicuous place she now holds on the dramatic stage.

Besides Miss Claire, the other roles are in the hands of such well known players as Cyril Scott, H. Reeves-Smith, Herbert Yost, George Stuart Christie, Thomas Reynolds, Louise Galloway, Adah Barton, Betty Linley, Francis Verdi and Lloyd Neal.

There will be a special matinee on Thursday (Thanksgiving Day).

Standard Theater

Week of November 24th the Standard Theater presents the second big success of the young favorite, Tom Moore, in "Thirty a Week." This picture even excels his first big hit, "Just for Tonight," in which play he at once won the admiration of thousands of picture admirers all over the country. In "Thirty a Week" he plays the part of a chauffeur of a rich banker, whose daughter falls in love with him, but in his station he dare not return the love until she makes it clear to him. They elope, and lots of hard luck follows the young couple, even a separation through unjust gossip, but he proves himself worthy even of a millionaire's daughter, and are finally united again with a father's blessing, and the envy of all the smarter set. Players of exceptional prominence support Tom Moore in this production. Miss Tallulah Bankhead, his leading lady, is a grand-daughter of United States Senator John H. Bankhead, of Alabama, and daughter of Representative Bankhead, of the same state.

Miles Theater

MILES BACK TO VAUDEVILLE

The affiliated vaudeville circuit extending from coast to coast has just got the routes for performers straightened out after being seriously handicapped by the influenza epidemic. More than two hundred theaters were closed for a period of from one to six weeks, thus disorganizing the different shows over the entire route. he Miles was Tcompelled to present pictures for the past two weeks in order to open when the ban was taken off in Cleveland, but the old policy of vaudeville again on November 25th, presenting six acts of diversified vaudeville and a program of first run photo plays at the same old prices of 15c, 25c and 35c. The performances will run continuously from 1 to 11 p. m. daily. A special Lyceum concert will be presented today, introducing six new concert acts and a complete new program of pictures.

Vindictive.

Never before during our nearly ten years in the men's clothing business have we been able to show more thoroughly complete and handsome stocks of men's and young men's clothing for cold-weather wear than at this time.

You can come here and make your selections with every assurance that you cannot do as well elsewhere, go where you will. This you can quickly prove by investigating and making comparisons. Prices if you will stop and think of the Governments enormous demands for heavy woolens, are reasonably moderate, all things considered, and if you need clothing you cannot gain anything by waiting before buying.

Buy now to your advantage later on and have theclothes you need for the long Winter months ahead to wear on Thanksgiving. Men of usual build, men who are portly or stout and youths who are slender alike find correct-fitting sizes here.

Our modern chain-store system and direct-to-you selling plan is proving its worth nowadays to men and young men who practice thrift and economy.

Star Theater

With the "Sporting Widows," which comes to the Star Theater next week, is Alice Lazar, the Lady Beautiful of Buruesque, who in addition to entrancing beauty of face and form, possesses a voice by far superior to any heretofore heard outside of high-class musical organizations.

The management of "The Sporting Widows" were fortunate in securing the services of Harry Cooper, the funniest of all comedians, whose talent as a laugh producer is recognized wherever burlesque patrons congregate. Among other artists included in the above organiationsz are Mazie King, Louise Wright, Joe Brown, Harry Myers, Frank Ward and George Wiest, who will portray different characters in the musical farce. "All in Fun," which production will be embellished by magnificent scenic and electrical equipment, while the twenty song hits and big dancing numbers will give the entire corps of ladies opportunity to display of their perfect forms and magnificent costumes that have been imported especially for "The Sporting Widows."

Empire Theater

"Whirling Around," a two-act revue with a deal of varied material, is the offering presented the week at the Empire theater, where it is offered by the Mile-a-Minute Girls.

Billy K. Wells is responsible for the book, while the music is by Hal Dyson. Raymond B. Peres staged the dance numbers. The cast includes such well known favorites as Ambark Ali, Billy Barry, Claude Radcliffe, Ida Blanchard, Helen Russell, Ella Claus, Mildred Gilmore, George Brennan and Jimmy Holly. There is a snappy chorus, well trained and fast, and the scenic effects are unusually elaborate.

The settings range from Mountain View Inn to the seashore, and from Palace of Art to a court of law. Radcliffe and Holly introduce an exceptional specialty, while Delphinne and her Posing Models present an artistic turn.

Archie Dale Tucker, residence unknown, will take notice that Anna Tucker filed a petition against him in the Court of Insolvency of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce, custody of children and relief on the ground of gross neglect of duty. Said petition is No. 7634 and will be for hearing on and after January 3rd, 1919.

SWIFT & CO.

Large Part of War Earnings Expected to Disappear When Prices Begin to Go Down.

Boston—Swift & Co. has prepared a reply to the accusations of the Federal Trade Commission filed with a Senate sub-committee on Sept. 28

The company states that in its whole consideration of profits, the Federal Trade Commission fails to realize that the profits reported by the packers are not profits that have actually appeared in the form of cash, but are largely book profits tied up in inventory which will undoubtedly disappear in large measure when prices begin to go down. Even if the war lasts five years longer and the drop in prices does not come until then, the loss will be just as real.

For the meat and by-products departments, which are subject to the 9% limitation of profits, the statement continues, the rate of turn-over is approximately 3 1-3 times a year. "It must be remembered that part of the steer consists of by-products which move slowly, that some of the beef is cured and salted, and large portion of pork products consists of cured products which move very slowly and that even in the sale of strictly fresh meat it takes some time for the money to return to the company's coffers after the actual sale is made.

"The commission says that the packers' profit of one-quarter of a cent per pound on beef amounts to $5 a ton as compared to only 25 cents per ton profit on coal. As a matter of fact, an average quality ton of beef is worth at wholesale at present about $400, whereas a ton of anthracite coal at tidewater is worth only about $7. Compare a $5 profit on a $400 sale with a 25-cent profit on a $7 sale. The beef profit is only about 1¼%, coal profit over 3½%.

"In 1917 Swift & Co. filed over 30,000,000 orders of all products with a total of about 200,000,000 items, a large part of which had to be weighed and wrapped separately, while coal is delivered in car lots or ton lots."

Answering the charge that packers have agreed among themselves upon division of live stock receipts, company gives the maximum and minimum weekly percentages of cattle purchases made during the year Sept 1, 1917, to Sept. 1, 1918, as follows:

	Maxi %	mini %	Difference between maxi & mini
Chicago	43.1	32.7	13.2
Kansas City	31.4	18.5	12.9
Omaha	37.6	25.0	12.6
East St. Louis	47.6	31.0	16.6
South St. Joseph	60.0	35.9	24.1

TAXATION AMENDMENT MAKES BIG PROBLEM FOR LEGISLATURE

W. L. Ulmer, Well Known Cleveland Broker, Secretary of Ohio Taxpayers' League, Says Activity will be Continued.

The old uniform rule of taxation in Ohio will become obsolete on December 5, when the constitutional amendment to classify property for purposes of taxation become effective. The classification amendment is carried by about 30,000, more than one-third of the counties giving it a majority. The amendment received the extraordinary total of 650,000 votes. This large vote was a surprise to all students of elections, and it is the biggest vote ever cast on a proposal to amend the constitution of the State, aside from that on the liquor question.

The Ohio Taxpayers' League, which is composed of farmers, labor representatives, merchants, manufacturers and bankers, which backed this amendment, will, it is announced, continue its activities. W. L. Ulmer, secretary of the state league, a well known Cleveland broker of the firm of S. Ulmer & Sons, in the Hippodrome Building, is now engaged in making a survey of the operation of classification in other states, and that information, when received, will be laid before the legislature.

"The adoption of the amendment will give the coming General Assembly a real job," says Mr. Ulmer. "It will be up to the Legislature to classify property and fixe rates. It is not expected the Legislature will revolutionize taxtion in Ohio, but that it will make classification along the lines that have proven successful in other states.

"The experience of other states proves that classification increases the tax revenues from properties that now escape taxation. The amendment is simple; it affects only the taxation section of the constitution. It does not in any way impair or affect the initiative and referendum. If the legislature should enact unfair classification laws, they could be referred to the voters the same as any other enactment. We realize that the General Assembly has a big task ahead of it. Classification alone gives the Legislature a real job. Now that revenues from liquors are wiped out, taxation will be a legislative problem of momentous importance."

HOTEL STRAND

Will H. Stumm is not so old in years; he is right in the prime of life. But he is one of the old timers in the hotel business of Cleveland. Moreover, he has a string of acquaintances in the theatrical business that extends from coast to coast. For nearly two years past he has been the proprietor of the Hotel Strand on Euclid avenue at East 16th street, almost opposite the Hotel Euclid, just a few blocks above the down-town heart of the city.

"Your comfort, my concern," is the slogan that tops his business card, and anybody who has known him understands that this is no idle claim. The Hotel Strand is a quiet hotel of the smaller class, as hotels go in Cleveland. There is no restaurant and it does not cater much to transient trade. But it is run right up to the limit, as only a first-class hotel man knows how to run a hotel. "Talking about conserving," queries Mr Stumm, "how about this hotel?" All the sixty rooms are outside rooms with phones and with either running water or bath. The prices run from $1 to $1.50 per day. That, in these days, is certainly a "conserving" price or the courteous service, the clean rooms and the accurate desk service, all under the constant supervision of the proprietor himself.

There are single rooms, but the hotel specializes on suites for auto touring parties. Almost everybody in northern Ohio knows Mr. Stumm and there is a constant run of custom from this source, accommodations being reserved by letter or long distance telephoning.

And who is Will M. Stumm, you may ask, if you are a newcomer in the city. Old-timers do not ask the question. He is the man who was for many years a Cleveland theatrical treasurer, formerly connected with the Lyceum theater, that was torn down some years ago. Then he went into the hotel business and extended his acquaintance in the old Hotel Tavistock, now the Hotel Martinique. Adjacent was the Hotel Wyandotte that stood where the left wing of the big Halle Brothers store is now situated. Both the hotels were under his management.

Outside of Cleveland Mr. Stumm has a lot of family connections, as well as a large acquaintance in the northern end of the state. His brother is George W. Stumm, editor o the Painesville Herald and The Mixer.

No better place for the money can be found in Cleveland for parties who are looking for a quiet family hotel than The Strand.

SHE MAKES SPECIALTY OF TEACHING ENGLISH TO FOREIGNERS

Miss Cora Dykes Albright, reader and teacher of English, elocution, public speaking and voice culture is specializing in the teaching of English to the foreigners.

Miss Albright is a graduate and post-graduate of the Tucker School of Expression. Last winter she took the normal extension course of English for foreigners at the Normal School under Mr. [illegible]stle's direction.

Miss Albright three years ago gave up her platform work as an entertainer and reader to devote her time entirely to the Americanizing of the foreigners. Her work among the foreigners has covered a broad field, as it has included the university man as well as the illiterate. They have gathered from all parts of the globe in her little studio, to be taught the first principles of good citizenship and to be real Americans.

Her work also reaches the working girl, as well as the tired mother who has never had the chance to acquire an education. She becomes the adviser and friend of her students.

Miss Albright has had ten years experience as a teacher.

Prof. Thomas Post, a French teacher from Montpellier French College in France, and Prof. Frederick Pese, from Rome, an Italian teacher, are associated with her in the studio.

Miss Albright's success lies in her love for her work.

She is located at 301 Clarence Bldg., 612 Euclid avenue, Cleveland.

Don't talk about work. Begin it and as you go in its accomplishment half the problems at the start will solve themselves.—General Goethals.

Send Photo to Yank for Christmas Gift

BY MRS. R. C. MORRIS,
National President of the War Mothers of America.

The War Department has announced that American soldiers in France can receive but one Christmas package this year. It must not weigh more than three pounds nor measure more than nine inches by four by three. Men in the navy may be sent packages not to exceed 20 pounds.

Now, let's get together and put one over on the War Department! The War Mothers of America are asking that every town and city have a "snap-shot campaign."

Organize two committees, one to make a list of soldiers' families, with the day and hour when that family will be at home to be "snapped"; another committee to mobilize all the cameras and amateur photographers in town.

Induce some patriotic person to make a gift of the envelopes to contain the finished picture, let the envelope be Christmasy in color and bear a message of good will from the old town to the fighting man overseas. The camera owner should pay the few cents which it will cost to develop and mail the picture. Then our men will receive what they would like best in all the world this Christmas, a picture of the old folk and young folk at home, a picture taken in the familiar back yard or on the steps of the porch, a group picture, which may include the dog, and perhaps a friendly neighbor or two.

If You Want To Be Comfortable This Winter

Don't try to change your coal furnace into a gas furnace by installing gas rings or gas burners—even for occasional use. A coal furnace isn't built for heating with gas.

If you have a coal furnace and want to heat with gas during part of the year—install a separate gas furnace for this purpose—a furnace so constructed that it will burn gas efficiently.

But don't depend upon gas alone. If your only heating equipment is a gas furnace—we urge you once more to order an auxiliary heating appliance—which will burn either coal or wood. A combination of this sort offers the simplest and most satisfactory method of solving your winter's heating problems.

Cleveland has grown tremendously. It cannot any longer depend upon any one fuel to protect health and life.

Our heating experts will gladly advise you NOW.

an Electric Radiator is a great source of comfort. It provides emergency warmth wherever you want it. It gives off an even, steady supply of heat which will soon take the chill off any room.

Electric Radiators are safer, more sanitary and much less trouble to operate than any other kind of portable heater. They eliminate danger of fire, and do not give off obnoxious fumes.

Prepare for the coming cold spells now by installing an Electric Radiator in your home.

It will have 101,000 square feet of floor space in the only plant of its kind in Cleveland. It is expected manufacture will be started early in the new year.

In Our College Room

You Young Men and You Older Men Who Stay Young Will Find Clothes That Do You Credit

Society Brand Clothes

STRANGERS must rate you by your dress and general appearance. They cannot know who you are, what your character is and what your ability may be. Your appearance is your personal advertisement — it is the only information you give the public by which they may judge you. And appearance is largely the result of the clothes you wear.

Along these lines our College Room has been developed. It is a place where young men and older men with young ideas will find clothes that are different from the ordinary clothes with personality clothes that acknowledge nothing better in fabric, fit, style and workmanship. And what you gain through appearing able and alert in the eyes of others is extra value that the price does not cover.

Young Men's Overcoats At $25, $30, $35 up to $60

Society Brand Clothes deserve consideration for many reasons. In the first place, "Society Brand" style is distinctive — it is leading. In the second place, the style is tailored into the garment — put in by hand, not pressed in by machinery. In the third place skilled tailors cut and make Society Brand Clothes, giving them that finished appearance that well dressed men want. And in the fourth place, The May Company is the only place in Cleveland where you can buy "Society Brand" Suits and Overcoats.

WARM DWELLINGS FOR WORKERS ON DAMS AT DAYTON

Men Laboring to Protect War Industries Will Be Made Comfortable.

Snug and cozy winter quarters for the 1,200 men now employed on the Miami Conservancy flood protection works near Dayton, Ohio, and for the 1,200 more who will soon be needed are being prepared with redoubled energy since the decision late in September that this project is a necessary war industry and that men essential to its progress may have deferred classification in the draft.

Warm Dwellings.

The bunkhouses or dormitories at the five construction camps are being made tight and warm for the winter. Fitted with shower baths with hot and cold water, modern inside toilets, electric lights and warm lounging rooms in addition to the private bedrooms, they furnish unusually comfortable quarters for the winter months. The Miami Valley, in a line with northern Virginia, usually has very mild winters as compared with the northern states, and flowers are in bloom out of doors until the middle of November or later. Last winter was the coldest for 40 years, but usually snow stays on the ground for only a week or two, and outside work continues all winter.

Southern Ohio District Exemption Board No. 3 decided September 26 that the flood prevention work in the Miami Valley is a necessary war industry. It is not considered safe to leave the valley's many munition factories unprotected from possible flood a moment longer than necessary. Since the going of engineers and other workers to war would slow up production the work will be in deferred classification and there will be hundreds of skilled and unskilled workmen to be kept comfortable during the winter months.

Keep Up Fires.

Both skilled and unskilled laborers on the conservancy work may rent the comfortable houses with three, four or five rooms, which have lately been built at the camps, and bring their families there to live. The winter supply of coal for all the camps was bought months ago and every cottage and bunkhouse will have its coal shed.

"There will probably be some one at each camp to look after the stoves in all bunkhouses and keep up the fires," said Alex McKinnon, overseer at the Germantown camp the other day. From eight to 72 men sleep in each bunkhouse. All through the pleasant fall weather they have been lounging outdoors in the sunshine after their meals, but as winter comes on they will want warm places to sit.

One of the new buildings at the Germantown camp will probably be furnished as a club house for winter use.

To Build Conduits.

The "dam-with-a-hole-in-it" idea, which is the basis of the flood protection works near Dayton, is a new one to many people. The dams are to be big earthen ones, extending across an entire creek or river valley. A concrete lined "hole" or conduit resting on solid rock in the hillside will extend clear through each dam, letting the water go through at its usual level. The conduits are only large enough to let a safe amount of water go through, so in flood times, some of the surplus will back up behind the dams to run off gradually as the flood subsides.

Flood water on the Loire river in France is kept back in two places by retarding dams of this kind.

Some of the concrete work on these conduits can be so protected through the cold weather that it may go on as usual, without danger from freezing, it is thought. There will be work enough to ensure jobs to the entire force, as certain pieces of work which can be well done in winter have been put off until then.

Families at Camp.

There is a good general store at each camp, water and sewer connection in every house. Each camp has a good school, too; and children in the conservancy camps have been hard at work in the schoolhouses since early in September.

One advantage of providing dwellings for the workmen where they can have their families is that the wives can help out in unexpected emergencies. In this way the women may have a chance to earn money for themselves.

The cook at the Germantown dam took "French leave" all of a sudden one day not long ago. Some of his helpers went with him. However, even better meals than usual were served to the laborers, foremen and office men. Wives of several of the men came right over to the mess hall, made mashed potatoes, waited on the tables and helped otherwise. Their husbands ate there instead of at home.

Good Dinner.

Noon dinner consisted of mutton stew with savory brown gravy, mashed potatoes, boiled cabbage, salad made out of beets and onions, bread and butter, coffee and apple sauce. Everything was served in big dishes and right off the stove.

"We had a good breakfast," said a man whose wife was "helping out." He named fried eggs, griddle cakes, meat, potatoes, coffee, milk and oatmeal porridge as the breakfast menu, and he seemed to have relished the change from his home table. His wife had made the salad, and he admitted it was good.

She would finish up her work quickly, she said, because there was a Red Cross meeting called to sew for the French and Belgians at one of the houses in the camp. Germantown is two miles and a half from the camp, so the women are dependent on each other for society.

Will Spend Millions.

The colored laborers live in a comfortable farm house across the creek from the main camp. Some of the foreign workmen have their own boarding houses and mess halls, run by their own people.

One of the winter plans at the Germantown camp is to have dances, concerts and church services in the school house. This has a big stage and a good floor.

Men from all over the country are already at work for the Miami Conservancy District at the five dams and on the river channel improvements. Fifteen million dollars worth of bonds was sold last winter, with the approval of Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo, and another ten millions will probably be issued to provide for later expenses. The work is likely to keep on for at least four more years.

THAT ROCKING CHAIR SHRINE

Place Where Mother Sat Will Forever Be a Sacred One to Childhood.

By the window in the sitting room stood the old chair. It was "mother's chair"—otherwise it would have been just a chair. With mother in it, however, it became the shrine to which flocked her devoted little worshipers.

In the rocker, as we sat on mother's knee, or at her side—for the chair was generously made—the bumped head and the bruised heart were healed. Frightened, we found there a safe retreat, a refuge from every harm. At night, the bedtime story was told to the rhythm of its soothing swing. Joys, sorrows, all were brought to its encircling arms. Mother's chair, rocking, rocking, rocking by the window.

"Mere sentiment!" you say? Then, God pity you—you have no precious old chair.

The old chair, we think, had a hand in the making of character. Maybe it was more effective in this service than we realize. Seated in it, we watched the needle in quick, nimble fingers, glinting in and out among the frayed edges, tirelessly; we heard our childish perplexities explained over and over again, with no hint of vexation; we sang the songs which taught us some of the beauty of life; we listened to stories of bravery and truth. Industry, patience, beauty, courage, honesty—they can be traced back through a golden pathway, straight to mother's chair.

The old chair had seen valiant service. Old-fashioned, scarred and worn, it still stood in the familiar place by the window. Why is it not refinished—the scars smoothed out, the worn places covered? What! Cover the marks which little hands have made, the worn spot where mother's tired head rested, the scars made by tiny, restless feet? Such a question came from one who did not understand. To him, the old chair was mere wood and paint—just a piece of furniture, not a shrine.

We do not say it aloud—our greatest longings are not spoken—but sometimes, when life gets tangled, we find ourselves going again to the old chair to have the knots untied. When grief comes, we sob it out, there. When joy comes we run to tell it there. When we fail, when we win, our thoughts take us to the old chair. And at night, the little lisping prayers come begging to be said, and we send them, along with our grown-up petitions, up to heaven, by way of that sacred shrine.—People's Home Journal.

Flanders.

The Flemish form of the name Flanders is Vlaenderen and the word means the country of the Flemish. The Flanders of the middle ages was a self-governing countship, that is, a country whose ruler was a count, but at times it was under the suzerainty of France, and sometimes under that of the empire which then included the Germanic states. The Flanders of the middle ages is today divided between France and Belgium, the greater part being included in Belgium, and two provinces in the western part of the latter country are known as East and West Flanders, the latter fronting on the North sea. Practically all the country that formed old Flanders [illegible] fence" It was commonly called the Low Country. Ypres and the British lines out to the North sea and south for a considerable distance into northern France, are in a country that formed part of old Flanders.

Remarkable Fence.

A postless fence is located on the big road near Monroe, La. Years ago, so many years ago that nobody in this section knows when it was, nor who was the labor-saving genius who did it, this fence was built by forcing split boards between saplings. Then the trees grew. They kept on growing until today they are of immense size and deeply imbedded in them are the ends of those old rails. It is impossible to tell how deeply they extend into the tree trunks. They are weathered and yet they ring as true and sound under a hammer as though just hewn. The rails were arranged in rows about a foot and a half apart, to a height of five feet, and around their ends until one of the most substantial fences imaginable has been created.

STORY OF THE MILLION COCKROACHES IN A PRINT SHOP WHO MET FATE OF HUNS IN A YANKEE DRIVE

How Man From Chamberlain-Haber Chemical Company Mopped Up the St. Clair Avenue Place With His Little Powder Blower

A million cockroaches were living in a print shop on St. Clair avenue last week. Now there are none. Not one single roach in the entire shop. And thereby hangs the tale of the most remarkable slaughter since the Germans were stopped at Verdun.

The oldest inhabitant cannot recall when there were no cockroaches before in the shop. The Grand-daddies probably arrived shortly after Moses Cleveland, and they were keeping house there back in the days of the Civil War. There were millions of them and they were much at home. They took their regular meals out in the back room where the ink and paste were thickest, but they had a little kitchenette in the sanctum and they reveled in the editorial paste pot. They were friendly, too, with the young lady stenographer in the front room. And so it had been for generations and generations. Nobody paid any attention to the matter, for cockroaches, as all newspaper men know, are as much a part of the print shop as the old office towel or the big press.

And this is what happened: A young man breezed in the other day, a perfect stranger, and asked if there were any cockroaches around. He announced after this informal introduction that he had come to clean them out. Nobody got excited at the announcement, however, but just to please the young man he was given a chance to demonstrate. Whereupon he proceeded to mop up roaches with the same rush that the Yanks tackled the first batch of Huns in July and started the big drive that did not stop until the kaiser ran away and quit. The young man produced a pair of big bellows and began to blow powder around the shop. He said he came from the Chamberlain-Haber Chemical Company, 1625 Prospect Avenue and that "Nip-on" was the name of the stuff he was using.

When the young man left that was the end of every blessed roach in the entire building. They just curled up and died. They were not driven away or stupefied to come back to life later. They did not run from it. They seemed to like it. They all came to the frolic. They were lured from the unseen haunts and hidden corners. Every one of the million celebrated by taking a joy ride.

And that is the story of how our print shop is the only print shop in Cleveland without cockroaches. It is effective because it is not a food. All food powders are either poisonous or ineffective. If the roaches are hungry they overlook a food powder. They prefer salad dressing or jam or paste or ink. But they all love the odor of Nip-on and that is their undoing.

The young man said that his powder was just as effective in killing flies, moths and mosquitoes. After what he did to the roaches, one is willing to take his word for most anything else in the same category. The Chamberlain-Haber Chemical Company is one of the big corporations in its line. It specializes on Presto, a chemical for removing obstructions from drains, waste and sewer pipes. But that is another story. What its Nip-On did to the cockroaches in our print shop was good and plenty.

PEACE WILL BRING NOTABLE INCREASE IN RAILROAD TRAVEL IMMEDIATELY

George Gluckman, Proprietor of the Luggage Shoppe, Looks for Extraordinary Boom in His Line of Trade, Following the Removal of War Restrictions

The idea of the freedom of the world is still new, following the long months of restriction imposed by the war. All realize instinctively that the change is momentous, and it is taking a few days of hard thinking by business men to figure out the effect pro and con that the new conditions will have on each individual line of industry and trade.

Few business men dispute the conclusion that increased prosperity will follow the end of the war. There will be adjustments and in some cases temporary losses, due to the shifting back from war to peace work. But this is the day of the optimist. After the terrible ordeal that has tried the business community, testing its fiber with the acid test, the releasing of burdensome restrictions, made necessary by war, will in many cases cause a notable and immediate expansion.

Nobody has been traveling much on railroad trains in the past year. To be sure, millions of soldiers have been moved from camp to camp and from the inland cantonments to the ports on the Atlantic for embarkation. Thousands of military officers, government officials and business men interested in war work have scurried back and forth from coast to coast. But in the main, the ordinary traveling for pleasure has almost ceased, for there has been slight pleasure left in traveling. The old days of luxurious transcontinental travel have been almost forgotten. Indeed, all civilians have been urged, as a matter of patriotism to stay at home and not to use the railroads for pleasure.

With the passing of the ban on general travel, and already that ban is passing, there promises to be in the coming months the greatest rush of pleasure-seeking travel this country has seen in years. People who have been too busy with war matters to ride on railroad trains and steamboats, except on the rare occasions when business or duty called, will now be released from the tension.

Naturally, travelers carry luggage and naturally the impending rush of travel means a rush for new luggage, beyond that of any occasion known in the history of this industry. "We are preparing for the biggest business in the sale of trunks, traveling bags and suitcases we have ever had in our business," remarked Mr. G. Gluckman, manager of the famous "Luggage Shoppe" on Euclid avenue, a few steps east of the 9th street corner. And this experienced manager bases his prediction on the conditions outlined. "While the making and sale of luggage has not been considered nonessential," continued Mr. Gluckman, "and while we have had a large trade due to war uses, the military demand of the past year will not, I believe compare with the civilian demand that will be created by the removal of restrictions in traveling and the return of some of the conveniences of travel, such as we enjoyed before the war."

OLDEST PHOTOGRAPHER IN CLEVELAND; HAS REMAINED IN SAME STUDIO 33 YEARS

Robert F. Krumhar, 1917 West 25th St., Started in Business in 1885 and is Still Taking Pictures at the Old Stand. Remarkable Collection of Old Photographs of Former Generations of West Clevelanders

Do you know who is the oldest photographer in Cleveland? His name is Robert F. Krumhar. For thirty years he has been engaged, week after week, year ofter year, on the job of making photographs of men, women, children and babies. More remarkable than even this continuous record is the fact that he is still working in the same studio where he started business, lolated at 1917 West 25th street.

There have been many changes in methods and equipment since he opened his studio back in 1885. George Eastman had invented the dry plate only a few years before, and the famous Kodak was in its infancy. Commercial photographers were just emerging from the old daguerrotype stage. Compared with the art of modern photography, the work done in 1885 seems stilted and stiff. The softness of touch that comes with the use of the sensitized papers was lacking. The evolution of a modern photograph on sepia for instance was gradual. The new black and white work, laid side by side with the antiquated, harsh lined, poorly touched reproductions of thirty years ago marks all the difference between art and mechanical stiffness.

Mr. Krumhar was a born photographer. That goes without saying. He never would have continued for thirty-three years in the same business and in the same studio if he had not given satisfaction to many hundred patrons. If he had not loved his work, if he had not kept in touch with its progress; if he had not been quick to adopt each improvement as it came into practice, he would not have today the largest and one of the most popular studios on the West Side. He is taking pictures today of the sons and grandsons, daughters and granddaughters of the young brides and grooms whose pictures he took when he began business.

In appearance he has far from the appearance of a veteran. He is as active, capable and careful a taker of fine photographs and a manager of business as he was a generation ago.

Attached to the studio is an extensive assortment of picture frames and mouldings. The studio is on the ground floor, back of the store, where the frames are sold. One of the features of this most interesting place that has continued almost long enough to be entitled to be termed "historic" is the large collection of photographs that have accumulated in the many years since the first picture was taken. The collection includes many of the pioneers of West Cleveland. Some day, when Mr. Krumhar gets time, possibly many years ahead when he retires from business, he may give attention to the supplementing the historic value of his hundreds of old photographs by more extended data as to the personnel of the men and women of the bygone generation, in which they played their part. For the present, Mr. Krumhar is too busy, day by day, taking pictures of this day and generation to bother with antiques.

AN APRON BUILT ON AN IDEA AND FASHIONED LIKE A MERCHANT TAILORED SUIT

How a Young Society Woman Has Exploited An Idea That Has Aroused the Enthusiasm of Housewives of Cleveland—The Dudley Apron Simply Great

Did you ever hear of the Dudley apron? It's high time that every self-respecting, sensible, ambitious young housewife learned about it. It is the apron of quality, based on an idea. The idea is that of Miss Elizabeth Dudley. [illegible] is devoting herself to the exploiting of an idea. The Apron and House Dress Shop opened last August at 328 Permanent Building, Euclid avenue, near the business heart of the city. Today a dozen expert sewing women are running machines operated by [illegible] to fill the orders for the Dudley apron. In this [illegible] panded until 6 or 7 rooms are required. Not one apron is sold at wholesale. Comparatively few have been sold by canvassers. Not much advertising has been done. The extraordinary increase of business has come chiefly by word of mouth. One housewife has found a good thing and has passed the word along to her friends, acquaintances and relatives. Every day new customers appear who have been told about the new idea and have come.

Now, what is the Dudley apron that has aroused the enthusiasm of the dainty and appreciative young housewives of the city? In the first place, it is a made-to-order affair. Careful measurements are taken. The customer selects her goods from the stocks of ginghams, percales and other material. The sewing is done by experts. The best machines are used. In short, the same care is taken in the measurements, fitting and finishing of the Dudley apron that a high-class merchant tailor exercises in turning out a suit of clothes for an exacting customer.

The apron is built for real use, too. It is not a daintily befrilled and beribboned affair. It is made to be worn in the kitchen and to be donned while the housework is being done. Divested of lace, ribbons and fancy attachments, it is made of substantial cloth that wears well and is suited for housework.

The charm of the Dudley apron lies in that unefinable but highly important element known as style. It is chic. It is alluring. It is trim. It is as businesslike as a tailor-made suit and as attractive in its simplicity as the products of the highest priced artistes. It is the exact opposite of the fancy little thing that is seen on the stage, when the French maid dusts off the furniture in the reception room as the curtain in the society drama is lifted. It looks as wholesome as a Red Cross uniform in a hospital at the front, because it belongs. It's real and not camouflage.

So much for the impression of the Dudley apron. To get down to brass tacks, what is it that differentiates it from all the other aprons you ever saw in the kitchen or on the stage? It's the Dudley "front." That is the uniqueness of the garment. The front is reversible, something like the effect of a double-breasted coat worn by a man. But the apron is encircled with the cutest and most effective-looking belt; something of the Sam Browne order, only a lot different. One day the Dudley apron presents one front to the admiring husband as he enters the kitchen. Next day the front is reversed, the belt is changed and an entirely different appearing garment is presented. Of course, no man could be expected to describe it anyway, but no man could fail to admire the style of the business-like garment; incidentally it is doubtful if any man could fail to admire any woman who wore a Dudley apron.

Strange to say, even in these days of high cost, the prices put on this distinctive apron are so low that women gasp in astonishment. Even a mere man can see that the price of a Dudley apron is remarkably cheap, considering its style and the fact that every garment is "merchant tailored."

UTILITY AND ART FLOURISH SIDE BY SIDE

Popular West Side Store Where Sewing Machines and Talking Machines Are Sold — Combination Spells Prosperity for White Sewing Machine Store, 1701 West 25th Street.

One of the busiest spots in that busy West Side center, West 25th street is the White Sewing Machine Store, located at No. 1701. It is not only the headquarters for sewing machones, but it is one of the popular centers of the talking machine business in the West Side territory. Phonographs of all sizes and prices are kept in stock and hundreds of records of the new songs and the latest popular music are to be found in all makes.

The growth of records in an up-todate record store is a revelation. With the progress of the war, scores of songs and musical novelties came ever faster than in the piping times of peace. The world is music mad in these days. Every popular hit, whether scored in America or in Europe, must be speedily transferred to the talking machines to become the common property of millions. Victor, Emerson and Columbia records are handlel.

It is a question whether the talking machine has predominated the sewing machine in our new and complex modern civilization. In this store the combination of utility and art, sewing and music, seems to thrive. Certainly the two go to make up a most prosperous business, in this instnce at least.

On one side of the store are the rows of phonographs; on the other side the scores of sewing machines. In one section the relative merits of the Columbia and Victor records engage discussion. Elsewhere the demonstration of the merits of the wonderful White rotary sewing machines is made; the "sit-strate" machine that makes a record of 1,500 stitches a minute.

"DOC" HANSON STARTED IN BUSINESS FOUR YEARS AGO WITH FIFTY CENTS AND "PEP;" NOW HE HAS THE LARGEST TYPEWRITER EXCHANGE IN STATE OF OHIO

Story of the Rise and Progress of the Typewriter Mechanic Who Possessed the Divine Spark of Advertising Genius—Mantle of the Late Elbert Hubbard Falls on Cleveland Man

Four years ago Walter H. Hanson had fifty cents in cash and an unlimited amount of "pep." Today he not only has the fifty cents in the coin of the realm, but he has converted that pep into the largest typewriter exchange in the State of Ohio. Pep, enthusiasm, originality, initiative, efficiency, square dealing, hustle, then pep and some more pep. It's almost as refreshing as the breeze that blows in the open car windows on the Lakewood line to visit the big exchange on the second floor of the Columbia Building on Prospect avenue.

Hanson spent ten years in the mechanical end of the typewriter business. He knows all about a typewriter, more than the men who made it. He knows every spring, wheel, key and rod. He knows every make of machine. But expert knowledge, while rare, is not unique. "Doc" Hanson furnishes service that is unique. He guarantees to give absolute satisfaction. But his guarantee is peculiar in that it goes farther than any other guarantee that was ever devised by a manufacturer, dealer or salesman. "Any transaction with us must first satisfy the customer before it can satisfy us. You must be absolutely satisfied before we will accept one cent of your money." That is a rule lived up to, literally and to the last letter. It is quite different even from the liberal promise to give back your money if you are not satisfied. The Hanson slogan is not to take your money until you are satisfied.

Of course, "Doc" Hanson is the rattling good mechanic. He learned that end of the business so thoroughly that he has no superior in the city. But expertness in mechanics would never have expanded a capital of fifty cents into an advertising bill of $300 to $500 a month, without the pep mixed in. He claims to be the one doctor who never lost a case. His service is so thorough that a new machine practically is the outcome before it leaves his exchange. He knows his business from the ground up and he can do things to make an old machine run like a new machine, after its owner is ready to abandon the corpse in despair, as hopeless. No, he never loses a case.

"Doc" Hansen has gathered about him an able staff of assistants, who aid in diagnosing the cases. There is "Doc" Dibb, "Doc" Ingham and "Doc" Sankeys, all of whom are experts in service, salesmanship and the diagnosis of typewriter troubles.

Aside from his fundamental and thoroughly grounded knowledge of the repair and building of all makes of typewriters, "Doc" Hanson is the brightest advertising writer and stunt advertiser in Cleveland. That is saying a lot, but it goes. An hour's talk with this original genius of publicity is as illuminating as a talk with that pioneer of big publicity, Elbert Hubbard, founder of Roycroft at East Aurora, who sought and obtained lasting fame by taking passage and going down with the Lusitania. That may sound like rather high praise, but "Doc" Hanson has within him the spark of advertising genius, the like of which has not been seen since the Fra bought immortality by a timely marytrdom, as a victim of the Hun.

One might give more space to the Hanson typewriter exchange, but the use of the superlative in the exordium precludes an elaborate peroration. At the Hanson exchange the recent expansion of space under a ten-year lease permits a notable extension of business. The old quarters have been devoted entirely to the shop and mechanical departments. Offices and salesrooms have been finished in mahogany and installed in the new rooms that have been added to the leasehold.

At the outset, with the fifty cents capital, nothing was sold but service. The exchange gradually has taken on innumerable lines, indirectly and directly bearing on the subject of typewriters. A very large line of typewriter supplies is carried. In addition are check protectors, duplicators, addressing and postcard printing machines, error proof speed keys, noiseless automatic shock absorbers, noiseless platens and "write right" typewriter supplies.

And then there is the Baby Fox, the pet of the exchange, the joy of the salesman, the big talking point of the boss. The Baby Fox is a portable typewriter, weighing six and a half pounds, just the machine for a small office, home and travel. "I looked that machine over mighty carefully," said "Doc" Hanson, "before I gave it my guaranty. I put it through all the rigid tests possible. It's the best portable typewriter on the market. It's the only satisfactory portable machine I ever knew."

The Hanson agency has taken over, as its exclusive and special agenty protege, the Fox machine. It's a high class, finely finished machine, ranking in quality with any machine ever put on the market. It has not had as much national advertising as some makes, but "Dr." Hanson is willing to back it up with that ironclad guaranty that the Fox will deliver the goods better than any machine on the market today.

But while Hanson in his career as a mechanic spent his time in learning for ten years how to repair, rebuild and renovate all makes of typewriters and while he is now manager of the largest exchange in the State, all created in four years, the "pep" of the man is still his most valuable asset. If he lost his capital and started life on a desert island, that "pep" would make him master of any situation that might arise. Verily, the mantle of the late lamented Fra has fallen on the shoulders of a Cleveland man. If what that spark of advertising genius has accomplished in four years is the measure of the future, what will be the outcome of a business career that extends for a generation?

If "Doc" Hanson ever wants to quit the typewriter exchange business and to engage in publicity or advertising as a life job, the national manager of the national product corporation that grabs his services will make millions. We should like to witness the efforts of "Doc" Hanson in putting a new breakfast food or a brand of cigarettes on the market, with an advertising appropriation of a million or so to splash on the map from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. That's another story. Quite aside from what was started as a story of the rise and progress of the Hanson Typewriter Exchange. But that "pep" is too valuable an asset to be hidden under a bushel.

HOW TO BECOME A RAGTIME PIANO PLAYER IN TWENTY LESSONS FOR $15

Christensen School of Popular Music in Euclid Arcade Is Converting Bashful Boys and Feminine Wall Flowers Into Popular Parlor Entertainers—System Can Be Learned Without Knowing a Note.

Ragtime piano playing is taught in twenty lessons, whether you know one note of music from anotheror not. That sounds like a mighty big claim, but scores of pupils from the Christensen School of Popular Music, at 301-302 Euclid Arcade, bear witness. There are Christensen schools in every large city in the United States, all using the same Christensen system that was created first by Mr. A. W. Christensen in Chicago in 1903. For fourteen years since ragtime swept the country, the Christensen students have been turned loose on the public.

The Cleveland school is under the local management of Mr. Ray W. Worley, who was sent on from Chicago to take charge some months ago when the former manager, Mr. Shulte, went across the seas to fight in France. That an experienced piano player might learn to play ragtime in twenty lessons seems reasonable. But the claim that the system can be taught in that period to one who does not know one note of music from another is an astonishing claim when one stops to think of it. The manager makes the confident claim, however, that since 1903 there has never been a failure, where the pupil has been regular in lessons or practice, to make good in the case of one single pupil. And all for $15.

"Imitators can copy the substance of our advertising," he asserts, "but they cannot copy or teach our system. If you like real ragtime and wish to shine as a parlor entertainer in any set, you can practice an hour a day and take one lesson a week. At the end of that time you can convert any ordinary piece of music into ragtime with the snappy, pulsating swing that makes a person wish to dance. And when you can play ragtime you can make yourself popular at a summer hotel or a winter gathering, or anywhere else unless it be a funeral.

Of course, if anyone already is a good musician and can read music, much greater results can be obtained from the lessons. The original melody can be played with the left hand, while with the right hand the music is changed into sparkling ragtime with arpeggio variations. Regardless of humorous writers, the art of entertaining is no small thing. Ragtime continues to be the popular music of the multitude; the kind that makes the heart throb, the blood tingle, the feet shuffle, and the mouth pucker; that makes you forget your troubles and feel at peace with the world. The learning of this single art has changed many a bashful young man and many a feminine wall flower into the leader of the society set, as popular as a matinee idol or a much sought belle.

It is not surprising that the Cleveland school does a rushing business. Four teachers are constantly engaged in giving lessons. Dozens of young lady stenographers, typists and clerks in stores and offices, who are employed during the day, are devoting their evenings to acquiring this course, taking the first step on the high road to popularity. Almost as many men as women aspire to shine in society. There are skeptics who come to inquire, but these are the most welcome. If a pupil is so skeptical that he does not wish to take a chance to invest $15 cash to pay or the course in advance, he can pay $1 for each lesson as he goes along. This will cost him more, but he is taking no chances.

The secret of the Christensen method, so far as a newspaper man can discover it, is its practicality. All unnecessary time and work involved in the old methods of starting to learn the scales is eliminated. You jump to the point by the short route and in the easiest way. Axel Christensen, "the Czar of Ragtime," is one of the most famous of American ragtime composers. He is a vaudeville performer, who plays the big time. He perfected his system in 1903 and since that time it has spread from coast to coast.

If any student of classical music is interested he can pick up this instruction easily as a sided iversion, but the system is designed for the ordinary man and woman, who does not know music and who wishes to take up ragtime playing for personal amusement and the entertainment of friends. These strenuous days of toil and restriction, caused by the war, are passing, and the rag time will come back into its own, stronger than ever in its hold on popular favor. That at least is the fixed opinion of the manager of the Cleveland school.

We are inclined to agree with him on that point, since the joyous outbreak of "Victory Day" in Cleveland last week disclosed to what an extent the relaxation of the high tension of the past year had affected the public, men, women, young and old of all classes and conditions of society.

FORMER BIG BREWERY TO BE USED IN WHICH TO MAKE FOOD

One of the dozen Cleveland breweries which will be put out of business as the result of the dry vote already has passed into new hands for the manufacture of generally used food products.

The former Schneider brewery, owned by the Cleveland & Sandusky Brewing Company at Train avenue and West 47th street, was purchased the past week for around $50,000 by the Kokomar Food Products Company, 455-456 Leader-News building. It includes one three-story building and another of two and three floors. These buildings have frontage on the streets named and also on the Big Four Railway. The sale was negotiated by L. W. Mackenzie, of the Schauffler Realty Company, Williamson Building.

The Kokomar Company will remodel the interiors and will install $60,000 to $100,000 worth of machinery for the manufacture of cocoanut butter, margarine and other cooking and baking and table products. It will have 101,000 square feet of floor space in the only plant of its kind in Cleveland. It is expected manufacture will be started early in the new year.

Johnson R. Morris, who has had 25 years' experience in the business, including intensive study in Europe, is president and general manager. The sales manager is W. R. White, who has had extensive experience in sales work for a number of years.

Albert Tweedi, residence unknown, will take notice that Martha Tweedi filed a petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce, custody of child and relief on the ground of gross neglect of duty and wilful absence for more than three years last past. Said petition is No. 166529 and will be for hearing on and after November 29th, 1918.

STAY the Hand That Would Hoard the Pennies—

Guide It to Patriotic and Profitable Investment

The childish instinct tends usually toward saving. But to this instinct must be added a purpose in the saving. The mere hoarding of coin pleases a child's fancy, but it does not teach the lesson of thrift. Teach your child his first lesson of patriotism by making him a factor in aiding the government, and his first lesson of investment by placing his money where it earns interest. Thrift Stamps furnish the government with money for carrying on the war. They earn 4 per cent interest. Replace the penny bank with a Thrift Stamp Book.

This was due to a est by the officers in charge, and ave complied in every particular newspaper that wishes to print the NEWS, this was a hardship that can readily be understood by every reader. However, Lieut. Col. Wilcox stated to the writer the night of the military reception at the Andrews School: "This is your patriotic bit in the big work we are doing." He then stated further that when the story was released it should appear in the Willoughby Republican previous to its publication in any other newspaper.

FIRE AT WILLOUGHBY INN RESULTS IN COMPLETE LOSS OF BLOCK

A disastrous fire at the Willoughby Inn Saturday last resulted in a complete loss of the building. The alarm was turned in at 11:30 and by 2 o'clock it was seen that the building was gone. Low water pressure was encountered, which enable the fire to get a general hold. The firemen worked loyally and deserve much credit for their efforts. The Sigsbeys, Carrels, Wilsons and other living in the apartments saved some of their effects by carrying them out into the road. Everyone endeavored to assist in this work. Andrews girls served coffee. The fire was the center of interest during the day, a large crowd assembling. Insurance of $9000 was carried by the owners, S. S. Wilson and Dr. J. D. Nelson, with a valuation on the property estimated at $15,000. Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Pinkerton, who operated the restaurant and lunch rooms, have not made plans for the future. Mr. Wilson stated that rebuilding was not contemplated under present conditions.

E. S. SIGSBEY FINDS NEW LOCATION

E. S. Sigsbey, painter and interior decorator at the Willoughby Inn block, lost little time in securing a new location after the fire Saturday. Monday a large white sign displayed on the burned building stated "E. S. Sigsbey now located in A. T. Hill & Co. block." Mr. Sigsbey received telegrams from all the firms with whom he has been doing business, offering immediate co-operation and assistance. The assurance of their high regard for him and that of many local friends, helped greatly in overcoming the distressing effects of the disastrous fire. Mr. Sigsbey had in all his spring stock. As it was only slightly covered by insurance, his loss is very heavy.

DEATH OF MORRIS HOROWITZ, OF WICKLIFFE

Hard working, persevering and energetic, he built up a good business and then built the large Horokitz block, where his store is now located. This new venture gave Wickliffe a department store, apartment block and space for other stores, that compared most favorably with like buildings in a much larger community. Mr. Horowitz was liked by everybody and was regarded as an enterprising man, who had done much toward building up the community in which he lived. He was 27 years of age. Mr. and Mrs. Horowitz were married in Warrensville seven years ago. Mrs. Horowitz and two children survive. Burial was made at Warrensville, with funeral services in Cleveland.

MANY CHANGES TAKE PLACE IN ANDREWS SCHOOL MANAGEMENT.—BY LAWS ALTERED

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Andrews School, Tuesday night, R. N. Whitcomb resigned his position as president of the Board. G. C. St. John was elected president, and W. J. Carmichael, vice president. R. N. Whitcomb was then elected treasurer and general manager. S. D. Shankland was made secretary and assistant treasurer. Mr. Whitcomb will take up his duties as general manager the 1st of December, succeeding Sidney S. Wilson; and as treasurer, January 1st, when Mr. Kennedy's connection with the school, as treasurer, will terminate.

The by-laws were also changed, altering the old executive committee, which formerly consisted of three life members of the Board and the mayor of the town, to a committee of three, selected by the Board, to serve at the will of the board. This committee includes:

G. C. St. John, chairman.
W. J. Carmichael.
R. N. Whitcomb.

The by-laws were also changed in reference to the office of general manager—his duties in the future to be confined to corporation affairs of the school only.

All members were present at the meeting excepting Gov. Cox and A. H. Van Gorder, the latter being in Cincinnati.

An adjourned meeting was held Wednesday, at which four members were present. At this meeting minutes which had not been read since May were gone over and approved.

LLEWELYN BARBOUR ARRIVES IN THE UNITED STATES

This Is "Only a Summary of What Has Happened to Me," He Says in Descriptive Letter Written From Virginia Hospital.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS,
Camp Stuart, Va.
My Address is Ward 20, Embarkation
Hospital, Camp Stuart, Va.
November 22, 1918.

Dear Mother:

Well, weren't you a bit surprised by that telegram? I imagine you were just a bit. Believe me, United States sure did look good to see again. Of course I have only been away for five months, but it has seemed more like five centuries. One thing certain is that three months and a half of that time was mighty hard work. Of course, since I have been wounded I have led a life of idleness, if not always comfort. However, my wounds didn't bother me very much, as they weren't very painful. I certainly have a beauty mark on my shoulder. It is shaped something like this —— each strip being about three inches long. The shrapnel ball just made a nice little round hole, but of course they had to cut some to get at it. It was only a flesh wound, luckily, and although it was nice and sore, it wasn't so serious. The wound in my right hand is the one that sent me home. The bone of my first finger is fractured just above my wrist. There is a nice scar on the back of my hand and a smaller on in the palm of my hand. It will take some time until I have full use of my hand again, but I guess I can stand it.

I was wounded on the 27th of September in the big battle of Argonne woods. It was the second day of the drive and we were advancing on Montfaucon. Things went along smoothly until we came within a mile of the ridge on which this town was located. Then we found that the Germans had lots of machine guns and were using them. The bullets were whistling past pretty blamed thick. We went on, however, and so the Huns began using artillery. I was carrying the gun on my left shoulder, when I heard a loud whang! right behind me, and something rapped me an awful whack on the shoulder and knocked me down. I lay there in a shell hole until I was able to get up. I went back, found a first aid man, had him put a bandage on my hand, and started back for the ambulance station. It was a good six miles, and my shoulder got pretty stiff, but I found lots of willing assistance, so I made it. From there I rode in a truck for fifteen miles to a field hospital. I stopped there until the next morning and then rode about fifteen miles to an evacuation hospital. I was operated on that afternoon, and when I came to I found considerable bandage wrapped around me. On the 30th they moved me to B. H. No. 46. By the way, did you ever know a Georgia Morse? She said she used to know you and dad, and she is acquainted with Lawrence Wells. Well, I stayed there for 52 days and was moved again. I was moved to B. H. No. 7 at Vichy. We were moved in a French hospital train, and I shall always remember the miseries of that day and a half ride. I will give you the details when I get home. Vichy is one of the summer resorts of France, and certainly is a swell city. The Vichy mineral, which is so famous here in the States, comes from this city. Well, I was at Vichy until the 24th of October, then moved up to B. H. No. 69 at Savancy. This hospital is just a sort of depot, and I stayed there until the 8th of November. I sailed from France on the 11th on the U. S. S. Pastores, an old United Fruit liner. We had pretty rough weather all the way across, but I wasn't seasick at all.

This is only a summary of what has happened to me in the last two months, and it would take me a week to write it all left-handed, so please be patient, if you can, until I get home. I will only be here a few days, so don't write until you hear from me again. With love,

LLEWELLYN.

PHYSICIANS AT BEN HUR POST SAYS THAT "FLU" CASES IN WILLOUGHBY ARE OF A VERY LIGHT TYPE.

According to Dr. Kail, of Chicago, one of three physicians now stationed at the Ben Hur post here, the flu cases in Willoughby are of a very light or mild variety. At Camp Oglethorpe, where he was stationed previous to coming here, he states that 50 per cent of the cases developed pneumonia, with 50 per cent of deaths. Out of all the cases here at the camp only one developed pneumonia, and there were no deaths.

"Y" WORK INAUGURATED AT THE BEN HUR POST

C. H. Copley, sent out by the government for "Y" work in army posts, arrived in Willoughby this week. A regular military "Y" will be put in operation at the post here. HERE IS THE BIG STORY OF THE GREAT WORK OF THE SOLDIERS WHO HAVE BEEN STATIONED IN OUR MIDST

Gas Produced In Willoughby May Make Future Wars Impossible.—Armistice Declared the Day of Its Perfection.

The most terrible weapon ever forged by the hand of man has been placed at the disposal of the United States by American chemists. And it may well be labeled "Made in Willoughby."

It is a new poison gas, "methyl" by name. Only the signing of the armistice prevented its wholesale use against the Germans, first users of chemical warfare. For on the day of the armistice a great plant, with eighteen acres under roof, was ready to swing into operation at Willoughby, ten miles east of Cleveland, and the product would have been twenty tons a day. A single day's product would have been sufficient to kill many men.

The story of the forging of this weapon beats the wildest fiction and represents an almost unbelievable accomplishment.

Six months ago possibly only three men in the whole world knew of the existence of such a deadly gas and of its deadly properties. So closely has the secret been guarded that today, there are only five men outside the walls of the Willoughby plant who know what is going on inside.

The possibilities in the achievement stagger comprehension and so potent a force may the gas become in future world history, that the secret is to be just as carefully guarded in the future. Even with the lifting of the censorship, only the net results can be told.

Conservative officials, who know the secret, estimate that the new gas is just 72 times more poisonous than mustard gas. Mustard gas was the most terrible thing, by long odds, introduced into the war—a war of horrible weapons. Much of the German success in their drives last spring and summer was credited to the lavish use of mustard gas, against which there is no completely effective defense. And in almost the same proportion that methyl is more effective than mustard gas, defence against it is difficult.

When methyl comes in contact with the substances in the present German gas mask, instead of being destroyed, it is changed into a still more deadly gas, called by chemists "diazomethane." Almost instantaneous death is the result.

The making of "methyl" has written a new page into chemical history that is without precedent. It is known that both German and British chemists have been trying, almost from the day the Germans first used poison gas as a weapon at Vimy Ridge, to produce a gas similar to "methyl." They failed completely. American chemists succeeded in six months from the time they saw the first laboratory experiment that produced a few drops, in making twenty tons a day.

One of the three men who knew of the gas before the war happened to be an American chemist. A little over a half year ago he offered his secret to the government. He was given a commission as a member of the Chemical Warfare Service and put to work at American University in Washington, under the direction of Col. F. M. Dorsey of Cleveland, head of the Development Division of the Chemical Warfare Service.

It took three months, with hundreds of laboratory experiments to find a method ow cheaply manufacturing the gas in quantity. The theory was turned over to Lt. Col. W. G. Wilcox, formerly chemical engineer for the Aluminum Company of America, of Messena, N. Y., for execution. Maj. J. B. Conant, formerly a chemical instructor at Harvard, was made his assistant.

They faced the most difficult problem of all—the designing and erecting of a plant that would produce the gas by the ton. On August 1, last, the plant at Willoughby was begun and when the armistice was signed, not only was the plant ready to begin operation, but several tons of Methyl had actually been produced. Such a transition from laboratory to large plant would have required several years in peace times.

That is the bare surface story of how "methyl" came to be. The story of personal heroism, sacrifice and industry that has made it possible far overshadows the wonderful achievement.

The thousand men who work at the Willoughby plant have practically been prisoners within the barbed wire fence, closely guarded, that surrounds the plant. At first, before a mess hall was built, the men were marched to a restaurant under guard for their meals. Recently an honor system has been put in force and the men have been allowed certain liberties.

At times men employed there have worked 23 hours a day, without a complaint. Some of them continued to a point of complete exhaustion. Office workers, too, worked long hours, until the physical and mental strain put some of them in the hospital.

The Grasselli Chemical Co. on several occasions put whole forces of men at work on technical problems, without compensation.

When the plant finally got into operation, men who worked in the producing apparatus were daily subject to the danger of a sudden and terrible death. There were many burns, but almost miraculously, none of them resulted in death. Without praise or cheering, or even the satisfaction of a wound stripe in case of an injury, the men labored day and night that the war might be shortened.

The small number of casualties is due largely to the work of Capt. Geo. A. Plummer, a medical officer. He supervised the installation of a complete and up-to-date sixty bed hospital, with an operating room. Under his direction, all of the men carry gas masks, "ready" for instant use inside the plant, and many of them work enclosed in air-tight suits and masks.

Simultaneous with the development of the gas, Col. Dorsey had the most effective filter for the American gas mask canister. It was under his direction and suggestion that the American gas mask was made five times more effective than the best of foreign masks and impregnable to every known poison gas.

It is pointed out that even though Germany's vaunted chemists had been able to duplicate the remarkable feat of the American chemists, after the gas had been first used against our armies, it would have taken at least six months to produce a defense against or an effective method of combatting it. It is believed that meanwhile their armies would have been almost annihilated.

The weapon for which the world has been breathlessly waiting through four years of scientific warfare; the weapon that would wipe out whole armies, was ready for use on the very day the war came to an end. But men who know the secrets of methyl are asking if ever a war can be waged again with such a weapon in existence.

SUGGESTION FOR PERMANENT METHOD TO HONOR WILLOUGHBY SOLDIERS OFFERED.

A short time ago a tentative suggestion was offered in The Republican in regard to the erection of a memorial tablet for the Willoughby soldiers who have given their life in the great struggle recently ended. James McMahon suggests that a permanent band stand be erected in the park, of stone; tablets with the names of all the Willoughby soldiers to be placed upon it; and thus have a permanent tribute to the Willoughby boys, which would at once be useful, beautiful and fitting. Arrangements for an attractive lighting scheme at night, for the band stand, were a part of the plan. If you have an idea for a permanent method to show honor to the Willoughby soldiers, please send it in.

THE DREAM: THE REALITY

By the Rev. H. E. Bright.

How oft had he drank to and dreamed of That Day,
When his mighty sceptre the whole earth should sway;
When earth's lowly folk 'fore his armies should fall
And grovel like slaves at his majesty's call.

Alas! Kaiser Wilhelm, That Day never came;
The sharp sword of Justice has shattered thy fame;
The earth now is safe for democracy's throng;
Long, long live fair Justice, avenger of wrongs.

Let earth and her millions to Christ render praise;
His sceptre of love still the heart of man sways;
His cross like a magnet is lifting the race,
While democracy's wounds are all healed by His grace.

But what of the men who are sleeping today
In millions of graves in the lands far away?
They died, like their Master, to make the world free.
God help us keep sacred their brave memory.

Oh, God bless America, Champion of Right;
Let motives of Justice and Truth be her might;
Protect her and guide her and purge her from stain;
May the virtues that made her, forever remain.

MANY GUESTS ENJOY GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION AT THE FERRY HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman S. Ferry celebrated their golden wedding Saturday, November 23rd. They were married in Chester fifty years ago and practically all of the fifty years have been spent in the old homestead, on Mentor avenue, where they now reside. Friends innumerable have been accumulated by the couple during that time. Many of these were at the golden wedding party Saturday night. The invitations were issued mainly to the past matrons and families and past patrons and families of the local O. E. S., of which the Ferrys were charter members. The order was organized fourteen years ago next February. Mr. Ferry is a 32nd degree Mason.

Mrs. Ferry was the fourth matron. Associated with the Ferrys at the time of the organization of the chapter, as early members, were Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Carrel, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Bliss, Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Reese and other folks well known locally. Relatives from Ashtabula, Chester, Cleveland, Madison, Wickliffe, Grand Rapids and Mentor were included in the list of guests at the anniversary. A bridal bouquet arrived from Washington, D. C., coming from Mr. and Mrs. Byron Carpenter, formerly of Kirtland road. Miss Florence Gilbert, a cousin, from Detroit, arranged the very delightful decorations for the house and the dinner table. She also penned the attractive invitations and place cards. Special cards were arranged to be worn by the guests who had also attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Ferry in Chester. These were worn by Mrs. Emily Clark, of Michigan, and Mrs. Dora Patterson, of Chester, sisters of Mr. Ferry; Mrs. Clara Gilbert and Miss Abbie Gilbert, and Mr. Asa Ferry, and Mrs. Nellie Sherman, who was a very small girl when she went to the first ceremony. Mrs. Ferry's father, who arrived in Fairport 101 years ago, celebrated his golden wedding in the Gilbert home, next to the Ferry residence, just 22 years ago.

Mrs. E. F. Birkholz sang. Mrs. Sherman gave a golden wedding poem, and the grand-daughter, Frances Roseum, daughter of Mrs. Frank Roseum, only child of the Ferrys, recited a golden wedding poem during the evening.

Beautiful presents from far and near were presented. About seventy guests enjoyed the affair and offered their congratulations and well wishes to the happy couple.

DO YOU LOOK AFTER YOUR LIST OF OLD AS WELL AS YOUR NEW CUSTOMERS?

It would be well for every advertiser to occasionally look over the list of his own personal friends and acquaintances. How often it happens that you get quite intimate—see people frequently and apparently know all about them—then for no reason at all they seem to drop right out of your life.

Now, if this is so in our personal circle, how much more likely it is to be in business life, where one deals with the public, who are not greatly interested, hence the necessity for a constant advertising appeal in order that you may not only attract new customers, but be certain that you are not permitting the old ones to drop out of your business life.

NEW HALL AT CATHOLIC CHURCH DEDICATED

A new entertainment hall has been completed for use in connection with the Church of the Imaculate Conception. Father Mosley has had the project in hand and has evolved a most attractive building from a barn or shed belonging to the church. It is very pretty and artistic. He has donated his own piano for use there. Tuesday night the building was dedicated. About 100 enjoyed a delightful time. Hilda Shehan, of Cleveland, gave a dance in costume. James McMahon sang, accompanied by Mrs. McMahon.

News of the Week in Mentor

IN MEMORIAM FOR CAROLINE W. STEPHENS TAYLOR

Born in Steuben county, N. Y., December 12th, 1835; died in Mentor, O., November 8th, 1918.

She was married to Lorenzo D. Taylor in 1857. She had two daughters, Arvilia and Mary. The elder, Mrs. Bert Sanford, with whom she lived the past ten years; Mrs. Mary Fulford, now living in Corning, N. Y.

Mr. Taylor died in Andersonville prison at the time of the Civil War.

Though left with two little girls, her faith in God was strong and she was not forsaken.

About 18 years ago she married Cornelius Stephens.

From girlhood she had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and though not able to attend the last years of her life, she read her Bible and enjoyed talking of God's goodness. One lady remarker, "Her face showed she was a Christian." She loved everybody. Her heart seemed overflowing with love for flowers and all dumb animals. She was always doing something for somebody, though not very strong and often sick. She lived for others. During her last sickness she was a great sufferer, but her submission to God's will was perfect. She often said she was ready to go, but she was willing to suffer if it was "His will." She often whispered, "My precious Saviour, give me strength." She often expressed the wish that all her grandchildren and all her relatives were Christians and could know the sweetness of a Saviour's love, and would live here so as to meet her in heaven. To know her was to love her.

MAYNARD PAGE, IN FRANCE, THINKS OF THE LAKE COUNTY FAIR

Somewhere in France,
Oct. 9, 1918.

My Dear Friend:

I have received several letters from you, and this is the very first opportunity I have had to answer any of them. I enjoy your letters very much. There is always news that is good to hear and then I find out that all of you are well. I wish I could have been down to the Fair this year. I always had a good time there every year.

It was too bad it rained and stopped the racing for the day. Do you know that I never appreciated what civilization is until I came over here? I don't call this country civilized. They are so queer in their customs and so far behind the times. I just wish some of these people over here could visit some of our big cities and see all the sights. I don't think they can imagine what our country really is, for I didn't know what their country was until I came over. I certainly wish Wynne could see some of the old fashioned ways they have of doing things over here, for he'd certainly laugh his head off. Right now it is harvest time. They don't have any reapers, but cut with a scythe. The only threshing machines I've seen are treadmill affairs. A horse is shut in on an endless set of steps which turn as he walks, thus running the thresher. It's about as slow as shelling it out by hand. But the scenery is grand. I never saw anything like it. One big rolling hill follows another as far as one can see. The valleys between are the brightest of green, and the cultivated land reaches 'way up into the steep stretches of each hill, looking like a many-colored quilt, for the fields are very small. Behind nearly every hill there is to be found a little stone, red tiled village, all built in, close together.

Did you hear about one of the Willoughby boys being in the Hospital, wounded? He was only slightly hurt, for I happened to see him walking in. Well, I must close until next time I get time to write. Love to all.

MAYNARD.

Crop Rotation Prevents Many Plant Diseases.

Due to the appearance of a large number of plant diseases, the maintaining of proper rotations on Lake county farms is becoming more important, according to County Agent Clayton L. Long. As an example, plant pathologists find that anthracnose in wheat is much more in evidence than ever before. This is due, it is shown, to the growing of successive wheat crops on the same land in the farm rotation. In some sections anthracnose has caused a loss of 30 per cent in the wheat yield.

Practically every farm crop is attacked by some disease which increase in activity when the same crops are grown year after year on the same soil. Root rot becomes more prevalent when corn follows corn. Smut in corn is intensified with continuous culture, while potatoes are often attacked with several plant diseases if they are grown on the same soil two or more years in succession.

With proper crop rotations, such as corn, wheat and clover, or corn, oats, wheat and clover, or potatoes, wheat and clover, the diseases do not have the same best plant for two successive years, which prevents them from gaining a headway. There are some diseases, however, like scab on potatoes and smut in oats that may be introduced in seed. These may be controlled by treating the seed.

GROW MORE CLOVER.

HAVE YOU AN IDEA FOR THE FARM BUREAU? SEND IT IN.

Farmers, Don't Let Down Now.

Leaders declare that it will be the height of folly to let down at home now that victory has come over the seas. Certainly our soldiers, who have given us such a glorious ending to the war, cannot be abandoned. Every citizen of Lake county is anxious for our three or four hundred uniformed boys to be safely and speedily returned. It behooves every Lake county farmer to continue his or her doubled effort of production until these and the million other American boys are brought home and our country is again placed upon a prosperous peace time basis.

Much of this work of food production will be functioned through the farm bureaus of the country. The Lake County Farm Bureau is organizing for its 1918 work. If you are farming in this county your help is much needed. Give as well as take. Join the organization and help put Lake county over the top, agriculturally, in 1919. If you have an idea for improving the bureau we want it. We're for you; are you for us?

The members of the Lake County Farm Bureau (formerly Farm Improvement Association) are to receive a service in return for their $1 membership dues that will be a great time saver for them. A service department is being organized in the Farm Bureau office to assist in disposing of farm produce, in securing farm seeds, breeding stock, lime, fertilizer and other supplies and in handling the labor problems of the members of this organization. All produce for sale and all needs of the members will be posted upon a public bulletin board and will also be advertised throughout the county and state. This department will locate any breed of live stock or any variety of home produced farm seed for sale within the county upon request. This is only a few of the many things this department will do or secure for the members of the Farm Bureau. If you haven't already sent in your membership dues ($1.00) for 1919, "do it now."

FITTING THE ROOMER TO THE ROOM IS LIFE WORK OF WOMAN IN BEST SERVICE BUREAU

Unique Service furnished to Strangers in Cleveland Free of Charge by Bureau in Euclid Arcade Homes Found, Not Four Walls and a Bed. Care of Surplus Men From Y. M. C. A.

The Best Service Bureau, 30 Euclid Arcade, has no counterpart in Cleveland. It is the "home finder" for hundreds of strangers in the city. Most unique of all is the fact that this service is absolutely free to all who seek rooms.

If you are a stranger in a strange town and are looking for a good room at a reasonable price, one street location means to you just about as much as another, when you read the advertisement in the newspaper. It is not surprising that hundreds of men and women appreciate the opportunity of going to a reliable bureau, whose business it is to inspect a large number of rooms in the city and to have them direct you to just the kind of room you want. In addition to this service, you are given careful directions what car line to take, how to get there, where the nearest restaurant may be found and similar service.

The investigations of this bureau are the most complete that can be conceived. Its agents do all the tramping and make their investigations complete. They will tell you at the bureau whether the room is large or small, warm or cold; what is the size of the family living in the house; what religion; whether they serve breakfast; where is the nearest garage, and a score of other questions that the applicant wants to know.

Mrs. A. M. Shriber, who is the originator and manager of this bureau, says: "I hunted rooms for ten or twelve years for myself, and have done settlement work, and I know something about how hard it is to find a good, clean room, amid right surroundings, in a strange city. I have done office work and made good, but I finally decided it was not my life work. I wanted to be doing something of greater service to others, so I have adopted this as my profession and I feel that at last I have found my place in life."

This is the way Miss Shriber puts the situation: "I want to find homes for young men, not just four walls with a bed inside of them; I see the people who offer the rooms for rent and talk with them and study them. Then I see and talk with the men and women who want rooms, and I can tell whether to send Mr. A. to Mrs. B. or Mrs. C. Fitting the roomer to the room is where I derive my greatest satisfaction."

A HOTEL THAT IS FEATURED AS LOCATED "NEAR EVERYWHERE"

Description Fits the Popular Old Hotel Clark at 1219 Prospect Avenue—One of Best Reasonably Priced of the Smaller Hotels of Cleveland.

With the shortage of good hotel rooms at reasonable prices in Cleveland this winter, the popular old Clark Hotel, at 1219 Prospect avenue, is filling one of the big wants of the public. Mueller Brothers, Robert and Fred, Jr., have been proprietors for a number of years, and the place has been rechristened the Hotel Mueller, but the old name clings among the old-timers of the traveling public. Frank Brennan as manager is another fixture in the place, and his genial smile greets many who have been coming back year after year.

It is a small hotel compared with some. It has one hundred first-class rooms, however, and the rates have never been raised up to the heights. The prices range from 75 cents to a dollar a day with special rates for weekly roomers. With the threatened shortage of coal and gas and the approach of blizzard weather, the hotel is taking many permanent roomers for the winter, who wish to be assured of steam heated rooms, with running water, electric lights and the accommodations of a hotel within reasonable limits of price.

Everybody in Cleveland knows where the Hotel Clark is located. Its accessibility has been coined into a slogan that is used on all stationery and business cards. It is located "Near Everywhere." That description fits the block on Prospect avenue between East Twelfth and Thirteenth streets about as aptly as any spot that could be found in the city. It is only a few feet from everything worth while in Cleveland, the theaters, the picture houses, the department stores, the swell Euclid avenue shops to the north and the busy public market down at the western end of the street.

There is no restaurant connected with the hotel, but the highest type of room service to be found in a semi-transient hotel is given.

TANKS SHOWN AT EXPO

Big Show Has Tanks and "Caterpillars" in Sham Attacks.

Visitors at the Allied War Exposition last week saw real action by real tanks, one of them a survivor of Chateau Thierry, and by a big "caterpillar" gun tractor of the type that suggested the tank idea to the British in the first place. The steady fall of rain and snow up to Friday evening turned the "battle field" down on the lake front into a realistic imitation of Flanders mud and gave the big machines a chance to show their contempt for bad going.

The tanks were of the French Renault type. One of them led the French-American charge at Chateau-Thierry last July and started the Hun army in the retreat that never stopped. The others were new, making an interesting comparison with the veteran, which bore many marks of battle.

The big tractor, which was fully camouflaged, is of the American Holt type used by the allies almost since the beginning of the war. Its job on the western front was to haul a seven-inch howitzer over muddy, war-torn fields so successfully imitated at the Expo after the steady rainfall began. Its feats in clambering in, about and over the local trenches were sufficient proof to the spectators that it could, and did, inspire the creation of the great variety of tanks.

The Holt tractor, which is being built in a number of plants, including the Chandler factory here, is a slow, husky farm machine which has lots none of its impressiveness with the addition of armor and other war regalia. The specimen shown in Cleveland is a duplicate of one which is now making an official overland run from Peoria, Ill., where it was built, to Aberdeen, Md., via Detroit. The run from Peoria to Detroit, 480 miles, was made without a stop, the trip consuming 143½ hours and the motor running 151 hours before the switch was turned off. Lieut. L. S. Sheldrick, of the ordnance department, U. S. A., was in charge of the outfit when it passed this point.

There was considerable speculation among visitors at the Expo as to what would be done, under peace conditions, with all the war material in Europe, of which samples were shown here. Much of it will go to the scrap heap at once, it was explained, to be melted down and made into peaceful products. The airplanes and motor trucks will, of course, have extended uses. The army tractors will be in great demand for leveling off the 12,000 square miles of crater fields in France and plowing them ready for crops. Without the armor they are essentially farm tractors of the sort Benjamin Holt has been furnishing American farmers for nearly two decades.

Colonial Theater

The attraction at the Shubert-Colonial Theater for one week commencing next Monday night will be the Messrs. Shubert and A. H. Woods production of Max Marcin and Charles Guernon's dramatic novelty "Eyes of Youth." The extraordinary appeal of this drama for women folk—girls of all ages—was so noticed after the play's premier at the Maxine Elliott Theater in New York, where it ran for an entire year, that the critics soon began to comment on this fact and to speculate on the play's qualities. And invariably the critical philosophers did so with a reference to this sex appeal as "curious" or "peculiar."

But this strong appeal to the eternal feminine was neither curious nor peculiar. The play has inherent elements for the interest of women.

Suggest to any woman or group of women the reading of fortunes, of reading the fate with cards, or going to an astrologist—can they resist it? And have you ever watched a young girl trying to pass a gypsy fortune teller? They simply can not do it.

And herein lies the peculiar charm of 'Eyes of Youth.' For the heroine's situation is common in one application or another to that confronting most young women of marriageable age. Four courses are open to her. She can marry for wealth or for love but this entailed poverty; she can have a career as an opera singer with fame and satisfied ambitions as the reward, or she can follow the mandate of stern duty and stay at home to aid her aged and dependent parents.

Many girls find themselves confronted by similar sets of conditions. How shall I proceed? Which course shall I take? That is the eternal question.

When the heroine is undecided as to a choice, a Hindu Yogi appears. The heroine befriends him and in turn he produces the mysterious crystal ball, into which he bids her gaze and see with "the eyes of youth" (meaning the eyes of purity and innocence) just what will befall her along each of the four paths indicated; and it is her four visions in the crystal which the clever dramatists exploit with high color and vivid action, in the course of the play.

And women folk sit breathless before these startling and surprisingly contrasted revelations. Clearly they see themselves in the heroine's position, and as she scans the future they peer into their own futures; and as she reads her own fate in the iridescent crystal, they in turn read theirs.

The company selected by Messrs. Shubert is composed of well known metropolitan players and includes Mabel Brownell, Maurice Barrett, Daryl Goodwin, Edna Frandini, C. Russell Sage, George N. Clark, Franklyn George and others.

Standard Theater

One will entirely forget all trouble and sorrow for at least the time being while they witness Mabel Normand in her latest rip roaring comedy hit, "A Perfect 36," at the Standard Theater the week of December 1st. This comedy is positively the funniest ever filmed of this famous star, and she also displays her ability as a diving Venus, doing some wonderful stunts in the water, both swimming and diving. The comedy starts her off as a maid in a boarding house. Through her many pranks she is discharged, and her next job is as a saleslady, but this also proves a failure, as she thinks more of swimming than of business. At times she also gets in trouble, but through her cleverness and wit she outdoes them all. There is not a dull moment in the whole picture, and "A Perfect 36" will prove the comedy hit of the season.

IT WORKS OUT WELL

It's the store that advertises that does the business. Others may exist and sometimes eke out a subsistence, but they never get very far. The public likes to do business with a live wire.—News, Albia, Ia.

This will be the greatest Thanksgiving since the days of the Pilgrim Fathers. One hardly knows how to specify the causes for thankfulness. However, we might mention peace by victory, President Wilson, Marshal Foch, General Pershing, the French 75s, the Yanks, the Gobs, the 1918 wheat crop, sugar substitutes, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie. Add others to suit your individual taste.

The war lords in their shining armor have had their brief and bloody day. It is followed by the days of the Lord of Peace.

Miles Theater

Starting matinee Sunday, December 1st, the Miles will return to its old policy of vaudeville and pictures. The vaudeville bill of six acts has been carefully selected and includes some of the best talent from the affiliated circuits.

Beatrice Winchell and company headline the bill, offering a combination playlet called "Why Are We Back?" The playlet has an all-star cast, an elaborate setting and unique, up-to-date stage craft that makes it odd and more than entertaining. Marjoria Caroline, operatic soprano, Bedford, Wooster & Loraine, in a pantomime dancing novelty, the Great Phenique, sensational equilibrist. Hydrastic Duo in a diversion from musical comedy, and the Musical Mulanes in their instrumental travesty make up the big vaudeville show which will be augmented with the Masterpiece photo play, "The Struggle Everlasting" in five parts. There will be four vaudeville shows daily, starting at 2, 4:15, 7 and 9:15. Pictures will be shown before and after each vaudeville performance, making the show continuous from 1 to 11 p. m. daily. The same old prices, 15c, 25c and 35c, will prevail.

Empire Theater

One of the best shows of the circuit comes to the Empire Theater next week, when Max Spiegel's Social Follies are listed in a musical burlesque, "A Family Affair."

Spiegel is noted as one of the best producers in burlesque. His offerings are extravagantly mounted; the companies are well balanced, and his plots and scores are entertaining. Harry Seyon, Mina Schall, Edna Hawland, Jeanette Mohr, Manny Besser, are but a few of the favorites. There is a big Spiegel chorus, as ever.

The current week sees the Mile-a-Minute Girls holding the boards. The offering is a popular one.

After our stunt of wild rejoicing is over will come the serious national questions of reconstruction and readjustment. Attention, class! Careful study and close co-operation will be required of us all.

Star Theater

What may be considered as a positive novelty in this season's list of attractions to be offered next week at the Star Theater is the ever famous "The New Bon Ton Girls." The company is too well known to the patrons of this house to need any introduction; suffice it to say that the company will present one of the most pleasing and interesting and original programs ever seen here. The production "At the Movies" is a positive novelty and entirely different from any other company. It is a musical burlesque in two acts and six scenes, and both are said to contain merit and many novelties in the way of catchy musical numbers and good clean light comedy. The management prides themselves on having an attraction that is uproariously funny, as to have a laugh for everyone, yet so far above the average attraction of this kind that it is not compelled to resort to horse play or vulgarity to draw patronage.

BOYS FELT THAT THE KAISER WAS AT THE END OF HIS ROPE, AND THE ROPE AROUND HIS NECK, EARLY IN OCTOBER

Soldiers Find Much of Interest in Ruined Towns.

By J. K. Schmidt.

Behind the Fighting Front in France,
Thursday, 17th of October, 1918.

My Dear Mr. Wilson:

I was delighted to get your letter of September 12th and to hear that everything is so well with the folks "back home" and particularly with yourself and Mrs. Wilson, who have both been so kind to me. I suppose you will be surprised to hear that I am now "in active service" up behind the lines, where life is certainly exciting, I assure you.

We are billeted in a big barracks of wood and tar paper, built in a great woods, which are utilized wherever possible for "camouflaging" purposes. The building resembles a barn except that it has a concrete floor and a row of bunks, arranged in two-story fashion, on each side. These are of wood, but the boys say that after a hard day this wood is surprisingly soft!

Mr. Cooties has not yet introduced himself to us and we are not grieving on that account. The only thing that disturbs my usually sound slumber is the practice of the cats which make our barracks their headquarters of frantically diving in under the blankets whenever they are hotly pursued by a more than ordinarily ferocious rodent.

Rain, rain, rain! And they call this sunny France! Well, it has been pouring down for the last three weeks, and it's mud, mud, mud, "and not a drop to drink," as the song has it. The mud puddles pretty nearly defy my hip boots, so I do not get out any more than necessary. My work is in the battalion headquarters here and I do not get to make many trips on the trucks which take the ammunition to the advance batteries. This is a particularly hazardous assignment, of course.

But just the same, I do not pine for excitement. The Boches look after that. Since our boys have pushed the lines up so far we do not have to worry about the long range shells because they do not break within several miles of us. What detonations we hear we know to be "souvenirs for the kaiser," as the boys call our firing. But the "Heinie" avions occasionally amuse us o' nights by staging air raids and trying to bomb our ammunition dumps and barracks. Then the "lights out" signals sound and the searchlights cut the air until they locate the enemy plane or planes and a thrilling battle is on. I wish I could tell you all about it, because it really is great!

Fighting here for freedom, I am taking advantage of what liberty I have to see as much of the battle front, and the points of interest behind the lines as possible. Sunday being a less rainy day than usual, proved a fortuitous occasion for me to visit one of the most famous cities of the war. Of course it was in ruins. It looked to be about the size of Akron and has the finest system of walled defenses in the world with the exception, possibly, of Metz. These walls are a wonderful feat of masonry and are here and there battered by the biggest of German shells.

The underground works of this city are unique—a sort of glorified possibility of what the mound-builders might have done if the tale of history had been other than it is. These underground works are electrically lighted and heated and traffic is made possible by a monorail system. This subterranean layout impressed me very much. The ancient and very fine cathedral in this city was badly damaged by bombs and shell fire, but may be restored, I believe. There was not a single civilian in the place.

The boys insist that Chateau Thierry proves that the kaiser is at the end of his rope and that end is around his neck. Be that as it may, I feel with the rest of the fellows that we will not be compelled to stay here much longer to finish this job. It looks as though it would finish itself. At any rate, I hope that it will not be long until I shall have the pleasure of taking you by the hand and personally thanking you for what you are doing. My best regards to Secretary Engelhorn and all others in both Cleveland and Willoughby who inquire about me and the kindest remembrance to Mrs. W. I'm hopeful that you'll write me another letter by return mail and tell me how everything is coming.

Most sincerely yours,

JOSEF.

Private Josef Kaspar Schmidt, Headquarters Motor Battalion, 308th Amunition Train, American E. F., France, via New York

P. S.—By the way, I have been reading the letters of your nephew, Capt. Dan Flickinger, and find them most interesting. He has certainly gone through some of the worst. I am glad to hear that he is to enjoy two months of rest. He most certainly deserves it. Hope I shall have the pleasure of meeting him after I get back.

CENTRAL HOTEL

The Central Hotel has been rightly named. It is right at the center of things at the east end of the new high level bridge, 1000 Superior, three minutes from all depots. In the old days this hostelry, with a long and honorable history, was known as the Bethel Hotel. It was famous, too, in those days for its dinners. But times change and the hotel business is changing faster than most lines.

Edward Stanley has just opened the Central Hotel with its hundred rooms and is specializing, making it one of the most comfortable of the downtown hotels of the city. Rooms range from 50 cents to $1.50 per day, with weekly rates. No meals are served.

With the threatened shortage of coal and gas and with the approach of blizzard weather, many are seeking comfortable hotel accommodations for the winter season. Those who seek convenience, combined with accessibility, reasonble prices allied with courteous service, will find the new Central just the sort of a place they have been hunting for.

Mr. Stanley has been engaged in the hotel business in Cleveland all his life. For twenty years he has been catering to the public. His experience, personality and accommodations give promise that the old hotel at the east end of the bridge will take on a new lease of popularity under his management.

RAGTIME IN 20 LESSONS

In presenting to the public the aim of the Boltey Popular School of Music at 612 Euclid avenue, 307 Clarence Building, a few words as to the policy of the school may interest those who contemplate the enjoyment and benefit of its musical advantages.

The Boltey School has enjoyed constant growth and is now considered to One of the Best Schools of its kind in Cleveland.

Miss Boltey, who is in charge, has spent years in perfecting a system whereby popular, or more often termed as Ragtime music, can be taught in Twenty Lessons.

In addition to piano, voice, classical and all string and wind instruments are taught, such as ukulele, banjo violin, mandolin, etc.

Miss Boltey, through her experience, finds this new system far less complicated, more easily acquired and more rapidly executed.

Her students show remarkable progress and enthusiasm. Individual instruction is given by expert teachers, which places each student in an independent position and enable him to advance according to his ability. The school is open from 9:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m.

Night classes are intended for those who are employed during the day. The attendance is made up of various grades, some pursuing the advanced studies and others the common elementary branches. There is certainly no better way of spending the evenings than to attend the Boltey School of Music. A person need not have had any previous knowledge of music and within 20 lessons will be able to play popular songs and pieces. The lessons, instead of being tiresome and irksome, are pleasing and fascinating; at the same time the students are storing up a vast fund of musical knowledge that will be useful to them in after life, no matter what pursuits they may follow.

A common expression often used is, "He or she finds music a gift; this idea is not only wrong, but helps to discourage pupils. Some pupils progress more rapidly than others. This does not indicate that they will be debarred from becoming good musicians. Good music is no more a gift than is good reading, spelling, grammar or any other attainment, and in the same way it is and can be acquired. It is the policy of the Boltey School to demonstrate the most advanced methods of any school in Cleveland.

Miss Boltey will cheerfully give any information regarding the school at any time. A booklet will be also mailed free upon request.

OLDEST AUTO SCHOOL IN THE U. S. AND ONE OF THE BEST IN THE WORLD—

Under Supervision of Clyde H. Pratt, Mechanical Engineer and Case School Graduate, a Course of Instruction is Given that Combines Theory, Shop Practice and Road Work—Building and Equipment Cost Thousands.

Clyde H. Pratt is responsible for more good chauffeurs and repair men than any man in Cleveland. Four thousand graduates of the Cleveland Auto School owe their success to the practical, scientific and thorough manner in which they learned the business from him. Hundreds of car owners, many of them women, have taken his course and mastered the intricacies of the motors and engines, so they were capable to look after their own cars in their own garage.

He is president of the most famous auto school in the United States and the oldest. He is a licensed mechanical engineer and a graduate of Case School of Applied Sciences, one of the greatest scientific engineering colleges in the world. He has written a number of automobile instruction books and has contributed much to automobile papers and magazines. His books of instruction are regarded as standard and are used generally in many of the auto schools through the country, while he is recognized in the profession as one of the best experts in his line in the United States. His combination of scientific study and practical experience, covering many years, make this school known as one of the few practical auto schools, where results are obtained, surpassing what could be acquired by work in a public garage or in an automobile factory.

The school was established in 1903 and has been one of the leading factors in keeping Cleveland to the front as a center of automobile fame. At the outset the school was under the auspices of the local Y. M. C. A. After six years it was incorporated and Mr. Pratt became the president of a very efficient organization and staff of instructors. In 1917 the school was moved into its own building, at 1815 East 25th street. It is today a school giving practical instruction in the mechanism, construction, accurate adjusting, repairing and driving of automobiles, trucks and tractors. Attached is a public garage, where students take their finishing course. This new building cost $50,000 and is devoted entirely to the uses of a training school.

Aside from the cost of the building the cost of the equipment is very large, running up into many thousands. There are chassis of all standard makes, including single chain, double chain and shaft drive in the gasoline, and chain drive in the electric. There are engines of all standard types, both air and water cooled two and four-cycle, sleeve valve, motor boat and auto design, with low and high tension ignition systems. There are a score of road cars from four to twelve cylinders. All kinds of clutches transmissions, differentials, axles, brakes and carburetors are required for instruction purposes. Tires of all kinds, storage batteries, self starters of every make, tools, lathes and machines for oxy-acetylene welding, cutting and carbon removing are provided. In fact, a bare inventory of the equipment of the school contained in the large two-story structure gives some indication of the scope of the course of instruction.

The instruction is divided generally into three branches—lectures, shop practice and road practice. There is a course of sixteen explanatory lectures, illustrated with slides, charters and parts of cars, given in simple language to make clear the construction of cars, the principles of their operation and the details of their mechanism. These lectures alternate with shop work; they do not teach the automobile business.

In shop practice the training is highly practical. Here the students dismantle and assemble engines and entire cars. They time valves and wire all makes of engines with all types of ignition systems. They adjust magnetos, carburetors and engines and make efficiency tets. Instructors "queer" the parts, so students will acquire all sorts of experience in locating and adjusting trouble. After students are perfectly familiar with the theory and practice their training is completed by a series of individual lessons in driving cars of various makes, sizes and types. There is practice in city and country driving.

This course takes a lot of time and some money. Considering the results, however, the cost is reasonable. About 500 students will be graduated this year, making an average attendance of about fifty on the rolls all the time. There is a day school for students who wish to give their entire time and to finish the course as fast as possible. The evening classes are for those who do not wish to interfere with their regular daily employment. The same instruction is given in both courses. Students in the day course, who can give from four to eight hours each day to the business of acquiring instruction, can complete all the courses in as short a time as four to six weeks. In the evening school, with two lectures per week, the theory and practice courses are completed in sixteen weeks. Each student then gets twelve or more individual driving lessons. Classes start each month.

There is a big and constantly increasing demand for trained mechanics in garages and factories. The war has demonstrated and developed a great need. Repair men, drivers and experts generally are eagerly sought in every part of the country. Hundreds of graduates of the school have gone into business for themselves in garages and shops. The use of the tractor is a most promising field for immediate expansion in the auto field. With the ending of the war, the entire automobile business promises to take a boom to fill the demands of ordinary life and business that were held up by war emergencies.

But hundreds of car owners and prospective buyers have taken the course. The average owner starts to operate his car, knowing very little about it, except what the salesman taught him. He buys his knowledge with experience, and such experience is an expensive teacher. Many owners who have stopped short of wrecking their cars have caused minor damages that cost much more than the cost of a thorough course of instruction in the Cleveland Auto School. Aside from an undoubted saving in repair bills, the great gain for many owners is increased pleasure in knowing how. Half the pleasure of owning a car is driving it with a feeling of security and mastery. That is the lure that brings scores of students to the school. The wonderful opportunities for highly paid jobs brings in scores of ambitious boys and men of a mechanical trend of mind.

An institution like the Cleveland Automobile School is a distinctive advantage to the entire industry of the city, as well as a blessing to factory owners, garage owners and car owners.

Society Brand Clothes In Our College Room

You Young Men and You Older Men Who Stay Young Will Find That These Clothes Do You Credit

STRANGERS must rate you by your dress and general appearance. They cannot know who you are, what your character is, and what your ability may be. Your appearance is your personal advertisement—it is the only information you give the public, by which they may judge you. And appearance is largely the result of the clothes you wear.

ALONG these lines our College Room has been developed. It is a place where young men—and older men with young ideas—will find clothes that are different from the ordinary—clothes with personality clothes that acknowledge nothing better in fabric, fit, style and workmanship. And what you gain through appearing able and alert in the eyes of others is extra value that the price does not cover.

Young Men's Overcoats At $25, $30, $35 up to $60

SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES deserve consideration for many reasons. In the first place, "Society Brand" style is distinctive—it is leading. In the second place, the style is tailored into the garment—put in by hand, not pressed in by machinery. In the third place, skilled tailors cut and make Society Brand Clothes, giving them that finished appearance that well-dressed men want. And in the fourth place, The May Company is the only place in Cleveland where you can buy "Society Brand" Suits and Overcoats.

CHRISTMAS GIVING

It seems almost irreligious to compare Christmas giving with barroom treating. But in one of its forms the institution hardly reaches a higher plane.

Smith treats Jones because he has met him on the sidewalk and wants to show that he feels friendly. Neither of them want a drink.

Jones buys back to show he isn't a tightwad. Then Smith buys to show that he didn't buy the first drink just to get one in return. So Jones buys to reciprocate.

Brown walks in, and, being a regular, he has met Smith there before. So he buys for the crowd; and then each of the other two buy. Reciprocity again. And then it's Brown's turn.

This isn't a lecture on Prohibition, but on expenditure. The flood of chemical fluid that Smith, Jones and Brown pour into themselves may not hurt them, but it wastes their money and gives them no fun. They all know they don't want it, but they spend to show they aren't tightwads.

Christmas presents given for the same purpose are a desecration of the institution. The motive is a selfish one to start.

Let us give to impart pleasure. The U. S. government is our warrant for it.

A world-war may dethrone kings, but it cannot dethrone the King of Kings. Dynasties are for an epoch, but the doctrine and spirit of Christmas are for eternity, and the government has not planned to abolish the indestructible.

It has merely told us to buy what the other fellow needs. He will feel insulted if we give him an order on a local dry goods store for a new hat—he can easily get even by insulting us with an order for a new pair of shoes. And we can all benefit by buying right here in our own town.

And do your buying now. Don't let us have any overworked clerks during the greatest of all festivals.

WHISLER'S SHORTHAND SCHOOL

One of the most successful institutions of its kind in the city. A school built on an earnest endeavor for the ultimate success of pupil and [illegible] celebrates its fifteenth anniversary.

Sixteen years ago the Whisler Shorthand School, now located at the corner of Euclid avenue and East 105th street, opened its doors. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Whisler attended the Ohio Northern University shortly after their marriage and prepared themselves for teaching the art of stenography in all its branches. For many years the school was located at 8017 Wade Park, but moved to its present quarters on its fourteenth anniversary, a year ago last October.

Mrs. A. L. Whisler

The school occupies eight rooms on the second floor of the Hower-Langton Bldg., over Marshall's drug store. Each room is well ventilated and supplied with municipal steam heat and natural outside light. The typewriting rooms are equipped with the latest models of typewriters, desks and chairs.

From the start the school has been a success. Hundreds of young men and women from this city and from all parts of the state have been prepared for positions as an amanuensis in offices, private secretaries and court reporters and for general stenographic work of all kinds. The leading banks and business houses of the city have been supplied by its graduates.

The personal element has entered largely into the success of the pupils of this school. Mr. Whisler is a man of splendid executive ability and genial manners. Mrs. Whisler has attributed a personality that acts as an inspiration as well as a guide to the hundreds of young women who have come to the school. One contributary feature of the marked success of the school has been the care with which the individuality of each pupil has been studied by Mr. and Mrs. Whisler. Their attitude towards young people desiring to enter their school is decidedly democratic and characteristic of their genuine interest in the advancement and betterment of all. They do not bar from their school any who have not had a high school training but have natural ability and wish to improve their condition.

Close associations with the business world has proved there is a place for all who wish to enter the field.

Each student upon entering the school receives individual instruction quite the same as though he were the only pupil in the school, and at the same time enjoys the stimulus which comes from association with others engaged upon the same line of thought. Students may advance as rapidly as is consistent with good work. There being no term division, pupils may enter at any time.

While hundreds of students have been placed in positions, only calls from reliable and responsible parties are recognized. Mr. Whisler is enthusiastic in the idea that a knowledge of shorthand is one of the main factors in the success of any young man or young woman who desires to enter business. It is, he says, the best stepping stone that can be found. It takes the young man or young woman into the private office, where the secrets of business can be more quickly learned and where the road to advancement is more rapid.

Since the growth of their school has necessitated an increased force of instructors Mr. and Mrs. Whisler have again shown their thoughtful consideration for the welfare of their students in employing teachers who have not only taught both in public and private schools, but have held stenographic positions, which proves their unquestionable qualifications as instructors.

The Graham system of shorthand is taught. This is regarded by all experts as the reliable, dependable system, based on years of experience. With this system there is no experimenting. Its principles are as fundamental as the language itself. Many young students have lost valuable time and money in attempting to learn systems that have been exploited by advertising and are still in the experimental stage.

Mr. A. L. Whisler

Supplementing the course in shorthand, the pupils are taught the touch system of typewriting, as well as spelling and business correspondence. No graduate is permitted to leave the school nor recommended for a position in an office or business house until thoroughly prepared in the fundamentals. This devotion to the task of individual training, continued for a period of fifteen years, has made most graduates of the Whisler school a success in the business life of the city and state.

Whisler's Shorthand School is an up-to-date institution and located in one of the most accessible sections of the city and environed by business and residential surroundings of an exceptionally high class.

Rehabilitation of Soldiers Is Work Immediately Ahead

The great battle for the salvation of the world from German Kultur is not "over and done with" for a good many thousands of the men who have been fighting it, and consequently it is not "over and done with" for the Americans who have been backing them at home.

These thousands are coming back from the battle fields wounded and disabled. Their sacrifices will be continued throughout their lives.

But the sacrifice will be lessened as much as possible by the greatest surgical ability of the world, and by the money of the country.

A considerable part of the last Liberty Loan funds will be used in such rehabilitation work as the world never dreamed of in past years. It will include surgery, artificial limbs, medical services, and finally vocational training which will enable the soldier to take up his life again and make it of value to himself and society.

The picture above shows one retrained soldier for whom a mechanical arm application makes it possible to work in a chemical laboratory.

Liberty Loan Honor Counties Announced

Cleveland, Dec. 6.—The six proudest counties in the Fourth Federal District are those which first reached the Liberty Loan quota. Along with the pride of being first, they won the honor each of naming a U. S. ship. The counties are Ashland, Vinton, Franklin and Henry in Ohio, Hancock in West Virginia, and McCreary in Kentucky. Mrs. Frank K. Martin has been chosen sponsor for its ship by Franklin county; Miss Dorothy Weir by Hancock county, and Miss Myrtle Campbell by McCreary county. The others have not been named.

Peace, As War, Must Be Financed

We are going to have to finance peace for a while just as we have to finance war.

So says Secretary McAdoo in announcing the certainty of another Liberty Loan.

"There are over 2,000,000 United States soldiers abroad," he pointed out. "If we transport these men back to the United States at the rate of 300,000 a month, it will be over half a year before they are all returned. Our army, therefore, must be maintained, victualed, and clothed for many months after peace is an actuality."

The music will be in charge of J. G. Barbour, and there will be community singing also. C. P. & E. ADOPTS PAY ENTER SYSTEM AS STRIKE PREVAILS IN CLEVELAND

Suburbanites 'Put it Over' Town Folks For Car Service

The C., P. & E. adopted a "pay as you enter" system Tuesday, when the city car service was held up, due to the strike in Cleveland. You had to live in Willoughby or some point past Collinwood or the E. C. "Y" if you wanted to be accepted as a passenger on a C., P. & E. car during the strike. Being a suburbanite certainly had its advantages. Conductors were kept busy telling folks whether or not they would be allowed to go clear downtown. Service was maintained to the Square without interruption.

SUPERINTENDENT OF CLEVELAND CRANE & ENGINEERING CO. DIES, WITH DEATH OF FRANK SPOTTEN.

Frank Spotten, superintendent at the Cleveland Crane & Engineering Co., Wickliffe, died at his home on Wright street Wednesday night at 7:30. Pneumonia was the cause of death. Mr. Spotten has been connected with the Cleveland Cr. & Eng. Co. for the past twelve years. He was highly regarded by all his associates, and had worked himself up to a high position with the company. At one time he was sent to Panama by the firm in charge of an erecting job. The family had but recently purchased the M. D. Wellman home, where they now reside. The wife (nee Chambers) and two children, twins, survive. It was expected that the funeral would be held Friday morning from the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

ANDREWS SCHOOL TO REMAIN CLOSED

Nothing definite could be stated Wednesday in regard to the reopening of the Andrews School. Dr. Chesbro feels that the quarantine should be maintained, not believing it advisable to bring the pupils from districts where the flu is now prevailing. The school will therefore be closed until further notice, propably until after Christmas.

MENTOR HAS SERIOUS FIRE.—STUART MYNDERSE OF AMERICAN CLAY HAS AUTO ACCIDENT

Mentor had what looked for a while as though it might be a very disastrous fire this (Tuesday) noon. The barn of Mrs. A. H. Mynderse was discovered on fire, and that, together with the garage and blacksmith shop, were completely destroyed. As Mr. De Cola, the fire chief, is out of town during the day, there was a little delay in getting the chemical engine ready for business, and for a while it looked as though other near-by buildings could not be saved.

Later.—Mr. Stuart Mynderse was called home from the American Clay at Willoughby, and as he started to turn into his own yard his machine skidded and turned around and upon the street car track and was hit by an east-bound car which was coming. Mr. Mynderse jumped, but the auto was partly demolished.

HAZEN KELLY, CHAMPION BOMB THROWER, GIVES GREAT TALK

Hazen Kelly, champion bomb thrower, recently returned from France, gave a great talk at the auditorium Tuesday night. It was the third in the Lyceum series. Kelly recently toured the country with Harry Lauder. He was one of a thousand college men who volunteered and went to France before the U. S. entered the war, and he gave the details of his experiences in a vivid manner that probably would not have been possible before the armistice was signed.

SERGT. CARL W. ROBERTS REPORTED KILLED IN ACTION

Word has been received that Sergt. W. Roberts, son of Cutler Roberts, was killed in action November 4th. The young man was 22 years of age last August and was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Cutler Roberts. He was born in Willoughby and was a member of the Methodist Church, and of Mr. Shankland's class. He married Gladys Lynn, of Cleveland, a few days before he left for Camp Sheridan. Miss Lynn was an Andrews girl, and Carl was a student at W. H. S. Carl was a nephew of Mrs. John Ohm and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Byers, of Wilson avenue. He was a member of the 37th Division, Co. M. Owing to the fact that the death had been reported as Paul Roberts, and that a wire from Washington to the Painesville Red Cross stated that no Carl Roberts was listed, a faint hope has been expressed that the report may possibly prove incorrect.

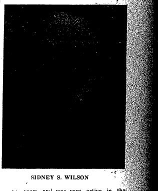
WILLOUGHBY STUDENT AT WESTERN RESERVE WITH THE CLASS OF '88 RETURNS TO THE UNIVERSITY AS TREASURER AND MANAGER

Called By One of the Most Influential Educational Institutions of the Middle West, Sidney S. Wilson Takes Up New Duties.



SIDNEY S. WILSON

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees, held at the Union Club Friday last, the election of Sidney S. Wilson to the office of general manager and treasurer of the Western Reserve University was formally confirmed. The matter had been pending for some time. The trustees had considered men in many parts of the country. The committee, as their final decision, recommended Mr. Wilson for the position, their judgment having been materially influenced by letters which they had received from residents of Cleveland and Willoughby in response to queries of investigation sent out while searching for a suitable candidate to succeed John Dickerman, former treasurer, who died October last.

Mr. Charles F. Thwing, president of the Western Reserve University, stated Tuesday that Mr. Wilson was a preferred candidate, because, in his words, "He is one of our own boys, and he is exceptionally well fitted to fill the position." Mr. Wilson, he stated further, entered upon his new duties at 8 o'clock Monday morning. He attended an important board meeting during the day, and "we were all very favorably impressed," Mr. Thwing added. He stated that Mr. Wilson would have entire charge of all physical properties, including Adelbert, the College for Women, the Medical, Dental, Law and Library Schools, together with all investments and endowments, as well as the purchasing, in connection with his office as treasurer and manager.

In taking up his duties at the Western Reserve University Mr. Wilson returns to the scenes of his college career, from which he graduated with the class of '88. Following that, Mr. Wilson taught school for a year or so and then entered the mercantile business, which he successfully pursued for a number of years. He has been called in many times to reorganize several concerns and put them on their feet and consequently had experience in accounting, financing and organization work. By reason of these connections, he is well known in banking and mercantile circles of the city.

He has always been intensely interested in education and has been extremely active in bringing into curricula the ideas and principles of business administration. He served on the Board of Education here for many years, as its treasurer and president; was the Mayor of Willoughby for four years, and was very active in the formative period of the Andrews Institute for Girls. He became its financial agent and for five years has been its general manager. But one day elapsed between the termination of his duties at the Andrews and the taking up of his duties at the larger institution.

He is a director of several commercial organiations, is a member of the Willowick Country Club and the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce and president of the Cleveland Advertising Club for a second term. He is also vice president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, representing the Middle States in that national organization. He is also a member of the Cleveland Heights Civic League and a director in the Western Reserve Historical Society, the first member to be elected outside of Cleveland.

The Western Reserve University is ranked as one of the largest and most influential institutions of the Middle West, and Willoughby may indeed be gratified that Cleveland has called upon it for a man to fill so important a position.

Mr. Wilson will retain his village and lake homes, and his social and commercial interests will remain unchanged. The interest which he has always taken in civic affairs of the community of which he is a citizen will continue as heretofore.

AUTO COLLISION ON MAIN LINE

Thanksgiving Day, at Stop 28, Main Line, an auto coming from the west collided with one coming from the east and threw it completely on its side across the street car track.

Marshal Maloney was soon on the spot and signaled the 12:30 car, which was running at record speed, and the crew and passengers very soon pulled the wrecked automobile off the track. Fortunately no one was hurt in the smash-up, and the street car service was delayed but a short time.

Resolution Adopted by the Mayor and Council of Willoughby Village, on Monday Evening, December 2nd, For Carl W. Roberts.

Whereas, the Mayor and Council of Willoughby Village have learned with the deepest sorrow and regret of the tragic death of our friend and fellow citizen, Sergeant Carl W. Roberts, of Company M, 145th Infantry, which occurred on November 4th while he was heroically co-operating with our armies in Belgium, and whereas his heroic death has not only deprived us of one of our loyal citizens, but left in mourning his bereaved father and mother and his widow, for all of whom we hold the highest respect.

Therefore, be it resolved that we extend to his bereaved parents and widow our sincerest sympathy and regret, and assure them that we consider the death of their heroic son and husband as a patriotic sacrifice for everyone of us, citizens of Willoughby, as well as for our country and her allies.

Respectfully submitted,

MUSIC AND ENTERTAINMENT PROVIDED FOR C. W. B. M. DAY IS GREATLY ENJOYED

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Christian Church observed C. W. B. M. Day Sunday morning, December 1st. The society had announced and expected Mrs. Cramer, president of the State Christian Woman's Board of Missions, to give the address, but illness detained her at her home, and her place was very ably filled by Miss Mary Lyons, the state secretary. Her talk was much appreciated by a large audience. The music, in charge of Mrs. Blanche Osterhoudt, delighted all, especially the solo by Mrs. Osterhoudt and the quartette by Mr. Rockafellow, Mr. Saxton, Mrs. Osterhoudt and Mrs. F. M. Page. Mrs. Bessie Cooley presided at the piano. The rostrum was decorated with ferns and palms, with a background of pictures of missionaries and maps of countries where the Christian Woman's Board of Missions are supporting stations.

The regular monthly meeting of the local society will be held December 13th at the home of Mrs. Mabel Wilson, Wilson avenue. Mrs. F. M. Page will have charge of the program. All members are urged to be present.

78,000 CLEVELAND AND NEARBY WOMEN SAY THEY WANT TO VOTE

Mrs. E. S. Jordan, of Cleveland Heights, speaking at the big Victory suffrage luncheon given at the Hotel Statler Tuesday, stated that the only anti-suffrage argument that had ever given her real concern was the one advanced some years ago by Theodore Roosevelt. It was:

"Do the women want it?"

So the State Enrollment Committee, of which Harriet Taylor Upton is president, started out to enroll the majority of the Ohio women for suffrage. Quotas were assigned for each county. Blanks were issued that would carry 25 names to a sheet. Mrs. Cora Gaines Carrel secured the signatures in Willoughby. The luncheon Tuesday was in celebration of the fact that Cleveland and vicinity had registered 78,000 women WHO WANT TO VOTE. . . . .

This enrollment will tell our representatives what half the people want.

It was moved and seconded at the gathering that a resolution be forwarded to Senator Atlee Pomerene, asking that he vote for the amendment, and that he vote for it THIS winter. Mrs. Roger Perkins presided and speakers and workers throughout the state, including Mrs. Upton, gave brief talks, which covered facts and features interesting and amusing, enjoyable and instructive.

SPEAKING OF THE CAR STRIKE, JUST SUPPOSIN'

Speaking of the car strike, just supposin' that all the stenographers and all the bill clerks and other kinds of clerks, and waiters and others of the male persuasion, should decide to go on a strike if the women were not discharged. Why not men AND women in the street car service as well as anywhere else? It is unlikely that many women would select the job of "conductor-etting" as a regular profession anyway, so why the alarm?

BOYS AT THE BEN HUR POST GO COON HUNTIN'

Two boys at the Chemical Welfare post here went coon huntin' one night this week. They caught one all right, a big 15-pounder.

FIRST COMMUNION OBSERVED AT CATHOLIC CHURCH

First communion at the Church of the Immaculate Conception was delayed this year on account of the epidemic. Five girls and three boys received their first solemn communion Sunday, December 1st. They included Katherine Code, Rose Sanzobrino, Celia Myers, Loyola Barnes, Mary Walsh, Ralph Billson, David O'Neill and William Hodgson. The church was prettily decorated with appropriate flowers of the season, and chanting of hymns by the choir, as usual, made the ceremony impressive.

NO SOCIAL ACTIVITIES AT CATHOLIC CHURCH HALL FOR FOUR WEEKS.

The season of Advent at the Catholic Church, four weeks before Christmas, corresponds to the four thousand years before the coming of our Lord, and is a season set apart by the Catholic Church as a period of repentance. Hence, during that period, no social parties or entertainments of any kind will be held at the new hall recently opened by Father Mosely at the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

Good Roads or an Airplane Wanted.

We people that live between Eckley's store and Eleazer Parker's will have to employ the airplane if we leave home this winter. There has been no work done on the road, and this spring they were so muddy in places people drove through the fields. We wonder why the Salida Beach road that is used very little received so much gravel and our main road completely forgotten. It seems like a case of more taxes and poorer roads. There has not been much money spent around here for some time on road work.

Mrs. Will Eddy and daughter Elsie are quite ill with the flu.

We're indebted to Mrs. N. P. Crawford, captain of the Kirtland branch of the Red Cross, for these R. C. notes: For the month ending November 30th they've finished and sent away 10 pinafores, 7 sweaters and 14 pairs of socks. Also they've sent 11 Xmas boxes to the boys overseas. Also credit is due the Kirtland Red Cross for 60 of those pies for the Ben Hur soldiers' Thanksgiving dinner, and I believe the eating qualities of those 60 pies will compare favorably with any that were there, as Kirtland is noted for her excellent cooks. I believe 40 pies was the number assigned for K., but as usual, she went "over the top" and went 'em 20 better. You can always depend on old K. doing her share in any good cause.

BEN HUR SOLDIERS STROLLING OVER WAITE HILL SAY THEY LIKED THE PIES.

The pie and jelly donations to the Ben Hur soldiers was a great success. Every town donated liberally, which shows what a patriotic people we are in Lake county, as some of the soldiers were strolling over Waite Hill Sunday with their kodaks, taking pictures, we interviewed them a little and asked them if they got a piece of pie Thanksgiving, and they said, "I should say we did; we had pie for three days and they were fine, too. We had pies and pies, of pumpkins, apples and all kinds of pies and jellies and jams and canned fruits. Yes, we did have a feast fit for a king."

Mr. D. H. Proper motored to Kent Sunday week ago and brought his wife and daughter home with him for a few days' visit, and on Thanksgiving took them back.

Miss Mary Neduchal passed away Wednesday, with pneumonia, as result of the flu.

George Hoose, of Mentor, was over to see his brother, Warren, on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baldwin were entertained at J. J. Lilley's to a Thanksgiving dinner.

Mrs. Lilley has received several letters from her son Floyd within the past week. He's all O. K.

Arthur Hoose and family, of Mentor, were Sunday callers at his father's.

Miss Elsie Martin is with her aunt, Mrs. Churchill, for a time since Mrs. C.'s illness.

Miss Bessie Duncan came down to her parents Saturday and took Master Glidden Parkhurst to Camp Sherman to stay with his mother for a while.

Mrs. Grace Cox entertained relatives to dinner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Covert, of Ashtabula, were guests of their daughter, Mrs. Olive Cox, and family, on Thanksgiving, coming in their Ford. Maurice Covert returned home with his parents after a stay with his sister several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Parkhurst have gone to Atlantic City on a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. James McCullen will move into the house lately vacated by Mr. Horland and family. It's known as the old parsonage.

Claurant Lilley is now boarding at Mr. Buck's, in Willoughby, instead of motoring back and forth to his home, as formerly.

Myrtle Buckner was a guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, of Chesterland, Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Sylvia Lilley entertained some young people Thanksgiving evening.

All Will be Published. We Made Special Effort to Get In the Kirtland Boys.

We hope the Republican will publish the names of the 27 Kirtland boys who joined the ranks and went overseas. We understand their names were sent in last week, but for some reason were not published, probably because there was so much ahead of it. We didn't like to see the list of soldiers' names from Willoughby and near-by towns, and our loyal Kirtland boys' names not among them, but it wasn't any fault of the editor, as she wanted them all, but they'd not been sent in.

Death of Carl Roberts.

We were sorry to learn of the death of Carl Roberts, killed in action, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Cutler Roberts, and was one of the first of the Willoughby boys to enlist. His young wife and his parents have the sympathy of the entire community. He was a relative of Mrs. Geo. Yaxley.

Miss Florence Yaxley had to close her school again this Tuesday, as two of her scholars came down with the flu.

The Leroy family have got over the flu and have flown to Cleveland.

Mrs. Lillie Yaxley is having a new chimney built on her house.

Waite Hill Editor Thinks Egg is a Gold Nugget.

The writer was greatly and happily surprised this a. m. as in going to the hen house, what! a gold nugget? Oh no, something more valuable than that; it was an egg; yes, surely, a hen's egg. We'd not seen one in so long we'd almost forgotten how they looked.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Leigh both have the flu.

Lake county can't afford to fail on W. S. S.

Opera House

Henry Miller and Ruth Chatterton will appear in the exquisite production of Alexander Dumas' sparkling comedy, "A Marriage of Convenience" at the Opera House, Cleveland, Monday night and throughout the week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. The Sydney Grundy version is used. This is surely an event of unusual interest to theatergoers. The appearence of either Mr Miller or Miss Chatterton would attract marked attention, but their joint appearance in one of the most delightful comedies that has come down from another period lends especial importance to the occasion. Mr. Miller brings with him the original production of the play in every detail just as it was presented at his theater in New York last spring, where the treatment of the brilliant play of the Louis XV period, with its splendid appointments and rich costumes, made it one of the conspicuous successes of the year. The supporting company will be of the customary high standard associated with Mr Miller's productions. Mr. Miller will be seen as the Comtesse de Candale, and Miss Chatterton as the Comtesse de Candale. The period of the play is 1750, and the scenes of the four acts are laid in the house of the Comte de Candale in Paris. In its dainty setting of the period "A Marriage of Convenience," it will be recalled, tells the story of a pre-arranged marriage which developed into a post-nuptial romance. It is the story of a bride and groom falling in love after marriage, not before. The ccount weds his countess, just out of the convent, and finds that she has had a flirtation with the Chevalier de Valclos. He gives the chevalier full opportunity to pursue his bride after her marriage, and himself has an affair with a certain marquise, only to find that he is actually jealous of his convent wife, and she, too, it seems, is jealous of her husband. For a moment scandal is threatened, but the brusque old general, uncle to both, arrives in time to find out the true state of affairs and sets the newly married couple on the right road. All misunderstandings are forgotten and, of course, all ends happily. In the supporting company are Jose Ruben, Frances Goodrich Ames, David Glassford, Charles Gotthold. Willard Barton and Robert Whitehouse.

Colonial Theater

"Oh, Boy!" the Comstock - Elliott comedy in music that has enjoyed a record run of two years at the New York Princess Theater, will be the attraction at the Shubert Colonial week of December 9th.

"Oh, Boy!" is utterly different from what has long been known as musical comedy in America. It is of the intimate style made famous in New York by F. Ray Comstock and William Elliott, who introduced such popular entertainments as "Nobody Home" and "Very Good, Eddie." The players in "Oh, Boy!" seem to catch hands with the audience and take those in the orchestra seats into their confidence in such a manner as to make the whole performance seem a happy family party.

The various songs and dances fit in accurately and consistently with the action of the plot, differing completely from those musical comedies where the specialties seem forced and out of keeping with the story being unfolded on the stage. As there are about twenty distinct musical numbers introduced, it will be seen that the action in "Oh, Boy!" is fast and furious through the three hours occupied in its presentation.

"Oh, Boy!" this dainty and charming production has delighted New Yorkers at the Princess Theater for two years, and it is this self-same production and cast that will be seen here. It includes Anna Wheaton, Marie Carroll, Edna May Oliver, Augusta Haviland, Charles Compton, Hal Forde, Harry Quealy, Stephen Maley, Jack Raffaell, Ethel Forde, Jack Merritt, Ralph O'Brien, Helen Francis, Margaret Mason, and the Princess Theater "Garden of Girls," in a stunning array of ultra-smart gowns and frocks—all of them forerunners of the season's modes.

Duchess Theatre

Vaughan Glaser will offer Cleveland theater-goers the powerful and dramatic sensation by Max Marcin, "The House of Glass," next week at the Duchess for its first presentation in Cleveland at popular prices. When seen in Cleveland at $2 Miss Mary Ryan was seen in the role assigned Miss Courteney in the Glaser production, while Mr. Glaser will play the part of Harvey Lake, in which Frederick Bart scored a distinct success in the original Cohan and Harris production.

"The House of Glass" is an absorbing drama of contemporary life and shows how relentless are society and officialdom in hounding persons who once have had the stamp of convict upon them, even though wrongly convicted. The man who "lives in the glass house" in this instance is a rising young railroad magnate, who is unaware of the fact that his wife spent 18 months in prison for a crime she did not commit, but of which she was convicted solely upon circumstantial evidence.

Most of the scenery which will be used by the Glaser company in "The House of Glass" is the original scenery of the Broadway production, having been brought by Mr. Glaser at the close of the successful New York run of the piece.

Edward Keane, a new member of the Glaser players, has the heroic role, that of Edward McClellan, the brilliant lawyer who pieces together the shattered remnants of the shattered glass house. William F. Powell will be seen as the "sleuth," and Don Burroughs as a reformed crook, while Miss Kenyon, Miss Crane, Mr. Burke, James Hester and Miss Howell all have parts that add strength to the Glaser-Courteney roles.

Standard Theater

The week of December 8th Geraldine Farrar, in "The Hell Cat," will be seen at the Standard Theater. It is the first time this wonderful operatic star ever attempted playing western parts, but she is excellently suited for the part, and is exactly the type that was required. The scenes are laid and taken in the Wyoming Rockies, where she is the daughter of a ranchman, who is loved by the sheriff. There is another, a squaw man, who would also possess her, but she rebuffs him repeatedly. At night he comes and kills her father and the girl puts up a terrific fight and proves that she is a hell cat. The man, however, carries her away, but she is later saved by the sheriff, and she herself kills the man that has ruined her and killed her father. An exceptionally fine cast was picked for Miss Farrar for this production, including such favorites as Milton Sills, Tom Santschi and others of movie fame.

Norton S. Parker, who resides at Charles St., Cortland, New York, will take notice that Rena Hewitt Parker filed a petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce, restoration of name and relief on the ground of gross neglect of duty. Said petition is No. 167145 and will be for hearing on and after January 3rd, 1919.

A DOZEN WOMEN HAVE BEEN GRADUATED FROM THE BARBERS' COLLEGE IN THIS CITY AND ARE EMPLOYED IN LOCAL SHOPS

Students Practice on Public, Charging Five to Ten Cents for Shave and Ten to Fifteen Cents for Hair Cut.—Tri-City College of Cleveland Has Twenty Branches in Other Cities

Women barbers? Why not? The Tri-City Barber College, located at 211 Prospect Avenue West, has graduated twelve of them, all of whom are skilled workers and eight of whom are now employed in Cleveland. There are two women students in the college at the present time. R. C. Guinn, local manager of the college for the past ten years, is the owner of two regular barber shops in the city, one managed by a woman.

The barber trade has become one of the best paying trades in the city. In the old days it was almost the poorest. Good barbers received only $15 a week and depended on tips for a decent salary. Now the price of a hair cut has been boosted to 40 cents, the tips have fallen off and the barbers get $25 a week salary. Customers are as well satisfied and the barbers feel more self-respect because they are drawing salary and not depending on tips.

There has been a notable shortage of barbers in Cleveland as well as in most cities in the past year. Thousands of barbers were taken in the draft and others went to work in factories. There has not been a week in the past year when a sober and industrious man could not get a jjob within an hour, as almost every shop in the city had one of two vacant chairs. In the old days the barbers taught boys how to become barbers. In no city shop and in few rural shops will the barbers bother any longer to teach boys. The only way a man can learn the barber trade in Cleveland is to go to a college and take a course of about eight weeks. He is taught every branch of the business, shaving, hair-cutting shampooing, hair singeing, razor stropping and honing, and face massage. At the end of the course he can go out and get a job as a barber in any shop. Of course, to work in a union shop, he must wait longer before he can get a union card.

The local manager, Mr. Guinn, has been in charge of barbers' colleges for many years, and before he started to teach others he was regarded as one of the best in the business, running shops of his own. He keeps very close track of the work the students are doing in the college. The college is exactly like an ordinary barber shop with a dozen chairs. The subjects on which the students practice are customers, either regular or transient, who are willing to take the chances on a shave or haircut in consideration of the price. You pay either five or ten cents for a shave, according to the skill of the barber. When a man first enters the shop he is started on the job of lathering faces. NNext he is given a chance to experiment in the five-cent chairs. After a few weeks, if he shows proficiency, he is promoted to the ten-cent chairs. You ay either ten or fifteen cents for a haircut on the same principle, the new men taking a whack at the customers hair for ten ten cents, and the more experienced ones for fifteen cents.

The manager is constantly on the lookout, however, and the customer is not permitted to get too much the worst of it, as the manager will quietly take over a job himself and finish it if he sees that the pupil is becoming too nervous and making too many cuts in the customer's chin. There is never a lack of waiting customers in the shop. There seems always plenty of men to be found who are willing to take the chance, on account of saving of the money.

In fact, a good many men who are drawing big wages have learned they can get a fairly good shave for five or ten cents in the college.

Barbers' colleges are recognized institutions in most cities of the Unted States. The Tri-City Barber College was named many years ago by the general manager and proprietor, C. W. Davis, of Chicago, who was running three colleges in the state of Iowa. Now he has 72 shops and colleges combined, located in the follolwing cities: Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Louisville, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Omaha, Rochester, Lincoln, Des Moines, Davenport, Council Bluffs, Wichita and Springfield, Ill.

The Cleveland shop has a modern equipment and the student is put in touch with conditions as they exist in any first-class shop. In fact, a number of its graduates are working today in the leading shops of the city. With the shortage of man power and the influx of women into all branches of business, there is every prospect that both women and men will take up the barber business in much larger numbers. It is not laborious. It is indoor work. It is well paid. The demand for good workers exceeds the supply. There is no reason why a woman cannot make a good barber, and no reason why, when the novelty is gone, men should not be willing to trust themselves into the hands of the woman as the man barber.

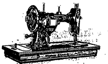
Electric Portable Sewing Machine
Hoover Suction Sweeper

ELECTRICAL GIFTS THAT MAKE THE HOUSEWORK EASIER

Any woman will be delighted with either of these devices, which eliminate the hardest part of the every day work.

The Electric Portable Sewing Machine



What can appeal more to a woman than a machine that will run itself. The ordinary strain on the back and feet is entirely done away with. The motor which does the work is attached to the machine head, there is no adjustment, a pressure of the foot controls the speed or starts or stops the motor instantly.

Easily attached to any lamp socket or base plug, it can be carried from room to room, or on veranda in warm weather. The cost of operating is very small. When the machine is not in use it may be enclosed in the golden oak case and put out of sight on closet shelf. Price $39.50

This is a gift that will be appreciated every day in the year, one that will add to the comfort of the home, save the strength and time of the housewife and preserve the rugs and draperies from dirt and dust.... $47.50 up

After you have seen our demonstration this week of these two practical electrical appliances you will realize that either is the practical gift to choose.

DESPITE HIGHEST COST IN HISTORY CLEVELAND CELEBRATED ITS VICTORY THANKSGIVING WITH FLOWERS GALORE

Park Flower Shop, on Public Square, Broke All Thanksgiving Business Records, Even With Chrysanthemums at $8 a Dozen and American Beauty Roses as High as $18.—Delivering Flowers By Telegraph.

Flowers enter into every function of the human life. They are used to add to the happiness of the wedding and to soothe the grief of the funeral. They figure in illness and they fill a conspicuous part in every celebration.

A holiday is always a festival of flowers. So it is not surprising that the celebration of the Victory Thanksgiving was the occasion for the most liberal expenditure in flowers in many years. People forgot to conserve on the first Thanksgiving Day since the peace of the world was established and the four-year war ended. They bought turkeys for the feast and flowers for the table, regardless of the fact that never in history did turkey or flowers cost as much as in 1918.

J. M. Fratus, manager of the Park Flower Shop, 144 Public Square, has been fourteen years in the florist business and has been five years on the Square. He says he broke all Thanksgiving records in his recollection. Chrysanthemums, the big kind such as give the swagger effect to the swagger new overcoat, cost from 50 to 75 cents each this year. American Beauty roses run up to $12 a dozen and some of the finest specimens cost $18 a dozen. Even the carnation, with its popularity and its intrinsic beauty, was always a cheap flower. It is costing $2 to $3 a dozen this year. Possibly the prices were boosted a little for the holiday at that.

In this single shop one thousand chrysanthemums were sold for Thanksgiving this year, 1,000 carnations, 1,500 bunches of pom-poms, or baby chrysanthemums, with violets and ordinary roses in even greater abundance.

While Thanksgiving is one of the big days in the florist trade, it is by no means the largest day. Nor is Christmas or New Year's the big day of the industry. The second Sunday in May, which is known from the Atlantic to the Pacific as Mother's Day, is the biggest day in the year in the florist shop, according to Mr. Fratus. While the Park Flower Shop was selling one thousand carnations for Thanksgiving, it sold twenty thousand carnations on Mother's Day.

Easter is the next biggest day of the year in the industry. Everybody dons a flower on Easter day. It is the first outward sign of the departure of the cold and dreary winter time. It is the end of the forty days of Lent. But flowers on Mother's Day and on Easter Sunday are not as high priced as on Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years. Carnations predominate on Mother's Day, and lilies on Easter. The big, gorgeous chrysanthemums and the brilliant American Beauty roses make the appeal in the winter holidays. There is a continuous demand, too, for violets.

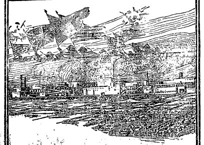
Most of the high priced cut flowers sold in the leading Cleveland shops come from the Chicago market. Grown in greenhouses in Wisconsin, Illinois and adjacent territory, they are gathered in Chicago and shipped to all the large cities of the United States by express or parcel post. The Cleveland shops have standing orders for a certain number of the most popular variety of flowers to be shipped daily. In addition, dozens of special orders are sent in every day.

One ordinary variety of cut flowers that are sold in Cleveland, that are not brought from Chicago, are violets. The big greenhouses at Rhinebeck and near-by points on the Hudson river have had for years the monopoly of the violet trade. Thousands of bunches of violets are shipped from the Hudson River territory to Cleveland every day.

The Park Flower Shop is one of the best known shops in Cleveland. Its slogan is "Popular flowers at popular prices." A feature of this shop is the handling of orders for flowers to be delivered in any city of the United States. The shop is a member of the national association that is organized under the title of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association. This is a development in the florist industry that has been widely exploited by national advertising and organization until the practice is becoming common for one to order the delivery of flowers to a friend in another city, by giving the order through a member of this association. The order is wired to a florist, who is a member of the association in the city where the flowers are to be delivered, and the same service is given without extra cost as if the delivery were made from the stock of the local shop to a patron in the city of Cleveland.

While the price of flowers is high, the price has increased no more than other articles of necessity or luxury; not as much as many articles. So long as the spirit of man demands the beauty of flowers as a solace for grief and an adjunct to celebrations, there will be no permanent depreciation in the business of the florist.

The Park Floral Shop has branches in Akron and Youngstown.



An International Service Built on Tiny Profits Per Pound

Some industries have been able to get in step with war demands more quickly than others.

In many cases mighty plants have sprung up—but at a prodigious cost.

The packing industry was able to adapt itself to unheard of demands more quickly, perhaps, than any other industry. And this was because the vast equipment of packing plants, refrigerator cars, branch houses, etc., had been gradually developed to its present state of efficiency, so that in the crucial hour it became a mighty international system for war service.

And how had this development taken place?

Not by making vast inroads into the capital wealth of the country, but largely by using, from year to year, a portion of the profits, to provide for expansion.

Swift & Company's profits have always been so tiny, compared with sales, that they have had practically no effect on the price of meat (amounting to only a fraction of a cent per pound).

And yet the owners of the business have been content with reasonable returns on their capital, and have been able, year after year, to put part of the profits back into the business to provide for its expansion.

These fractions of tiny profits have been repaid to to the public many fold in the form of better service, and better and cheaper meat, and made it possible for Swift & Company to meet, undaunted, the sudden cry for meat for overseas.

Could any other method of financing a vital industry involve less hardship to the people of the country? Could there be a better instance of true "profit-sharing" than this return in added usefulness and in national preparedness?

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

SHORTHAND IN THIRTY DAYS IS BIG CLAIM OF BOYD BUSINESS SCHOOL AT WHICH OLD-TIME STENOGRAPHERS SCOFF

New System, Based on the Use of Syllables Instead of Consonants, is Revolutionizing the Stenographic Profession.—No Time Wasted on Theory or Technicalities.—Bookkeeping Also Taught in Thirty Days.

Shorthand learned in thirty days? That's a claim most stenographers will scoff at. Having spent months in learning a multitude of dots, dashes, sounds, shades and positions; wasting many weary weeks on the process, the old-timer is prompt to express his skepticism.

In 1901 Robert Boyd, B. A. (University of Toronto), discovered that the number of syllables in the English language, instead of being multitudinous, as was generally believed, was in fact limited to 112; that any word in the language was composed of one or more of these 112 syllables, joined together by consonants. The result of this discovery was the Boyd system of shorthand that is revolutionizing the stenographic profession today.

Shorthand in thirty days is revolutionary in every sense of the word. The advantage of the system cannot be overestimated. An employer does not ask a candidate for a position, "What system of shorthand do you write?" He does not care. He asks, "Can you do my work correctly, neatly and accurately?" That is the absolute guaranty that every graduate of the Boyd Business School can give. That is the product turned out at the convenient and easily accessible school rooms on the fifth floor of the Erie building, junction of Prospect avenue and East Ninth street, right in the heart of the city.

Wherein does the new Boyd system gain in simplicity and save in time, compared with all other systems? If our language were spelled exactly as enunciated, the phonetic principle might be reliable. As it is words naturally divide themselves into syllables and may be spelled entirely different from what their pronunciation would suggest—that is, in fact, often the case.

By the use of only nine characters and three rules the entire English language is placed at the instant command of the Boyd writer with the result that the shorthand student is required simply to learn to write 112 syllables, to join them together, to practice on writing them rapidly, and his education is stenographically complete.

The syllable signs, being arbitrary, cannot be confused with one another. Hence in reading there is no fear of "cold" notes, no difficulty in reading, no danger of misinterpretation. It is literally "a short way of writing longhand." Hence the abbreviations used in the latter are permissible in the former; they save much time in writing without endangering the correct interpretation of the notes. There are, as stated, no dots, no dashes, no shading, no positions. Technical dictation is as easy as that of ordinary business. The Boyd system is not only easy to learn and to write, but it is easy to read and to remember.

We speak in syllables, not in letters. The old systems, therefore, which are based on the consonants, are arbitrary, whereas syllable shorthand is natural because its characters represent the syllables as they are spoken. Since the English language can be expressed in 112 syllables, the differentiation necessary to their legible expression in shorthand is a simple matter.

The typewriting department of the school is equipped with the latest models. The touch system is taught, so the operator can run the machine without looking at the keys, leaving his eyes free to read the shorthand notes. The system almost doubles the speed of the operator, as the fingers alone are employed in manipulating the keys, while the attention is not distracted by the mechanical operation.

The system of bookkeeping, while comprehensive, is equally brief. It employs a full set of modern, up-to-date, loose-leaf blank books and a complete practice with special vouchers. Students of bookkeeping have been accustomed to studying five to ten months to acquire proficiency and it is startling to realize that better results can be obtained in thirty days. In the ordinary business school the pupil is required to study a mass of theoretical matter that is not only unnecessary, but is often harmful, as it detracts from the essential points.

While the bookkeeping course conforms to the general principles that underlie all systems of bookkeeping, it is stripped of needless technicalities and non-essentials until it is plain, straight-forward and quickly comprehended.

The demand for stenographers, typists and bookkeepers in these days is almost unlimited. There is practically no difficulty for anyone who is competent in any of these branches to secure a permanent and well-paying position. There are Boyd schools in [illegible] cities, outside of Cleveland: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Buffalo, Rochester, Detroit, Baltimore, Toledo, St. Louis, Saginaw, [illegible], Grand Rapids, Montreal, Toronto, Quebec, Ottawa, Winnipeg, London (England), and Sydney (Australia). With this representation in the United States, Canada, England and Australia, the managers at the head of the Boyd schools are in a position to find jobs for graduates [illegible] than can the head of a [illegible] school that has no extra outside connections.

150 SOLDIERS IN FRANCE SENT ORDERS TO CLEVELAND FRIENDS FOR FLOWERS THROUGH AVENUE FLOWER SHOPPE

Many Homes on Thanksgiving Day, Where the Service Flags Were Flying, Were Brightened by the Opportunity to Send This Touching Remembrance Across the seas Back to the Loved Ones.

If you wish to send a gorgeous bouquet of American Beauty roses or a modest bunch of violets to a friend in New York, Chicago, Portland, Maine, or Portland, Oregon, you can do so by stepping into the Avenue Flower Shoppe, 1268 Euclid Avenue, and giving the order. If your friends in any city of the United States or abroad wish to be remembered to you with flowers, they can give a similar order to some shop in the city where they live and the floral tribute will be delivered to you in Cleveland at the hour designated.

Several thousand orders were sent out by the Avenue Shoppe to other cities to be delivered on Thanksgiving eve, and as many more were wired here from outside cities, to be delivered in Cleveland.

The Avenue Shoppe received 150 orders from soldiers in France for flowers that were delivered to wives and sweethearts, mothers and families in Cleveland. The Thanksgiving Day table was brightened in many homes where the service flags are flying, by the remembrances that came across the seas through this world-wide organization, known as the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association.

It costs no more to order flowers for delivery in a city on the other side of the continent than if they were delivered to a friend on the next street. In order to encourage and build up the trade, as it has been done to a remarkable degree by national advertising and effective organization, no charge is made for the extra service. "Say it with flowers" is becoming a popular slogan of modern society. If you wish to pay a compliment to a friend on the wedding day "say it with flowers." If you wish to offer condolences on the occasion of death, "say it with flowers." If you wish to remember the birthday, the holiday or the marriage anniversary, you can "say it with flowers" half way around the world.

The system seems to be extraordinarily effective as well as far reaching. All orders for Thanksgiving flowers from the soldiers in France—and one can imagine the immense volume of the business this year—were gathered at a central agency in Paris and cabled to a central agency in New York City. From New York the soldiers' orders were distributed by wire to the hundreds of cities from Maine to California. That is how 150 Cleveland soldiers were able to "say it with flowers" on Thanksgiving Day to their loved ones here.

The Avenue Flower Shoppe is one of the largest in the city. It is located in the heart of the shopping district of Euclid avenue, and it has a very large woman's trade. While it carries a complete stock of all the popular flowers in the market, at substantially the same prices that are charged in the other florists' shops of the city, the Avenue Shoppe specializes in the more expensive flowers. Orchids at $24 a dozen are to be considered a luxury, even in these days of high prices. The ordinary floral shop does not carry orchids in stock. As a rule, the demand is slight, compared with the demand for cheaper flowers. The orchid trade at the Avenue Shoppe is said to be the largest in the city.

The same owners or their predecessors who are connected with the Avenue Shoppe have been in business in Cleveland for forty years. They are by far the oldest florists in Cleveland.

V. C. M. Fish, formerly with J. M. Gasser Co., said the Thanksgiving business this year was the largest he had ever known on Thanksgiving. Several thousand chrysanthemums, at prices ranging from fifty cents to a dollar each, were sold, and the demand for roses, violets, carnations and orchids was as large. The company owns the famous Lakeview Rose Garden greenhouse, where some of its choicest roses are grown. It is supplied largely from Chicago, Brantford, Ontario, Canada, and Rhinebeck. While the first Victory Thanksgiving was responsible for an unusual trade in flowers, the Victory Christmas is expected to bring even a greater line of business, in the opinion of the manager of the Avenue Shoppe.

A Christmas Gift For Your Friends, Far or Near, The Willoughby Republican

Send us a Name For the Soldiers' Honor List

This Paper is Devoted to the Best Interests of Lake County

The Willoughby Republican

Not Merely a newspaper BUT a NEWS-paper.

TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR—NO. 40 WILLOUGHBY, O., DECEMBER 18, 1918. ONE DOLLAR AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A YEAR IN ADVANCE

A LIBERTY BUILDING FOR WILLOUGHBY

Carrying out the always vividly alive and practical working suggestions of Dr. Crane, why not a Liberty Building for Willoughby? In a recent issue of the Republican a suggestion by James McMahon in regard to a permanent band stand was mentioned as a suitable and useful memorial for our soldier boys. This is quite along the line of the memorials that may be used by the living, as suggested by Dr. Crane.

If it were possible, why not a Liberty Building in a space available upon the park here? It could be made into a home for all the local fraternal orders; a permanent place for the Red Cross when needed, or for other women's work; a community rest room; a place for farmers' institutes, as well as an auditorium for townsfolk, could be arranged as a part. It could be made into a permanent and splendid memorial for the boys, that would reflect credit up on Willoughby as long as the building stood; and it would keep intact the ground adjacent to the park as a beauty spot of interest for all time. The boys in service could look to it with pride as the building that they inspired; as could the relatives of those who have lost boys. And the local fraternal orders, who would benefit particularly, could aid in the financial part.

Why not a Liberty Building for Willoughby?

FIRST DEATH OCCURS AT WILLOUGHBY MILITARY POST

The first death at the Chemical Warfare Post in Willoughby occurred at 5 a. m. Saturday, December 7th, Private Herbst succumbing to an attack of the flu. The young man was 24 years of age, and came from Missouri. He had been ill for possibly two weeks. Every care was given him, and much hope for his recovery had been held at the post. The body was shipped to the parents in Missouri Saturday.

Private Anstock accompanied the body to the boy's home in Kirksville, Mo.

BAN PLACED ON HIAWATHA, CHURCHES, SCHOOLS AND CLUBS

At a meeting of the Board of Health, Board of Education and others Wednesday night, it was decided to again place the ban on Willoughby public gatherings, schools and churches. They will be closed until further notice, including the K. of P. hall and Union Club. E. M. Otis was appointed to take a daily survey of the situation, to see that physicians' reports of all cases were made.

WILL THE WAR CHEST FUND BE AVAILABLE FOR MEMORIAL PROJECTS?

A suggestion which comes to us from James McMahon asks if any portion of the War Chest fund will be available for memorial projects. He advances the thought that a refund might be made to each community, pro rata with their subscription, which would aid materially in the erecting in the locality of a suitable memorial for the boys. It is a reasonable suggestion, worthy of consideration.

MENTOR WOMAN KNITTER STILL ADDS TO RECORD

Mentor knitters are still adding to the established record. Mrs. George Dow, who was mentioned in a recent issue of the Republican, in competition with Mrs. Flyer's work, has now completed her 100th pair of socks, 8 sweaters, 7 helmets, and innumerable wash cloths and sponges. Next!

FOOT BRIDGE ACROSS GLENN AVENUE SOON TO BE COMPLETED.

A new foot bridge is being built across Glenn avenue. The runners are now being put down, and it will be ready for use very soon.

TWENTY-ONE THOUSAND OFFICERS AND MEN REQUIRED TO MAKE PICTURE OF PRESIDENT WILSON RECENTLY SHOWN—WILLOUGHBY BOY, JUST RETURNED FROM CAMP, IS ONE.

Private Beckwith has been honorably discharged and has arrived home from camp. He was one of the Willoughby boys who helped to make the President Wilson picture recently shown in the Press. Eight thousand men formed the top of the head; 5700 were required for the face and parting of the hair. Twenty-one thousand officers and men participated altogether in the standing—not sitting—for the great picture. An original of the scene is at Manville's for framing.

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN MENTOR WOMAN

Friends learned with deep regret Wednesday of the death of Mrs. Kittie Norton, wife of Harry Norton, of Mentor, at 11 a. m. Wednesday. Mrs. Norton was 38 years of age and was the daughter of C. R. Hill, of Painesville, who survives. Two sisters, Mrs. Floyd Rogers, of Leroy, and Mrs. Arlie Booth, of Kirtland, also survive. Mrs. Norton had been in poor health for about a year. Death resulted from an attack of the flu. Mrs. Norton was an active member of the Maccabees, and she will be greatly missed by a host of friends in Mentor and through the county. The funeral will probably be held Friday afternoon.

SISTER OF MRS. GEORGE BROWN DIES

Miss Margaret Merriman, sister of Mrs. George Brown, of Vine street, died at 7 a. m. Wednesday at St. Alexis Hospital. Death followed an operation, which occurred a week ago Friday.

DEATH OF REYNOLDS ROAD RESIDENT

After a brief illness, which terminated in pneumonia, Mrs. William Allyn passed away Saturday morning, December 7th, at her home on Reynolds road. The funeral service, which was private, was held Monday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. Phillips. In addition to the bereaved husband and son there are the aged parents, sisters and brother left to mourn their loss. Mr. Allyn was for many years in times past foreman of the Osborn farm.

LIBERTY BUILDINGS

Statues and Monuments Belong to the Era of Kings. The Most Fitting Way to do Homage to the Dead is to Construct Something That Shall Serve the Living, Says Dr. Frank Crane.

When the war is over and the boys come home, every community will feel like doing something to perpetuate the memory of their participation in the most stupendous enterprise in history. Unless something is done to prevent it, there will probably be an extensive building of monuments of stone and bronze such as now adorn the public squares of so many towns as memorials to the soldiers and sailors of the Civil War.

The sentiment which built these monuments is commendable. It was the effort of a community to do honor to its heroes. The judgment, however, that was displayed in selecting this form of commemoration is open to criticism. Monuments to great men and edifices to commemorate great occasions are as old as civilization.

Even our graveyards at present are full of elaborate tombs. But thinking people have often doubted whether a mass of useless display is the best form of doing honor to a useful life. Common sense would indicate that the most fitting way to do homage to the dead is to construct something that shall serve the living.

This war has speeded human progress in many ways. Why should it not mark our progress in tomb building? Would not a memorial building in every community, constantly used by the living, be a more practical and even a more beautifully sentimental object than a pile of stone or bronze?

Anyway, the erection of statues and shafts and mausoleums belongs to the era of kings. The appropriate monument for a democracy is a warm and useful structure that shall be an integral part of the people's life.

—Selected by W. J. Carmichael, from the "American City."

SUNDAY SCHOOL WILL REMAIN CLOSED UNTIL PUBLIC SCHOOL OPENS

Frank Shankland announced Monday night, following a meeting, that the Sunday School would be closed and would not reopen until the public school opens. The school closed Monday and will remain closed for an indefinite period. The No. 9 school closed Monday, seven cases of flu being reported.

MAN FROM OTIS FARM WITH CAPT. McCOLLISTER, DIES AT CAMP SHERMAN

George Nelson, aged 33, well known in Willoughby, and employed as a horseman and chauffeur by Charles Otis at the Tannenbaum farm for the past seven years, died of pneumonia at Camp Sherman Monday night.

George was a volunteer, entering the service a year ago last October, under Major Glenn. He was then transferred to the veterinary corps, under Capt. McCollister. He was married last January to Miss Thelma Dahlquist, who is also with the Otis family. The wedding occurred at the Old Stone Church. Mrs. Nelson has been at the Statler with Mrs. Otis, but is at the farm now.

The young man was well known and liked in Willoughby and was a member of the K. of P. The body was brought home for interment, George E. Manville going in for it Wednesday night. A military funeral was arranged for Thursday, to be conducted from the Grace Episcopal Church. The Red Cross, the War Mothers, K. of P. and other orders participated, including a firing squad from the Willoughby Chemical Warfare Post.

Fine tributes were paid to George Nelson at the farm Wednesday. "He was just a big brother to everybody," they say there; "a fine, likeable chap." Queenie Otis, who is still out at the farm, was inconsolable when the news came. Will Otis, 18, now at Yale, when at home, always wanted to go to the woods with George. He was the only one who knew the woods, and was a real companion there, young Otis was wont to say. Queenie had just received a letter from George Friday last, in which he said he would be home for Christmas. A brother was killed in action just about a year ago Christmas. The parents are still living in England.

At the council meeting Friday night Mayor Carmichael appointed the following committee to arrange and consider plans for the permanent soldiers' and sailors' service memorial for this locality:

MAGAZINES COLLECTED FOR THE SOLDIERS IN THE HOSPITAL AT WILLOUGHBY.

Following a request from Lieut. Copley, of the "Y" army service in Willoughby, a large assortment of magazines was collected and brought into the Republican office Saturday. Mrs. J. G. Barbour collected them. They were sent to the boys who are convalescing at the Post hospital.

CLEVELAND CRANE MEN ATTEND FUNERAL SERVICES FOR HIGHLY REGARDED WILLOUGHBY MAN.

Funeral services for Frank Spotten were held from the Church of the Immaculate Conception Saturday morning at 9:30. The employees and office men of the Cleveland Crane & Eng. Co., where Mr. Spotten was superintendent, attended in a body and marched to the church and the cemetery. Beautiful floral tributes in the form of a large cross from the associates at the plant, and other pieces, testified to the esteem in which Mr. Spotten was held. Mr. and Mrs. Spotten were married eleven years ago last June. He was 42 years of age the 10th of last April. Mrs. Spotten was Miss Anna Chambers. They made their home at the family home on Vine street, and after the death of Mrs. Spotten's father, John Chambers, the house passed to Mrs. Spotten, and they continued their residence there until six months ago when the present home on Wright street, purchased of M. D. Wellman, was secured. Two children, twins, Leonard and Leona, now nine years old, were born of the union.

Mr. Spotten had been with the Cleveland Crane & Engineering Co. for 12 years, working himself up from a humble employee to the position of superintendent. Officers and men held him in highest regard. As a husband and father, Mr. Spotten was ideal, and Willoughby has lost a friend and neighbor of the highest type with his passing.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY FOR SERGT. CARL ROBERTS.

A memorial service for Sergt. Carl Roberts, who was killed in action, was held by the Methodist Sunday School for their class mate Sunday, December 8th. Frank Shankland was chairman. He read the memorial which he had prepared and which will appear in a later issue. It contains many splendid thoughts, which are applicable to all who have given their lives in the great struggle.

ORDINANCE RAISING FARE TO 3c PER MILE OVER THE C. P. & E. IS PASSED

At a meeting of the Council Friday last an ordinance was passed granting the right to the C., P. & E. to charge 3c per mile for one year. The ordinance is published completely in this issue. The commuters' tickets will make it possible for those going back and forth to Cleveland daily or frequently to obtain the same rate of fare as now in effect. The raise is in the form of an amendment which will hold good for one year, thus protecting the village by the very favorable franchise now in effect.

FORMER PRESBYTERIAN PASTOR BROUGHT TO WILLOUGHBY FOR BURIAL.

PASTOR ACTIVE WHEN E. H. BAKER WAS TRUSTEE, SUCCUMBS.

The body of Rev. A. J. Waugh, who died in Corinth, N. Y., Thursday last, was brought to Willoughby and buried in the cemetery here Sunday, December 8th, at 12:30. Mr. Waugh had been preaching at Corinth and had delivered three sermons the Sunday previous to his death. It has been about 32 years since Mr. Waugh was pastor of the Presbyterian Church here. He was active during the building of the new church and served in Willoughby for about ten years. He was highly regarded and made many friends. The children, Robert, Lester and Marjorie are located in various points. The husband of the daughter, A. E. Hiltbold, is now master truckman in New York City for the army. Robert is an instructor in New Haven, and Lester is a geologist in Chili. He is married and has two boys.

E. H. Baker, of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, was on the board of trustees of the church when Mr. Waugh was here, and W. C. Collister was chairman at that time. W. A. Baker, who was the father-in-law of Horatio H. Wells the evangelist, was also a trustee. It is recalled that the home of the latter stood where the A. H. Van Gorder home is now located. George W. Rockafellow was also a member of the board then. Thus does the death of a friend and former valued citizen bring forth hosts of gentle reminiscences and old-time memories.

AUSTIN COMPANY WOULD AID IN THE RECONSTRUCTION OF EUROPE.

Samuel Austin has just returned from New York, where he saw his son, W. J. Austin, off to Europe. He will be gone two months and will visit France, Italy, England and Belgium. The Austin Co. have many buildings erected overseas, and they now aim to aid in the literal reconstruction of Europe. Getting a passport is quite a colossal task, Mr. Austin stated Tuesday. There were over 100,000 applicants who wanted to go across, he said, and one had to produce reasons to show that their business was of the most extraordinary urgency before it was possible to become one of the 100,000 accepted, he added.

K. OF P. HAVE SPLENDID PATRIOTIC CELEBRATION

Willoughby audiences expect a great deal when the K. of P. announces an evening's entertainment, and they were not disappointed when they gathered at the hall Friday last to celebrate the American victory with the K. of P. order. Patriotic songs were sung by the audience, led by J. G. Barbour, and the music rendered by the orchestra was so much enjoyed throughout the evening that the players kindly yielded to persuasion and played for a [illegible] dance following the speaking. The orchestra included Messrs. Wilson, Roe, Beebower and the Lasch brothers.

Mr. Rentschler was the first speaker. His talk was very interesting and awakened thought on many subjects. An achieving Socialist, he stated, can accomplish great results. He touched upon the subject of the tariff, which he believes should be controlled by an intelligent board, not by political parties. He also spoke of the importance of the co-ordination of education and industry, that both might profit thereby.

The Hon. H. I. Emerson, following, said that the subject of the tariff was a delicate one, and he did not believe it best to dwell upon it. Americanism was his theme, and he gave an interesting address. He believes that the bodies of American soldiers who have been buried abroad should be returned to this country. Many of the guests of the evening met Mr. Emerson informally after he had finished speaking. S. D. Shankland, who presided, spoke entertainingly as he introduced the speakers and at the close. The decorations were most appropriate, being an effective arrangement of the flags of the U. S., France, Italy, Belgium and Great Britain. S. D. Shankland, C. D. Hern, Charles Waterman, Roy Webster and J. G. Barbour formed the committee in charge.

EMERSON TELLS STORY OF AMERICAN SOLDIERS

During his speech last Friday night at the K. of P. gathering, the Hon. H. I. Emerson told the following story. It may not be new, but it will bear repeating: A certain company of American soldiers had been ordered to advance. When ordered to stop they continued to advance, and the captain in charge was later called to account. "Why didn't you stop those men?" he was asked. "How in h—— could I stop them,' he replied, "when the whole d—— German army couldn't stop them?"

ORDINANCE NO. 467.

An ordinance granting to The Cleveland, Painesville & Eastern Railroad Company the right to charge additional fare.

Be it ordained by the Council of the Village of Willoughby, State of Ohio.

Section 1. That for and during the period of one year from and after the date of the passage and taking effect of this ordinance, The Cleveland, Painesville and Eastern Railroad Company may and hereby is permitted to charge and receive fares for the transportation of passengers as follows:

Not to exceed three (3) cents per mile, being one (1) cent per mile in addition to the two cents per mile heretofore authorized, but subject, however, to the following restrictions and conditions:

(a) Whenever the rate multiplied by the distance shall result in a product not a multiple of five, the fare shall be that multiple of five next below such product, except when such product shall be within one or a fractional part of one, the fare shall be the next succeeding multiple of five;

(b) The minimum charge for any one fare or transportation shall be the sum of ten cents (10c), and in no case in excess thereof;

(c) The fare between any two points within the Village of Willoughby shall be five cents (5c), and the Willoughby Village five cent fare zone shall extend to and include Stop 49, as now located at the Reynolds Road, Stop 153, as now located at Manley Avenue and Stop 33, as now located at Belle Vernon Farm;

(d) Transfers are to be issued and accepted by said Company between the main line and the shore within the village;

(e) Said Company shall provide and sell at its Willoughby office commutation ticket books containing forty tickets, good within one month from date of issue, for payment of transportation between Willoughby and any fare point designated by the purchaser of such ticket book upon the line of said company's railroad, at the rate of fare authorized in the franchise granted to said Railroad Company by the Council of the Village of Willoughby on the 26th day of July, 1909, and designated on the records of said Village as Ordinance No. 334; said Company shall not be required to redeem such commutation tickets which are not used within one month from the date of issue thereof, excepting that, when the purchaser has used not more than 26 tickets, the Company shall deduct from the cost of such ticket book the value of transportation furnished at three cents(3c) per mile, and shall within twenty days after the expiration of the same refund to the owner of such ticket book the balance of the cost of the same, upon his surrender of said book; such commutation tickets shall be non-transferable and the purchaser of the ticket book shall sign his name upon said book and thereby agree to the conditions thereof;

(f) Said Company shall provide and sell at its Willoughby office round trip tickets between Willoughby and Willoughbeach Park, from the date of the opening of said Park until the closing of the same, at the price of ten (10c) cents for each round trip ticket.

Section 2. The adoption of this ordinance by the Council shall not otherwise alter, modify or affect in any manner, any of the terms of any grants, heretofore made to said Company, and said grants shall in all respects remain and continue in full force and effect for the term for which they were originally granted, and at the expiration of one year from the date of the passage and taking effect of this ordinance, the right to charge and receive said additional fare herein granted, shall automatically cease and determine.

Section 3. Within ten days after the passage of this ordinance, said company shall, if it elects to exercise the right to charge said additional rate of fare, file a written acceptance of this ordinance and shall therein stipulate and agree that all grants heretofore made to it in relation to the construction, maintenance and operation of its railroads within the city, are not modified or in any way affected by this ordinance, and that it is not relieved from any of the obligations arising out of such grants, and in case said company fails to comply with any of the obligations imposed upon it by this or any other grant this grant shall at once cease.

Section 4. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and legal publication, and within the earliest period provided by law.

Passed December 6, 1918.

PUT THE COUNTY OVER

Chamber of Commerce and War Savings Committee Co-Operate

Between now and the first of January Lake county will have to raise $95,000 if the W. S. S. quota established by the government is reached.

The final drive in the campaign is now on, and to help with the work an enthusiastic meeting of the Lake County War Savings Committee, together with the postmasters of the county and a committee of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, was held at the latter's rooms, the Hon. W. J. Carmichael presiding.

While the reports from the several postoffices in the county show good progress being made, from now on in order to reach our quota it is necessary to speed up.

A united effort on the part of all will certainly put Lake county over the top 100 per cent and more, as this is the only war activity we have so far failed to make good in.

Mr. Gail G. Grant, chairman of the Lake County Merchants Committee, will co-operate with the following executive committee, representing the several townships, and who will have charge of the present campaign:

Wickliffe—Mr. T. F. Honeywell.
Willoughby—Mr. Chas. Mahnke.
Kirtland—Mr. N. P. Crawford.
Mentor—Mr. Geo. H. Brown, Mr. Frank M. Smith.
Painesville—Mr. E. D. Heartwell.
Fairport—Capt. Rasmussen.
Perry—Mr. Geo. H. Salkeld.
Madison—Mr. Frank H. Davett.

"Over the Top" Willoughby postal zone, including Kirtland, is the only district that has sold its quota, and they have done it to the tune of $16,000 over and above what is expected of them—and they are still chasing the Hun.

Painesville and Fairport have $25,000 to go, with Madison township $8,000 to go, but we are familiar with their past record in all war activities and feel certain that they will be 'way over the top when the present drive comes to the end.

"Not yet awakened to their responsibility," Mentor is behind $20,000 of its quota of $39,540. Perry lacks $20,000 of its quota of $35,680. Wickliffe is in the rear to the tune of $12,000 of its quota of $28,000, and we all appreciate the fact that music of this kind is a discord when accompanied by Mentor, Perry and Wickliffe, as they are generally the first to go over the top, and the committee promises much encouragement by reason of this spirit.

VIEW OF WAR AND REASONS FOR ITS END FROM THE POINT OF VIEW OF AN ORIENTAL—SPEAKER FROM INDIA GIVES GREAT TALK AT METHODIST CHURCH.

Attendants at the Methodist Church Sunday night heard a great talk. Dr Cheney, of India, addressed the gathering, talking on the subject of the war and the reason for its end, from the point of view of an Oriental. He advanced the view that the people high in authority in the Orient have become permeated by Christianity through the work of the missionaries so that the new ruling bodies are largely Christian; and that the hand of God, working through these mediums, aided in frustrating plans laid, was clearly demonstrated by the speaker. Facts, figures and dates were all presented. It is regrettable that more people did not hear the talk.

CLARK H. NYE,

Have a Heart!
This is no laughing matter. When a man is up against a hard job, even if it is "a woman's job," he needs help; BUT if he had used Swift's Pride Soap his job would have been cut in half—and the last half is the harder.

A sort of evergreen among tea tables is the Tea Cart, for it's uses are continuous summer and winter. For the serving of garden or veranda meals in the summer time it is invaluable, and at all times it is a boon in the small dining room as an extra serving table, for dishes can be put ready on it, so as to avoid disturbance in the middle of meals.

The sketch shows one that is obtainable in mahogany. It has smoothly running wheels with rubber tires. The tray is of mahogany and glass.

A limited quantity of this fine tea wagon is offered at the special price of $15.00.

Standard Theater

Week of December 15th the Standard Theater presents the charming little star, Madge Kennedy, in her latest success, "A Perfect Lady." Miss Kennedy is in her element in this picturization of the famous stage success. It is the play in which Rose Stahl made such a hit several seasons ago, and as the burlesque soubrette Miss Kennedy is a riot. You know that the common belief among the narrow minded is that all the girls on the stage are bad. If you are one of those who hold this belief just come along and see what one girl of the stage did to prove to an entire town that she was as good, if not better, than those who have joined in persecuting her. Possibly you will say that it's only a story, but it's a mighty true one at that, and one which it will do you good to see.

Anna Vivian & Co., presenting a feminine offering of unusual excellence, will be the stellar attraction at The Miles the coming week. The act is called "What Women Can Do." Six versatile female artists depict what modern women can accomplish if they only put their shoulders to the wheel. The idea of the entertainment is new in vaudeville and makes a novel feature. Lulu McConnell and Grant Simpson are the added attraction in their latest one-act comedy, "At Home." Other features will be Lillian Watson in a humorous song cycle, Carbrey Cavanaugh, eccentric comedians and dancers. Conrad and Goodwin offer an artistic musical melange, and Swain's trained cats in a marvelous exhibition of animal versatility. Special photo plays will be shown before and after the four vaudeville shows daily.

AN EYE ON THE FUTURE

Maggie had a new baby brother, which everybody agreed was such a baby as had never been seen before. One day the baby was being weighed, and Maggie asked what that was for.

"Oh," said her father, "Uncle George has taken a great fancy to baby, and he's offered to buy him for a shilling an ounce."

Maggie looked startled. "You're not going to sell him, are you, daddy?"

"Of course not, precious," answered daddy, proud to see his little girl loved her brother so.

"No. Keep him till he gets a bit bigger," the child went on; "he'll fetch more money then."—Tit-Bits.

Are You Prepared For Cold Weather?

For the last eight months we have been trying to impress upon our customers the importance of having the proper heating equipment and fuel for their homes this winter.

We have warned you—

That the supply of gas this year will not equal that of previous years—that you should not rely entirely on gas for heating but should have a supplementary appliance so as to burn either coal or wood—that under present conditions of supply, you should not install gas burners in a coal furnace but should burn only coal this winter.

If you've put it off, get busy TODAY. See that you have the proper heating equipment and a good supply of coal.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and daughter Lois spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith in Nottingham.

Mr. A. M. Rogat, of New York, and sister, Miss Sarah Rogat, are taking care of the department store of Mr. Morris Horowitz until Mrs. Horowitz is able to look after the business herself.

MAPLE GROVE

(Received Too Late for Last Week's Issue.)

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Little motored to Minerva Friday, where they spent the week-end with relatives at Minerva and Kensington. The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. is spending millions of dollars in eliminating grades at Kensington; the N. Y. C. lines are spending $1,500,000 in building shops, yards and roundhouses.

Mr. Thomas Brichford, formerly of this place, had a stroke of paralysis at his home in Willoughby Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Steward visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steward, Sunday.

NEWS FROM EAST KIRTLAND

(Received Too Late for Last Week's Issue.)

Bishops B. F. McGuiire and J. A. Becker, of Independence, Mo., are here on a flying visit.

Elder G. T. Griffiths, of Columbus, occupied the Temple pulpit Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alma Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, of Cleveland, were Sunday visitors here.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Curry have returned from an auto trip that led them to Columbus, Pittsburg and minor points.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, of New Philadelphia, are guests of Mrs. Brewster. Mrs. Thomas was until recently Miss Luella Gill, of Kirtland.

Our seventh and eighth grades are again opened, we hope for the year, Miss Pratt being entirely recovered.

Our village comedian, Mr. Theron Carter, is now employed by a Cleveland firm. We observed a tendency to pessimism in our midst, but not until recently discovered the cause, when we learned that our favorite jokesmith was occupying other fields.

Miss Auvergne Proper returned home from Kent Sunday, where she is scheduled to attend Normal School. This is the third time she has returned due to the repeated closing of the institution on account of flu.

Mrs. Jessie Hess is reported as being ill.

Master Don McFarland, who suffered a broken collar bone a week ago, is doing finely.

Mrs. Alberta Lake, who has been employed in Wickliffe for some time, has returned home.

The Temple Sunday School is planning to put something across very soon. Watch this space for further particulars.

Mrs. David Lewis, who has been ill, is much improved.

We learn with regret that Mr. Harry Gillespie, a former Kirtland resident, met with a serious accident Saturday in a Cleveland machine, which it is feared will cost his eyesight.

No Casualties Among Kirtland Boys So Far.

James Edwards, of the U. S. Marines, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Edwards, has arrived home from Camp Pontico, Va., after a most serious attack of pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards recently returned from Camp Pontico, where they had been hastily summoned, as it was feared James would not recover. We are pleased to report him as fully recovered, but it is some disappointment to be stricken as you are ready to step on board ship to "go across" and know now that the bunch you belonged to are "over there." We are glad to know he is alive, however, and to have him at home again. Up to the present we have had no casualties reported from among our Kirtland boys at home or overseas.

NEWS FROM WAITE HILL

(Received too late for last week.)

Mrs. Chas. Webster received a letter from her son Gordon, Saturday, that had been written six weeks and the stale news wasn't very satisfying after worrying and waiting so many weeks for a letter from him.

The next W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. J. J. Lilley.

Albert Parks has the flu. Dr. Ingersol is attending him.

Mrs. Churchill had a hard spell with heart trouble Monday.

The Stokes family are going to entertain their two sons and families from Willoughby at a Thanksgiving dinner.

Chas. Harland and family are moving from South Kirtland to Wm. Thompson's house they recently vacated.

Mr. Parkhurst went to Chillicothe Saturday.

Miss Bessie Duncan was down from the city Sunday on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Duncan. This family have a son in the army and he is overseas. Wm. McDermot Duncan, although he enlisted from Bridgeport, Conn., his home will be here with his parents when he returns, and it seems as though his name should be among the other soldier boys around here.

The Otis family were down from the city to their farm Sunday.

Mrs. Chas. Webster was a guest of her daughter in Cleveland Thursday.

Oliver Cox, wife and her brother Maurice Covert and Mason Cox attended the Expo in Cleveland Friday and reported it fine. It was too bad we couldn't have had nicer weather as many that intended to go gave it up on account of the cold weather. However, we understand there were throngs of people there daily.

That little new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Wheeler has been named Gertrude Melvina, after both its grandmothers. It was born on Grandmother Wheeler's 82nd birthday.

Road Strip Needs Repairing.

The road men are doing a much needed job on the road near the Whitney place. They might find another bad strip of road between Hobart's Corners and Kirtland Flats which needs repairing badly.

Mrs. Lilley is worrying greatly over her son Floyd, who is overseas, as she doesn't get any word from him whatever, and hasn't for many weeks.

The John Sherwin cattle made a pretty sight as they were bringing them home from the Mystic farm Saturday. I should judge there were two or three hundred in the herd.

The J. J. Lilley family were in Cleveland Thursday.

Mrs. George Ellsworth will entertain on Thanksgiving her mother, sister and brother George and his three little ones.

Mr. E. L. Becker and Mr. Dwyer from the west are on a visit to Kirtland friends.

Mrs. Buchner, Miss Wilson and Miss Schmidt were Cleveland visitors Saturday.

Mrs. Wheeler entertained friends Thanksgiving.

Wm. Grover is doing painting and paperhanging on one of John Sherwin's houses.

Mrs. Clarinda LaMoreaux of Wilson's Mills was a guest of Mrs. Walter Baldwin several days last week.

Mrs. Rose Call, now of Willoughby, but formerly of Kirtland, is reported as very ill with pneumonia as a result of the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas from New Philadelphia have moved to the Moreland farm for the winter. Mrs. Thomas was formerly Miss Luella Gill and was employed at the Matthew Smith Store.

A disastrous fire took place in Willoughby Saturday when the Willoughby Inn block was burned to the ground. Nothing but part of the outside walls remain.

Some of the Waite Hill Pie Makers.

The writer has been trying to help the Kirtland chapter of the Red Cross in getting those pies and jellies for the Ben Hur soldiers Thanksgiving dinner by canvassing this neighborhood over the telephone and has secured 12 names of ladies who promised a pie or glass of jelly to help out. The names are as follows: Mrs. John Carpenter, Mrs. George Ellsworth, Mrs. Oliver Cox, Mrs. George Yaxley, Mrs. Walter Baldwin, Mrs. J. J. Lilley, Mrs. Grace Cox, Mrs. Wm. Duncan, Miss Mable Rice, Mrs. Wm. Grover, Miss Maude Hobart and Mrs. Wilson Hobart and there are several others who didn't promise for certain, as they were going to entertain on Thanksgiving and was a little fearful they couldn't make a go of it but guess the soldiers will all get a piece of pie.

There may be some who were overlooked in this pie solicitation, but we meant to have asked them all in this neighborhood. I called several phones that didn't answer. Either they were away or their phones were out of order, and some haven't any phone.

The Leroy family have all been ill with the flu, but all are getting along fine now. It's hoped the epidemic will soon be stamped out.

We were sorry to learn of the death of little Ruth Gibson. She was the daughter of Charles Gibson, a former Kirtland resident.

We were sorry to hear of the sudden illness of Mr. Thomas Brichford, of Willoughby, on Saturday, and at last reports he was no better. Mr. B. was a former Waite Hill neighbor. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Dr. Kingsley has been making professional calls on Waite Hill for several days past.

There are six or eight teams at work on the roads near Francis Corners. If the weather remains favorable they'll get a lot of work done.

All the Teutonic powers are surrendering except Milwaukee, which has elected Victor Berger to Congress.—Chicago Daily News.

Fly your flag—

The work of the Red Cross must go on—it will go on, and you must make it possible.

This is Red Cross Week. It is the only opportunity you will have to join the Red Cross, for the year 1919, or to renew your old membership

As soon as you join and get your flag, put it in the front window of your home—let all the world know you are a member of that great organization of humanity and that you are proud to belong.

Add a small Red Cross on your flag for each one of your family who is a 1919 member.

You get a button, too, when you join. WEAR THAT ON YOUR COAT.

Red Cross workers have definite instructions not to encourage any one to join more than once.

When you wear your button it lets those workers know you belong—then they won't ask you again.

"We joined—have you?"

When you have that button pinned on your coat, you can look the whole world in the face—and feel proud.

It means you have answered "present" to the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call for 1919. It means that you have placed your personal stamp of approval on the work of the Greatest Mother in the World and that you have given her the moral support of your membership.

Red Cross work must go on!

As long as Americans are under arms across the sea, as long as the results of war, pestilence and famine afflict the world, the need for the Red Cross will exist.

America has never failed in doing its full duty—that duty now is universal membership in the Red Cross.

DEPOT PROJECT, AS IT EFFECTS SUBURBAN CAR RIDERS, IS EXPLAINED BY TERMINAL CO.

John L. Cannon Tells How Residents of Adjacent Territory Will Be Benefited by Erection of Union Station on Public Square.—Situation as Revised and Modified, is Brought Down to Date By President of Company.

The Cleveland Union Terminal Company's plan of locating the Union Depot adjacent to the Public Square for the first time proposes a solution for a down-town terminal for the rapid transit, suburban and interurban lines entering the city of Cleveland. This is one of the features of this station which will naturally be considered carefully by residents in the territory lying adjacent to the city of Cleveland.

John L. Cannon, president of the Terminal Company and its attorney, tells in an interview some of the vital points of the big proposition that is engaging attention at this juncture of the suburban residents of Cleveland, as well as all who patronize the local lines. The main features of the plan are, of course, familiar to the public. The details of the plan have been modified in many minor particulars since its first presentation to the Cleveland City Council. Objections that existed in the original plan have been removed. Concessions on the part of the company have been granted.

In the wide discussion many impressions have doubtless reached the public that convey false ideas of the proposition. The interviews given out by Mr. Cannon is not only an authorized and authentic statements of the plan: it brings to attention the latest revisions of the first draft of the big idea. The interests of suburban car riders, too, are specially considered in this latest statement of the situation.

"A great amount of time is consumed by the various suburban and interurban lines from the outskirts of the city to the Public Square," says Mr. Cannon. "This time will be reduced by at least one-half by taking the suburban and interurban cars off the streets and putting them on a private right of way, with their terminal facilities in the Public Square. This not only benefits the riders in outlying territory, but permits the growth of Cleveland in a much wider area adjacent to the city. The largest percentage of the riders on street cars do not care to consume more than thirty minutes in getting from their homes to their places of business and employment. By placing the suburban and interurban cars on private rights of way, this thirty-minute zone is extended a considerable distance beyond the present thirty-minute limits, and by such extension a tremendous area is made available for homes for these people, within thirty minutes of the Square.

"Another advantage which has been regarded by many of the organizations which have considered the ordinance is the removal of the heavy suburban cars from the streets to private rights of way, and the interchange of traffic in one building between the riders of the interurban lines and the steam lines. In traveling from the city to the larger outlying towns a passenger might fail to make connections with the steam train, but would be able, in the same station, a few minutes later, to take a suburban car to his destination. Transfer of baggage from the interurban to steam railroads as at present located in the city is one of considerable annoyance and difficulty and of no small expense. This, of course, would be entirely eliminated with the steam and interurban lines coming into the same depot."

Mr. Cannon gives this summary of the company's position:

"The Terminals Company proposes to construct a depot at the Public Square for the use of all the steam and interurban railroads entering the city of Cleveland, which is a central location for all city surface street cars as well as the railroads which use the depot. A person desiring to take a street car and transfer to an interurban or suburban car can make this transfer with a minimum of inconvenience and loss of time at the Public Square. The depot will be so constructed that it will fit in with the subway terminal in the Square for the surface lines, which terminal has been approved by vote of the people of the city, and a commission has been appointed and has the same under consideration. This will permit passengers from the subway in the Square, without going up or down stairs, to enter the station directly, and without going to the surface. No other depot ever suggested for the city of Cleveland has any of the above advantages."

The relative advantages of the lake front site and the site on the Public Square are compared. "The lake front depot, as heretofore proposed, would, of course, necessitate," says Mr. Cannon, "the transfer of practically all the city car riders from their lines to a union depot line, in order to reach the depot, and was never intended or designed for the accommodation of other than the Pennsylvania, New York Central and Big Four Railroads. Accommodation of the interurban lines in the city was never even considered as a possibility in the Union Depot on the lake front."

"Proper and convenient stops for the suburban and interurban cars on their private rights of way will be arranged so that all passengers on these lines will not be required to come to the Square, but can, if they so desire, transfer at outlying stations and board their cars at these stations.

"The ordinance authorizing the building of the Union Depot at the Public Square provides that the station shall be open to all steam and interurban railroads which desire to avail themselves of its facilities, up to the limit of the capacity of the station. The ordinance further provides that if there is any disagreement with reference to the acceptance of future lines between these line and the Terminals Company, these differences shall be settled by a board of arbitration, which thus insures a fair deal to any new roads which may be projected into the city, and prevents the Terminals Company from unjustly excluding such new lines.

"The depot at the Square provides for twenty-four steam tracks on the upper level, and twenty-four electric tracks on the lower level, with an ultimate capacity of twelve more steam and twelve electric tracks, making a total of seventy-two tracks, which, when the traffic requires their construction, would be the largest station capacity in the world."

The special election at which the voters of the city of Cleveland will decide whether they want the Union Depot at the Public Square will be held January 6, 1919.

MADAME PEAL HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED FORTY YEARS IN BUSINESS OF MAKING HAIR GOODS IN CITY OF CLEVELAND

A Career That Is As Unique As It Is Long and Honorable.—Catering to the Comfort, Convenience and Pleasure of Three Generations of Womankind Has Known Many Famous Society Women of Past and Present Times.

Established in 1879; forty years in business in Cleveland! That is a record few concerns can boast of. No one would believe to look at Madame Peal that the matronly, kindly appearing woman had started forty years ago to serve the womenkind of Cleveland. Such she avers to be the fact, however, and the children and grandchildren of the society leaders of a past generation bear witness to the same claim.

Madame Peal takes the hair combings of the women of the city—their own hair—and makes them from the switches and pompadours that cannot be told from the hair that is remaining. It requires skilled and careful workmanship to take a box of hair combings and to convert it into a switch. The deft fingers of the madame have been doing that sort of work for so many years that she is known by three generations of society. Her rooms in the Clarence Building, 612 Euclid avenue, are not pretentious, but Cleveland women, mothers and daughters, grandmothers and grand-daughters, know they can get the right kind of work done there. And that is sufficient.

Madame Peal could doubtless tell many tales of a former generation. She knew the women of the Rockefeller family in the early days. She knew the women of scores of families, whose names are deeply imbedded in early Cleveland history. But she is a model of discretion. She tells no tales of switches that are manufactured in these rooms from the hair of the women of the city.

For thirty years Madame Peal has been placing on the local market a dandruff tonic. Mme. Peal's Dandruff Tonic was made as the result of her own experience in the handling of hair. Co-operating with a competent chemist in preparing the original formula, she experimented until the exact results were achieved that she was seeking in the care of the hair. Her remedy has been standard among Cleveland women for years, although it has never received extensive advertising and has never been distributed in the national field.

In a similar way, Madame Peal created and perfected years ago her "complexion face bleach" and her "complexion ointment." The face bleach is guaranteed to remove all freckles, and the ointment is recommended as a special remedy for the treatment of acne, pimples, black heads, rough and chapped skin and eczema. Far be it from a mere man to discuss the actual merits or demerits of such secrets of womankind as hair switches, face bleach and complexion ointment. The fact remains that for over thirty years these toilet preparations have been extensively used by the feminine portion of the city of Cleveland, while the name and fame of Madame Peal is known in the boudoirs of hundreds.

In recalling business experiences Madame Peal expressed the opinion that women of this later day and generation were more sensible—and sane—in their fashions relating to the use and dressing of hair. She said that starting about ten years ago, there was literally a craze on the part of all women, young and old, regardless of the fact whether they possessed much or little hair of their own, to pile up artificial hair on top of their heads. It was the greatest business era known in the history of hairdressing since the historic days of Madame Pompadour. Prices were boosted up to the sky line owing to the extraordinary demand for hair, hair and more hair. This craze gradually passed away. There has been in the past five years less disposition shown on the part of women to adopt extreme fashions in hair dressing or to use artificial hair.

Since the war, she says, there has been even a more notable tendency in hair fashions towards simplicity and naturalness, rather than artificiality. Women have been too busy with real work in the past four years to indulge in the extremes of folly of the former generations.

So long, however, as woman is woman, there will remain always and forever a constant demand for the work that Madame Peal has been doing so skillfully for forty years in Cleveland. There have been men in Cleveland in the past forty years who have contributed to the upbuilding of the city, but it is doubtful if any woman has contributed more in that period to the comfort, convenience and pleasure of the feminine portion of the community than Madame Peal. It is a long, honorable and unique business career.

ABE STRAUSS, WAITER AT THE STATLER, AND FRANK G. RIDLER, FORMER CHEF, OPENED ONLY REAL OYSTER HOUSE IN TOWN SEVEN WEEKS AGO—AN INSTANTANEOUS HIT

Belvidere, on East Fourth, Right Around the Corner From the Euclid Avenue Opera House, Has Attracted a Remarkable Line of Trade—Most Popular Head Waiter in Cleveland is Putting Business Across—Chef. Ridler, His Partner, Knows Good Cooking From Ground Up

Ten years ago a boy fifteen years of age landed in the port of New York from Holland. He had only $14 in his pocket and not one acquaintance in the United States of America. Moreover, he could not speak a word of the English language. But he was sturdy of build, with the push, determination and grit of the Holland Dutch. Above all, he had a smile that never came off. His first job was selling peanuts on the streets of New York and a few weeks later he obtained a job as "bus boy" in the big Holland Hotel.

That was the start of Abe Strauss, former head waiter at the Statler, who has opened the Belvidere on East Fourth street, right around the corner from the Euclid Avenue Opera House. Within the seven weeks since the bright, clean, tastily furnished, attractive new oyster house was opened in the center of the down-town district, business has been so rushing that, despite flu bans and food regulations, the Belvidere has made the hit of the city. It is the only real oyster house in town. All kinds of sea food are served there. During the noon luncheon and evening dinner period a general menu has been put on, in response to the demands of patrons. But it is as an oyster house that the new Belvidere specializes.

Strauss, aged 25, has the same smile he brought over with him when he landed, a little shock-haired Holland Dutchman. For a time the boy shifted much and developed fast. Within a few months he learned the language so thoroughly that he speaks it now without a trace of accent. For a time he was connected with George W. Sweeny, the biggest hotel man in New York, who owns a chain of famous hostelries in the East. Strauss was Sweeny's head man in the Lafayette in Buffalo, and he was at the Hotel Rochester at Rochester with Sweeney. When the Statler opened in Cleveland, Strauss came to take charge of the staff of waiters.

When the most popular head waiter in Cleveland undertook to go into business for himself it is not surprising that he has made an instantaneous success. Men like to meet the big, broad shouldered, efficient man who is at the desk. He is a mixer; that goes without saying. But he is a manager as well. He knows the business of successful catering to the public. In other words, he knows what the public wants and he knows how to put the business across. People who are attracted by the cleanliness of the place are converted into permanent patrons after they try the thirty-cent oyster stew that is the special hit on the menu. They like the atmosphere of hominess. They like the good cheer that radiates from the manager and permeates the establishment from the front door to the back alley. When the busy man drops in for a hasty midday lunch he forgets his business; if he is bothered with a grouch, it melts away. When he pays his check he registers a mental vow to come back. That is the reflection of the personality of the man who knows how to manage a place right. It's not entirely a question of price, for the Belvidere is rated "popular priced" compared with the big hotels. It's not a question of food, for possibly as good food can be obtained in many other places. It's a combination that distinguishes the place, conveying the idea that it is something different.

Back in the kitchen is the other member of the firm, Frank P. Ridler. People do not see the tall, rosy-cheeked chef, with his immaculate white cap and uniform. Ridler is the boss out back. From his boyhood he, too, has been in the hotel business. He has wandered as a boy from New York to the West and back again. He has been chief chef in a half dozen of the leading hotels of the country. He has officiated at the gas ranges of some of the best places in Cleveland. He knows his end of the business from the ground up, quite as well as Strauss knows the front end. The combination is ideal. It makes for unusual cooking and exceptional service.

And what a trade has been built up in seven weeks. One man has told another of the good little place he has found around the corner from the Opera House. He's remarked that Abe Strauss of the Statler is down there, and if you want something worth while, drop in. And so one business man after another has acquired the habit of dropping in at the Belvidere to see Abe Strauss and to eat Frank Ridler's oyster stews. You can buy oysters in many places, but this is, please remember, "the only real oyster house in town."

OUR SERVICE FLAG

By Mrs. Cora Gaines Carrel.—Given on the Occasion of the Grand Chapter O. E. S. at Columbus, December 12th, 1918

Our men! Our boys! It seems but yesterday
That they Went forth as knights of olden days, to fight
For right,
For man's inherent right—sweet liberty;
To see
The sore oppressed delivered, freed
By every deed.
And we, with tears unshed, tears hardly held,
So fast they welled,
We said, "God speed! God bless; God save!
And gave
Our very hearts.
Tonight, upon that field of white,
We see, not stars, but faces—faces dear,
So near
That we almost their very presence feel;
Aye, feel
That they are with us, though the stars, once blue
In hue,
Have changed to gleaming gold that blinds
Our eyes with tears, but finds
Us unembittered in our grief, for brief,
So brief,
Will be the parting; and 'tis then, there stands
With hands
Outstretched, our hero, who will eager say,
"One day,
God let me help. Thank Him for that,"
And at
This hour the sacred task is done
And won
By sacrifice. God speed you home, who live
And give.
Forevermore, the peace for which you fought,
May naught
Let us forget. And you who, willing, died,
Beside
Whose gift a greater there is none,
You—you have won.
And listen! You may hear,
So swiftly drawing near,
The song triumphant, "Peace—peace on the earth."
The birth
Of everlasting peace, oh make it, Christ,
Of justice, truth and right.
Good night!

TRAGIC DEATH COMES TO LITTLE ITALIAN BOY

Anthony Polly, Elm street, aged 10, was accidentally shot by a boy companion Wednesday afternoon. The boys were out shooting and one of the lads had just placed a 22 cartridge in a rifle. He claims that the Polly boy got in front of the rifle, when it went off. Nick Angeleo, brother-in-law of Tony, called Marshal Maloney, who brought the boy as rapidly as possible to Willoughby. He was treated by Dr. Moore, but died in the doctor's office. The accident occurred about 600 feet from the east end of the Nickel Plate trestle. Marshal Maloney took the lads in custody and later took Nicholas to his home.

Tony was the son of James Polly and had a brother John in the service. Nicholas Menn, aged 13, who had the rifle which killed Tony, also has a brother in the service, Mike Menn.

Willoughby Woman Just Elected to the Office of Associate Grand Matron of the State of Ohio, Order of the Eastern Star

Mrs. Cora Gaines Carrel

Mrs. Cora Gaines Carrel, who has just been honored by election to the office of associate matron, grand chapter of Ohio, O. E. S., is well known not only locally, but throughout the state in O. E. S. circles. She was one of the charter members of the local order, and was its second worthy matron, which office she held for two years.

She has filled all of the offices of the order, either by appointment or pro tem. She has taken a great interest in the details of the local chapter, and her graciousness and charming personality have endeared her to all. The poem which we are presenting in this issue was read by her as part of the presentation service of the Service Flag to the Grand O. E. S. chapter at the Columbus gathering. The flag contains 800 stars. Gov. Cox was upon the program, and he spoke in very complimentary terms to Mrs. Carrel of her poem and its rendering. A basket bouquet was sent by the local chapter, which was presented by Mrs. Harriet Carrel, who is the worthy matron-elect of the Willoughby chapter. Other beautiful flowers were also presented Mrs. Carrel at the gathering. Next year, in the regular course of events, she will reach the highest office in the state that the Eastern Stars can confer. Willoughby friends are unanimous in feeling that Mrs. Carrel will do credit to all honors that may reach her.

STAND BY LAKE COUNTY

Mayor Carmichael Makes Appeal

The honor and credit of Lake county should be in the mind and heart of every loyal citizen.

The War Savings Stamp year's campaign is nearing its close, and Lake county citizens must buy approximately seventy-five thousand dollars in maturity value War Savings Stamps if the goal is reached.

Our county has shown what wonderful things it can do, and if each individual will consider this a personal appeal to purchase War Savings Stamps to the limit of his resources, and will resolve to make his purchase at once, there will be no question whatever about putting Lake county across in this year's final War Service campaign.

Ohio leads the nation in the sale of War Savings Stamps. This is true not only in proportion to the population, but in the actual amount of stamps purchased. Even New York, with its ten million people, is behind Ohio.

Nearly all the counties in the State have reached their full quotas. Lake county stands 74th in the list of 88 counties. We must not let our wonderful war record be broken, and if we each and every one make it a personal matter to purchase at once, our record of service to the state and nation in the war will be unbroken, and our full share of responsibility in service will have been accomplished.

Will you not, therefore, ask yourself the question, "Have I bought all the War Savings Stamps I can buy? Have I made the sacrifice I should make, and is it not my paramount duty to see my postmaster and purchase to the extent of my ability, that my county may stand 100 per cent in all war activities?

The government does not ask you to give, but to invest your money in the best security the world has to offer, and at a rate of interest which we know to be unexcelled.

Will you not consider this a personal matter and help maintain the glorious record of our most beloved Lake county?

Yours in Victory,
W. J. CARMICHAEL,
Chairman Lake County War Savings Committee.

"Y" AT BEN HUR POST HAS OFFICIAL OPENING

Soldier Boys Take Part In Interesting Program

Although the army Y. M. C. A. at the Ben Hur Post has been open for service since December 2nd, their official opening was given Tuesday evening, December 17th, 1918. The program consisted of the following numbers: Piano solo by Private H. F. Wyne and community singing, followed with an address by Secretary C. H. Copley, explaining the services of the Y. M. C. A. in army camps and what their program would be at the Ben Hur Post. Corp. Herbert A. Stewart then gave a talk, giving each man credit for the work he did in getting the barracks ready for Y. M. C. A. service.

The next number was the first reel of the five-reel movie, "The Riders of the Night," followed with a wrestling match between Corp. Pratt and Corp. J. H. Harman, Corp. Harman winning the bout. The second reel of the picture was then shown, succeeded by another match between Private Long and Private Johnson, Private Long winning the bout.

Private Love's challenge of the camp for boxing remains yet unaccepted.

The evening's entertainment was concluded with the final reels of the movie under the supervision of Private L. Salisbury, the expert motion picture operator. The pictures were enjoyed by all, and the whole entertainment was voted a success by everyone present.

NOTES OF THE BEN HUR MILITARY POST

PROFIT REALIZED ON COAL WILL HELP BUILD MEMORIAL

Last winter Mayor Carmichael seized a car of coal during the shortage here when the weather was severe. The coal was sold, and it now transpires that the sum of $72.23 has been realized after all payments for the coal and handling were made. Emmanuel

By The Rev. H. E. Bright

Emmanuel! God with us evermore.
Let angels still repeat the story o'er;
Let shepherds sound the glorious news again
That God in very deed now dwells with men.

Emmanuel! God with us. We are frail;
Without Thy mighty arm our strength must fail.
Abide with us, nor let the tempter, strong,
Put out our light, nor choke our grateful song.

Emmanuel! God with us. Purge away
Our sins, and make us children of the day,
And citizens within Thy Kingdom's power;
Thus only dare we face this fateful hour.

Emmanuel! God with us in the fight
Of nations, climbing upward toward the light,
Through wondrous sacrifice vicarious,
And deeds resplendent and most glorious.

Emmanuel! God with us, when the right
Must draw the sword 'gainst dire, inhuman might,
And teach the truth to nations once again,
That God in justice must forever reign.

Emmanuel! God with us, Prince of Peace;
Bind up the wounds of war. Bid conflict cease.
"Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth,"
And may the great wide world revere Thy birth.

Emmanuel! God with us. Hear our prayer
For earth's great throng, unsaved and in despair.
What light but Thine can pierce such Godless gloom?
What love but Thine would care to give them room?

Emmanuel! God with us, when our day
Of life is closing, let Thy heavenly ray
Light up the valley, drive away the gloom,
And give us vict'ry o'er the dismal tomb.

ROSCOE "Fatty" ARBUCKLE in "THE COOK"

Written and Directed by "Fatty" Arbuckle

The comedy is an excellent one and is well worth seeing. Mr. Arbuckle is finely supported by Buster Keaton, Al St. John and Alice Lake. Efficient support is supplied by "Luke," a terrier of more than average canine intelligence.

Mary Pickford in "JOHANNA ENLISTS"

She lives on a lonely farm, and then the soldiers came. Never a beau before and now Lovers three! A hardy aristocratic Captain, a handsome Lieutenant, and a peppery private! Who gets her? Bet you can't guess. The private knows he is heavily handicapped and calls the lieutenant "a pieice of cheese"—which naturally gets him introduced to the Guard House, followed by a Court Martial. The Captain is the Prosecutor in the case.

Colonial Theater

The term "punch" applied to a play was coined long after Oscar Wilde's death, but the thing itself is found in all the Wilde products. Following an interlude of brilliant dialogue and sparkling verbal fencing, there comes the solid dramatic matter that this writer never fails to impart into his work. Wilde is a master not only of crisp, swift dialogue, but also of surprise and suspense and all the elements of big playwriting. The cast of "An Ideal Husband," which comes to the Colonial December 23rd, includes Silene Johnson, Lumsden Hare, Rose Wood, Alice Augarde Butler, Fred Tilden and others.

A DOG PERFORMER

A remarkably intelligent and sagacious dog is "Luke," who appears in support of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, in his latest Paramount comedy, "The Cook," which is on view at the Gordon Square Theater next week. The dog plays a distinct part in the cafe and ocean fishing scenes and his portrayal is in every respect marvelous. The comedy is one of the best in which Mr. Arbuckle has been seen in a long time, and there is a laugh in every foot of the picture. It must be seen to be appreciated.

GORDON SQUARE THEATER CLOSES TO REOPEN CHRISTMAS DAY UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT AND NEW POLICY

G. T. Sharp and J. E. Scoville, Two Experienced Picture Men, Have Bought Control of the Well Known West Side House on Detroit Avenue and Will Convert it from Vaudeville to a High Class Photo Play Theater

The famous old Gordon Square Theater is closed, to open on Christmas Day under a new management and a new policy. This has been one of the two neighborhood theaters in Cleveland devoted to vaudeville. Under the new management the big West Side house will be converted into a photo-play theater.

The Gordon Square seats approximately 1,200 people. The house is now in the hands of the decorators. New decorations and new furniture will be seen when the house opens on Christmas. A large orchestra will be installed and a picture program de luxe will be put in. This will be the largest motion picture theater on the West Side, and when the extensive alterations are completed that are planned it will have one of the handsomest interiors in the city.

The new owners of the Gordon Square are both experienced picture men. G. T. Sharp has been for a long time the manager of the well known Southern theater on W. 25th street, near Clark avenue. His partner, J. E. Scoville, has been interested in the Euclid and Sunbeam theaters. The Southern has been one of the most successful neighborhood theaters in Cleveland, and the experience gained in this house gives assurance of high class management. The experience gained by Mr. Scoville in his two theaters will prove of equal value in the new deal.

The deal for the transfer of the Gordon Square theater was consummated several weeks ago, and it is said the price involved aggregated about $75,000. Messrs. Sharp and Scoville will both be active partners, dividing the responsibility of management.

The Gordon Square has always been a popular play-house. It is conveniently located in the center of West Side population. It is situated on Detroit avenue and is served directly by the Lakewood and Clifton cars on that thoroughfare, as well as by the cross-town line on W. 65th street. It is also easily accessible to the Lake avenue boulevard, and has always attracted a large share of the automobile patronage as far west as Lakewood, down to Rocky River, and as far east as Lorain and Madison avenues.

The determination to change its policy, converting it from vaudeville to pictures, was reached after careful consideration. Messrs. Sharp and Scoville are experts in the picture game. They believe they can attract a large proportion of the West Side picture fans by giving a program that shall equal substantially the programs of the big down town theaters.

Admission prices to conform with customary prices of neighborhood theaters.

Opera House

No announcement throughout the year is of more interest to playgoers than that of the coming of Ethel Barrymore. Particularly at this time does such an announcement take on added importance since this delightful actress has not been seen here for three years. It will be good news, therefore, to the enormous Barrymore following that the the Euclid Avenue Opera House, for one week beginning Monday evening, Miss Barrymore is to be seen in "The Off Chance," the comedy of R. C. Carton in which she appeared the larger part of last season at the Empire Theater, in New York. Miss Barrymore's individual success in the comedy was only secondary to that of the play itself, since in "The Off Chance" Mr. Carton was declared to have even eclipsed his earlier "Lord and Lady Algy," "Wheels Within Wheels," or the memorable "Liberty Hall."

Miss Barrymore's surrounding company is of the customary Charles Frohman caliber. Important roles are in the hands of Eva Le Gallienne, Antoinette Hanson, Anita Rothe, Cecelia Radcliffe, Mary Balfour, William Boyd, Edward Emery, Harry Pomeroy, Albert Gree, Ben Johnson, T. Wigney Percyval, C. MacLean Savage, John M. Troughton and F. C. Butler. Needless to say, the comedy has been produced with all the good taste and care to be expected of Charles Frohman presentations.

The Wednesday (Christmas) matinee will be at special prices.

Standard Theater

Week of December 22nd the Standard Theater presents Frank McIntyre, the popular comedian, in Rex Beach's latest success, "Too Fat to Fight." This is a patriotic drama with a purpose and a big punch, and is unlike anything which has been seen on the screen. It tells the story of a man turned down by every branch of the service. "Dimples," as he is called, succeeds in joining the Y. M. C. A. and serves his time carrying coffee and doughnuts for the doughboys, until he finds himself in a fix, from which he emerges a hero. He is decorated for bravery, and although he loses one leg, he is happy that he has done his bit, even though they said he was too fat to fight.

Miles Theater

A special all-star bill has been booked at The Miles for Xmas week, which has been carefully selected to entertain both young and old. Arthur Sullivan and Mercedes Clark offer "Drawing Room Life," a clever comedy playlet as the feature attraction. The Soldier Four, a vocal quartet of real soldier boys who have been in service on the Texas Mexican border will be the added feature. The Three Valdanos in a daring aerial novelty; Harry Rose, the jovial eccentric comic; Raymond Wylie and Rusty Benson offer "The Futuristic Jail Bird," a comedy novelty replete with laugh surprises; Lowe & Bakes Sisters present clever bits of popular musical comedies, introducing some odd modern dances. Instructive and comic motion pictures will be presented before and after each vaudeville performance.

Star Has Delightful Vehicle in "Johanna Enlists."

Mary Pickford has come into her own. She has done a military picture—"Johanna Enlists"—for Artcraft, and used in it her beloved boys of the 143rd Field Artillery, of which she is godmother. Could anything be finer? And Mary, you know, is colonel of the 143rd—Honorary Colonel Mary Pickford!

The picture comes to the Gordon Square Theater on Xmas day, and if you miss it, we are told, you will miss a veritable treat. There is human pathos and the [illegible]

AUTOMATIC HAIR CUTTER IS ANOTHER BLOW THAT IS PUTTING THE BARBER OUT OF THE MILLIONAIRE CLASS

Makers of the Durham Duplex Safety Razor Have Put On the Market a Hair Cutter in Form of a Comb That Uses Razor Blades for Cutting.—Worth Investigating With Haircut Prices Boosted to Fifty Cents

The automatic hair cutter has arrived in Cleveland. The Duplex Company, known to every user of safety razors as the makers of the Durham-Duplex razor, is behind the new cutter. In fact, it is modeled after the idea of a safety razor. Everybody can cut his own hair with the Duplex automatic as easily as he can shave himself. "Cutting your own hair is easier than shaving," is the slogan of the advertising man. "It cuts while you comb," is another slogan.

The self hair cutter is on the market at only $2, so that it saves its own cost in a couple of months, figuring on the high price of hair cutting. In fact, as a money saver it has even the safety razor stopped. But it knocks the last props out of the recent attempts of the barbers' union to transform itself into a millionaires' club.

If the safety razor had never been invented and marketed, the barber business would undoubtedly be the most profitable in the country. But some indication of the extent of the shaving that is done by the young men of the nation may be gathered from the fact, brought out in an official report to the effect that the war department had recently commandeered 78,000,000 Gillette razor blades for use of the army in France.

A few years ago the barbers received small wages, but relied on tips to bring up a good salary. Within the past year, to offset the decrease of business due to the safety razor, the barbers raised the prices of a haircut from 20 to 40 cents in the moderate priced shops, and from 25 up to 50 cents in the highest grade of shops. They figured that even if the tips dropped off and the shaving decreased, every man was bound to get his hair cut. They thought there was no way of escape, so they concentrated the big profits of the barber business in the hair cutting end of the trade.

Apparently the doubling of the price of a hair cut stimulated the safety razor makers to renewed ingenuity in perfecting an automatic hair cutter. The Duplex Company uses the same blades in its cutter that it uses in its safety razor. So it reaps a double profit, selling the cutter and greatly increasing the sale of its blades. For there is no doubt the hair cutter is a practical success. It is as simple as the razor. In effect it is a comb with the steel teeth that protect the sharp blades in cutting the hair, just as the teeth protect the blades in the razor while shaving.

The directions are simple. Anyone who is familiar with the use of a safety razor can acquire the use of the automatic cutter in a few minutes. With a comb the hair is parted and laid on the head in the style it is desired to cut it. Then with the cutter you go over the hair lightly at first in order to find the necessary pressure. Every head of hair is different, as every face in shaving presents a different problem until a man gets to know his own face, from the shaving point of view. If the hair is too long, do not try to take it all off at single strokes, but go over it several times. By holding the razor flat against the head, a larger amount of hair is clipped off. To leave the hair trimmed long, or to take off a small quantity, hold the cutter at almost right angles from the head.

The automatic cutter was patented only October 8th of the current year, so the makers have had only a couple of months to advertise and get it on the market. Already the matter has attracted general attention, however, and, as the outcome, a good many thousand Americans will probably acquire permanently the habit of cutting their own hair, as they have the habit of shaving themselves with a safety razor. By fixing the price of the cutter as low as $2, while the barbers have boosted their haircuts up to a minimum of 40 cents for a single cut, the makers are making a strong bid for the trade of the users of the safety razors. If they can put it across, it will mean the sale of millions more razor blades to the manufacturer. It's hard on the poor barber, but the man who has been forced to pay double for his haircuts in the past year will jump at the chance to get even and dodge the barbers' last grab at his pocketbook.

H. Miedema, 1103 Chestnut avenue, has the Cleveland agency for the new automatic hair cutter. The cutters have been tried out by the men in the camps in this country, but it has not been on the market long enough to get across the seas. While there is a natural tendency to scoff at the idea of an automatic hair cutter, the high price of haircuts makes it a serious proposition. At least it's well worth investigating, considering the reputation of the company that is putting it on the market.

Empire Theater

"The Mischief Makers," F. W. Gerhardy's well known burlesque organization, is listed at the Empire next week as the Christmas attraction. The company is well balanced. "The Whirl of Folly" is the title of the revue presented. Joe Wilton, Joe Freed and George Hart are the trio of comedians who head the cast, and the supporting organization includes a number of well known favorites. Charles Robinson and his Parisian Flirts are proving mighty popular as the current attraction.

The Farmer Receives More Than Five Thousand Dollars a Minute From Swift & Company

This amount is paid to the farmer for live stock, by Swift & Company alone, during the trading hours of every business day.

All this money is paid to the farmer through the open market in competition with large and small packers, shippers, speculators and dealers.

The farmer, feeder, or shipper receives every cent of this money ($300,000 an hour, nearly $2,000,000 a day, $11,500,000 a week) in cash, on the spot, as soon as the stock he has just sold is weighed up.

Some of the money paid to the farmer during a single day comes back to the company in a month from sale of products; much does not come back for sixty or ninety days or more. But the next day Swift & Company, to meet the demands made by its customers, must pay out another $2,000,000 or so, and at the present high price levels keeps over $250,000,000 continuously tied up in goods on the way to market and in bills owed to the company.

This gives an idea of the volume of the Swift & Company business and the requirements of financing it. Only by doing a large business can this company turn live stock into meat and by-products at the lowest possible cost, prevent waste, operate refrigerator cars, distribute to retailers in all parts of the country—and be recompensed with a profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound—a profit too small to have any noticeable effect on the price of meat or live stock.

REMOVAL OF SUPERFLUOUS HAIR CAN ONLY BE DONE SAFELY AND PERMANENTLY BY THE ELECTRIC NEEDLE PROCESS

Miss Reese, Leader of Cleveland Dermatologists, Has Invented and Perfcted Equipment Based on Years of Experience.—Studio at 318 Euclid Avenue Is Refuge for Afflicted Women

In one of the Hypocratic treatises, dating back 500 years before the Christian era, it is related that Phoetuse, the wife of Pytheus, of the Thracian city of Abdera, awoke one morning after an attack of fever to find she had lost her beautiful voice and had acquired a heavy growth of hair that started at her chin. Thus it is seen that the plague of superfluous hair as a facial blemish is not an affliction of modern women alone.

Unnatural growth of hair is surprisingly prevalent and it is undoubtedly one of the most annoying blemishes of womankind. It becomes almost unbearable to a sensitive woman to realize that the disfigurement is certain to attract attention and to call forth comment. Superfluous hair is an unnatural growth and is seen most conspicuously on the upper lip, chin, cheeks, forehead, between the eyebrows and below the natural hair line. It grows on the hands, arms, neck, choulders and breast, from moles, birthmarks and on the margin of scars.

In some cases superfluous hair is inherited. Again it is a freak of nature. Certain nervous conditions and outdoor athletics often induce the growth. Occasionally it develops after an attack of fever, nervous prostration and spinal affliction. Experts say there are 160,000 hair follicles on the face and neck alone, so that local applications will simply increase its growth. Anything that will stimulate, irritate or inflame the skin, causing it to smart or blister, will have a tendency to make the hair grow. Harsh or strongly alkaline soaps come within this category. The constant wearing of veils and the habitual use of smelling salts are two innocent aids of this disfigurement.

Miss Reese is known throughout the country as one of the most skilled and scientific operators of the electric needle process. She has devoted ten years in Cleveland to the permanent removal of this disfigurement of superfluous hair. Her offices at 318 Euclid avenue are the refuge of hundreds of women who have been afflicted. All women have a natural desire to be beautiful. They aim to be as winning and attractive as possible. In this enlightened age women have the right to grow old gracefully and to retain their youthful charms far past maturity. Many women have the beauty of their face, neck and shoulders marred by hair, and these avail themselves of professional skill to rid themselves of the blemishes that may mar their beauty.

The only safe and certain way known to science by which superfluous hair can be removed forever is by the use of the electric needle. Miss Reese has made a most thorough study of all these conditions for years, leading her profession. The first six-needle electrical apparatus ever brought to Cleveland was made after her original plans. Hence she justifies her claim of pioneer in the multiple electric needle operations. She has originated, designed and invented her own electrical instruments, making her six to twenty-five electric needle process close to perfection.

Miss Reese is able to give assurances of a permanent cure in every case of superfluous hair without pain, scar or the possibility of a return of the blemish. An operation is so delicate that it requires keen sight, a steady hand, good nerves and thorough experience. All these are brought into play only by a skilled operator. The inexperienced operator should be shunned like the plague, lest the disfigurement of superfluous hair be transformed into permanent scars that will live as long as the patient survives.

Miss Reese has the most complete electric operating offices in the country, equipped with every modern facility for successful practice. Many of the most prominent society women of Cleveland have been her patrons, and her reputation is firmly established among the womankind of the city. Her dermatological department is fully equipped for the treatment of the complexion. She will guarantee to remove all marks as well as superfluous hair.

DR. W. A. HOLMES TELLS WHY A DENTIST SHOULD ADVERTISE

Why should a dentist advertise? Or rather, why should not a dentist advertise? For 24 years the "Odontunder Dentists," located on the second floor of the Republic Building, 647 Euclid Avenue, advertised under that name. The word is a Latin compound, which, translated literally, means "without pain." Several years ago the State Dental Association, composed of the men who do not advertise, because they claim it is not ethical, induced the Ohio Legislature to enact a law forbidding anyone to practice dentistry under a [illegible] name. The bill, it may be said in passing, might have been aimed directly at the famous Odontunder Dentists of Cleveland. Then again, it might have been. At any rate, it became the law, and the name of the Odontunder Dentists passed into history. Dr. W. A. Holmes, who was the head of the staff of the Republic Building, dropped the name of Odontunder Dentist [illegible] to advertise [illegible] own name has [illegible] advertising [illegible] coupled with [illegible] the former [illegible] Odontunder Dentist.

The patronage of these offices has always been exceedingly large. It has continued to increase, the change of name required by law not having the slightest effect on the business. Hundreds of patrons have given testimony to the good work done by Dr. Holmes and his staff of assistants was skillful, efficient and satisfactory. Dr. Holmes has always specialized on crowns and bridge work. If two or more teeth are missing in either jaw he can build up by skillful work, so that the patient is saved from the use of the cumbersome and unsightly plates. Often the teeth, when built up by his expertness, prove to be even more attractive than the original teeth and just as good and serviceable as those furnished by nature.

But to get back to the ethics of advertising dentistry. Dr. Holmes has [illegible] the doctrine of the care and preservation of teeth. He has conducted a campaign of education in sanitation. He has aroused the interest and [illegible] appreciate the necessity of [illegible] teeth [illegible] are not simply a question of sightly looks. Appearance is only a minor factor. The all-important mission of a mouth, filled with good teeth, is to masticate food, so as to promote healthful digestion. Poor teeth are the forerunners of more ills than any other single element in the category. For good digestion is impossible without good teeth. And good health is impossible without good digestion.

Educated men and women know these things without a campaign of advertising. People who are well-to-do need little, if any urging to attend to the care of their teeth, for it is part and parcel of the business of good living that goes with the possession of wealth. There are hundreds of people, however, who are neither educated in the science of health and sanitation and who have no surplus money to spend on anything they do not regard as a necessity of life. The message has been carried to hundreds of these people. They have been taught the necessity of good teeth. Naturally, following the teaching, they have had their teeth cared for by the man who has advertised them.

Dr. Holmes claims, with the best [illegible] it is better to [illegible] the unthinking [illegible] the serious danger to health that arises from poor teeth than never to let the light of dental knowledge shine out into this corner of the world. Instead of doing a thing that is unethical in advertising dentistry, he insists he is doing the work of the humanitarian. Men who prefer to pay much higher prices for work, who think advertising means cheapness in work as well as in price, will probably continue to patronize the men who do not advertise. But the majority of men and women see no sense whatever is such a theory of ethics.

The discussion is an old one. It is almost as old as the science of modern dentistry. Dr. Holmes has at least contributed a novel argument to the discussion that will impress the ordinary man as logical.

Living Up To Our Reputation

In selecting our piano line, we had practically the world's market to select from. We are jealous of The May Company reputation. We want every piano we sell to be a lasting testimonial to a really satisfactory business transaction with us. When you use your piano, we want you to think most favorably of The May Company.

It was with this thought in mind that we selected

The Chickering Piano
The Schoninger
The Henry F. Miller
The Estey
The J. & C. Fischer
The Behr Bros.
The Marshall & Wendell

Every one of these pianos is a truly wonderful instrument, with an enviable reputation of at least fifty years.

When we decided to specialize particularly in player pianos we were fully conscious of the fact that there are only three recognized leaders in the player world, and we secured the exclusive agency for the two foremost.

THE ANGELUS — THE APOLLO

We feel quite safe in saying that we have established one of the greatest piano businesses in America. We are player specialists. We study the player market and we are always first to offer the Cleveland public the newest in players and rolls.

Our player roll department is as complete as human skill and energy can make it. A New York paper has just called it the most complete player roll department in America.

You are our patrons, not for pianos alone, but for the entire store. We are obviously more interested in your satisfaction than a stranger would be. This is your store—we are here to advise, to serve and to please you.

You may secure your player or piano here on most liberal terms of payment.

WILLOUGHBY SOLDIER SAYS HE WILL THINK NOTHING OF CARRYING PIANOS OR COOK STOVES ON HIS BACK WHEN HE GETS BACK IN THE U. S. A.

Oct. 13th.

Somewhere on the Front.

Dear Mother: As I am at ease I am going to write you a few lines. I don't know what to say, as we are limited to say so little. But to start out, I can say I am feeling the same as usual. I have a cold, but it doesn't bother me much, only at night I cough a little. We are in a nice billet this evening. There are seven of us, including Mike Menn. He is feeling fine. We had an awful hard hike a couple of nights ago, about 22 miles. I had blisters on my feet when we got to our destination and was completely all in. Can you blame me any, mother? I won't think anything of carrying the piano or cook stove on my back when I get home—ha ha! Had a rain last night and it has been cloudy all day, but it rained much. I often wonder what kind of weather you are having at home now. I hope you are getting the Stars and Stripes by this time, as it will give you lots of news of "over here." Have you ever got my insurance papers? I hope so. I have heard some of the boys say their folks had received their insurance papers. I don't suppose you have received the allotment yet, as we have got our August pay coming yet, also September. I hear tomorrow is pay day. I would like to know the war news at home at present. Gee! but I am anxious to get home. I have thought and planned and everything else the last three weeks. I can hardly wait until I get some "home eats" and "home sleep." Well, mother, I don't know if I can get this censored right away, but will as soon as possible. Our Lieut. is very busy. He is our company commander yet and we are getting along fine. So I will close, hoping this finds you all enjoying the best of health and happiness. Goodbye, mother.

Your loving friend, HANK.

SOLDIER IN FRANCE GETS HOMESICK WHEN HE READS OF 'SHERWIN'S APPLES AND THE NEW TRUCK."

On Active Service With the American Expeditionary Forces,
October 14, 1918.

Dear Mother: I received mail this eve and got two letters from you, one from Lyle and one from Ruth. I certainly was glad to hear from you and the news of the boys buying Sherwin's apples and a new truck surely made me feel homesick. I surely hope they make good, and I can picture myself helping them if I were only home. I got a nice letter from Lyle. He sure is tickled to have Pete with him. I thought today that it was about time I was hearing from him, so I wrote him a few lines and will answer his letter as soon as I can. I am glad they got their truck at last. How did it happen? I would like to know the war news at home. There are a few encouraging rumors flying around here. We are back at the front again; the guns are roaring on both sides at present. But I don't think any of the Hun shells have got my name on them. I hope not, anyway, for if there ever was a lad that planned to go home it is me. Lyle asked me to write more, said that some of the boys wrote everything. It seems as though some have more privilege than others, but we can't mention anything in regard to military affairs. would hate to have part of my letters cut out, or if there is too much in them they are returned to you here, so I have made up my mind to tell you the story when I get home, which I hope isn't very long. I would love to write more, for I'm afraid you will get the impression that we haven't done our bit. But nevertheless we have been up with the rest of the boys once and are up again. I got a paper from you also, and the cigarettes from Lyle and the paper of tobacco and gum from you. The gum sure tastes good; it is the only gum I've seen since I've been over here, except some that you have sent previously. I wrote you last night and forgot to number my letter, therefore this one will be No. 3. I forgot to number the first one also. You will know which one that is, as it is the first one I wrote after we returned from the front. I am so sorry to have such a length of time between that letter and the one previous to it, but I cannot help it. Well, mother, I will close for this time, hoping you are well and happy. Goodbye, mother.

Your loving friend, HANK.

On Active Service With the American Expeditionary Force,
Oct. 15, 1918.

Dear Mother: Just a few more lines ere I send this letter. We got paid today. I also received our "Xmas package coupon." So I am going to fill mine out immediately and send as soon as possible. If it is convenient for you to get this I wish you would send 2½ pounds of pure chocolate and half a pound of Spearmint chewing gum. The coupon says the maximum weight is three pounds; also must not be perishable. Therefore I thought that would be the best that you could send. What do you think, mother? I would like to be home instead at Xmas, but that is impossible, of course. It is cloudy and misty here today. We have a pocket full of money now, but we are where we can't spend any, so it doesn't make much difference. This is August pay that we got today. A corporal's pay here is $40.80 per, and I have $16.70 taken out, which leaves me $24.10—this in france 132f 55c. Next pay, which we already have coming, September, I will get more, as I was made a sergeant September 10th, and that is $51.20—$16.70—$34.50. That is pretty good, don't you think, mother? I got another paper today, which was mislaid in the mail last eve.

Well, mother, I must be going, so I will put coupon in this letter and leave the rest to you and look forward to its arrival "over here," which will probably be some time. But "better late than never." This leaves me feeling fine, also that the war will soon be over. Goodbye, mother.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the employees of the Cleveland Crane & Engineering Co. and all our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during our great bereavement in the loss of our husband and father. Also for the beautiful flowers.

[illegible] AND CHIL-

NEWS FROM WAITE HILL

(Received Too Late for Last Week.)

We're certainly having lovely weather for this time of the year, for which everybody seems to be very thankful. We're usually wading through snowdrifts in December.

Kirtland Schools Close.

The Kirtland schools are again closed until after New Years on account of the flu, which makes it bad for teachers and pupils both. Will there ever be an end to this epidemic? We received letters from our western friends, who have all been victims of the "plague." There are several families down with it in Kirtland yet, namely, Metcalfs, Davidsons, Benings, McClintocks, Hunkins, Fred Cox and the F. O. Rice family.

The Benes family motored down to their summer home Sunday.

The Kirtland telephone operators are all three ill with the flu. Dr. Ingersoll is attending them.

Miss Daisy Wheeler is helping out at Sherman Fenner's while they're ill.

Soldiers Will Be Missed.

The soldiers at the Ben Hur plant are leaving for Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, to be mustered out of service; 100 went last week and several hundred are going this week. It will seem lonely there without them, as it was interesting to have them around, as in going to town one would meet them everywhere by twos, threes and in squads standing around. It seemed sort of a protection. But we're glad the war is over and the government doesn't need to employ such armies of soldiers in manufacturing any supplies.

Lyman Fenner was up to Wickliffe Saturday to see his brother Sherman and family, who are so afflicted with illness.

Speaking of the Willoughby Tire Shop.

In speaking about auto tires, Wilson Hobart has one Firestone tire on his machine that was on when he purchased it four years ago and has run nearly 9,000 miles, which speaks well for that make of tires, we think.

The Kirtland Red Cross meet every Thursday at the Town Hall, where there'll be room for all.

Mrs. J. C. Carpenter was a guest of Cleveland friends several days recently.

Mrs. Walker visited her daughter, Mrs. Sherman Fenner, Monday p. m. While there they received word from the hospital in Cleveland that little Gordon Fenner was getting better slowly. Gordon was struck by an automobile Wednesday night and was injured internally, and was taken to the hospital, where he was operated on. Mrs. Fenner is convalescing after a long siege of typhoid. She and Sherman are both on the sick list at present.

It's reported that E. D. Billings is not so well for the past week.

From the 16th to the 23rd of this month the Red Cross have their Christmas roll for the purpose of getting new members and renewing old ones. There is as much need of Red Cross work now as before the war was over, and will be for some time.

Mrs. R. A. Cook entertained her brother, Mr. Randle, from Wickliffe, Sunday.

Messrs. Holliday, Russell and Gibson, of this neighborhood, have the flu.

Mrs. John Culp has a new daughter and is being cared for by Mrs. Nettie Gillett, of Willoughby.

The Willoughby schools are closed again.

We've just heard it reported that one of the Ben Hur soldiers has died with the flu, which seems sad, indeed, just as they were about to be mustered out of service and return home.

The W. C. T. U., which was to have met this Tuesday with Mrs. J. J. Lilley, has been postponed on account of the flu, which is a good idea. All public gatherings should be postponed, in my way of thinking.

The Lilley family were Cleveland visitors Friday, and Sunday were guests of Wickliffe friends.

We think the Kirtland people will enjoy the pavement this winter, as they can get to Willoughby this winter without going clear out to Mentor to get there, as they had to last winter on account of just that little strip, the Whiting hill not being paved.

The Hadlock family were guests to dinner Sunday at Mr. McNeill's.

It's reported that Mrs. Riedler has purchased the Christopher Johnson place, on Temple Hill. Mrs. Redler and son have an auto. The son is an employee at the I. M. Crowther firm.

CHESTERLAND

(Received Too Late for Last Week.)

A Mr. Burt, from Novelty, O., was so badly hurt he died a half hour after being injured in an auto accident near stop 14, Mayfield line, Wednesday night. Much sympathy is felt for the wife and family left.

A Thanksgiving song service was held Thursday evening at the Baptist Church in Chester. A fine sermon was preached by Rev. Pierce. It was enjoyed by all.

Mr. G. S. Brichford and family spent Thanksgiving at the Maple Grove Grange, dinner being given for members and their friends each year.

Mr. G. S. Brichford and family spent Sunday in Burton with Will Smith's sister, Amelia Smith.

MAPLE GROVE

(Received Too Late for Last Week.)

A telegram received at the Newyear home Monday stated that George Newyear was seriously wounded about four weeks ago.

The baby girl of Mr. and Mrs. John Southwick has been named Hazel.

Mrs. Lewey Steiss is in Cleveland, caring for her daughter Rose, who is very ill with pneumonia.

Mabel Roseum spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Etta Gibson, of Willoughby.

Will the Men Strike?

There are 353 cow testing stations in this country. They employ 27 women, who receive the same wages as men. Wonder if the men cow testers will go on a strike.

Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Trebisky spent Saturday evening with Peter Roseum and family.

Naomi Woods visited her sister, Mrs. Royer, of Willoughby, Saturday [illegible]

IN MEMORIAM

Sergt. Carl W. Roberts
Company M 145th U. S. Infantry

Even in the strenuous days of war, when our friends, relatives and neighbors have left the homeland and crossed the seas in order to fight our battles for us we are prone to forget them. We are too busy with our own every-day cares and duties, and in the frailness of human nature so intent upon our own interests that we can hardly find time to write a letter of good cheer or send a token of our remembrance to those who are sacrificing everything for us. Only a few of the more thoughtful citizens of this community have found time or inclination to lighten the monotony of the soldiers' lives by an occasional friendly word. You are so busy that the word remains unspoken and unwritten. It is only when the cablegram announces that his voice is forever stilled and his ear no longer responsive to words of yours or mine, that we remember, and with unavailing grief realize that we were too late.

Although we knew that sooner or later the grim hand of war would again fall upon some of the boys who went from Willoughby, yet somehow we were entirely unprepared for the shocking news that Sergt. Roberts was the one to be called. It was doubly sad in consideration of the fact that he was an only child and that he died on the very eve of the great allied victory when peace was already in sight and the thoughts of the soldiers were already turning cheerfully backward toward the friends and relatives at home, whom they had every reason to expect they might see in a short time. And so it behooves us to take a little time from our duties and labors to commune with each other and ask each other what this calamity means to you and to me.

Carl Roberts was one of many thousands of patriotic Americans who voluntarily joined the colors when the war broke out. He heard the call of his native land for help in a great crisis, and he, like many others, have helped to make with their dead bodies a bridge over which the rest of us may pass to the promised land of peace and happiness. There is nothing that we can say or do that can in any way alter the sad reality of this sacrifice. Somewhere in France or Flanders he has found his last resting place.

"IN FLANDERS FIELDS."

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead; short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

It is good for us that we have met here today to pay our tribute of esteem to one whose life was so well known to all of you that it needs no eulogy from me. As a member of our Sunday School, Carl was always popular both with teachers and scholars. He was regular in attendance and attentive to his school work. While a member of the class taught by Florence Austin he was enrolled as a member of the church and of the army of Christian soldiers marching as to war. As a soldier his work ranked very high, and he well deserved the promotion which he received soon after joining the colors.

We human beings, in the mysterious sojourn from the eternity of the past to the eternity of the future, set up for ourselves various standards of success. With one it is wealth. With another it is social prestige. With another it is political power or some other form of conquest. Yet it is one of the most striking facts of human experience that these standards, one and all, have always been discredited by their most illustrious champions. A Rockefeller or a Carnegie is the first to admit that the acquisition of wealth does not constitute success. Those who have attained the summit of social distinction tell us that success is not there. The greatest statesmen almost invariably find defeat rather than victory at the end of their quest. Napoleon said that the only conquest worth while is the conquest of self. Wellington has said that there is only one thing sadder than a great defeat, and that is a great victory. There is, however, one true standard of success. Whoever can live as did Carl Roberts, so as to merit the approval of his own conscience and the esteem of his fellowmen, and who finally has laid down his life for his country, may without hesitation write his name in the book of golden deeds, and in the hearts of you who knew him as we did. He has sacrificed himself that you and I and all our people and our children's children may enjoy the blessings of liberty and freedom.

Peace to the brave who nobly fell
'Neath our flag, their hope and pride,
They fought like heroes long and well,
Then like heroes died.

RESOLUTION ON THE DEATH OF CARL ROBERTS BY THE METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Whereas the officers, teachers and scholars of the Willoughby M. E. Sunday School have learned with the deepest sorrow of the heroic death of Sergt. Carl W. Roberts while with the American Expeditionary Forces in Belgium, and whereas they feel that the bereaved parents and widow are bearing in a large measure alone the sacrifice and sorrow which might have been visited on many other Willoughby homes had the war lasted longer.

Therefore be it resolved that we extend to those in mourning our sincerest sympathy and regret and assure them that we, as patritoic citizens and friends, esteem it an honor to have been associated with Carl, during his lifetime in Willoughby.

Respectfully submitted.
J. E. WEIT, Superintendent.

REMINISCENCES OF SOME OF WILLOUGHBY'S INNS

Recalled by Mrs. Guy Smith of Kirtland

The following interesting reminiscences of some of Willoughby's inns are recalled by Mrs. Guy Smith, of Kirtland, mother of Mrs. J. O. Carr. The Willoughby Inn, like all of its predecessors, was destroyed by fire, and this interesting coincidence calls forth these facts of historical interest regarding previous inns:

Stage House, Tavern, Hotel and Inn were the names applied to the public houses of Willoughby.

Where Erie street crosses the Nickel Plate on the northwest corner there used to stand a large and most peculiar looking structure of wood. The clapboards were painted light green, the next yellow, and the next white. This gave a striped appearance and the house was called the Zebra Stage Coach House. The front of the house was adorned with two large porches, one below and one above. This house boasted a ballroom above and a bar below. It was run for many years by one Nathan Cushman and his good wife Polly. This house was managed by many different landlords, and after the stripes were covered by another coat of paint it was graced with various other names. Ie was destroyed by fire in the autumn of 1879.

This house had a rival in a house built and run by Daniel Christv and is the main part of the Gilson house at the west end of the lower bridge, across the Chagrin. This house also had a ballroom and bar.

About the same time a fine house was built of brick on the ground where the Bond block now stands. This was a more homey place and most popular, and here the young ladies of the Female Seminary were boarded, and it was for their use, later was run as a hotel. One of the pleasing features of this house was a built-in arch of brick on the side towards the south which housed a famous well. This house was built and occupied by Dr. Card. I believe his name was Joseph. This house also was destroyed by fire in the '60s.

There was the wreck of an old stage house, possibly the first of all public buildings. That was in the vicinity of the Wm. Hall farm. It was too old for occupation at the time of which we write. All of these buildings were built over 80 years ago and flourishing then.

"THERE'S A LONG, LONG NIGHT OF WAITING," SAID AN OFFICER OF THE WILLOUGHBY MILITARY POST.

Lieut. Campbell and Lieut. Griffin, physician and dentist, stationed at the Willoughby Military Post, were in Cleveland Sunday last. They waited for the Post car to come for them, and by so doing missed the last C., P. & E. car for Willoughby. They felt the necessity of arriving at the Post, so they started to walk. An accommodating truck picked them up, and they finally arrived at the Post at 2 a. m. Monday morning, 'tis said.

INTERESTING CABINET SOUVENIR FROM TRIESTE, AUSTRIA, NOW OWNED BY SYLVAN BEEBOWER.

A most interesting cabinet, with several small compartments, is now on exhibition at the Republican office. The story of the box is interesting. La Royal Taylor, formerly of Willoughby, and father of R. C. Taylor, in 1848, when 21 years of age, enlisted in the navy and spent most of his three years of service in the Mediterranean waters. Upon leaving the service he bought the cabinet, which now belongs to Sylvan Beebower, just four generations later. The box contains a cake of soap, pink in color, and moulded in decorated form, which came with the cabinet originally. Although so very old, the soap still retains a slight odor. The purchase was made in Trieste, Austria, which adds also to the interest attached to the possession at this time.

[illegible] VICTORY AND PEACE DAY NEWS WAS RECEIVED BY OUR BOYS IN FRANCE

American, French and British Soldiers March Together To the Tune of "The Star Spangled Banner."

By Harvey Morse, of Kirtland

Somewhere in France,
Nov. 11, 1918.

Dear Mother: This is one of the happiest days that I have experienced in my whole life. The German government has signed the armistice, and at the time that it went into effect the chimes in the cathedral poured forth the sweetest music that we have heard since war was declared. They told us that this terrible war was about to cease, and even as the chimes cried out their joyful message the last big gun fired its last shot—a kick for the kaiser.

Mother, I wonder how the people in the States received the news. It made me want to cry like a baby when I thought of the mothers who would be crying for joy that the war was over.

But, mother, it must be a terrible blow for the mother who thinks her boy is safe and who is yet to be notified that he died on the very last day of the war.

Oh, believe me, I am glad that this war is over and the time is drawing near when once again I will be able to go home. I believe that I won't do a thing for a whole month but just stay at home and sleep, eat and be merry.

When the news was published by the bells in the college and in the cathedral, the French went mad. They embraced each other and everyone else, and I have had some of them shake hands with me as many as five times in five minutes.

Then there was a company of English who had arrived the night before, and they just mixed splendidly with our boys.

The streets were full of Sammies and Tommies marching down the street together. But the best of the whole thing was when our band turned out and then Frogs (French), Sammies and Tommies and all filed in behind and marched to the tunes of the "Star Spangled Banner," "God Save the King," and "The Marseillaise." And we were about twenty abreast and every one of us had our arms around the shoulders of the men on either side of us. And when we came to a wide place in the street we went with a hippity hop all together and zig-zagged across the street. The boys could not have done it better if they had practised it for many an hour on drill.

You ought to have seen their clothes. They had changed their hats and some of their coats, so they looked queer because their uniforms didn't conform. But everyone, no matter in what army he was, wore a big grin that showed almost all of his teeth.

It was immense, folks! Oh, I so wish I could tell you where I was when I received this good news.

One thing that struck me queer afterwards, but at the time seemed the most natural thing in the world, was to see officers slapping buck privates on the back and shaking hands with them and vice versa. In fact, no one seemed to contain himself.

How did everyone in the States take it? I bet there were some pretty big demonstrations. Bianca wrote that she was going to post extracts from my letters on the bulletin board in the library. Tell her to put on that about the way the boys acted when they got the news.

I can hardly write, I am so glad. I feel a whole lot more like dancing a jig than writing a letter.

Well, mother, I have got that off my breast, so will tell you that I am still on the job and am in fine health. The boys all call me the dispatch rider, but of course I am nothing so reckless as that. I am just riding the company motorcycle. I like it all right when the sun is shining, but in cloudy, rainy weather and on a cold, dark night it is anything but a pleasure to ride. But of course we have to take the sour with the sweet. I don't believe too much is good for the digestion or one's good nature, either.

Well, I will have to close, as I have more letters to write and a limited amount of time to write in.

I received nine letters back mail at one time. With love,

HARVEY L. MORSE,
Salvage Squad No. 20, 26th Division,
A. P. O. 709, France.

Extracts from other letters

Oct. 31.—Well, things sure look good now. There is no doubt now but that we will come home some time in the next twelve months, in most everyone's estimation over here.

I hope that we land at New York when we do go back. I would like to see the Statue of Liberty as we sail into the harbor. It seems to me it would be quite significant to steam past this emblem of freedom after the part that America has played over here in freeing France and Belgium and all the oppressed from their persecutors.

Oct. 27.—I guess from what I hear over here that the people in the States are making a lot of sacrifices. It sure shows that the U. S. still has plenty of the spirit they had in '76.

Uncle Ren, there is one thing about our boys. If they get knocked off they aren't allowed to lie around and decay, but are buried promptly and their graves well marked, but at one time there were so many dead boches lying around decaying and no one with time to bury them that our lieutenant gave the boys a chance to volunteer to bury them, and they buried quite a few.

No, some way or other these little mademoiselles don't catch my eye or heart at all. It never bothers me if the towns we stop in are inhabited or not, only that I would like to buy something at a store occasionally.

Nov. 8.—I have noticed that in many case of minor sickness in our company a letter from home is the best medicine that could be prescribed. The patient's spirits rise directly after receiving one, and if by some mischance he should get two or three at once he generally seems to feel so much improved that he cannot contain himself. In fact, he ofttimes likes to share his medicine with a chum.

Oct. 30.—I can't think of much news, only that I hope the Austrians are sincere enough in wanting peace to surrender unconditionally. Of course, if we once get Austria and Turkey out of our way I don't think it will take us long to subdue these conceited Germans. We are capturing old men and young boys that seem to be happy to be made prisoners. The big guns near here are sure roaring tonight. They shake this old building to beat the band. With lots of love,

HARVEY L. MORSE

TIME TO BAKE THAT CHRISTMAS FRUIT CAKE

Sweeten It This Holiday Season With Honey

Fruit Cake a Cheap Cake in the Final Analysis—Always Ready to Serve—Two Excellent Conservation Recipes—Many Ways to Use It.

It is none too early to make the Christmas fruit cake. Perhaps you are saying that you cannot afford a fruit cake this year or that it would be unpatriotic to make one. But think of the many times that the fruit cake has "saved the day" when unexpected company arrived, as is likely to happen in the holiday season.

You didn't care if the dessert prepared for the family was not stretchable, but took down the fruit cake and opened a can of fruit to serve with it or steamed a slice around and served it with a sauce as a plum pudding. Remember the many ways you can make use of the fruit cake, and that it can be made without sugar, and you will find yourself deciding that you can not forego it as a holiday treat.

This recipe makes use of honey for sweetening. The dried fruits used are less expensive than the candied fruits so often used in a fruit cake.

Honey Fruit Cake.

4 cups flour, 3 teaspoons soda, 2 cups honey, 1 cup butter, 6 eggs, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 2 teaspoons ginger, 2 teaspoons ground cardamon seeds, ½ teaspoon cloves, 3 pounds raisins, seeded; 4 ounces citron, 1 pound cranberries, 1 pound canned pineapple, 1 pound dried apricots, 1 pound dried apples.

To prepare the cranberries, pineapples, apricots and apples, cut the fruit in small pieces, except the cranberries, which are left whole, and cook each in honey until soft. Remove from the fire and dry in a very slow oven. A little water should be added to the honey in which the cranberries cook. To any honey left over from cooking the fruits add enough more to make the two cups used in mixing the cake. Place the fruit in a large dish and sift over it one-half of the flour, mixing thoroughly. Sift the soda with the remaining flour. Bring the honey and the butter to the boiling point and while still hot add the spices. When the mixture is cool add the well-beaten yolks of eggs, then the flour, and finally add the well-beaten whites and the fruit. The cake should be divided into three or four parts and put into buttered dishes covered with buttered paper tied closely over the top. Steam for five hours, remove the paper, and bake in a slow oven for one hour.

If you don't get your fruit cake made early you can try the following quick fruit cake, which is very good, also:

Quick Fruit Cake.

¼ cup shortening, 1 cup corn syrup or sorghum, 2 eggs, 2-3 cup milk, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 1½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 1 cup chopped raisins, ½ cup chopped nuts, ¼ cup chopped citron.

Mix fat and syrup, add egg yolks and milk. Put chopped fruit and nuts in batter and add dry materials sifted together. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake in loaf or muffin tins. This cake keeps well, but not so long as the regular fruit cake.

WILLOUGHBY TO HAVE A 100% RED CROSS SPIRIT

One hurried glance at coat lapels or blouses the week of December 16-23 will tell a lot about the ideals of Willoughby men and women.

If the 1919 membership button of the Red Cross is being worn the glance will register a flattering impression. This button is to be given to every adult who pays the one dollar membership dues, but the dollar is the least significant thing about the transaction.

What the American Red Cross wants this Christmas is to have the world see that the American people are behind the Red Cross spirit. Universal membership will prove this. To record such a membership, the Red Cross Christmas roll call is to be held the week before Christmas. No quota has been assigned to Willoughby because it is planned to enroll everybody.

"A good deal of good can be done in the world," says an old Jesuit proverb, "if one is not careful who gets the credit."

PEACE ON EARTH

By Mrs. Minnie E. Carrel

"Peace on Earth," they are wonderful words;
We have heard them o'er and o'er;
But today they ring with a truer sound
Than ever they've done before.
Two thousand years ago and more,
Since the Prince of Peace was born;
When the star stood over the manger bed
That first glad Christmas morn.
'Twas an humble place for the birth of a king,
That stable on Bethlehem's plain;
'Twas the King of Democracy born that day,
And His coming has not been in vain.
Long years passed and the world grew old,
And the love of this Ruler was told
In every land through the wide, wide world;
Yes, the story is centuries old.
But the greed of mankind for position and gold
Kept this King from claiming His own,
And their ears grew deaf and hearts turned cold
Until Satan sat on a throne.
Across the sea in the days that were gone
Came the Pilgrims in search of a land;
To worship aright their King of Kings,
As their own hearts might demand.

And this nation grew and prospered well,
With its reign of brotherly love;
Respected and honored of all the earth,
And blessed by the Great God above.
And thus came the land that we love so well,
The land of progress and fame,
Where Liberty dwells and Peace is found;
"AMERICA" is her name.

Meanwhile, in the land where Satan reigned,
They were training their hosts to go forth
And slay the people in all other lands,
That they might rule the earth.
They spared not even the innocent child,
Such as He set in their midst long ago,
Saying "Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven,"
Belong they to friend or foe.

And borne to us was their wail of distress
On the breeze that came over the sea;
Our brothers and sisters calling for aid
To beat back the foe and be free.
Then the Prince of Peace called for volunteers,
And sent them afar o'er the foam,
To win His cause for humanity's sake,
For Heaven, for Country and Home.

Christmas day dawns; we're at peace with the foe,
And in time good will there may be,
When atonement has righted some of our wrongs,
And time softens memory.
The message He brought was peace and good will,
'Tis a story that never grows old;
And His peace in our hearts will bring good will
As the years of the future unfold.

But the hearts that yearn o'er the vacant chair,
When the Christmas day banquet is laid,
And the mother that waits in vain for her boy,
Each tell of the price we have paid.
O Christmas-tide peace, may you come to us now
And abide in the long years to come;
That peace that teaches us how to live
And brings us at last safely Home.

MENTOR-SALIDA

A Mr. Mantie and family from Cleveland have moved onto the Quincy farm.

The Berton family is living in the Whitney house until Ed Carroll vacates the place now owned by Dr. Moore, formerly known as the Eddy farm.

Little Homer Tyler, who broke his elbow two months ago, is gradually recovering the use of his arm.

Oscar Parker, of Cleveland, spent Sunday at the home of his brother, Lloyd Parker.

Mr. George Faulk and family will move to the city soon for the winter. Mr. Faulk has rented the Collins farm for five years and expects to use a tractor next year.

Mrs. Frank Andrews met with a very painful accident last week. While starting the engine on the power washing machine, it backfired and tore the ligaments in her arm. It is hoped that the injury will not prove serious.

Stanley Kelly and family have all recovered from the influenza and are able to be out again.

John Spieth, of Heisley road, raised a fine crop of broom corn, which will go into brooms for Lake county. If every farmer would raise a little broom corn the price of brooms would not be so high.

Mr. Sampson, of Chardon, has been hulling clover seed in this vicinity. Brysons have some very nice clover seed this year.

There has been some new guard rails put up at the bridge on the curve and also at Mummery's Corners and Garrett's bridge, but there is no gravel yet.

Last week Matthew Smith's summer home at Salida Beach was broken into and ransacked. Everything in the place was scattered about and several articles damaged or broken, but it is not yet known whether anything was taken or not. It is believed that certain young people familiar with Salida are responsible for this and other similar occurrences in that vicinity. It is hoped that they will be discovered and punished, as heretofore nothing has been done after such occurrences.

Mrs. Frank Stockwell is under the doctor's care at present.

Eleazer Parker spent last Sunday with Lloyd Parker's family.

COUNTRY PAPERS FORM THE HEART OF THE PEOPLE

Our State is dotted with villages, in each of which one or more newspapers are published. They do not claim to be a review of the world. These country newspapers appear faithfully week after week, recording the happenings of the neighborhood, lending assistance to the unfortunate, extending sympathy and consolation to the bereaved, chronicling with pardonable pride any improvements in the community and bringing to the fireside a record of happenings that are of more importance to the readers than the crowning of George V. as emperor of India.

The country newspaper is of inestimable value in maintaining the moral and financial standards of the community. It is something in which the entire neighborhood can feel a common interest. It is deserving of the steady support, not only of the home folks, but also of those who look back with cherished memories to their life in the country town.—Ottawa, Ill., Fair Dealer.

PROTECTING THE BIRDS

Our State and National Governments have enacted wise laws for the protection of our song and game birds. There are still many game birds that can be hunted at the proper season without breaking the law. Some of the rarer birds, however, have been very wisely protected and suitable penalties established for lawbreakers. The local authorities are in full sympathy with the law and are prepared to execute it without fear or favor.

While it is to be regretted that one of our best citizens was recently made an example of in this connection and fined $100 and costs by the Mayor for killing a white swan, it is contrary to law, yet it will be well for others to bear in mind that the game wardens and our village authorities are endeavoring to do their duty in every case.

The birds certainly deserve protection, and we are not good citizens of America unless we give such protection cheerfully and unselfishly.

"BOYS WILL EAT ANYTHING MOTHER PUTS ON THE TABLE WHEN THEY GET HOME," SAYS THIS SOLDIER BOY.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 4, 1918.
Dear Uncle Roy and Family:

It seems as though we are all alike. It seems so hard to get started in writing. After one gets a-going well he can keep on for a little while, anyway.

I just wrote a letter to grandma and grandpa. I like very much to receive mail, but don't like to write.

I received a letter from Allen. He said: "Gee, kid, we have inspection of rifles twice a day, and both pairs of shoes must be shined, even though you don't wear both pairs. The meals are good, but the wieners have a funny taste." He used to kick a lot at home about the meals. But I say that when he gets home he will eat everything that mother puts on the table and not say a word as to how he would like it.

I am glad to hear that Lester wants to be a Boy Scout. It is a nice thing for a boy to get into. I was an assistant scout master when I was at home.

Well, it seems as though we are all in the machine gun branch, Dad, a machine gunner on a tank; Allen is in a machine gun company and I have been selected to go to the machine gun school. I took an examination on one of the machine guns, but don't know my standing yet. I suppose you felt swell when you got around the bees. Ha! ha! I'll bet it wasn't much of a joke, though.

Well, I don't think there is much hope of being in the grand drive to Berlin, the way things look now. You will have to excuse the blots, as a fellow asked me to sew up his pants. He threw them over and struck my pen. I do a little tailoring once in a while when I get the time. I did a lot of sewing yesterday after I got through washing. I washed two towels, two white hats and seven handkerchiefs.

We had a good dinner yesterday. Roast pork and dressing, apple sauce, bread, butter, coffee and chocolate pudding. And for supper we had French fried potatoes, corn fritters, fruit sauce, bread, butter and tea.

Am enclosing a few pictures. Will send a few more when I have them printed. Hoping you are all well, with regards.

GENE.

WEEKLY FARM BUREAU NEWS

Conducted by Clayton L. Long, Lake County Farm Agent

"Farm Bureaus" in the United States number 2,300, representing more than 80 per cent of the agricultural counties and 97 per cent of the agriculture. Lake county is one of the 2,300; lets make it one of the 100 per cent Farm Bureau counties of the state and country.

JOIN YOUR COUNTY FARM BUREAU.

Have you harvested and stored your seed corn in a warm dry place? If not do so at once.

If you planted out of the county seed corn last spring, it would be better for you to secure your next year's seed from a neighbor who has grown his variety in the community for a number of years, even if your corn yielded exceptionally well. A lot of corn matured in the county this year that will not do so in an average year. The best seed corn for Lake county farmers is seed corn produced by Lake county farmers. Call upon the Service department of the Farm Bureau to help you locate your seed. Get it now before the cold weather injures it.

PHILIP WELLS "HANGS WASH ON HINDENBERG LINE," HE SAYS IN INTERESTING LETTER HOME.

Nov. 5, '18.

Was sure glad to get a letter from home this morning; also enjoyed the gum you enclosed, and yesterday I received a package of papers. This morning we have the time to ourselves, so I am spending it doing a bunch of different things. This afternoon we all go to some place for a shower bath. Our squad is together in a room in a house which is in pretty good condition, considering that once it was in the midst of the war. You should see the little French stove we have in the room; it isn't much bigger than the stovepipe we use on it; it does the work all right, however, and keeps the place warm. Well, it makes things look pretty good, now that both Turkey and Austria-Hungary are out of the fight. I don't think it will be long now before Germany will be following suit. Of course it's got to be an unconditional surrender for her.

We got paid the other day, so now I'm eating between meals occasionally on stuff I get at the canteen. It will be only a couple of weeks now before I will be wearing my six months' service stripe. Nov. 7th was so glad to receive another package of papers yesterday. It is always interesting to read what is going on at home. We are living in a little village near Amiens now. We were out and drilled today, the first in some time. We expect to do some more railroad work near here soon, from our railroad work. I have managed to learn quite a bit about railroad building. I hope you received the copy of the Stars and Stripes I sent you. It had a write-up in it about a big stunt we pulled off the middle of last month, and it was some stunt, too, for we made the Germans run some. You know, our division (27th) was in the big push which smashed right through the Hindenburg line. When we were working on the roads after the push, we were living right on the old line, and whenever I had any washing to do I always would hang my clothes on the Hindenburg line. I wonder what old Von Hindy would have thought if he had known his line was going to be used for a clothes line! I guess, though, that he never thought us Yanks would smash it so thoroughly. Well, the outlook is certainly bright now; it surely looks as though the war would be over very soon. It will be some happy time, all right, when it is, now that Germany is all alone, she can't last much longer.

ROMANCE AT WILLOUGHBY MILITARY POST CULMINATES IN CHRISTMAS WEDDING.

A romance which has been developing at the Willoughby Military Post has been an event of considerable interest to Willoughby friends. Tuesday of this week the affair culminated in a Christmas wedding, when Mrs. Nellie Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Roberts, of the Lake road, and Earl Miller, of the Willoughby Military Post, were married, the Rev. Mr. Swan, of the Presbyterian Church, performing the ceremony. The couple left immediately after the wedding for a trip to Massachusetts and other points. Upon their return it is expected that they will live in Cleveland. The young man is from Providence and recently received his discharge from the Ben Hur Post. He has been acting as laboratory assistant, and will continue his medical studies. He is very highly regarded at the Post, and also has a very fine record, following five years' service in the navy.

This is the first wedding that has occurred in Willoughby of one of the Post boys, and may therefore be regarded as the first military romance in Willoughby to culminate in a wedding here.

FORMER WILLOUGHBY PASTOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO CARL ROBERTS AND OTHER SOLDIER BOYS

Finds Much News in "Republican," He Says in Letter To Local Man

Cleveland, O., Dec. 17, 1918.
Mr. C. P. Lilley, Willoughby, O.

My Dear Granddad: You will remember that some time ago when I was in Willoughby you asked whether the Willoughby Republican was coming regularly to me and I told you it was not. Since that time we have been receiving two copies of the paper each week. I supposed it was temporary at the time, but as we continue to receive two copies there must be a duplication of our name in the mailing list. In case you get a chance you might mention this to the office so as to rectify the matter, but we hope not to the extent that we shall get neither copy, as we are very glad to get this valuable paper.

The Republican is delivered at our home each Monday. We appreciate this valuable paper for the Willoughby news [illegible] we are able to keep in touch with all of the town's activities, and we are glad to know of them.

It was through the Republican that I learned that Carl Roberts, of Willoughby, has fallen in the field of battle while fighting for democracy and the freedom of the world. A few days previous I had noticed Carl W. Roberts' name among Cleveland's casualty list in the city paper, but little thought that it might be a mistake and was Carl Roberts of Willoughby. Of course Carl was a friend of mine. I had often been in his home and had eaten many a meal with the family. It is regrettable to know that such has been his fate.

Like many others, I have had many acquaintances and friends who enlisted with our American soldiers, but as far as I know he is the first of my friends to lose his life in the world war. So Willoughby has sacrificed four young men either in active service or in connection with enlistment and practice. Presumably in the past months of defensive service and sacrifice your mind has reverted back to the days of the Great Civil War, when you had a share and part in the country's fighting. That must have been a gloomy time and dreadful experience for those who were there, then every soldier of that great war well earned and deserved honor for his part, and you with many who still survive [illegible] those days of fighting with a sense of personal glory. Our world war, which has now come to a [illegible] termination, makes more real today what America's wars have been and what our soldiers have done for our country to make her what she is today. As our veterans [illegible] honor for their valor in wars of former days so our youthful America deserves praise for her bravery upon the field of battle.

With all these sacrifices of sturdy young soldiers and lives for our country today, it is with the hope that the world, along with America, shall forever be free and with loyal hearts and [illegible] shall know warfare no more.

You have our best wishes in life and health.

We are counting on coming to Willoughby for this Christmas and will get to see you then. You have our thanks for your part in what you have done in having the paper sent to us. We are always interested in Willoughby and accordingly are glad to know of all her events and news items of interest. We hope you fare well and get along nicely.

Most respectfully,
CHAS. E. GEIS,

"DAD'S CHRISTMAS LETTER," FROM PHILIP E. WARD, TELLS OF VISITS TO LANDS VISITED BY GERMAN "KULTUR."

Bazoilles-Sur-Meuse,
Nov. 27th, 1918.

Dear Folks at Home:

This is to be Dad's Christmas letter. The whole A. E. F. is supposed to write a letter to Dad and so label it. Mine is a few days late, but I hope it reaches you in time to bring a holiday greeting.

I am well and have had a four-day trip, the details of which I have written [illegible] and a. I presume that you will see it. I will give but an outline here. Last Thursday night we went by way of Toul to Chateau-Thierry; from there to Soissons, to Laon, to Rheims, to Epernay and back to Toul. A large part of the country we saw had been fought over four times in the war. I have seen pictures of shelled areas and ruined cities, but a picture gives one little notion of the reality. I know now what ruin and devastation is. In spite of it all, the civil population is finding its way back and trying to make homes again. We only saw three villages where some attempt was not being made to rebuild it. Some of these cities were once the homes of 30,000 or 50,000 people, and now they are little more than a pile of debris. It has been a big job to even clear the streets. There are acres upon acres of farm land uprooted and upturned by shells so that it would seem impossible to ever level it to a point where tillage would again be possible. The whole area is covered with barbed wire, and it will be no small job to get rid of it, even if that was all. Then the country is crossed with trench system after trench system, dugouts, etc., sufficient to house the contending armies.

We saw roads lined with German war material, boxes of machine gun ammunition, hand grenades, big and little shells, and no estimate of its amount would seem too large; wrecked guns, helmets, sabers, rifles and machine guns.

At Lenilly we visited what was the home and orchard of Charles Tebeau. He owned 100 acres of land, and when the Boche first came through he and his family stayed. The Germans demanded a heavy payment of money, which he refused. They first imprisoned him and then killed him and buried him in his garden. The German post commander made his headquarters there and made servants of the family. The daughter and the son escaped through the lines, and a shell killed the commander, who was also buried in the garden. He had inscribed over the grate in the living room, "German kultur has been planted in Northern France by German arms," and the date and his name. The orchards all about were sawed off close to the ground, and when we saw the place there was nothing there but a stone pile, trenches and barb wire. German "kultur" is truly a wonderful thing. I wonder what has become of the widow and the children of Tebeau.

One woman with whom we talked in Soissons said that they had been back three days. Their furniture, dishes, everything, had been carried away. Their home had no roof or windows, the walls were still standing. She said it is very sad but had a smile on her face, and, like all the rest, they were trying to re-establish themselves.

The French everywhere have the greatest admiration for the Americans, and this whole journey was made in areas where Americans are scarce, and we had to use our French, which we were able to do sufficiently to get by.

We made the journey on foot or in French military trucks. We had great luck the first two days, and if the weather had been as pleasant and rides as numerous the last two days we would probably have gotten to Metz and back. But Verdun, the Argonne, Sedan and Metz remain to be attempted on another outing.

We do not know much about our future. Will probably be here another month and then either with the army of occupation or the south of France for the next six months. Well, wish you a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. I imagine you tomorrow at the Thanksgiving dinner. I will have a good dinner, too, and see a football game. A gala day is planned in this camp for tomorrow.

Love to all.

[illegible] THE BIG VICTORY AND PEACE DAY NEWS WAS RECEIVED BY OUR BOYS IN FRANCE

American, French and British Soldiers March Together To the Tune of "The Star Spangled Banner."

By Harvey Morse, of Kirtland

Somewhere in France,
Nov. 11, 1918.

Dear Mother: This is one of the happiest days that I have experienced in my whole life. The German government has signed the armistice, and at the time that it went into effect the chimes in the cathedral poured forth the sweetest music that we have heard since war was declared. They told us that this terrible war was about to cease, and even as the chimes cried out their joyful message the last big gun fired its last shot—a kick for the kaiser.

Mother, I wonder how the people in the States received the news. It made me want to cry like a baby when I thought of the mothers who would be crying for joy that the war was over.

But, mother, it must be a terrible blow for the mother who thinks her boy is safe and who is yet to be notified that he died on the very last day of the war.

Oh, believe me, I am glad that this war is over and the time is drawing near when once again I will be able to go home. I believe that I won't do a thing for a whole month but just stay at home and sleep, eat and be merry.

When the news was published by the bells in the college and in the cathedral, the French went mad. They embraced each other and everyone else, and I have had some of them shake hands with me as many as five times in five minutes.

Then there was a company of English who had arrived the night before, and they just mixed splendidly with our boys.

The streets were full of Sammies and Tommies marching down the street together. But the best of the whole thing was when our band turned out and then Frogs (French), Sammies and Tommies and all filed in behind and marched to the tunes of the "Star Spangled Banner," "God Save the King," and "The Marseillaise." And we were about twenty abreast and every one of us had our arms around the shoulders of the men on either side of us. And when we came to a wide place in the street we went with a hipity hop all together and zig-zagged across the street. The boys could not have done it better if they had practised it for many an hour on drill.

You ought to have seen their clothes. They had changed their hats and some of their coats, so they looked queer because their uniforms didn't conform. But everyone, no matter in what army he was, wore a big grin that showed almost all of his teeth.

It was immense, folks! Oh, I so wish I could tell you where I was when I received this good news.

One thing that struck me queer afterwards, but at the time seemed the most natural thing in the world, was to see officers slapping buck privates on the back and shaking hands with them and vice versa. In fact, no one seemed to contain himself.

How did everyone in the States take it? I bet there were some pretty big demonstrations. Bianca wrote that she was going to post extracts from my letters on the bulletin board in the library. Tell her to put on that about the way the boys acted when they got the news.

I can hardly write, I am so glad. I feel a whole lot more like dancing a jig than writing a letter.

Well, mother, I have got that off my breast, so will tell you that I am still on the job and am in fine health. The boys all call me the dispatch rider, but of course I am nothing so reckless as that. I am just riding the company motorcycle. I like it all right when the sun is shining, but in cloudy, rainy weather and on a cold, dark night it is anything but a pleasure to ride. But of course we have to take the sour with the sweet. I don't believe too much is good for the digestion or one's good nature, either.

Well, I will have to close, as I have more letters to write and a limited amount of time to write in.

I received nine letters back mail at one time. With love,

HARVEY L. MORSE,
Salvage Squad No. 20, 26th Division,
A. P. O. 709, France.

Extracts from other letters

Oct. 31.—Well, things sure look good now. There is no doubt now but that we will come home some time in the next twelve months, in most everyone's estimation over here.

I hope that we land at New York when we do go back. I would like to see the Statue of Liberty as we sail into the harbor. It seems to me it would be quite significant to steam past this emblem of freedom after the part that America has played over here in freeing France and Belgium and all the oppressed from their persecutors.

Oct. 27.—I guess from what I hear over here that the people in the States are making a lot of sacrifices. It sure shows that the U. S. still has plenty of the spirit they had in '76.

Uncle Ren, there is one thing about our boys. If they get knocked off they aren't allowed to lie around and decay, but are buried promptly and their graves well marked, but at one time there were so many dead boches lying around decaying and no one with time to bury them that our lieutenant gave the boys a chance to volunteer to bury them, and they buried quite a few.

No, some way or other these little mademoiselles don't catch my eye or heart at all. It never bothers me if the towns we stop in are inhabited or not, only that I would like to buy something at a store occasionally.

Nov. 8.—I have noticed that in many case of minor sickness in our company a letter from home is the best medicine that could be prescribed. The patient's spirits rise directly after receiving one, and if by some mischance he should get two or three at once he generally seems to feel so much improved that he cannot contain himself. In fact, he ofttimes likes to share his medicine with a chum.

Oct. 30. I can't think of much news, only that I hope the Austrians are sincere enough in wanting peace to surrender unconditionally. Of course, if we once get Austria and Turkey out of our way I don't think it will take as long to subdue these conceited Germans. We are capturing old men and young boys that seem to be happy to be made prisoners. The big guns near here are sure roaring tonight. They shake this old building to beat the band. With lots of love,

HARVEY L. MORSE

TIME TO BAKE THAT CHRISTMAS FRUIT CAKE

Sweeten It This Holiday Season With Honey

Fruit Cake a Cheap Cake in the Final Analysis—Always Ready to Serve—Two Excellent Conservation Recipes—Many Ways to Use It.

It is none too early to make the Christmas fruit cake. Perhaps you are saying that you cannot afford a fruit cake this year or that it would be unpatriotic to make one. But think of the many times that the fruit cake has "saved the day" when unexpected company arrived, as is likely to happen in the holiday season.

You didn't care if the dessert prepared for the family was not stretchable, but took down the fruit cake and opened a can of fruit to serve with it or steamed a slice around and served it with a sauce as a plum pudding. Remember the many ways you can make use of the fruit cake, and that it can be made without sugar, and you will find yourself deciding that you can not forego it as a holiday treat.

This recipe makes use of honey for sweetening. The dried fruits used are less expensive than the candied fruits so often used in a fruit cake.

Honey Fruit Cake.

4 cups flour, 3 teaspoons soda, 2 cups honey, 1 cup butter, 6 eggs, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 2 teaspoons ginger, 2 teaspoons ground cardamon seeds, ½ teaspoon cloves, 3 pounds raisins, seeded; 4 ounces citron, 1 pound cranberries, 1 pound canned pineapple, 1 pound dried apricots, 1 pound dried apples.

To prepare the cranberries, pineapples, apricots and apples, cut the fruit in small pieces, except the cranberries, which are left whole, and cook each in honey until soft. Remove from the fire and dry in a very slow oven. A little water should be added to the honey in which the cranberries cook. To any honey left over from cooking the fruits add enough more to make the two cups used in mixing the cake. Place the fruit in a large dish and sift over it one-half of the flour, mixing thoroughly. Sift the soda with the remaining flour. Bring the honey and the butter to the boiling point and while still hot add the spices. When the mixture is cool add the well-beaten yolks of eggs, then the flour, and finally add the well-beaten whites and the fruit. The cake should be divided into three or four parts and put into buttered dishes covered with buttered paper tied closely over the top. Steam for five hours, remove the paper, and bake in a slow oven for one hour.

If you don't get your fruit cake made early you can try the following quick fruit cake, which is very good, also:

Quick Fruit Cake.

¼ cup shortening, 1 cup corn syrup or sorghum, 2 eggs, 2-3 cup milk, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 1½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 1 cup chopped raisins, ¼ cup chopped nuts, ¼ cup chopped citron.

Mix fat and syrup, add egg yolks and milk. Put chopped fruit and nuts in batter and add dry materials sifted together. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake in loaf or muffin tins. This cake keeps well, but not so long as the regular fruit cake.

WILLOUGHBY TO HAVE A 100% RED CROSS SPIRIT

One hurried glance at coat lapels or blouses the week of December 16-23 will tell a lot about the ideals of Willoughby men and women.

If the 1919 membership button of the Red Cross is being worn, the glance will register a flattering impression. This button is to be given to every adult who pays the one dollar membership dues, but the dollar is the least significant thing about the transaction.

What the American Red Cross wants this Christmas is to have the world see that the American people are behind the Red Cross spirit. Universal membership will prove this. To record such a membership the Red Cross Christmas roll call is to be held the week before Christmas. No quota has been assigned to Willoughby because it is planned to enroll everybody.

PEACE ON EARTH

By Mrs. Minnie E. Carrel

"Peace on Earth," they are wonderful words;
We have heard them o'er and o'er;
But today they ring with a truer sound
Than ever they've done before.
Two thousand years ago and more,
Since the Prince of Peace was born;
When the star stood over the manger bed
That first glad Christmas morn.
'Twas an humble place for the birth of a king,
That stable on Bethlehem's plain;
'Twas the King of Democracy born that day,
And His coming has not been in vain.
Long years passed and the world grew old,
And the love of this Ruler was told
In every land through the wide, wide world;
Yes, the story is centuries old.
But the greed of mankind for position and gold
Kept this King from claiming His own,
And their ears grew deaf and hearts turned cold
Until Satan sat on a throne.
Across the sea in the days that were gone
Came the Pilgrims in search of a land;
To worship aright their King of Kings,
As their own hearts might demand.

And this nation grew and prospered well,
With its reign of brotherly love;
Respected and honored of all the earth,
And blessed by the Great God above.
And thus came the land that we love so well,
The land of progress and fame,
Where Liberty dwells and Peace is found;
"AMERICA" is her name.

Meanwhile, in the land where Satan reigned,
They were training their hosts to go forth
And slay the people in all other lands,
That they might rule the earth.
They spared not even the innocent child,
Such as He set in their midst long ago,
Saying "Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven,"
Belong they to friend or foe.

And borne to us was their wail of distress
On the breeze that came over the sea;
Our brothers and sisters calling for aid
To beat back the foe and be free.
Then the Prince of Peace called for volunteers,
And sent them afar o'er the foam,
To win His cause for humanity's sake,
For Heaven, for Country and Home.

Christmas day dawns; we're at peace with the foe,
And in time good will there may be,
When atonement has righted some of our wrongs,
And time softens memory.
The message He brought was peace and good will,
'Tis a story that never grows old;
And His peace in our hearts will bring good will
As the years of the future unfold.

But the hearts that yearn o'er the vacant chair,
When the Christmas day banquet is laid,
And the mother that waits in vain for her boy,
Each tell of the price we have paid.
O Christmas-tide peace, may you come to us now
And abide in the long years to come;
That peace that teaches us how to live
And brings us at last safely Home.

MENTOR-SALIDA

A Mr. [illegible] and family from Cleveland have moved onto the Quincy farm.

The Barton family is living in the Whitney house until Ed Carroll vacates the place now owned by Dr. Moore, formerly known as the Eddy farm.

Little Homer Tyler, who broke his elbow two months ago, is gradually recovering the use of his arm.

Oscar Parker, of Cleveland, spent Sunday at the home of his brother, Lloyd Parker.

Mr. George Faulk and family will move to the city soon for the winter. Mr. Faulk has rented the Collins farm for five years and expects to use a tractor next year.

Mrs. Frank Andrews met with a very painful accident last week. While starting the engine on the power washing machine, it backfired and tore the ligaments in her arm. It is hoped that the injury will not prove serious.

Stanley Kelly and family have all recovered from the influenza and are able to be out again.

John Spieth, of Heisley road, raised a fine crop of broom corn, which will go into brooms for Lake county. If every farmer would raise a little broom corn the price of brooms would not be so high.

Mr. Sampson, of Chardon, has been hulling clover seed in this vicinity. Brysons have some very nice clover seed this year.

There has been some new guard rails put up at the bridge on the curve and also at Mummery's Corners and Garrett's bridge, but there is no gravel yet.

Last week Matthew Smith's summer home at Salida Beach was broken into and ransacked. Everything in the place was scattered about and several articles damaged or broken, but it is not yet known whether anything was taken or not. It is believed that certain young people familiar with Salida are responsible for this and other similar occurrences in that vicinity. It is hoped that they will be discovered and punished, as heretofore nothing has been done after such occurrences.

Mrs. Frank Stockwell is under the doctor's care at present.

Eleazer Parker spent last Sunday with Lloyd Parker's family.

COUNTRY PAPERS FORM THE HEART OF THE PEOPLE

Our State is dotted with villages, in each of which one or more newspapers are published. They do not claim to be a review of the world. These country newspapers appear faithfully week after week, recording the happenings of the neighborhood, lending assistance to the unfortunate, extending sympathy and consolation to the bereaved, chronicling with pardonable pride any improvements in the community and bringing to the fireside a record of happenings that are of more importance to the readers than the crowning of George V. as emperor of India.

The country newspaper is of inestimable value in maintaining the moral and financial standards of the community. It is something in which the entire neighborhood can feel a common interest. It is deserving of the steady support, not only of the home folks, but also of those who look back with cherished memories to their life in the country town.—Ottawa, Ill., Fair Dealer.

PROTECTING THE BIRDS

Our State and National Governments have enacted wise laws for the protection of our song and game birds. There are still many game birds that can be hunted at the proper season without breaking the law. Some of the rarer birds, however, have been very wisely protected and suitable penalties established for lawbreakers. The local authorities are in full sympathy with the law and are prepared to execute it without fear or favor.

While it is to be regretted that one of our best citizens was recently made an example of in this connection and fined $100 and costs by the Mayor for killing a white swan, it is contrary to law, yet it will be well for others to bear in mind that the game wardens and our village authorities are endeavoring to do their duty in every case.

The birds certainly deserve protection, and we are not good citizens of America unless we give such protection cheerfully and unselfishly.

Signed: A CITIZEN

"BOYS WILL EAT ANYTHING MOTHER PUTS ON THE TABLE WHEN THEY GET HOME," SAYS THIS SOLDIER BOY.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 4, 1918.

Dear Uncle Roy and Family:

It seems as though we are all alike. It seems so hard to get started in writing. After one gets a-going well he can keep on for a little while, anyway.

I just wrote a letter to grandma and grandpa. I like very much to receive mail, but don't like to write.

I received a letter from Allen. He said: "Gee, kid, we have inspection of rifles twice a day, and both pairs of shoes must be shined, even though you don't wear both pairs. The meals are good, but the wieners have a funny taste." He used to kick a lot at home about the meals. But I say that when he gets home he will eat everything that mother puts on the table and not say a word as to how he would like it.

I am glad to hear that Lester wants to be a Boy Scout. It is a nice thing for a boy to get into. I was an assistant scout master when I was at home.

Well, it seems as though we are all in the machine gun branch, Dad, a machine gunner on a tank; Allen is in a machine gun company and I have been selected to go to the machine gun school. I took an examination on one of the machine guns, but don't know my standing yet. I suppose you felt swell when you got around the bees. Ha! ha! I'll bet it wasn't much of a joke, though.

Well, I don't think there is much hope of being in the grand drive to Berlin, the way things look now. You will have to excuse the blots, as a fellow asked me to sew up his pants. He threw them over and struck my pen. I do a little tailoring once in a while when I get the time. I did a lot of sewing yesterday after I got through washing. I washed two towels, two white hats and seven handkerchiefs.

We had a good dinner yesterday. Roast pork and dressing, apple sauce, bread, butter, coffee and chocolate pudding. And for supper we had French fried potatoes, corn fritters, fruit sauce, bread, butter and tea.

Am enclosing a few pictures. Will send a few more when I have them printed. Hoping you are all well, with regards.

GENE.

WEEKLY FARM BUREAU NEWS

Conducted by Clayton L. Long, Lake County Farm Agent

"Farm Bureaus" in the United States number 2,300, representing more than 80 per cent of the agricultural counties and 97 per cent of the agriculture. Lake county is one of the 2,300; lets make it one of the 100 per cent Farm Bureau counties of the state and country.

JOIN YOUR COUNTY FARM BUREAU.

Have you harvested and stored your seed corn in a warm dry place? If not do so at once.

If you planted out of the county seed corn last spring, it would be better for you to secure your next year's seed from a neighbor who has grown his variety in the community for a number of years, even if your corn yielded exceptionally well. A lot of corn matured in the county this year that will not do so in an average year. The best seed corn for Lake county farmers is seed corn produced by Lake county farmers. Call upon the Service department of the Farm Bureau to help you locate your seed. Get it now before the cold weather injures it.

PHILIP WELLS "HANGS WASH ON HINDENBERG LINE," HE SAYS IN INTERESTING LETTER HOME.

Nov. 5, '18.

Was sure glad to get a letter from home this morning; also enjoyed the gum you enclosed, and yesterday I received a package of papers. This morning we have the time to ourselves, so I am spending it doing a bunch of different things. This afternoon we all go to some place for a shower bath. Our squad is together in a room in a house which is in pretty good condition, considering that once it was in the midst of the war. You should see the little French stove we have in the room; it isn't much bigger than the stovepipe we use on it; it does the work all right, however, and keeps the place warm. Well, it makes things look pretty good, now that both Turkey and Austria-Hungary are out of the fight. I don't think it will be long now before Germany will be following suit. Of course it's got to be an unconditional surrender for her.

We got paid the other day, so now I'm eating between meals occasionally on stuff I get at the canteen. It will be only a couple of weeks now before I will be wearing my six months' service stripe. Nov. 7th was so glad to receive another package of papers yesterday. It is always interesting to read what is going on at home. We are living in a little village near Amiens now. We were out and drilled today, the first in some time. We expect to do some more railroad work near here soon, from our railroad work. I have managed to learn quite a bit about railroad building. I hope you received the copy of the Stars and Stripes I sent you. It had a write-up in it about a big stunt we pulled off the middle of last month, and it was some stunt, too, for we made the Germans run some. You know, our division (27th) was in the big push which smashed right through the Hindenburg line. When we were working on the roads after the push, we were living right on the old line, and whenever I had any washing to do I always would hang my clothes on the Hindenburg line. I wonder what old Von Hindy would have thought if he had known his line was going to be used for a clothes line! I guess, though, that he never thought us Yanks would smash it so thoroughly. Well, the outlook is certainly bright now; it surely looks as though the war would be over very soon. It will be some happy time, all right, when it is, now that Germany is all alone, she can't last much longer.

PHILIP H. WELLS,
Co. E, 102d U. S. Engineers, 27th Division, A. E. F.

Note: The 27th Eng., of which Philip is a member, are scheduled to return home at an early date, it is reported.

CHRISTMAS TREE AT THE BEN HUR POST BRINGS CHEER TO BOYS THERE

About 50 boys enjoyed a Christmas tree at the Willoughby Military Post, Christmas eve, given at the "Y" barracks, which is in charge of C. H. Copley. The boys sang and assisted in the entertaining. Mr. Copley talked and called upon some present for a few words. Those responding included Mayor and Mrs. Carmichael, Samuel Austin, S. D. Shankland and the Rev. H. E. Bright. ROMANCE AT WILLOUGHBY MILITARY POST CULMINATES IN CHRISTMAS WEDDING.

A romance which has been developing at the Willoughby Military Post has been an event of considerable interest to Willoughby friends. Tuesday of this week the affair culminated in a Christmas wedding, when Mrs. Nellie Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Roberts, of the Lake road, and Earl Miller, of the Willoughby Military Post, were married, the Rev. Mr. Swan, of the Presbyterian Church, performing the ceremony. The couple left immediately after the wedding for a trip to Massachusetts and other points. Upon their return it is expected that they will live in Cleveland. The young man is from Providence and recently received his discharge from the Ben Hur Post. He has been acting as laboratory assistant, and will continue his medical studies. He is very highly regarded at the Post, and also has a very fine record, following five years' service in the navy.

This is the first wedding that has occurred in Willoughby of one of the Post boys, and may therefore be regarded as the first military romance in Willoughby to culminate in a wedding here.

About eighty fatherless children were remembered in the county through the efforts of court house girls and others. Judge Nye collected about $100; girls at the court house secured candy and popcorn, and Judge Nye, the sheriff, county clerk and Probation Officer Meloney looked after the distribution to the fatherless children, that their Christmas might be a happy one.

DEATH COMES TO CHARLES S. McCULLOUGH ON CHRISTMAS MORNING

Chas. S. McCullough, Jr., aged 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. S. McCullough, 70 Euclid avenue, died at the home Christmas morning at 3:30. The young man contracted the flu about a month ago, from which he did not fully recover. Pneumonia developed recently, and despite every possible effort, death followed. The young man had numbers of friends around here. He was well known, having played frequently in the orchestra at Chesterland Caves. The family moved to Cleveland to the home purchased from Dr. E. A. Smith, a year ago last July. The funeral will be held Friday at 2 p. m. from the house, the Rev. H. E. Bright officiating. [illegible], his sister, survives, with the father and mother. The family ask that special mention be made of the kind and splendid attention given by both Dr. Kenning, the attending physician, and the nurse, Mrs. Glover. The neighbors feel deeply with the family this loss which has come to the McCullough family.

SON OF FORMER WILLOUGHBY FOLKS DIES IN THE PHILLIPINES

A cablegram received by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Myers, of Pittsburg, recently, stated that their son Max died in the Philippines December 13th, following brief illness. The young man represented the Standard Oil Co. there. One or two of his most interesting letters descriptive of his work and the country have appeared in the Republican. He had traveled extensively through the islands, ever visiting the wildest tribes. [illegible] military service, and [illegible] of Secretary Baker that no white Americans leave the islands during these times, resigned for civil life. He married an American girl five months ago. She is also ill with the same disease, with which he died, pneumonia.

The young man [illegible] his work, and the couple planned to return here in the spring. A brother, [illegible], is superintendent of [illegible] in Colorado. H. H. Myers, the father, is the Pittsburg representative for R. G. Dun & Co. The mother, who was Nellie Flickinger, taught school here at one time and lived here later during the education of the boys.

FORMER WILLOUGHBY PASTOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO CARL ROBERTS AND OTHER SOLDIER BOYS

Finds Much News in "Republican," He Says in Letter To Local Man

Cleveland, O., Dec. 17, 1918.

Mr. C. P. Lilly, Willoughby, O.

My Dear Grandad: You will remember that some time ago when I was in Willoughby you asked whether the Willoughby Republican was coming regularly to me and I told you it was not. Since that time we have been receiving two copies of the paper each week. I supposed it was temporary at the time but we continue to receive two copies; there must be a duplication of our name in the mailing list. In case you get a chance you might mention this to the office so as to rectify the matter, but we hope not to the extent that we shall get neither copy, as we are very glad to get this valuable paper.

The Republican is delivered at our home each Monday. We appreciate this valuable paper for the Willoughby news. By it we are able to keep in touch with all of the town's activities, and we are glad to know of them.

It was through the Republican that I learned that Carl Roberts, of Willoughby, has fallen in the field of battle while fighting for democracy and the freedom of the world. A few days previous I had noticed Carl W. Roberts' name among Cleveland's casualty list in the city paper, but little thought that it might be a mistake and was Carl Roberts of Willoughby. Of course Carl was a friend of mine. I had often been in his home and had eaten many a meal with the family. It is regrettable to know that such has been his fate.

Like many others, I have had many acquaintances and friends who enlisted with our American soldiers, but as far as I know he is the first of my friends to lose his life in the world war. So Willoughby has sacrificed four young men either in active service or in connection with enlistment and practice. Presumably in the past months of defensive service and sacrifice your mind has reverted back to the days of the Great Civil War, when you had a share and part in the country's fighting. That must have been a gloomy time and dreadful experience for those who were [illegible] soldiers of that great war well [illegible] and received honor for his part [illegible] you with many who still survive [illegible] recall those days of fighting with a sense of personal glory. Our present war, which has now come to a successful termination, makes more vivid [illegible] what Americans will have been and what our soldiers have done for our country to make her what she is today. As our veterans [illegible] honor for their valor in war of former days so our youthful America deserves praise for her bravery upon the field of battle.

With all these sacrifices of sturdy young soldiers and lives for our country today, it is with the hope that the world, along with America, shall [illegible] ever be [illegible] and with loyal hearts and true shall know warfare no more.

You have our best wishes in life and health.

We are counting on coming to Willoughby for this Christmas and will get to see you then. You have our thanks for your part in what you have done in having the paper sent to us. We are always interested in Willoughby and accordingly are glad to know of all her events and news items of interest. We hope you fare well and get along nicely.

Most respectfully,
CHAS. E. GEIS,

"DAD'S CHRISTMAS LETTER," FROM PHILIP E. WARD, TELLS OF VISITS TO LANDS VISITED BY GERMAN "KULTUR."

Bazo Ilez-Sur-Meuse,
Nov. 27th, 1918.

Dear Folks at Home:

This is to be Dad's Christmas Letter. The whole A. E. F. is supposed to write a letter to Dad and so label it. Mine is a few days late, but I hope it reaches you in time to bring a holiday greeting.

I am well and have had a four-day trip, the details of which I have written [illegible] and as I presume that you will see it I will give but an outline here. Last Thursday night we went by way of Toul to Chateau-Thierry; from there to Soissons, to Laon, to Rheims, to Epernay and back to Toul. A large part of the country we saw had been fought over four times in the war. I have seen pictures of shelled areas and ruined cities, but [illegible] give one little notion of the reality. I know now what ruin and [illegible] means. In spite of it all, the [illegible] population is finding its way back and trying to make home again. We only saw three villages where some attempt was not being made to rebuild. Some of these cities were once the homes of 50,000 or 70,000 people, and now they are little more than a pile of debris. It has been a big job to even clear the streets. There are acres upon acres of farm land uprooted and upturned by shells so that it would seem impossible to ever level it to a point where village would again be possible. The whole area is covered with barbed wire, and it will be no small job to get rid of it, even if that was all. Then the country is crossed with trench system after trench system, dugouts, etc., sufficient to house the contending armies.

We saw roads lined with German war material, boxes of machine gun ammunition, hand grenades, big and little shells, and no estimate of its amount would seem too large; wrecked guns, helmets, sabers, rifles and machine guns.

At Lenilly we visited what was the home and orchard of Charles Tebeau. He owned 100 acres of land, and when the Boche first came through he and his family stayed. The Germans demanded a heavy payment of money, which he refused. They first imprisoned him and then killed him and buried him in his garden. The German post commander made his headquarters there and made servants of the family. The daughter and the son escaped through the lines, and a shell killed the commander, who was also buried in the garden. He had inscribed over the grate in the living room, "German kultur has been planted in Northern France by German arms," and the date and his name. The orchards all about were sawed off close to the ground, and when we saw the place there was nothing there but a stone pile, trenches and barb wire. German "kultur" is truly a wonderful thing. I wonder what has become of the widow and the children of Tebeau.

One woman with whom we talked in Soissons said that they had been back three days. Their furniture, dishes, everything, had been carried away. Their home had no roof or windows, the walls were still standing. She said it was very sad but had a smile on her face, and, like all the rest, they were trying to re-establish themselves.

The French everywhere have the greatest admiration for the Americans, and this whole journey was made in areas where Americans are scarce, and we had to use our French, which we were able to do sufficiently to get by.

We made the journey on foot or in French military trucks. We had great luck the first two days, and if the weather had been as pleasant and rides as numerous the last two days we would probably have gotten to Metz and back. But Verdun, the Argonne, Sedan and Metz remain to be attempted on another outing.

We do not know much about our future. Will probably be here another month and then either with the army of occupation or the south of France for the next six months. Well, wish you a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. I imagine you tomorrow at the Thanksgiving dinner. I will have a good dinner, too, and see a football game. A gala day is planned in this camp for tomorrow.

Love to all.
PHIL.

AMERICAN FLAG GREETED AS THE SYMBOL OF FREEDOM AND DEMOCRACY, SAYS JOHN RYAN IN LETTER FROM ITALY

Fiume, Mon., Nov. 25, 1918.

Dear Father and Mother:

I wrote to you yesterday, but did not tell you about some of the things that we are now allowed to mention in our letters. The censorship is much more lenient than it has been before, for it had to be or t least it was very strict during our "zone of advance."

It is raining here this morning—they say it rains sometimes for 15 days continually, but very seldom snows. You, no doubt, have often wondered just where we have been since coming to Italy. We got here the last days of July, passed through Turin and Milan. On a Sunday we arrived at Verona and the same day billeted at Villa franca, a few miles from Verona. We stayed here a couple of weeks and then moved about ten miles, near a town called Valeggio, where we camped in tents about two months. Wherever we billeted or camped we underwent severe training continually. We left Valeggio about the middle of October, took a train from Villafranca and landed up at Treviso, just a short distance back of the Piave river front. It was here we saw air battles and observation balloons brought down. Things were pretty quiet during our first week at Treviso; only a few shots could be heard, but soon things grew exciting; the English came and started something—night after night a continual roar of artillery; air battles every day. One moonlight night they came over and raided us four times. They came between 11:15 p. m. and 4:30 a. m., Oct. 22. Very little sleep we got that night. Enclosed is a letter I wrote at the time, but it would not pass through.

Then again on a Saturday night I woke up and found that we were being shelled by long range guns with high explosive and gas shells. Again very little sleep that night. If one ever prayed at all then was the time to do it. I don't believe I ever did so more honestly than I did during that air raid and bombardment. I don't care how brave a man it, there is something that makes him look higher than to his own bravery in time of danger.

As I said the English came and started things going over on the Piave, so on Oct. 28, about 10 p. m., we got "call to arms" and started for the front. Right here I want to say one ought to take off his hat to "Tommy," for when we got up closer to the Piave in reserve, just behind the English artillery, "Tommy" and the "Ladies From Hell" (Scotties) had driven the Austrians out of the Piave; they had put up a bridge in spite of the tremendous current, and had crossed the Piave. The Austrians must have been going some, for they kept us tired out trying to keep up with them. We crossed the Piave late in the afternoon of Oct. 31 (Hallowe'en) and kept on going for the next couple of weeks, stopping only during the [illegible] of Nov. 1 to Austria and [illegible] Germany. We only followed up the Piave offensive for the most part. Only for about three days was there nothing between us and the enemy Nov. 2, 3 and 4. It was open fighting, so we had to be on our toes all the time. Nov. 3 and 4 found us near the Tagliamento river. A patrol crossed the river late Sunday night, Nov. 3, and met German officers on that sidde of the river. White flags were flying and the Germans said that it was really peace they wanted. The next day, early in the morning, a part of our regiment crossed the Tagliamento under barrage and machine gun fire. A few prisoners were taken, but finally Austrians surrendered, saying that an armistice was to take effect at 3 p. m., Nov. 4, and they were ordered to fire no more. From then on we just hiked and hiked, sleeping on the ground wherever night found us. At last the night of Nov. 13 brought us to Cormons, a railroad town, and we billeted in Austrian barracks for the first time. We stayed here five days, moving away Monday, Nov. 18, about noon. It was cold riding all night through the mountains in box cars. We were in Fiume early the next morning. Some of the towns we passed through were:

1. Gorizia, a totally destroyed town.
2. Sacredo. 3. Mossa. 4. Malfalcone. 5. Nabresina. 6. Trieste. 7. Fiume.

So now I'm just waiting to go home. Any time will do and I'd be willing to take a chance on anything that floats. We are given more privileges and liberty now than ever before and have things fairly easy. The big question now is one of health—if I can only keep as well as I have been and am right now, I'll have nothing to worry about, and I believe I can.

Here are a few lines which I copied from posters printed in English, which are posted around Fiume:

"Welcome to the American Military Forces. We greet most heartily and with highest reverence the American Flag as the Symbol of Freedom and Universal Democracy, and thank the United States of N. A. for having sent to Fiume a brilliant regiment of their glorious army.

"To America, which with sublime unselfishness has entered into the war for right and justice, we entrust the destiny of Fiume, which desires to be united to the mother country, Italy.

"Fiume, which from its origin up to this day always has been Italian, has unanimously taken this resolution by virtue of the right of self-determination of all people, as proclaimed by the illustrious president of the United States of N. A., Mr. Woodrow Wilson.

"Hurrah to the United States of N. A., the redeemer of people from national oppression; the defenders of freedom and democracy!

"Fiume, the 17th November, 1918.

"The Italian National Commission of Fiume."

Well, it is dinner time, so will close for now. Has the Spanish influenza been checked yet? Hope you are well. As ever, with love, SON.

NEWS FROM WAITE HILL

(Held From Last Week.)

We note by the Mentor correspondent that F. H. Sanborn has opened a blacksmith shop at West Mentor in the Case building. Fred left the horseshoing business last spring and moved to their farm in Chardon and went to tilling the soil. Perhaps his taters, squash and pumpkins didn't "pan out," as well as he thought they would, but we thought he'd want to get back to the "anvil chorus" again. Well, it's a good idea for a farmer to have a trade he can work at in the winter, as by so doing you might be able to get enough dough to pay the taxes on the farm.

Mrs. D. Rockafellow has heard from both her sons, who are overseas, since the victory. They are all O. K.

Queenie Otis and Francis Sherwin are staying out to their country homes, as there's so much of the flu in the city. A number of families here on Waite Hill now have it.

John Main, who has been ill with pneumonia following the flu, for about two months, is now able to be up and around, but is still very weak. He had pneumonia in its worst form, was confined to his bed five weeks and three days, and had it not been for the skilled treatment of Drs. Chesbro and Tanner he would not have pulled through.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Frank, of Noble, and their granddaughter, of Akron were guests Sunday a week ago at the Maier home. Mr. Frank is a brother of Mrs. Maier.

Ed Stokes and family have been ill with the flu, but are all getting better of it.

Mrs. Dr. Russell is on the sick list.

Herbert Stokes has rented the Viall farm and they'll move there in the near future.

Mrs. Vera Zimmerman and little daughter, of Cleveland, have been visiting her parents, Mr and Mrs. Chas Webster, for a number of days.

Hiram Moore, of Chillicothe, came home Tuesday, bringing the body of Mrs George Nelson, who passed away at Camp Sherman with bronchial pneumonia as a result of the flu. He was only ill a few days. Hiram returned to camp on Saturday. Mr. Nelson's funeral was held at Willoughby Thursday and was largely attended. He had a host of friends in the community, who will regret his untimely death. It seems very sad to have the soldiers take sick and die now that the war is ended and they were making such great calculations on being mustered out and then the home coming.

Ed Stokes was home to his mother's Sunday to help celebrate his brother Tom's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Liston, their son and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas were Sunday guests a week ago Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Wm Rayser.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright, of Cleveland, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Nash.

A number of new cases of the flu have showed up around here, namely, Mr. Bohmann, the Helsey and Florence families, the Temple girl and Miss Florence Yaxley.

Little Charlie Rayser is to be taken to Charity Hospital Monday for an operation for a growth on his throat.

Mrs. Anna Beck, of Cleveland, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rayser.

Fred Cox passed away Sunday a. m. at the home of his brother Ed in East Kirtland, of pleuro-pneumonia following the flu, after an illness of only a few days. Burial will be in Waite Hill Cemetery Tuesday at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Chesbro is having her hands full. We've been told she has over 100 cases of the flu. At any rate, we can see her motoring past when the roads are so bad that most of the motorists hardly dare venture forth, but she gets out and "breaks the track" for them.

Miss Olive Tinkham has closed her school this Monday for an indefinite time. This is the only school around that has been kept a-going, as there are a number of cases of flu in the neighborhood. It was thought best to discontinue the school.

Arthur Cross has gone to Vermont.

Mr. and Mrs. Rader left Friday evening for Oregon. A telegram received stated their daughter died very suddenly with the flu. They'd just got a letter a few days previous from her saying they were all well. It will be remembered they were out here last summer on a visit to their parents and other relatives.

Mrs. Wm. Duncan went to the city Wednesday, and her daughter, Miss Bessie, came home with her for a week's stay, and on Monday Bessie and James went to Cleveland to do some Xmas shopping, and on Wednesday she expects to return to her school, the Spencerian College.

Miss Lura Rockafellow spent Monday in Willoughby and visited her cousin, Miss Laverne Goodrich.

Corporal Howell Rockafellow in his letter of the 13th of November says in Belgium, where he is at present, thinks they're about 100 years behind the times. Says they use dog teams for hauling loads, instead of horses, and he says really you'd be surprised to see what a heavy load they'll draw, and says he thinks he'll bring home a Belgian dog team and show the folks what they'll do.

It seems strange those old European countries are so far behind the times in everything, as so many of the soldiers write, but of course our U. S. is ahead of all the countries of the world, and we all feel proud of her.

Edwin Rockafellow writes from France that he is all O. K. and that they needn't be surprised to see him walking in on them some day in the near future.

Mrs. Wm. Duncan received a letter from her son William last week, who is overseas, and tells of that last big drive and how he was nearly blinded, but he stuck to his post, and as soon as the battle was over he was taken to the hospital for treatment for his eyes. The letter was written on November 16th. He said he was getting along fine and thought he'd soon be released from the hospital. But as yet he has never received a letter from home, and his mother writes often.

Following are the names of the ladies who are making the rounds for the Kirtland Red Cross Christmas roll call: Miss Vera Maier, Miss Edna Mills, Miss Marian Hunkin, Miss Florence Yaxley, Mrs. C. C. Markell, Mrs. F. P. Freshley and Mrs. N. P. Crawford, their captain.

Mrs. F. M. Page has charge of the Red Cross Service Department.

Mrs. Balsgriver and sons, from East Cleveland, were recent callers on old neighbors here on Waite Hill.

Mrs. Rayser tells about having coon for dinner last Sunday and says it was just fine.

Her husband and a neighbor captured a coon that weighed 20 pounds and they sold the skin for $5, besides having a big coon dinner. Pretty good catch, wasn't it?

Well, I suppose we'll see the aeroplane [illegible] ever Wednesday, they say one will go each way. Goodness to gracious, I hope they won't meet over our place and collide with each other and come down and [illegible] our wood pile after we've got it all up so nicely. We'll make the [illegible] if they do.

JOHN MARBLE AMONG THE FIRST AMERICANS TO ENTER BELGIUM

Some of the Towns So Badly Demolished, One Needs to be Told There Was Once a City There. He Says In Interesting Letter Home.

Cordaye, Belgium, Dec. 1, 1918.

Dear Father:

Well, how do you feel now, seeing the war is over? At least I think it is, but don't know for sure whether they have signed peace yet. I received a couple of letters from you night before last, the one you wrote on the 11th of November, telling me of the exciting time at home when the armistice was signed. We were at the front at that time, just starting another drive, when we got the notice. But the last day I did not have any idea that there would be any peace at all, for it was mighty hot that day, dad. I did not know from one minute to the other but that Fritzie was going to have my name and number on one of those shells, but he did not, but believe me he came awful close to having it, but as you see, I pulled through it safely, and now I am waiting for our chance to go home.

You can see by the address where I am now. This place does not show on the map, but you will find Roulers and this place is five miles east of it. I will tell you more of this place later. You were saying you saw in the papers that we were sent up in Belgium, and that was right. We fought on two different fronts up here. When we first came into Belgium the people did not know what to think of it. We were the first Americans to enter Belgium. The people thought we were English at first and told us that the Germans always told them that there were not any Americans over here; that every boat that left American shores with troops was sunk by their submarines before they got here. After we told them how many Yanks were over here they did not know what to think of it and were tickled to death. We were not up here very many days before we were starting another drive, our first drive in Belgium. To start this one a river had to be crossed, which was under German fire, so by the good work of the 112th Engineers slinging a pontoon bridge across in record time the river was easily crossed, and it was the same old thing when we made drives in France. It was not fifteen minutes after the Yanks had gone over the top before there were hundreds of prisoners and ammunition captured. One prisoner captured who talked English said they did not know what to do, as first it's the English come over the top, then the French, then Belgians, now it's the Yanks. He could not see how it could be and how the Yanks happened to be in Belgium. And say, these Huns do certainly run when the Americans go after them. The ones that can't run fast enough throw up their hands and give that pitiful cry, "Kamerad." We stayed about four days on this front, then went back for a week and then started for another front, and this is the one we were on when the armistice was signed. Then we started to follow the Germans back to their own soil, but orders were changed, so we turned back. The Third Army went up. Then we started on a four days' march back and landed here at Cordays. This place, like all the rest of the towns of Belgium, is pretty well shot up. There are some places with only a wall standing to tell what was once there. Some towns there is not even that. You have to be told by someone that there awas once a city there. We don't know how long we will be here. Our next move is supposed to be Roulers and entrain for La Mause, France. From there I suppose we will go home. I have a lot of things of interest to tell you all when I get home, and I am waiting for that day to come. We have quite a nice place here. Six of us have a room in a large building with a stove in it, and plenty of straw to sleep on. This morning we went out and got five francs' worth of potatoes and all day we have had French fried potatoes, coffee and bread. We make the coffee and cook the potatoes on our stove.

Well, father, this is all I can think of now, so will close, hoping you are all well. I am your son,

Mrs. Mattie Gill is caring for Mr. Dale Curtis' family during a siege of flu.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Wilson were Sunday callers here, at their old stamping ground. We will be glad when the good weather of 1919 permits their return to their homes here. Mr. Wilson has been taking advantage of the fine weather to work on his new house in the Powell allotment, which they hope to occupy on their return here next spring.

Mr. James Allen has gone to Alabama for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Edwards expect to move to Martins Ferry very soon, where Mr. Edwards has a good position. We regret their leaving, and hope they will some time return.

Letters have been received from overseas from Lewis Schupp, Orville Allen and Russell Davidson since the armistice has been signed. We hope to hear from all the rest very soon.

Mrs. Clara Squires is en route for Las Vegas, New Mexico, to join Mr. Squire, who is employed by the Santa Fe railroad at that place. Mrs. Squire will stop at Independence, Mo., to visit Bishop and Mrs. Beckwith, former residents here.

Old Temple Receives Further Improvements.

The old Temple is to receive further repairs. This time the upper auditorium is to be placed in shape for audience purposes, with full seating capacity. Also the basement is to be overhauled, cemented and everything put in perfect order. We are all so pleased to see the old landmark receiving so much attention from Bishop B. F. Maguire, who has placed Elder A. E. Stone in charge of the work.

Death of Frederick Cox.

The many friends of Frederick Cox are grieved at his death, which occurred at the home of his brother Edward on the 15th inst. Mr. Cox was taken sick with flu at the home of Mr Walter Metcalf, where he was employed, and as Mr. Metcalf's family were also stricken with the disease it was deemed advisable to remove him to the home of his brother, the Red Cross ambulance from Painesville coming for him. He was an honest, kindly neighbor and friend. He will be buried at Waite Hill cemetery today (Tuesday) with a private service at the grave in charge of Elder L. W. Powell. The deceased was 48 years of age, and a brother of L. D. Cox, who died recently. He was unmarried.

Kirtland Folks Always Come Back to the Old Town.

Mrs. George Young, who is spending the winter with her mother in Beloit, O., was here for the week-end. Mr. Young is working in Sharon, Pa., for the present. They are anxious for the winter to pass, so they may return to their home here. Really, we don't know where the magnet lies that draws people so close to Kirtland, but once here they try to "stick," and if they go away they want to get back. Maybe it's the air, or water, or perhaps the Temple, any and all being good and sufficient reasons. If only we could "land" something whereby more of the filthy lucre could be in circulation, we would soon become a metropolis (?) Maybe we will, too, anyway.

How About It, Waite Hill? What Do You Think the Pioneers Who Built the Temple Would Have Said Had They Seen an Airplane Pass Above It?

We are going to hitch our cart to the stars, and in this day of flying machines why shouldn't we "go over the top"? There were two airplanes went over our heads about ten minutes ago, anyway, and we thought they were going to "land themselves," but they arose and continued westward. We would like our Waite Hill correspondent to tell us what the opinion of the pioneers who built the Temple would have been it they could have realized that such a "bird" would fly across its dome before a hundred years would have passed.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

A recent report made by a prominent mercantile agency showed that 85 per cent of business failures thruout the country are among non-advertisers.

What a percentage! There are the cold, hard figures in black and white. They are not compiled for the selling talk of some advertising agency, but they should prove an edification to hundreds of sleeping business men who still insist that "advertising does not pay."

Advertising has developed into such a tremendous power in all branches of commercial life that the very word may well be called a synonym of success.

Many men who are now spending millions of dollars every year in advertising, started their career in the back room of a low-rent factory building. However, they were staunch believers in advertising, their faith in national publicity never wavered, and their success now verifies the truth of their convictions.

Notwithstanding the obvious power of advertising, there are still those who believe there is a certain mysterious adroitness about it only known by a selected few, a secret something that is beyond their comprehension. Such an idea is without foundation. Advertising is merely a business force that anyone may supply by closely surveying the public wants and then convincing the buyer that you have the goods he needs.

Before advertising became the greatest selling force in use, all sales were made by personal solicitation. But how many customers can a salesman visit on an expenditure of ten dollars? About ten, to say the most. How many prospective buyers can you reach with ten dollars worth of postage stamps? After deducting a fair cost for the printing of your sales literature, we will say about seven hundred. Which system should bring the greater returns? We will place our money on the "advertising," and we will win ten times out of ten.

No man would not pay $5,000 for a one-page ad one time in one periodical if advertising didn't pay. Neither would they pay $2,000 in one day for postage stamps. Neither would they insist upon the best grade of paper for their catalogs, folders and letterheads—if resultant orders did not justify it. They have already proven the efficacy of this so-called "extravagance" and found it to be the most profitable investment at their command.—D. & W. Chats.

THE LITTLE TOWNS

Towns are set down in the casualty list
That few of us ever have known;
Hamlets that even geography missed—
Fulton and Maytown and Rhone.
Towns whose main street is a broad, dusty lane
Brought into print with a sigh;
Home of a sailor who weltered in pain—
Hydeville and Goshen and Nye.

Hamlets with only a store and a shop,
Giving a boy for the cause;
Towns where the slowest of trains barely stop—
[illegible] and Freeport and Haves
Dotting a valley or crowning a hill,
Sending their best with a smile,
Laugh at the whimsical names if you will,
Morehead and Wahoo and Nile.

Towns that are peaceful, old-fashioned and slow,
Reading the lists for their lost;
Towns that were eager to see their boys go—
Grapevine and Cross-roads and Frost.

Towns that will never seem petty again,
Hallowed by graves over there,
Valiant their children who perished like men—
Ozark and Red Cloud and Clair.

Colonial Theater

"Oh, Look," is the spell-binding title of the newest musical comedy success, which will hold forth at the Colonial Theater, Cleveland, New Year week, beginning Monday, December 30, and its featured players are the famous Dolly Sisters, stars of the dance as well as of musical comedy, and Harry Fox, than whom there is no more delightful or original young comedian.

It is due to the enforced closing of the theaters in Chicago that local play-goers are having this early opportunity to see this biggest of New York and Chicago hits, and with the entire original cast. "Oh, Look!" was in the twelfth week of what promised to be a six months' run in Chicago when the closing order came and the management decided to play a few weeks on the road instead of waiting for Chicago to reopen.

Much of the success of Elliott Comstock and Gest's musical comedies is due to their smart staging, which is under the direction of Robert Muto and Edward Royes, and these master craftsmen are responsible for the success of Oh, Look!" For its musical numbers have an atmosphere of unusual class, the dancing features possess distinction as well as the necessary sparkle, and the music and fun are artistically blended.

Hippodrome

As a fitting celebration for the opening of the New Year the management of B. F. Keith's Hippodrome has booked what looks like the biggest and best program ever seen on this stage. More than 100 people will participate in this great program. There will be four headliners and theater-goers should break all attendance records at this theater during the coming week. On Tuesday evening (New Year's Eve) there will be two performances, the first starting at 7:30 and the second at 10:30 with special features at midnight. Mlle Dazie, who is a great international star, will appear as the supreme headliner with her latest dramatic dancing production. Mlle. Dazie is America's most representative dancer abroad. Her latest act, in which she is supported by a company of stars, is the most brilliant she has ever offered. Valerie Bergere needs no introduction to vaudeville audiences in Cleveland or elsewhere. There have been many requests all over the country for Miss Bergere to return to vaudeville and present her little masterpiece, "The Little Cherry Blossom," that Miss Bergere finally consented, and she will make her first appearance on her return at the Hippodrome. She will be supported by a capable company. The Four Husbands with a company of 40 people is a miniature musical comedy. It is a flashy girl revue and just the sort of act to make a fitting New Year's celebration. Headliner No. 4 will be Juliet, the young lady who gives a complete performance by herself. This talented star has been creating a sensation everywhere. She was last seen in Cleveland as a feature in Cohen's revue. Under ordinary circumstances this young lady would be the headliner of this show. Another great comedy act will be offered by Basil and Lynn, who will make their first appearance in this city. Mr. Lynn has been sought by nearly all the musical comedy production companies on Broadway. Vaudeville is always offering unique and novel acts and the new show will have one of the latest acts of this type. It is called the "Man Off the Ice Wagon." Some months ago in Jersey City a local newspaper discovered that the driver of an ice wagon had a remarkable voice. In a week the dispenser of ice was dispensing classical and popular songs in vaudeville at a high salary. There will be several other feature acts, making a show which should be long remembered.

Miles Theater

The Miles will usher in the New Year with an all-star show of unusual merit. The stellar attraction will be Capt. Kidder's Comic Opera Company offering a medley from comic operas. The act is elaborately staged with special scenery and carries a cast of twelve artists who are versatile vaudevillians as well as operatic singers. Each entertainer does a separate specialty, offering instrumental solos, dancing numbers and other novelties, which make the act extraordinary. Harry Linton presents W. D. Nealand & Co., in a one-act comedy playlet entitled "Everything But the Truth." Charles & Addie Wilkins in a combination of eccentricities called "The Tango Lesson" offer fifteen minutes of rapid fire comedy and dancing; Jarrow, the celebrated European conjurer, will give modern lessons in card manipulation and magic; George and Lily Garden, exponents of the xylophone, offer classy and popular selections; Mulcahy and Murphy, the Celtic duo, in character songs and dances from Old Erin, and the moving pictures before and after each vaudeville performance, which start at 2, 4, 7 and 9.

Notice is hereby given that Edward A. Leyden will file his petition in the Probate Court of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, on the 27th day of January, 1919, asking that his name be changed to Edward L. Stone, and that said petition will be for hearing in said Court on said day at 10:00 o'clock A. M. or as soon thereafter as the Court will hear the same. D26
S. A. SCHWAB, Atty. for Petitioner.

Lillian J. Hayes, residence unknown, will take notice that William J. Hayes has filed a petition against her in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce and relief on the ground of wilful absence for more than three years last past. Said petition is No. 167708 and will be for hearing on and after February 7th, 1919.

J. E. CLARK, Chief Clerk.

Duchess Theatre

Pink whiskers, made famous by William Hodge, will have their inning at the Duchess next week, when the Glaser company, augmented by several additional players, will present "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," dramatized from Alice Hegan Rice's story.

Mr. Glaser will be seen in the role of Mr. Stubbents, originated by Mr. Hodge, while Miss Courteney will be cast as Lovey Mary, a part made famous by Mabel Taliaferro in the original New York production. As Mrs. Wiggs Miss Constance Kenyon has a part that fits her eminently and in which she has made one of the biggest successes of her career with the Glaser players.

One of the greatest pieces of stage work will be seen in next week's production in the form of a box car which plays an important part in the action of the piece. The setting was designed and built under the direction of Louis Fett, Glaser company scenic artist, and during a production in Rochester made such an impression upon an official of the New York Central railroad that he offered to buy it for advertising purposes.

Besides the regular Thursday and Saturday matinees, a special holiday performance will be given on New Year afternoon.

Standard Theater

For the week of December 29th the Standard Theater will present Mae Marsh, the talented young star, in her latest and best screen success, "The Racing Strain." It is another thriller, as was her first big production, "Polly of the Circus," only "The Racing Strain" is a romance of Kentucky and Saratoga, and is threaded with a story of love, sacrifice, and is a production of constant thrills. The great horse race meet at Saratoga is one of the big features and an actual reproduction of the season's biggest events, as is also the great Red Cross lawn fete, attended by the 400 of that noted summer resort. Miss Marsh plays her part to wonderful advantage and will be greatly enjoyed by her thousands of admirers.

Star Theater

Starting with the Monday matinee, the attraction at the Star Theater for the week will be Dave Marion's Own Company, with Mr. Marion himself in the featured role.

Mr. Marion has provided a production this season which is said to outdo any of his previous efforts. The scenery is from the studios of P. Dodd Ackerman and the costumes are said to be original and daring in design.

The book and lyrics, with original musical settings, are from the pen of Marion. As a producing manager, Marion is in a class by himself, and those witnessing his newest effort are assured of an enjoyable entertainment.

Mr. Marion has provided a cast of unusual magnitude and excellence, including among them Frank Wakefield, Jack Willard, Joe Fields, Richard Anderson, The Biff Bang Trio with Loraine, Lester and Fuller; Henry Plunkett, Agnes Behler, Inez DeVerdier, Dainty Nellie Watson, Mlle. Bartoletti, Lydia Bristow, Bobby Roberts and a beauty chorus of twenty-four girls.

Empire Theater

The Monte Carlo Girls is the offering which Manager William Roche has engaged as the New Year's attraction at the Empire. Frank Murphy, better known as "Rags," is the bright and particular star who heads the comedy portion of the program. Charles Collins offers an excellent foil in country comedy. The cast is well selected; the product is an elaborate one, and the entertainment promises to prove one of the best of the season. Sarah Hyatt and Kittie Warren are included among the feminine members of the cast. The Monte Carlo Girls have been favorites in the past and should prove so in their new edition. Two performances are listed on New Year's Eve. A special midnight performance will be given, following the regular entertainment.

JIM THE PENMAN, MOST FAMOUS WRITER OF CARDS AND PEN AND INK SKETCHES IN CITY OF CLEVELAND

Colored Citizen, Product of Cleveland Schools, Has Built Up Highly Profitable Business in Engrossing, Designing and Commercial Work—Fills in Names of Graduates for Oberlin College and City Schools.

Jim the Penman is one of the famous characters of Cleveland. He has established a highly profitable business in fancy card writing, engrossing and commercial designing. He is a colored man of the old school of manners, highly polished, capable, a product of the Cleveland schools. For thirty years he has been known as Jim the Penman.

For many years he rented space in the Kresges five and ten-cent store on Euclid Avenue, and as card writer he become known to thousands. Prior to that time he had a similar stand in the May drug store on the Public Square. At his office, 208 Superior Building, he has been handling in recent years some important contracts in pen and ink sketching.

One profitable line is the engrossing of names in the diplomas of colleges and schools. He engrossed last spring the names of 200 graduate of Oberlin College, in the various departments. He has engrossed hundreds of names in the diplomas of graduate of the various parochial schools of the city. Jim the Penman was employed by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland to engross the names of 18,000 members of committees for both the second and third Liberty Loans, all the names of the bond salesmen in the states of Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and the western part of Pennsylvania. He has done much engrossing and pen designing work in connection with the War Savings Stamp campaign. One of his designs is now on exhibition in the window of William Taylor & Son Company, featuring the War Savings Stamp plans.

Jim the Penman is often called on to make designs for commercial catalogues. He is a real artist with pen and ink, and he has devoted years of time and study to perfecting himself in the art. He has mail orders from all parts of the world for all sorts of souvenir designs.

The latest order to come into the place is the filling out in engrossed characters the names of children who have won commissions by selling large amounts of Thrift and War Savings Stamps. As high as $10,000 has been sold by some school children, who have gained thereby commissions of generals, colonels and the military titles.

Often he is called on to do a fancy job of engrossing of resolutions by fraternal organizations and civic clubs. There is, in fact, no limit to the scope of work he is asked to do from time to time.

The real name of Jim the Penman is James A. Willis. He has another line that once was his main pursuit. He is one of the best magicions and pianoists in the business and has played big time on the vaudeville circuits from Maine to California. On account of the large and profitable business of card writing, pen and ink designing and engrossing he has built up, he has been forced to give up his out-of-town work on the professional stage. His other work cannot be turned over to assistants and it requires his personal attention in Cleveland. His stage appearances are limited therefore to engagements in this city and vicinity. But he has a line of press notices a yard long, featuring him as Professor Willis, "the Black Herrmann." They say he is a master of the art of sleight-of-hand, equal to any man in vaudeville today.

"It's all in the hand," says the professor. "The use of the pen in sketching, the sleight-of-hand in manipulating cards and other stage tricks." In his dual character of Professor Willis in vaudeville, and Jim the Penman in commercial life, he has been able to buy a lot more Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps of his own than many men in more pretentious offices and lines of work.

W. J. BOWMAN INSISTS THAT ART SHOULD BE SHOWN IN SIGN PAINTING AS JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY USED POETRY IN SAME PROFESSION

Head of Bowman Sign Company Says Business Men Pay Too Little Attention to Distinguish Between Good and Poor Work in the Making of Signs—Slump in Auto Trade Hurt Sign Business, But Revival is in Sight.

W. J. Bowman insists that art should be used in sign painting. And why not? James Whitcomb Riley, America's most famous sign painter, mixed with the paints that he spread on the sides of Indiana barns the finest brand of poetry ever produced in the Hoosier State. Most of us believe that Riley's poems rank at the top of America's poetry; that there is more real poetry in "The Old Swimming Hole," "Down at Old Aunt Mary's," "That Little Sweetheart of Mine" and the like than any man of this generation has presented.

Possibly Riley ranks higher as a poet than as a sign painter, although he fillowed the latter profession for many years as a living, while he wrote poetry as a side line. W. J. Bowman, the head of the Bowman Sign Company, 324 West Superior, believes that real art can be mixed with the colors in painting signs. He has been painting signs since he was a small boy. He never learned the business; it was natural for him to love to paint. All he learned was the mixing of colors, the handling of brushes and some of the technical side of the business. But the art germ he never had to learn.

There are artists and there are mechanics in the sign painting business. The difficulty is that the ordinary business man who orders a sign painted does not pay enough attention to the matter to care much whether he gets an artistic bit of sign work or a mere daub. Art in sign painting, in other words, does not pay commercially, as it is to a certain extent wasted energy. Mr. Bowman thinks, however, that if the business concerns who order the signs showed discrimination and encouraged artistic workmanship, they could do much to elevate the industry and make it worth while to devote extra time to the fine points of sign painting.

Mr. Bowman is a sign painter by profession, one of the very best in the city. He does not permit his artistic theories to interfere with the commercial side of his business. But he is always there to defend the idea that art in signs is worth while and should receive better encouragement. The sign paiting of the Bowman Company ranks high in standard. Its manager has been obliged to do all the work himself for the past year, because his helpers went to war. As a matter of fact, it is hard to hire satisfactory men in his business. He prefers to do the work himself, so he can know it is done right, provided he is able to find time to handle personally all the business that is offered.

In the past few months the business of sign painting has not been good. The automobile dealers are the best patrons of the sign painters in Cleveland and there have been so many restrictions on the automobile industry that, lacking cars and restrained by the Government in production, hours, heat and light, they have not been pushing trade. Mr. Bowman is looking for a big increase in the auto business in the spring and he is consequently looking for the same increase in the sign painting business after the first of the year.

Mr. Bowman does a considerable amount of sign lettering in pen and ink. This is another opportunity to use art and brains in place of mechanics and wooden rules. Some samples of what he has accomplished with pen shading and lettering place the work in the artistic class. But again, he believes the ordinary business man is too easily satisfied with crude work and does not discriminate in encouraging the finer productions.

There is a sign painters' union. The men who paint bill boards for advertising agencies belong to it, indicating that even the authors of the hideous daubs that offend the eye of car riders in every suburb are rated as sign painters. They lay out their figures by a ruler, square and compass. The lines are as mechanical as the elevation plans from an architect's office.

There are sign painters and sign painters. The work of the Bowman Sign Company is something different, partly because the manager is doing all the work himself, and he can never forbear to put into practice his artistic ideas, whether business men appreciate them or not.

GUARDIAN THRIFT CLUB [illegible] HABITS OF SAVING TO 20,328 PEOPLE WHO HAVE ACCUMULATED $803,700 BY ITS AGENCY

Deposits of Small Sums Each Week for Fifty Weeks Inculcate Habit of Thrift that is Transforming Wage Earning Spenders Into Regular Bank Depositors—The Fifth Club is Starting This Month

The Guardian Thrift Club has a mighty important mission. It has taught in the past four years 20,328 people in Cleveland and its environs to save $803,700. The Guardian Savings & Trust Company is starting this month its fifth club and its campaign of education is reaching hundreds more people, who have been getting easy money and who have never learned the habit of saving.

It is doubtful if more than a small proportion of the members of the Guardian Thrift Club in the past ever saved money. Many af them never saved a penny in their lives, never had a bank book, never acquired the habit of making regular visits to a bank for the purpose of making deposits from their weekly salary envelopes.

The fifth club started on December 10 this year and the lists will be closed at the beginning of the New Year. There are no dues, no membership fees or any other cost; all profit. For fifty weeks the members pledges himself to deposit each week a fixed sum. There are five classes, ranging from fifty cents to $10 a week. At the end of the period of fifty weeks the sum of $25 to $500 has been accumulated, plus interest at 4 per cent. "I was never able to save systematically until I became a member of your thrift club," said one member this week, in renewing her pledge for another year. That is the common experience of the members.

The American people have been notoriously a race of spenders. And the most improvident have been the workers, who have been drawing more money in recent months than they ever made in all their lives before. Women, too, have joined the ranks of the wage earners by the thousands. The United States government in its intensive campaigns for the sale of Liberty Bonds, War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps, made a direct appeal to national patriotism, but incidentally the most beneficial result has been the teaching of habits of saving to millions of people. With the end of the war and the prospect that as soon as one or two more Liberty Bonds are floated, the government will no longer be an insistent borrower in the market, brings us face to face with the question whether the old habits of careless spending are to be resumed or whether the lesson of thrift is to continue to be taught; whether the ordinary man and woman, when no longer required to aid the government by buying its securities, shall be persuaded to continue to benefit himself and herself by becoming an habitual saver instead of the most reckless spender in the whole world.

Four years ago the Guardian Bank started its first thrift club. At the time it was a new idea, but the campaign has gradually broadened, year after year. Despite the excessive demands from other sources, the club has flourished in the past year as never before. The spirit of enthusiasm with which the opening of the fifth club is greeted indicates that it will be far more successful than any of its perdecessors.

The bank officials are authority for the statement that more than fifty per cent of the money that is due at the end of the fifty weeks this year, when the books closed at the bank, has been transferred into a regular savings bank account.

Some banks a few years ago were wont to call these savings clubs "Christmas clubs," making an appeal on the ground that by the regular deposit of a small amount each week a sufficient sum would be accumulated at Christmas time to buy Christmas gifts. Some bankers have even gone to the extent of arbitrarily closing out the accounts of members of the Thrift Club, mailing them checks without request, literally forcing them to take out of the bank the accumulations of fifty weeks. The management of the Guardian Thrift Club is an enthusiast on the saving habit. It is the real apostle of thrift in Cleveland. While every club member is, of course, permitted to draw his accumulated savings at the end of fifty weeks, on demand, the cash is not forced on him. Rather he is encouraged to continue the good work of saving. Having learned during the fifty weeks the habit of swelling a small payment into an appreciable sum, it is destructive, not constructive banking, to spoil the lesson by neglecting to impress it stronger than ever.

The Guardian Thrift Club believes the club is only doing its duty to its members by giving them a post-graduate course, converting them from club members into regular savings bank depositors. It is the height of folly to educate a man to save for a time, only to tempt him in the end to spend the larger sum in a larger orgy of spending. The psychology of the thrift club is to teach thrift, not to provide an easy way to spend the big sum at the end of fifty weeks, instead of spending carelessly the small sums each week.

Another idea is preached this week. "Use your Christmas gift money," the propsctive member is urged, "as the start in making first payments in the new Thrift Club." The new club, as stated, started on December 10, and while the lists will not close until the first of the year, it is necessary for a member to make up the bank payments for two or three weeks, in order to get an even start at this time. By utilizing Christmas gift money, not only can these back payments be met, but inasmuch as advance payments are accepted, a member can get a good start by depositing any extra gifts that come this week.

While the Guardian Bank is not alone in Cleveland the sponsor of the saving club idea, it has been from the start its most persistent and enthusiastic supporter. There are similar club in many other cities of the United States. The Guardian Thrift Club is becoming, however, one of the largest in the country, and its lessons are reaching each year a wider and wider circle of people.

Mr. F. D. Conner, who has had charge of the publicity of the Thrift Club on behalf of the bank since its inception, sees some big prospects for the fifth club of its name in the year 1919.

The U. S. Fuel Administration Says

"There is a Shortage of Natural Gas."

In an appeal—reported in The Plain Dealer, November 14—the Federal Fuel Administration has urged the co-operation of the public authorities in Natural Gas cities so that Natural Gas may be conserved this winter.

Consistently since last April the East Ohio Gas Company has warned its customers of this sitiuation.

We have told you that the supply of gas this winter absolutely cannot equal that of previous years. The constant drain on gas wells—due to the rapid growth of cities and the use of natural gas by war industries—has made this condition inevitable.

We have emphasized time and again the necessity of depending upon some other fuel besides gas for heating your home.

The statement of the Fuel Administration confirms our advice. Gas must be conserved—or you won't be able to enjoy its clean, convenient service, even for cooking purposes.

This winter you can get all the coal you need—so arrange your heating equipment accordingly.

Our heating experts will be glad to help you in every possible way.

THREE YOUNG MECHANICS USE THIRTY-FOUR YEARS OF COMBINED EXPERIENCE IN THE BEST TYPEWRITER SERVICE

Three hard-working, ambitious, energetic young men left the service of the Underwood Typewriter Company in Cleveland last spring. They had spent all their manhood days in the service department of the company, with headquarters on the ground floor of the Caxton Building on Huron road. These are the men, with their years of mechanical experience in repairing typewriters: F. B. Snyder, twelve years; J. W. Hora, twelve years; James Barrick, ten years.

The three young mechanics took this thirty-four years of combined experience from the ground floor and carried it up to the sixth floor of the Caxton Building. In room 609 they opened the Best Typewriter Service. In the past six months business has been rushing so fast they have never known an idle hour. They do some rental business, but it is exceedingly difficult to obtain machines enough to put out at rental. So they do not feature the rental part of the business of the Best Typewriter Service; they rent machines when they can get them. Moreover, they buy second-hand machines, rebuild them and sell them again. That, too, is only a side line, for second-hand machines are scarcer than hen's teeth. A second-hand machine has been almost as hard to get as a new typewriter, and the latter is something that spot cash has not been able to buy for immediate delivery for many months.

So everybody is conserving their old machines, being unable to trade in for new machines on deals. And this has made the repair and rebuilding of machines the all-important part of typewriter exchange in the past six or eight months. The men with the 34 years of combined experience in repairing machines have been filling a long-felt want. If the truth be told they seem to be better as repair men than as salesmen or advertising men. They do not, in fact, appear to be strong in advertising stunts or in fine points of salesmanship. But they are right at home in the back room, with their coats off and the parts of an old typewriter on the bench before them for overhauling or rebuilding. They are justifying the name of their company, with emphasis on the word Best and sub-emphasis on the word service.

All the big typewriter sales departments in Cleveland are hundreds of machines behind their orders. It is a special favor to secure a delivery of new machines within sixty or even ninety days. And then the sale must be for cash, not trade. If a man has an old typewriter in the office he is discouraged from buying a new machine because he cannot trade in his old machine, as was the usual practice until the past two wears. In fact, the salesman will tell him to send around his old machine to have it fixed up and wait until conditions change; to wait until steel, iron and other material entering into the manufacture of a typewriter can be obtained under normal conditions.

There are many salesmen in the typewriter business who pose as mechanics on the side. There are no mechanics in the exchanges who can be spared to waste time in salesmanship. The mechanic is the star man in the exchange in these days. The manager can hire a dozen salesmen while he is hunting for one good mechanic who understands thoroughly the work of repairing and rebuilding machines.

The repair end of the exchange business of a corporation that sells machines is always a side line. It is stated there is not a repair department in an agency in Cleveland, where expenses are made. The first business is to sell new machines; the next business is to rebuild old machines for sale. The last thing is the repair of machines that are brought from business offices to be fixed up and sent back. In the Best Typewriter Service the three young men who combine the 34 years of mechanical experience in the concern must make the repair business pay a living or quit. The repair of machines that are brought in is the main object of the company.

These three young men constitute the entire factory force of the company. Each works in the back room all the time, except when he is called out into the front room to do business with some customer or to talk to some inquirer. There is no big pay roll to meet at the end of the week. That is exactly the reason why the Best Typewrite Service can rebuild a year-old machine for $8 that the agency will charge $12 for. And the agency that makes the higher charge will lose money in doing the work, while the service company will make money at lower rate.

Moreover when a job comes out of the shop of the Best Service Company it is done right. There is no camouflage or varnish, paint and oil to conceal real repair work. It would pay the agencies never to touch a job of repairing, but they are compelled to look after such machines as were sold by the agency and are brought in for overhauling. But not in workmanship, durability or repairs, nor in service can the big agency compete with the smaller shop up on the sixth floor.

The man who wants his typewriter overhauled or rebuilt wants service not salesmanship. He wants expert mechanics, not camouflage artists. No wonder that Synder, with twelve years, Hora with twelve years, and Barrick with ten years' experience cut in the back room of the biggest agency in Cleveland, are putting across their new service bureau.

HOW FIGHTING MEN AT FRONT AND WAR CORRESPONDENTS DISCOVERED A TYPEWRITER

Six Pound Portable Corona Stood the Test of the Hardest Campaigns.

The Corona machine is nine years old and very small for its age, weighing only six pounds. It folds up in a neat case and is lighter and smaller than the ordinary traveling bag.

Special correspondents and newspaper men, whose duties require them to write often on trains and in transit, discovered the Corona when it first appeared on the market, but the war brought the Corona into its own. As a matter of fact, the government commandeered about 80 per cent of the output of the immense factory, and this is the machine on which every report from the front and almost every document written in every camp in the United States in the past year has been written. It was for service at the front that the war correspondents found it invaluable.

When Herbert Corey, the famous war correspondent, left for England post-haste in the fateful fall of 1914, he did not take a typewriter with him, figuring to rent one in London. He found the English machine needed, as he expressed it "a Corliss engine to run it." But he happened to find a Corona and bought it. That same machine has been with him ever since. He says: "It was soaked with snow water in the winter campaign on the Russian border, thrown off a train in Italy and carted through France on archaic four-wheeled vehicles. Everything happened to it that could happen." And it never failed.

The Corona is built to be carried on railway trains and to stand a wear and tear that never by any chance comes to an ordinary machine. Direct methods are employed in its construction; toggle joints and complications are eliminated. Light, strong aluminum is employed for the frame, instead of heavy and brittle cast iron. Compactness is attained by folding the paper carriage over the keyboard when it is locked in the case. The one-piece steel key levers are directly connected to the hardened type bars by single links. The type are of the finest type steel, hardened by the cyanide process.

There is exactly the same keyboard found on all standard machines. It is a dainty and highly specialized bit of mechanism. It has proved a lifesaver to the thousands of officers and writers at the front, who could not transport the larger and more cumbersome machines, such as are fitted for office work, but could not in many cases be carried to the camp without wrecking.

The war has proved the Corona is not a toy, an experiment or a fad. It has stood the test. It has shown itself to be a practical portable machine—in a class by itself.

It is becoming a common practice to equip all commercial travelers with these machines. It is equally as good, however, for people who seldom travel for their use at home. In fact, all members of the family may make good use of it. It is especially beneficial to children, as it is said that children who have the use of a typewriter at home are much more proficient in their school work.

W. B. Maynard is the manager of the Ohio Typewriter Exchange, 25 Euclid Arcade, which has been the location of the Corona for many years. The demand is such at the present time that practically all other lines have been abandoned and the Corona has the right of way.

NEW MANAGER OF HOTEL FREDERICK HAS WIDE ACQUAINTANCE AMONG LOCAL POLITICAL LEADERS

Employed For Years in Famous Superior Street Resort Where Democratic Committeemen Congregate and Where Newton D. Baker Drops in When He Comes to City.—Starts Business for Himself on Payne Avenue Under Favoring Auspices

Did you ever notice the quiet, bright young man at the counter in Weber's when you dropped into the Superior street resort to talk Democratic politics? Weber's is, as all the wise ones know, the center of Democratic gossip, for the county committee meets up-stairs, and the leaders often join with their followers down below. Newton D. Baker stopped in there the day before he left for Washington on his way across the seas to France on his first visit to the front last spring. Well, the bright young man who has been at the counter in Weber's for several years is Maynard E. Grabill. Six weeks ago he launched out in business for himself. He obtained a lease of the Hotel Frederick, 1347 Payne avenue, one of the best known among the older hostelries of the down town district. The hotel has a [illegible] home-like appearance. It is attractive with its big plate glass windows. Its slogan is "The Hotel [illegible] Home," and it comes mighty near justifying the claim beyond argument [illegible] days the Hotel Frederick [illegible] room has been closed, and the hotel is devoted exclusively to its rooming business. The new manager is making a special effort to attract permanent winter roomers, and the inducements he is offering, quality considered, are a revelation in these days of rent profiteering.

Manager Crabill offers a number of good single rooms as low as $3 a week. He has rooms with running water from $5 to $6; rooms with a private bath from $7 to $8. Suites with private bath from $8 to $9. There has been an exodus to the hotels from the private houses and rooming apartments this winter, owing to the experience of the last few years when coal was short and the gas supply was nil, when the thermometer dropped down below zero. Even when coal is to be obtained and when gas is available for heating purposes, the cost is almost prohibitive. It is cheaper for a man to move to a well equipped, well-kept, home-like hotel room for the winter than to undertake to stay in quarters where he must supply his own heat. The Hotel Frederick is steam heated and even in the coldest weather the heating apparatus is de[illegible]

[illegible] that has been printed for the hotel, for public distribution, are these words: "Our guests say we give the greatest value in Cleveland for the money." Manager Crabill has an attractive proposition to offer the public and he is putting it across in the right way. If anyone is looking for a quiet, conveniently locaetd, clean hotel, supplemented by courteous treatment and agreeable environments, the Hotel Frederick is worth looking over. It is one of the very best winter propositions of its kind in the city of Cleveland.

WHEN GOVERNMENT TOOK OVER OUTPUT OF LEADING MAKES OF SAFETY RAZOR BLADES, CIVILIANS WERE FORCED TO CONSERVE

War Conditions Brought Big Increase of Business to City Grinding Company, Compelling Men to Keep Old Blades in Use.—Sharpening of Surgical Instruments, Too, Has Increased Business.—Interesting Developments of Grinding Industry

For eighteen years W. E. Beebe has been grinding things. The City Grinding Company, in the Commercial Building, 2056 East Fourth street, of which he is the manager, is one of the leading shops of its kind in the city. When Mr. Beebe started business the safety razor was practically unknown. Now the grinding of safety razor blades has become one of the important branches of the business.

Thousands of men who owned safety razors found themselves unable, a few months ago, to buy a single new razor blade of the Gillette make in the market. The government had commandeered the entire output of the Gillette organization, sending millions of its blades for the use of the soldiers in France and in the camps of this country. There was a similar restriction, almost as drastic, on the output of several other popular safety blades.

The consequence was that thousands of civilians in Cleveland were forced to conserve their old razor blades as they had never done before. The business of regrinding blades and continuing them in use, time after time, gave an impetus to this business of grinding. There is promised a shortage in razor blades for months to come, although the restrictions have been removed. The price of these blades, too, has naturally increased and a substantial saving is made by using the old blades.

Contrary to a general impression, a safety razor blade can be reground a number of times if it is carefully used and not permitted to rust or become nicked. There are two general types of razor blades. The thinner, smaller and more delicate blade will not stand as much hard usage as the heavier blades; the latter can often be reground four or five times before they are thrown away. It requires expert knowledge and skilled workmanship to sharpen properly a safety blade. Cleveland is full of small machines connected with shoe shining parlors and barber shops, where blades are sharpened, but the work is often unsatisfactory; the men are not skilled in putting back the keen, sharp edge that belongs on the new blade.

Another development that has come to the grinding business is the sharpening of the knives of physicians and surgeons. The City Grinding Company has for many years done a large amount of work in this line for hospitals. This has increased notably on account of the congestion of all local hospitals in the last few months owing to war conditions.

Many men who cling to the old fashioned razor find that it pays to have it re-ground occasionally by an expert. The honing done by the average man is not very satisfactory, and the honing that is done in the ordinary barber shop, where men frequently leave their razors, does not give full satisfaction. The only way to bring back a good razor so as to give it again the velvet touch and keen edge is to grind it, as only an expert can do with the right kind of machinery.

Many women, too, bring in their shears to be re-sharpened. This shop has established its reputation for careful and dependable work. Dressmakers, manicurists, merchant tailors and others who require the very best cutting instruments in their business know that it is worth while to have the grinding done by skilled workmen and not trust to the careless sharpening of the ordinary shop.

E. S. Austin has been in charge of the sharpening of razor blades for many years, and he has kept the reputation of this branch of the business of the City Grinding Company to its high standard.

REMARKABLE RESULTS OBTAINED BY PROFESSOR IN CHIROPRACTIC COLLEGE, WHO HAS OPENED OFFICES IN ATHLETIC CLUB BUILDING

Harry B. Murray Outlines Basic Principles of New Development of Science Healing in Language Divested of Technicalities. Spinal Column is Foundation of All Health From the Chiropractor's Point of View

Harry B. Murray, doctor of chiropractic, gained wide experience in his profession while an instructor in Ross College, at Fort Wayne, from which he was graduated. He was in charge of the clinic adjustments at the college, and while engaged in this demonstration work he performed the most remarkable cure known in the history of chiropractic. This cure so established his reputation as a leader in the new science that his reputation preceded him to Cleveland. When he opened his offices a few months ago in the Cleveland Athletic Building on Euclid avenue, opposite the Statler Hotel, he found a long line of waiting clients.

The case in question was that of an eleven-year-old girl, who was so badly afflicted with St. Vitus dance (chorea) that she was practically helpless, being drawn around the streets of Fort Wayne in a baby carriage. To make a long story short, a complete cure was effected by Dr. Murray after only seventeen adjustments of the spine. All the facts in the remarkable case were made a matter of legal record. The name of the young girl is Marie Bender, and the address is 419 Breckenrridge street, Fort Wayne Ind.

Dr. Murray first took up the study of chiropractic some years ago after he was cured of a complication of diseases, the cure of which was declared hopeless by the medical profession. Consequently he is a most earnest and convincing advocate of the merit of the new science. His reputation and standing among his professional colleagues, added to his own pleasing personality, have brought scores of clients to his offices. In the short time he has been engaged in active practice in this city he has been compelled to adopt the rule that no adjustments will be given without prior appointment.

As an expert practitioner and instructor, Dr. Murray commands the highest respect of the professional men of Cleveland. His explenation of the scope and value of chiropractic carries the weight of authority. "The backbone is the key to health," he asserts. "The practice of chiropractic consists of first locating the nerve pressure or impingements of the backbone and then by a system of bone adjustments, remove the pressure, thus restoring the life currents to the workshops of the body, quickening them into healthy action. Accordingly it follows that the backbone is a barometer, an indicator showing unerringly conditions either of health or ill health.

"With its upper part the spinal column supports the head, shoulders and upper extremities, the middle part supports the ribs, and the lower part supports the hips and lower extremities. The backbone is, in fact, the central supporting column of the body, holding every other portion of the framework in true position. Hence any strain or shock, involving any part of the body is ultimately felt and withstood by the backbone. Walking, running, jumping, lifting, a fall, a blow, an accident of any kind, will in [illegible] leave their effects on the spinal column.

"The backbone is made up of 24 separate and distinct bones, all separated from each other by discs or cushions of a springy, gristly material called cartilage, for the purpose of offsetting or absorbing the shocks or jars. When a joint gives way, the consequence is a subluxation or wrong alignment of the bones that enter into the formation of the joint. The backbone encloses and harbors the spinal cord and affords a means of exit for the spinal nerves. The spinal cord, a long, cylindrical structure made up of the same matter as that of the brain, originates, in fact, in the lower portion of the brain and continues all the way down the backbone. The spinal cord is in reality brain tissue. Beginning in this spinal cord as a center, 31 pairs of great trunk nerves emerge from the backbone through the openings in the joints on each side of the spine.

"When all parts are in a right position the openings are large enough to allow the nerves to pass through without friction. On the other hand, when a strain or jar or shock to the spine sublaxates, changing the shape of some of the joints, the nerve openings narrow down or diminish in size, so the nerves cannot get through without some degree of pressure. When the nerves, because of a mechanical interference, fail to fully transmit the brain energy, the organs are unable to perform their duties fully, and the result is weakness and ill health. In other words, to sum up the matter, chiropractic consists of the removal of the pressure on the nerves by the adjustment of the bones of the spinal column."

This statement of the basic principles of chiropractic will impress the ordinary layman as the clearest explanation of practice he ever read. It is absolutely divested of technical words that professional men often like to use to cover up real deficiencies. The clearness of the statement is that of a trained and educated instructor in the science, not the camouflage of a man of slight training and education.

Chiropractic has been classed as the latest development of a science that is divorcing itself from the heavy drug medication of the past generation. First came homeopathy, born as a protest against the old school of medical science. Chiropractic uses no drugs, performs no operations. The practitioner has only his two hands as a substitute for the tools of the surgeon. Men of the high scientific attainments of Dr. Murray are the type of men who are making the practice of chiropractic popular with the general public and respected by professional men.

MANY THINGS [illegible] RADIATOR [illegible] TO REPAIR AND LOCATE [illegible] tar Auto Company at 1218 Prospect Avenue [illegible] quarters for Expert Repair Work That is [illegible] Up By the Ordinary Garage and Repair Man. [illegible] ager Uses Air Test in His Shop Work—Only Place in Cleveland Doing So.

The repair of a radiator is a speial trade by itself. If the car owner akes a broken radiator to an ordiary garage or repair shop to be xed, the chances are he will be alled on to pay a double bill. For he garage man will take the radiaor around the corner to the Sta uto Radiator Company, 1218 Prosect avenue, pay the bill of the exerts and charge not only the Star eople's bill, but a commission of heir own. If anything happens to a adiator it is the part of wisdom to ake it to the man directly who nows all about doing the work. The ew manager of the Prospect Avenue hop, Richard Labelle, has worked or eighteen years on his specialty For a time he was assistant foreman n the big Ford plant of the company t Highland Park in Detroit. Then or many years he was employed in he Huron Radiator plant and later in he Ord Radiator plant, two of the rgest concerns in Detroit that are aking radiators for automobiles. abelle has forgotten about radiator ore than most of the repair men in leveland know on that branch of he auto repair business.

There are so many things that ay happen to a radiator by the arelessness of fool owners that it equires a specialist to diagnose all heir troubles. First, a radiator will reeze in cold weather. Of course, very car owner knows this, but not very car owner remembers. The esult is that many radiators are urst every winter by freezing, beause the owners forgot. Again, a adiator may be damaged by the use f an anti-freeze mixture, containing o high a percentage of some acid hat eats away the metal, causing leaks. The only safe mixture [illegible] is alcohol, but not every car owner knows the danger of using other mixtures to prevent freezing.

But if a radiator is smashed by accident, burst through freezing, or filled with leaks through the careless use of an acid mixture, the best place in Cleveland for its repair is at this same Prospect Avenue Shop. There are not many other shops in the entire city that specialize in this radiator work, but there are a few. Not one other shop, however, uses the air test in its repair work. Some use the water test. Some use a natural gas test. Neither test gives sufficient pressure to find all the leaks that are to be found by the air test, where as high as fifteen pounds pressure can be used. Even when the flow of the product of the East Ohio Gas Company is coming strong, the pressure is only four pounds—not sufficient to find half the leaks in a badly leaking radiator.

If a radiator is sunk in water and an air pressure of fifteen pounds exerted, there is no chance that any leak can be missed. There will be a bubble of air coming to the surface of the water for each leak and each leak can be repaired then and there.

Suburban car owners are safe to send in their radiators to the Star Company on Prospect avenue. In an emergency the repairs can be completed and the job sent back the same day. The new manager has been in Cleveland about a year and he bought out the interest of the old owners of the Star shop last May. Since that time, by personal attention to all business that is brought in the work of the company shows a notable increase.

LARGEST EXCHANGE IN COUNTRY BETWEEN NEW YORK AND CHICAGO FOR ELECTRIC WORK ON AUTOS

Famous Bissinger Magneto Exchange Has Moved Into Spacious New Quarters at 2344 Euclid Avenue, With Frontage of Fifty Feet and Depth of One Hundred and Fifty Feet.—Everything Electrical for the Car.

Speaking of magnetos, every car wner in Cleveland naturally thinks f J. F. Bissinger. The modern motor ar requires a storage battery for the peration of its starting and lighting ystems. Ignition is an absolute neessity. It should be considered as uch a part of an engine as a crankhaft, a valve or a piston. It should e not hitched either to the lighting r starting system in order to be deendable. With magneto ignition, a ar has reliable ignition. With the ntroduction of electric cranking and ghting, a few years ago, there came decided change in the automobile ndustry. Battery ignition systems ither separate or in combination with generator, have been somewhat exensively used, especially in connecion with the popular priced cars. Battery ignition costs the manufacturer ess money than magneto ignition. Experts insist, however, that magnet gnition alone is dependable.

The Bissenger Exchange had two ranches last month, both comparatively small. One was located at 161 Prospect avenue; the other was — Euclid avenue. On the first day f the month both small branches ere discontinued, and the Bissenger lagneto Exchange established itself t 2344-52 Euclid avenue. Here is the rgest plant of its kind in the State f Ohio; the largest of its kind to be ound between New York City and hicago. The new exchange has rontage of 50 feet on Euclid avenue with a depth of 150 feet. The equipent of the new place makes for the ighest efficiency.

The Bissinger exchange is in the arket to repair everything and anyhing that is used electrically on an utomobile. It handles every make of agneto known in the automobile inustry. The list includes the Brosch, he Eisemann, the Swiss, the Kingson and the Ericson makes. There are 8 men employed in the plant in its ew quarters. In the old days, when ou drove your car up to the plant to ave its magneto repaired, the car as left standing in alley or out in ront of the shop in the street. There s space in the Bissenger exchange to ark under the roof of the spacious uilding at least twenty cars. In fact, he parking quarters for the cars that re put in while repairs are in progess are as commodious as an ordiary public garage. The Bissenger ompany has the sole agency in the tate for the Bosch magneto, which s one of the best known and most opular of the magnetos on the maret. But all other magnetos are reaired that are known to the trade.

The company represents in the city of Cleveland these other electrical corporations, having in most cases the exclusive agencies of the corporations: Westinghouse Electric, North East Electric, Disco Electric Company, Dyneto Electric Company, Bijur Lighting Company, Waltham Watch Company, Rayfield Carburetor Company, U. S. L. Batteries.

The re-wiring of cars is an extensive branch of the business, and the installation of Ford lighting and starting systems is a distinct branch by itself. The Ford car is a law unto itself. In order to keep the price down to the lowest possible figure, no starter or electric lighting systems are installed in a Ford car at the factory. Yet almost without exception car owners—even Ford car owners—desire the convenience and greater safety of a starting and lighting system. Hence the profitable business that has been created for hundreds of repair shops in the United States that specialize in installing the proper electric lighting system and the effective self-starter in the flivver. Some Ford starters cost very little and are usually worth even less. [illegible] owners who are not experts. The essential parts of a good spark plug are that it shall be able to stand intense heat as well as sudden changes of temperature; must be proof against compression leakage; must be made so it can be readily taken apart and cleaned and must be composed of material that will not be injured by cleaning. A plug that can meet these requirements ought to run 10,000 miles with only an occasional cleaning to remove excess carbon. Experts claim that the green jacket plug, the Splitdorf, comes nearest to meeting all demands. The Bissinger Exchange specializes in the Splitdorf plug.

J. F. Bissinger, the man who is the head of all this business, came to Cleveland from New York City six years ago. He has been engaged in the electrical business all his life—"ever since I left school," he explains. He has impressed his personality on the automobile industry of Cleveland in a remarkable way in this comparatively short period. He is known far and wide as the best electrical expert in the State, specializing in automobiles. The men who work in the shop often stand amazed at the knowledge shown by the head of the concern. They are ready to take oath that he knows more about magnetos than the manufacturers who put the various brands on the market.

He is a hard man to interview, for he is too modest to talk about the points of his own business that he alone is capable of discussing. He has a genial personality, quiet, energetic and efficient. But he's not in the least degree loquacious. But the fifty-foot frontage on Euclid avenue in the highest priced rent district speaks most eloquently for the remarkable expansion of the business. Undoubtedly most car owners of Cleveland will find their way to this new plant on Euclid avenue some time in the next few months, wanting a new magneto, the repairs of an old magneto, the re-wiring of the car, the installation of a self-starter or electric light system, if the owner of a flivver.

Electrically speaking, the Bissinger Magneto Exchange promises in the future, even more than in the past, to become a center of this branch of the automobile industry.
